Of the Talismanicall Sculpture of the Persians: or the manner of making Figures or Images under certain Constellations

MVSEVM BRITANNICVM

Section 1st;

That the Persians are unjustly blamed concerning their choice & curious knowledge in Magick Sculpture, & Astrology.

The Persians, or if you please the Babylonians that bordered upon the River Euphrates were the first as Rabbins report that found out the secret power of Figures. The wonders that have been effected by them have been acknowledged acknowledged by all the Ancients & approved of throughout all Egypt: in so much that those who were the first that have written of them have maintained, that there was not any thing of more Excellency & admiration within the Compass of the whole Universe These first Writers have been seconded by all those that have come after them, even down to our own days wherein we have at length seen this Secret condemned and the Persians accused of Sorcery. for four Reasons. first, because the Persians are said to be derived from the most wicked person next to Cain that ever was, that is from Cham otherwise called called Zoroaster. Second is, because the learned men of this Nation acknowledged no other Deity save that of the Heavens & the Stars; and by consequence their Doctrine must be very dangerous The third is. That they teach the worshiping of Spirits or Divels, that convey themselves into Statues. The fourth is that they made certain Figures and Images from whence they received Benefits of all sorts by the use of witchcrafts and Inchantments. I will show their Innocence, and free them from Suspition, and shall ground my Defence of them, upon what I have found written in the preface of Hamahalzel a Persian Astrologer translated into into Hebrew by Rabbi Chomer a Moderne Author.

In Answer to the first he sayes, that the constant and unanimous Tradition in Persia is That Zoroaster was so good a man that the most Religious sort of people of that Country & are dayly conversant in the reading of a pious Tract of his Composing, the Title is Memlechiti Halaat. i.e. The Kingdom of God. R. Chomer avers that none but the Counterfeit Berosus will have him to be Cham the Son of Noah. I confesse that wise Persian addicted himselfe to the Contemplation of the Starrs but worship them he did not.

To the second Reason Hamahalzel Answers that the Persians were so far from worshipping the Heavens and the Starrs, that on the contrary, they taught all men to acknowledge One God, by observing the just Motion of the Heavens & the Starrs, & that if he were at all acknowledged by any of the ancient Philosophers it was for the very same reason, as you may learn of Manilius, Diogenes Laertius, Rosellus and Picus Mirandula. Heurnius adds that their observation of the Stars was so Holy, that the first that addicted themselves unto it were therefore called Magi, that is to say Wise men: from whence the word Magick also descended; wch signifies signifies only a perfect knowledge of the — workes of God, and their effects; which — appear more visibly in the Celestial Bodies; by — contra Cardan. which the Magi understood (saith Scaliger) that One, that was God, was to become man. Hac Magia (saith he Dominum Jesum fuisse promissum Regem cognoverunt Magi; qui ad eum adorandum longissimis è Regionibus profecti sunt. If this Magick, by which men came to a full knowledge of the Heavens & the Stars were so black and — damnable a piece of knowledge, as it is given out to be; why then did none of ye antient Philosophers ever condemn it? or rather — why did they take such long Journeys upon — them

them, for the attaining to this knowledge? for this Magick is the fountain of all good Doc= trine. All Antiquity comends the Addiction of those Magi, which followed the strange Star, why then should their Doctrine be — condemned? Why did they not out of their zeale fall down and worship this Star, which appeared more bright and wonderfull then any of the — rest? but rather, on the contrary only followed it, as knowing well that it was the Messenger of him whom they afterwards worshipped in a Stable. See this truth proved at large by St. — Jerome, Socrates, Eustathius, Agathias, Pliny, Amianus Marcellinus, Casaubon, Brissonius, Duret & Bullinger

The third Reason is refuted, saith Hamahazet in saing no more then this, that our Adversaries cannot name one Persian Astrologer, that ever worshipped a Statue. They had indeed some wonderfull Images or Statues: but since they were such, as were allowed by the Egyptian Law maker, (he means Moses) why might not they make use of them? Now that they were allowed of, appears by that of Micah, — Judic: 17. and his Mother who allotted two hundred peices of Silver to make one of. Neither do we find that they were reproved by God for this, no more then Laban was, for doing the like, but rather on the contrary, Nunc scio, quod benefaciet benefaciet mihi Deus (saith Micah) after that he had gotten him a Levite to be his Priest, and to have the charge of those Teraphim, or Statues: which are often called by the name of God; either because they were consecrated unto him: or else, because there appeared in them the Wonderfull effects of some Particular Residence of some Power, which served in stead of Oracles. Quia dies Os: 3. 4. multos (saith Hosea) sedebunt filij Israel, sine Rege & sine Principe & sine sacrificio, & sine Altari, & sine Ephod, & sine Teraphim. that is, as if he had said: neither Ephod nor Teraphim, shall give any Answer.

And here we are to take notice of the Errors of divers divers Authors concerning these Teraphim; and first In Thisbi. of Elias Levita; who reports that they were made — after this manner. They killed a Man, that was the — first born, and wrung off his head; and having embalmed it, they placed it upon a plate of Gold, on which was first written the name of the unclean Spirit that they would call upon: and so hanging it up against a wall and placing Lamps and Torches about it — they worshipped it. A very subtile Invention, but something dismal! but who can imagine the people In Genes. 31. of God ever guilty of it? The conceit of Aben-Ezra is altogether as false, though not so scandalous; for he says, that the Teraphim were certain Instruments of brass like Sundials; by which they know the — particular particular Hour and minute that they were to practice their Divination in. Rabbi Eliezer surnamed: גדול Gadol, that is the Great, in his Book entituled Impr. Ven. an. 1544. Cap. 36. פרקי אליעזר:, Pirche Eliezer, i.e. Capitula R. Eliezer, is of Opinion, that they were certain Statues, made in form of a Man, under certain Constellations, whose influences, (which they were capable of receiving) — caused them to speak at some certain houres, & give an Answer to whatsoever was demanded of them. And the reason, saith he, why Rachel — stole away her father Labans Images, was; for feare that Laban, having recourse to them, might learne — which way Jacob with his family had taken.

Gul: Malmsbury de Gestis Reg. Angl. l. 2. c. 10 W^m^ of Malmsbury affirmes that the use of these Images —

Images was practised by one of the most learned Bishops of the Church. R. David Kimchi is also deceived when he says that these Teraphim were certain Images, (whose figure is yet unknown) by which the ancients were instructed concerning future events: being as it were; like those Oracles which oftentimes spake by the mouth of the Devil. This false opinion of his is taken up by Cardinal Cajetan, Sanctes, Vatablus, Clarius, Selden, and Marinus in his arca Noe. —

Mercerus also goes along with the Stream of — Interpreters & sayes that these Images were as — the Houshold Gods of the ancients; ut penates — saith he; & Lares sumpserim. Philo Judeus is also — out of the way for speaking of the Story in the 17.th of Judges, he sayes that Micah made of fine — gold and silver, three Images of young Lads, and three Calves, one Eagle and one Lion, one Dragon & one Dove. So that if any one had a minde to know any secret concerning his wife he was to have recourse to the Image of the Dove; which answered his demand. If concerning his Children he went to the Boyes; if concerning Riches to the Eagle; ~~Calves~~ If concerning power and strength to the Lyon: If it any thing, concerned Sons & Daughters he went then to the Calves, And if it were about Length of years and dayes he was to Consult the Image of the Dragon —

In Thesaur. Heb.

But I am of opinion with St. Jerome; an Author more worthy of credit in matters of ye old Testamt. then — then any Interpreter whatever either Greek or Latin That these Teraphim were Sacred Images belonging to the Priest. Teraphim (saith he with Aquila) proprie appellantur μορφώματα, id est, figuræ et simulachra quæ nos possumus, in præsenti duntaxat loco, Cherubim et Seraphim, sive alia, quæ in Templi ornamenta fieri jussa sunt dicere: This opinion of his is so sound, and so true a one; that he must be no Rational man that preferres it not before any other. You have it also again expres-Ep:130. sed in other termes, in his Epistle ad Marcellam.

In Teraphim (saith this learned father) vel figuris varia opera, quæ Teraphim vocantur, intelliguntur &c. Juxta igitur hunc sensum & Micha cum veste sacerdotali.

sacerdotali pertinent ornamenta per Teraphim expresso monstratur.
Now seeing that the Images of Seraphims or Cherubims are by a generall name called Teraphim who can accuse the Eastern people of Sorcery, for using them, any more then Laban who did the like? Certainly the holy Scriptures which reprove so sharply all manner of vice never reproves him for doing it: neither is it at all credible, that Jacob would have served an Idolater so long a time; and at length marry his Daughters too. It may be also probably conjectured that David made use of those Images, seeing that it is storied that his wife wife Michal Tulit Teraphim, et posuit eum — super Lectum; using this subtile Devise to save & secure her husbands Life. If it be objected that Jacob comanded all his houshold to put away all the strange Gods, and he hid them in a pit covering them with earth under a Turpentine tree I answer that there is nothing more clear then that he there speaks of the houshold gods of gold & silver which his Sons took from the Sichemites Gen: 34. as a rich booty when they spoiled their City. although this blessed Patriarch had been so long a time sojourning in this Country yet he never made any mention of false gods till the time of the pillaging of these Canaanites, who were a people given to all manner of Idolatry

Idolatry: which was the Reason (say the most Learned of ye Rabbins) that Abraham made his Servant sweare unto him not to take a wife for his Son Isaack out of this people because he knew that they were Idolaters.
The same charge did Isaack give his Son Jacob.
Hamahalzel therefore concludes with this Truth; — That certainly in the time of these Patriarchs, there were some certain wonderfull Images or Statues, by which God made known his will to his people.
Those that shall have the happyness to see the — Tract, which Monceaus saies, he hath written of this Subject will be ready to confesse, that they are not Dreams which are here delivered by this Persian — Astrologer. If it be demanded why then did not Moses —

Moses make a particular Description of these Images I answer, that this wise Lawgiver, knowing how extreamly inclined to Idolatry the people which he conducted, was; makes no other mention of them save only in passage: being unwilling to forget them wholly lest any thing of the History should have been left out.

I do the more boldly propose this Doctrine, after this Persian Writer; because I see that in all ages God hath made known his Wonders, and what ever Accident of Importance was to happen throughout the Universe by some sensible ~~sign~~ thing; and will yet do the same hereafter, when he shall come to judge the Quick and the Dead; giving a signe of his his Coming by the Falling of the Stars, & the darkning of the Sun and Moon, and by a deep astonishment cast upon all Mortals. If you please but to looke back upon all Ages past you shall not finde any one (which according to this truth) some new Prodigy did not foreshew the Good, or the evil Accidents, that were to come. Thus we see that a little before the time that Xerxes covered the Earth, with his Million of men, there appeared horrible and dreadfull Meteors, as Presages of the Evils that afterwards happned: as there did likewise in the time of Attila who was called Flagellum Dei And, to go higher, was not poor Jerusalem forewarned of her Approaching Miserie, which made her the most wretched of all Cities by many the like prodigies. For there were often seen in the air, Armies of men in Battail array, seeming to be ready to charge each other: and one day at the feast of Pentecost, the High Priest entring into the temple to offer the Usual Sacrifices, which God regarded now no more; there was heard a sudden noise, & a voice imediately following it, which said: נַעֲבוֹר מִזֶּה: Naavour Mizeh. Let us depart hence. I shall not speak of the Brazen Gate which opened of it self without being touched by any body: and all the other Prodigies which are spoken of by Josephus; Appian

Appian hath reckoned up, what miraculous things were seen and heard before the breaking out of the Civil wars; as namely fearfull voices; & strange running up and down of Horses, which no body could see. Pliny hath likewise set down those that were heard in the same manner, before the Cymbrian war; and among the rest divers voices that were heard from heaven, and dreadfull Alarmes, sounded by certain terrible Trumpets. Before the Lacedemonians were overthrown at the Battle of Leuctra, the Armes, in the Temple were heard to make a noise of their own accord: and about the same time at

Thebes, the Gates of the Temple of Hercules opened of themselves without any man touching them, and the Armes that hung against the wall, were found cast on the ground (as Cicero reports the Story) not without the great astonishment of the beholders.
At the time that Miltiades went against the Persians, divers strange sights foreshewed what the event would be: In the Reign of Theodosius there appeared a Star shooting forth beams in the shape of a sword: and in the time of Sultan Selim, an infinite number of Crosses appeared shining in the air which foreshewed the losse he after=ward

=ward received by the Christians. The Emperour Pertinax was forewarned of his death three dayes before by a certain vision that he saw in a pond that seemed to threaten him with a drawn sword in his hand. Certain Spirits foretold the death of Constans son to Constantine the Great.
Alexander the 3. King of Scots ~~was~~ was adver= tised of his death by a Spectre that danced publickly with him in a mask. Another sad gastly lean disfigured Ghost foretold Julian the Apostate & the Emperour Tacitus theirs.
Cardan assures us that in the City Parma, there is a certain Noble Family, out of which when any one is to dye, there is alwayes an old strange unknown—

unknown woman seen sitting in the Hall in the Chymney corner; and this so certainly, that it never fails. A Avila there is to be seen a wonderfull Bell, that is, when any disaster is to befall Christendome; sometime before it happend is heard to sound without any body touching it. The Authors which affirme that they have known this of their own experience, are of such Integrity as that we cannot but believe them? and this Miracle was seen by ten Thousand, a little before the Overthrow given to the Granatins. But what we shall to this prodigious thing which the Executioners of Justice upon Malefactors (whom we cannot name without horror) find to be true too often: namely namely that when any Malefactor is to be delivered is to be delivered into their hands, the Sword or Fauchion, that they are wont to use in this business, remove it self, no man coming so much as near it; as it is at large discoursed of by Lavaterus in his Book de Spectris, and Natalis Taillepied in his Treatise de l'Apparition des Esprits. part 1. cap. 17.

We may here add that direfull Massacre of the Huguenots on St. Bartholomews day; which was foretold by the White Thorn, that blossomed the night before. Besides, it is observed, that if on Michaelmas Day, which is the 29th of September there be found a certain little worm in ye Oak apple the yeare will then certainly be very pleasant and seasonable reasonable: if there be found a Spider, it will be a barren year, and there will be great scarcity of all things; If a Fly, it is a sign of a moderate season: If there be nothing at all found in it, it is a signe that very sore diseases shall reign all that year. Sometimes also God lets us know what shall come to passe, by some inward signe; either in sleeping, or waking.

loco citato. So Camerarius affirmes, that some people have an Apprehension, and knowledge of the death of their friends and Kindred either before or after they are dead, by a certain strange & unusual Restlesness within themselves though they be a thousand Leagues off. My Mother Lucretia Rudd

Rudd when she was living, had some such Sign alwayes given her: for there never dyed any of our Kindred, but a little before; she dreamt either of haire or of Eggs or of Teeth all mingled together with earth and this Sign was an infallible one: and I my selfe when I had heard say she had any such dream, observed the Event alwayes to follow.

I shall draw this Conclusion from all that which I before delivered; that seing that God hath formerly Miraculously foreshowed, and doth still at this very day foreshow by divers signes, and in very many things what Events shall follow he may then as well have showed it heretofore, by one only particular means: such peradventure as as was that of Labans Images, which we may proba= bly guess to have been the Teraphim spoken of by Hosea. And then if the ancient Persians as Zoroaster, having kept themselves to the use of one kind only of these Figures; following the Example of the First Fathers, who inhabited their Country, are they presently to be condemned, as Magicians? This is all one, as if we should accuse of Sorcery all those, that by the sounding of the Bell at Avila, or any other the like Prodigy conclude that some Calamity is to follow.

The last Reason, for which the Persian Magici =ans are condemned is thus Answered by Hama= halzel. I deny not, saith he, but that our ancient ancient Astrologers did make certain Images under such and such Constellations both of Gold silver, wood, wax, earth and stone; from the use of which they did as ere was much benefit But that it was either by way of Enchantments or Witchcraft there is no man will ever be able to prove. These are his very words Translated: So that it now Remains that we set down how, or in what manner, the Vertue of these Images could be Natural: which I shall endeavour to do, after I have first showed how our Modern Philosophy have erred in this particular.

Section 2d.

That for want of understanding Aristotle aright, Men have condemned the Power of Figures; and conclude very many things both against this Philosopher & against all sound Philosophy.

The Ignorance of the Languages hath been the occasion of so many Errors, not only in Learning, but even in Religion too; that it is not without cause that Learned men complain thereof. For what can be imagined more ridiculous, then for a man, not knowing the force of the word: רָקִיעַ Rachajah, which signifies signifies no more but the Air, or the extent of any thing, to fancy a Christalline Heaven. From this passage; Divisit aquas quæ subter Firmamentum, ab iis quæ super Firmamentum sunt, et aquas omnes quæ super Cælos sunt. It hath been concluded, either that there were waters above the Heavens, or else that there were certain Christalline Heavens. What grosser conceit can there be, then for want of understanding the Equivocall meaning of the word: קֶרֶן Keren which signifies both a Horne and Light or Brightness, to paint Moses with Hornes which hath been the cause of great astonishment astonishment among many Christians, and of Laughter to the Jewes and Arabians. Many Abuses are crept into our Religion meerly for want of the Hebrew or Holy tongue. I shall now shew some Errors with which our Bookes are full only for want of understanding the Text of Aristotle aright.

I shall mention some few Errors, and that only to make it appeare that Figures are condemned without cause, and that many Conclusions are deduced which sound Argumentation could not beare.

In. Isag. Porphyr. } All Interpreters have rendred the Greek word εἶδος, species whereas it ought to be rendred Specimen Specimen. For it cannot be denied but that εἰδέα signifies the Species or Sampler, and εἶδος the Copy or extract: unless we should give Plato the Lye who alwayes takes εἶδος in this sense; as if we should interpret it in our Language, The Copy of the Great Pattern or Sampler.

2. Next, it is a manner of speaking very frequent with Plato, that when he speakes of the Idea of a Man or of a Horse he sayes αὐτὸς ἄνθρωπος, αὐτὸς ἵππος: which almost all Interpreters have corrected, though very falsly and read αὐτος ἄνθρωπος: as in Latin every particular man may be called Ipse homo; but when we would expresse the Idea we cannot do it, but in those termes, Ipsi Homo, Ipsi Equus, ipsi Cælum &c.

3. Another Error that is comitted in the interpreting of Aristotle, is in the word ὑφέστηκε the sense whereof is usually expressed thus: Utrum Universalia cadant in rerum naturam? Namely, Whether there be any Universals in the world, or not? — whereas they should rather say, Utrum realiter subsistant? or else, Utrum sint realia. i.e. Whether they have an Existence real and of themselves or not. There being no small difference betwixt these two Propositions, Utrum Universalia existant? and, Utrum existant per se? which was the opinion of Plato. And upon the same Subject there is likewise another Error comitted in these εἴτε ἐν μόναις ψιλαῖς ἐπινοίαις, Utrum Universalia in nudis tantum conceptionibus posita sint? — — Utrum sint secundum Intentionaliter, sive per solam cogitationem mentis? Whether Universals have their being only in little thoughts, Whereas in sound Philosophy, and according to the Text it should have been proposed in these words Whether Universals exist only by the Reflection of the Understanding? Which is said to be a fine, small Thought, and so the question is, An sint realiter aut per Intellectum. And we are to note, that ψιλαῖς ἐπινοίαις is very properly rendered Small thoughts or Conceptions because the second thoughts are lesser & finer then the first.

The Power of Artificial Images or Figures is proved by that of those that are found Naturally Imprinted on Stones and Plants comonly called Gamahe or Camaieu, and Signatures.

When I consider the wonderfull Effects that are found not only in Plants, and in the most stupid of Living Creatures; but also even in Stones, and the most rude and unpolished Flints that are found: I confesse I find my-selfe very much inclined to the beleife of that which our Half brained Smatterers in Learning account Ridiculous and Fabulous. For who would ever have thought, that besides those many wonders which have been discovered to be in the Loadstone; but in the days of our Grandfathers, there should yet in our time also be found out this in a certain kinde of Load-stone which is of a mixt Colour betwixt white and black, and something resembling that of Iron; that, if a knife or Needle be touched with it, it will cut and enter into a Mans body without the least sense of pain at all? Which hath given occasion to a very ~~all~~ Learned, who himselfe had tryed the Experiment to say, that our

Card. de Subtil. l. 6. 7°

Mountibanks

Mountebancks which we see to cut and slash themselves upon their stages in such-manner without the least change of countenance do make use of this expriment. But my purpose here is not, to set down indifferently what ever wonderfull effects there are found in Stones and in Plants: Their several Figures, the power whereof we now undertake is the Subject I now shall treat of.

I will make a Division of these Figures their general name being already known.

1. These Figures are either Natural, Accidental or Artificial. The Artificial Figures shall be the Subject of my Discourse in the next Section

Now both the Natural and Accidental Figures as they are of three sorts; that is Imbossed or rising up, Hollowed or Naturaly Ingraven; and only Painted; so are they found also in three sorts of things; namely in Stones chiefly; in Plants and in Living Creatures: which neither Albertus nor Camillus have observed.

Now there is this difference betwixt the Naturall and the Accidental: that these Later (say Writers) are not made to any End proposed whereas on the contrary: these other are never produced without some Reason or other. The Accidental are produced after some such manner as was that act of the Painter, who being not able-able to expresse to his mind the Foaming of a horse, in a Fury threw his Spunge at his Piece, with a purpose utterly to deface it: but it so hapned, that what his Pencil could not do his Spunge performed so rarely, that it was impossible for any hand to mend it. This Foam then was made without any Intention of the Painter to make it: But if I should say there is no such matter in the works of nature, I should say nothing but what were justifiable. For if ~~we are~~ taught even by Divinity it selfe, and Reason also confirmes it; that there is a certain Providence which leads on all things to their end; &

which makes nothing, but to some purpose; why should we then ascribe to Fortune any thing that causeth us to admire the Power of God, and to impute to chance things that are of greatest admiration.

Natural & Accidental Figures are found in three sorts of things in Stones, in Plants and in Living Creatures. Those that are found in Stones are called Gamahes, a word derived, in my opinion, from Camaïeu by which name in France they call all figured Agats: so that from this particular name there is now made a generall Appellation serving to expresse all sorts of Figured Stones. It is a difficult thing to tell whence

this word Gamahe is descended originally. It is thought that the Jewes who lived a long time in France have left as many of their words and this among the rest, this Conjecture seems more probable for the Jewes traffick much in precious Stones. Now the word: כמיוה Chamaiell, may have been corrupted from: כמ״יה Chemaija, which signifies, As the waters of God: because that you shall see some Agats streaked in such manner as that they perfectly represent the Figure of waters: and the word God is here added according to an Idiotisme frequent in the Hebrew Tongue; which when it is to speake of any thing of Excellence, usually adds this Holy Name after it. Thus speaking of a pleasant Garden, it calls it Paradisus Domini: of a Great Army, Exercitus Domini. of tall Cedars, Cedri Dei: of high Mountaines Montes Dei &c. The figures then which are represented on Stones are either Painted, Embossed or Ingraven.

2\. The Painted ones are of two sorts, Coloured or without colour: the Coloured, are all such as are found on Agats; such as was that of King Pyrrhus, where the nine Muses, richly apparrelled were represented dancing with Apollo in the midst playing upon a harp. Cardan cannot believe that this figure could could ever be so exactly drawn by meer Accident: but rather is of opinion that it was made after this manner. Some Painter said he had long before; pictured upon a piece of Marble; Apollo amidst the Muses, & afterwards either by chance; or upon set purpose, this Picture being buried in the ground, in some place where Agats were generated, the Marble was turned into Agate, & yet still retained the very same lineaments, which had been formerly drawn upon it. A pleasant Conceit! But what would he have said if he had seen that which M. de Breves had observed in his Voyages into the Levant, of a Crucifix represented Naturally

Naturally on Marble stone. I have seen (saith he) another the like wonder at St. Georges in Venice where the figure of a Crucifix was represented upon a Marble stone; but with so much life, as that you might there plainly distinguish the Nails, the Wounds, the drops of blood, in a word, all the particulars that the most curious painter would have expressed. This Crucifix now (according to Cardan) must needs have been drawn upon some other kind of stone, which was afterwards converted into Marble, which is very ridiculous: or suppose, that this was not some other Stone turned into Marble; but but that it had by some extraordinary Means only received and retained the figure of some Crucifix, which had been applyed unto it: We must then be forced necessarily to say, that all other Stones have received those Figures which we see perfectly represented upon them by the like Application: which Opinion is far wider of comon sense, then the former. M. de Breves either had not observed, or else had forgott to speake of that other Gamahe, or wonderfull figure meerly Naturall which is to be seen in the same Church upon an Altar of Jasper coloured marble. This figure is a Deaths Head so exactly drawn, drawn, that you cannot find any part defective How prodigiously full of wonder the Effects of Nature are which shewes her selfe admirable in all her ways!

And here we are to take notice, that these Figures are more frequently found, toward the Eastern & Southern Countries then in any other; by reason of the Heat, by which they are generated, and the vertue of the Stars. In India (saies Albertus Magnus) plures quam hic Gamahe, quia potentiora astra. In Italy there are more of them seen then in France for the same reason. At Limans a Village in Provence, about a League

League distant from Forcalquier a City of good note there hath been some time found in a certain Mine of a ~~certain~~ kind of reddish soft stone a great Number of those Gamahes, or painted figures, of birds, Mice, Trees Serpents and Letters, so exactly shaped that little Children could tell what they were.

Three Leagues from Lyons which is a Country hotter yet then this there are found, on the coast of Isron great store of Stones, which divided in two yield many of those Gamahes exactly figured.

Lib. de Mirab. c. 3 } Albertus Magnus saw at Collen, on the Tomb of the three Kings, the Heads of two young men very white drawn by Nature

Nature upon a Cornaline, but so ordered as that the one was placed upon the other like the Medals of the French King & Queen in one figure. There was likewise seen upon this Gornaline, a Black serpent, that encircled the two Heads in manner of a Garland and that with so much perfection that Albertus could not believe that it was the workmanship of nature: Probavi Exod. Tract. C. 1. } autem (saies he) quod non est vitrum, sed lapis: propter quod præsumpsi Picturam illam esse a Natura & non ab arte. The same Author also saw at Venice one of those Gamahes, upon a Marble stone that had been been sawed asunder, and this was the figure of a Kings head with a Crown upon it; & there was so much perfection in this Natural piece of picture, as that the skilfullest painter in the world, would have found it a very hard task to have copied it: such was the Majesty of his Countenance Eyes & Mouth; that it filled with astonishment all that beheld it; In a word it was in nothing defective, save that the fore head was somewhat greater then the Life and the reason of it was (saith he) be=cause that the hot vapour whereof this stone had been formed, being too vehe=

vehement, it mounted higher then it should have done in the forming of this figure.

Cardan tels also of another of these Gamahes on an Agate where was represented the Hemis=phere of the Heavens, with the Earth placed in the Midst and as it were upon ye waters and many other wonderfull rarities he mentions

3. Those Figures which are not painted at all cannot be knowne otherwise then by the ending of the Lines: and yet they notwithstanding perfectly exprest that which they represent.

Ses Relations fol. 476.

Of this sort is that M. de Breves saw at Bethlehem upon one of the Tables of Marble; that adorns the place where the Cratch is: upon which you have represented

represented an old man with a beard and a long gown with a Cowl fitted to it: and all merely by the meeting together, and casual corresponding of the lines of the Stone: Niderreports, that in Mauritania, near to the City of Septa, there is a Fountain, where there is found a certain kind of Stones, that naturally represent all the words of the Ave Maria. As for Example: in one you shall have Ave Maria, written at length: in another Gratia plena; and in another, Dominus tecum. Neither will this story seem so incredible to any man, that shall but consider, that the late King of France was sometime presented with a Company of little Flint Stones, that by the Letters

In Formic. l. 6. 5. c. 6.

Letters naturally figured on them did make up his name at large. Now if Nature doth produce among these little Flints, some that bear one Letter, and many also that have two or three; why may she not as well produce one greater stone where the word Maria may be found at length? And if any man have a mind to impute this, to some extraordinary Working of God, I shall not hinder him: as it is in like manner said of the foremention'd Old man at Bethlehem; which is conceived to be the Portraiture of St Jerome; which was thus wonderfully represented upon the Marble, by reason of the great Devotion he bare to the Cratch

And

And in this sense I shall be able much more easily to make good the Power of Figures, wch I have undertaken to maintain: although I shall endeavour to produce such natural Reasons as shall confirme the truth hereof. The same Nider reports also, that the Marquesse de Bade had a pretious Stone, that on which side soever you looked on it, it always represented a Crucifix, naturally figured on it. As for that other strange effect which was observed in it, it was rather Externall then particularly Appropriate, either to the Stone or to the figure. For they say that if a Woman that had her Monthly Courses upon her chanced to looke to looke on it, it instantly covered it selfe with a little dark Cloud; which afterwards vanished by little and little: Peradventure it was pollished and was made as smooth as Looking-glasses are wch are often observed to be sullied and loose their lustre; when women in that condition have looked upon them. Gorropius Becanus also affirmes that he saw in England, a Pearch Fish so perfectly figured on a stone, that you might ~~have~~ distinguish both every part of the body, and every little Scale: This Stone was taken up, upon one of the highest mountains of the Kingdome: So yt Cardan may learn from hence; that this Stone could not possibly have been thus figured by the touch of any fish of the Sea; neither was it a Pearch, which had been turned into a Stone: for who should carry it (saith he) to the top of an unhabitable Mountain? Pliny reports that there was the Image of a Satyre found in a Marble stone sawed in two: And Gesner a very learned Switzer, mentions another Gamahe which represented two Roses; and of another that was full of starres. You may further see his Tract Lib. de rerum fossil: Lap. et gemmar: figur: where he tells you of many Gamahes, which represent, some Comets, others, Plants fruits, fishes, Living Creatures of the Land; and some Artificial things too. He forgetts to mention Plin. l. 37. c. 5 ?

mention those embossed Gamahes which the Earth produceth: such as was that of the Virgin Mary holding her Son in her arms; which was naturally represented in a piece of a Rock and with very great Relief, and was found in one of the Isles of the Archipelago. As Thevet testifies in his Cosmography. And in the Caves that are found in a certain Desart in Provence in France, called l'Hermitage Saint Maurim; a Desart that is indeed a very horrid one, by reason that it is encompassed with Rocks, but which is much more to be admired, then that of the grand Chartreuse: whether you consider the Air of it, which is for the most part, serene & pleasant, or its its Christall Fountains, whose Original is wonderfull Or the beauty of its Caves, which seem to be a Palace; fit for Nature to inhabit; or the Flowings of its Verdon; which being pent up by too small Channel makes a noise which causeth a horror suitable to those holy Solitudes: In these Caves are found good Store of these Gamahes, Embossed which represent almost all the several sorts of Figures, that can fall within a mans Imagi= nation. You shall see some of them as hanging on high; others appeare, as placed sidewise as you see Images placed in Walls: as if Nature had not forgotten any thing that might serve to render a place comendable. About 7 leagues from

from Auxerre, in those Caves which they call, Autou =noirs, there are found almost the very same Gamahes or Figures: and both the one, and the other, have all of them a little hole in them running along through them from the top to the bottom: and my Judgm.t of these figures is, that they are nothing else but water petrified or congealed to Stone (at least the greatest part of them) as if they were fastned to a Roofe above.
Goropius Becanus speaking of this kind of Gamahe; assures us that he hath seen Bones that hath been produced naturally within the bowells of the Earth which were of a Prodigious magnitude

magnitude though they were generated of other Matter. And of this kind peradventure are those Bones whose vast bigness hath caused people vainly to conclude; that there have been heretofore Giants in the world. So true it is that for want of the true knowledge of the secrets of nature; Men usually fall into most grosse errors. Now those Embossed figures y^t are found in Stones, are of two sorts: the first are whole embossed round; as was the peice of Rock in forme of the Virgin Mary; and those Bones that the Earth naturally produceth: the other are only in Releif; or only half embossed such as were those Rocks, which Ortelius makes mention

mention of, scituate in the entrance of the most western parts of Tartary; on which are to be seen the Figures of Camels, Horses, sheep and many other things, the marvellousness whereof this Geographer being not able to comprehend he saies: Hæc saxa, Hominum, Camelorum, pecorumq; cæterarumq; rerum formas referentia, Horda populi gregis pascentia, armentaq; fuit: quæ stupenda quadam Metamorphosi repente in saxa riguit, priori parte nullâ in parte diminutâ. And then to make the story passe for a Truth, he adds: Evenit hoc prodigium annis circiter 300, retro elapsis. These Tartarian Rocks are only Gamahes generated by Nature. Otherwise, we shall be forced to forge new Miracles, for all the places where ever any of the like effects are produced which would be most ridiculous seing that we shall by and by make it appeare out of the writings of one of the most pious & learned men, the Ages past have brought forth, that these Effects are the Workmanship of Nature only, who produceth them no otherwise then she doth flowers. Of this sort of Gamahes were those three serpents figured within the hollow of an Oyster shell which were found by the King of Castiles Cooks, in the belly of a Fish. These Serpents were figured with their Head

Head Relieved or swelling up; and that so naturally as that they seemed to be alive. The upper part of the Shell also afforded pretty variety of the like said figures: and which was most of all to be admired, there was not one of them but had a hole running along through it, from the very mouth to the Taile, though it were indeed but a very small one. Therefore saith Albertus Magnus, Constat per illud experimentum, etiam Figuras elevatas super lapides aliquandò fieri à naturâ.

4. Those Figures that are Naturally Ingraved upon Stones, are either graved superficially only, or transparently, so as the Graving passes passes through the body. Of this later kind you shall oftentimes meet with some, among the heap of hollow stones that are found in the fields, wherein you may observe the forme of a head by the little holes, which represent the Eyes the Nostrills and the Mouth and sometimes you shall have of them, yt have the form of a Deaths head, either of a man or a horse. As for those other, which are only superficially graved, you may have store of them, among the little stones on the banks of River and upon the Sea shore: where you shall light upon some so exactly representing the figure of shells that that you would thinke they were ye Natural shells of fishes: and this sort ought rather to be reckoned in the Number of Embossed Gamahes then those that are simply Graved. I met with one of these stones which perfectly resembled a Goats Horne, which the Ancients called Cornu Ammonis, as you may see in Georg. Agricola lib. 5. de Natura Fossilium. I thought at first, when I saw some of these stones figured like shells that they had been at first Reall shells of Fishes, which had afterwards been petrified and turned into Stone, by the vertue of some kind of water they were so perfectly & exactly and exactly formed. But I have since consider'd that, seeing there are found of them upon the tops of the highest hills, they must necessarily be Gamahes and the workmanship of nature; which without doubt hath not produced them, but to some end; as we shall see hereafter. From hence you may judge, whether or no Goropius hath not good reason to reprove those that confidently affirme, that Ægypt and a part of Ethiopia hath heretofore been covered all over with the Sea, because that there are some of those shells frequently found in those parts. For we may as well conclude by the same Argument, that the Appenine Appenine, the Alpes and the Pyrenean Hills have been sometime also overwhelmed with ye Sea; which is most absurd: unless they mean at the General Deluge. But this is not their Intention. Let us now come to the figures of the Plants.

5. The most learned among the Naturalists divide them thus. A Plant, say they, is either Arbor, or Cremium, or Frutex, or Herba. A Tree is a Plant, that hath a great Trunk or body: the Cremium hath but a little one: the Frutex hath many: and the Herba, is that, which at its first appearing out of the ground puts forth only two little leaves leaves. I find then, that in all the severall kinds there is an infinite number of admirable Figures, which are called by the Philosophers Signaturæ rerum: now, One part only of a Figured Plant and not the whole Plant is called Signatura: or, the Signature is some certain thing in that Part, I speake not here of Internal Signatures; the Doctrine of these belong to Chymists: I purpose to Discourse of those Signatures that we meet withall in Plants, which the Ages past have taken very little notice of. I shall begin to shew, in order to the parts of ~~the~~ Plants, what Signatures or Marvellous Figures Figures Nature hath produced in them.

And first, the Root of divers sorts of Plants representeth divers parts of our Bodies: as that of the Hermodactil, resembles a mans Hand. The Body or Stock is yet more Admirable: for whether it be in great Trees, or in small Plants, you shall find Figures, that represent the parts of Living Creatures. Among these later, the Serpentaria major perfectly resembles the Skinn of a Serpent; as doth also the Dracunculus, and the Ophioscorodon: among the Former, we must consider either the wood or the Bark of them.

In the Bark you shall many times see especially especially in that of old Trees, many Figures representing divers kinds of things by the various Cranies and Clifts that are in it. In young Trees where the Bark is closer it is figured with many little streakes, and Lines in the nature of Painting: And I have some time observed upon the bark of a young Cherry tree, the figure of Little Trees laden with fruit, so naturally exprest as if it had been done with a Pencil.

The Wood is yet more admirable than the rest, seeing that in many Trees, there is the very same variety found, that is in Agats. There was a Tree found in Holland, which being being cut in peeces by a wood cleaver, they saw in one part of it the Figure of a Chalice; in another, that of a Priests Albe; in another ye of a Stole; and in a word there were represented very near all the Ornaments belonging to a priest. In boards of *Maple, you shall often find the figure of a Serpent, of a Bird, of a Fly &c. perfectly expressed by the streaks of this variegated Wood. There are also some other sorts of wood that represent some of these figures but not painted but embossed. At a City in provence called Apt I saw the Trunk of a ~~Tree~~ Vine which represented a Mans face as far far as the hair of the Head, so lively that you might perceive the Forehead, the Eyes Nose, Ears, Mouth, Chin all exactly formed and in very good proportion.

The Branches of Plants are lesse Considerable in matter of Figures then all the rest; (though it were in wood:) never the lesse you may oftentimes observe in them some Kind of Resemblance; of the Fingers of a Mans hand; and of the Bushinesse of his hair. And this is the reason, in my opinion why the Poets, when they discourse in their Metamorphoses, of the Transforming of men into Trees, they say that their Fingers, and the hair the Hair of their Heads were changed into Branches. In the Branches of Corall, you shall often meet with many Curiosities; & the thing is not so rare or scarce; but that any man may see easily the Experiment.

The Leaves seem to surpasse all the other parts; being divided into so many figures, that there seems not to be any thing in Nature, the Image whereof is not to be found among them. If the question be made of the parts of Mans body, they are here represented: if you would have a Representation of the waters, you shall find among these some that are waved: If you would have the Living Creatures of the Land land, you shall have some that have their Feet, and walke as they do; such as are those; which are found in the great Isle of Burner, which are ~~found~~ described by Antonio Pigafetta: of the Birds of the Air and the Fishes of the waters, you shall finde some that are scaled and which have Finnes; & some that have both a Bill and Wings, and which do in a manner fly. I referr you, for the truth of these Relations. to Baptista Porta, Barthol: Chassaneus, Jo: de Torquemada, Thevet, Cardan. Scaliger, & Gul. Rovillius.

Neither are the Flowers less admirable then these: For they likewise represent the figures of Living Creatures, both Beasts, Fishes, and Birds, the Stars also, the Rainbow, and almost all the other kinds of Meteors.

Fruits also are equally to be admired, for their several forms and figures: and although they do not represent the figures of so many various things, as Leaves and Flowers do; yet they do represent very many and very considerable ones as you may observe in some Gourds, Peares, Apples, and other fruits. That sort of Leafe, which the Latines call Arietini, resembles the head of a Ram: as another sort of them (which are for the same reason called Columbini) doth a Pigeons: having each of them this quality agreable to their figure; that they are both equally hott hot. So Beans likewise, bear on one side, the Form and figure, of a Mans Privy parts, and on the other of a Womans. And perhaps it might be for this only cause, that Pythagoras gave that precept to his Scholars (which hath yet been rightly understood by no man) A Fabis abstineto. Neither is the Seed which is the part of Plants that is brought last to perfection, as being of the Greatest Importance, altogether deprived of the Beauty of these Figures. For that of the Herb Echion, or wild Buglosse resembleth the Head of a Serpent, with its Mouth and Eyes and for this cause also it is observed to be very Soveraign against the biting of Serpents according

according to Dioscorides. That of Rue is made in the fashion of a Crosse; and this peradventure is the reason that it is of so great vertue, in the cure of those that are possessed, and that the Roman Church useth it in their Exorcismes. You may also observe some kind of Resemblance of the Privy parts both of men and women in a Grain of wheat, and in the stones of Grapes: and my opinion is that out of this Observation may be raised a Philosophical Interpretation, far above that which is usually given of this Proverbial Saying Sine Cerere et ~~Libero~~ Baccho friget Venus. If after you have considered all the parts severally severally, you but take the whole entire plant altogether; you will yet meet with some such rare figures as would seem Incredible! did not such excellent Historians confirme us in the beliefe of the Relation. Of this sort is the Boramet which growes in Scythia, having a perfect Resemblance of a Lamb, having a head, eyes, Eares, teeth, & the rest of the parts of the body proportionable. This Plant crops and feeds upon all the grasse that growes round about it; and when there is no more left it dyes with famine. Perhaps this is that Zoophyte or Plant Animal which is called in Hebrew Jeduah. You may may see the Story of it in *Sigismundus, Cardan, Scaliger, Vigenerius. Guil: Rovillius, Dureet.

Jos. Silvester saith, of these Boramets

Such as those Boramets in Scythia bred, Of slender seeds, & with green fodder fed: Although their Bodies, Noses, Mouths, & Eyes Of new yean'd Lambs have full the form & guise

Now in all the parts of Plants the Figures are either Internall, or Externall only; or both Internall & Externall also! The Internal are, such as the Fruit of Palestine; w.ch beares the figure of Ashes within; and likewise all the sorts of figures, that are found in sawing of Marble. The Externall are all such as are painted, & coloured on the outside of the fruit, but only not at all not at all Within; in like manner as the Apple called in France the Fambure; is, which is all sparkled with red Spots like drops of blood but only on the Outside or Rind. Those that are both Internally and Externally Figured are such as the Maple wood, & many sorts of Stones. The Internal Figures are likewise discovered, either by any manner of cutting Indifferently; or else by one certain particular way, only. That which appears after any manner of Cutting indifferently is as in that kind of Apple, which as Nider reports hath been seen at Granada, which being cut any manner of way did still nevertheless represent represent the Figure of a Crucifix. That which requires One only particular way of cutting, is, as in the Root of Fferne; which being cut One way only represents an Eagle perfectly. I have often observed, that an Orange likewise so cut, not across but long waies represents with its Kernells & little Skins an Orange tree laden with Oranges. It is also observed that the Kernels of an Apple represent the Tree.

Those Figures do yet consist either in the colour; or in the Division of the parts; in the Colour; as in the flower of the Herb Eye-bright which representeth those of an Eye

In this division of ye parts already spoken of.

6. The Natural Figures which are found in Stones, have Naturally a power to Operate; if they be Applied: and this I shall prove by two Reasons. The first is because they are called Effectrices: and the second is because we see it by Experience: For we dayly see, that some of these Figured Stones do operate upon the same things that they represent, as for Example; that Stone which we call Heliotropium, which is all speckled as it were with Drops of Blood, if applied to the part that bleeds, it stops the Blood Blood. Others there are that worke upon the wound that is made by the Image they bear So Pliny affirmes that there is a kind of Marble called Ophites, by reason of its resembling the figure of Serpents, whose name it bears: which if applied to the wound caused by the biting of those venemous Creatures it healeth it. Genus Marmoris (saith Pliny) ab Ophite dictum quod Imaginem horum Serpentum representat molle candidum, nigransq; durum; dicuntur ambo serpentum ictus sedare. And here we may make this division of the figures that are found in stones, and say that they are of

of two sorts. The one are found in some certain Stones and are alwayes the same: & these are naturally endued with very admirable vertues. The other are such as are not tyed to any certain sort of stones but are indifferently found in all; and are not indeed of so great vertue as the former. And this is the Division that Cardan makes of them.

De subtil. l. 7.

Verum (saith he) mire quispiam dubitet, unde figurae hae in Gemmis, et lapidibus proveniant? neq; enim credendum est omnem figuram casu contingere; cum lapides multi ex eodem genere easdem retineant figuras. Itaq; meo judicio, dicendum est duo esse Figurarum Figurarum et Imaginum genera: alterum, quod semper in iisdem lapidibus apparet, et hoc a natura provenit; quae non secus ac in plantis foliorum et fructuum numerum servat et rationem. Hoc figurarum genus vim habet et aliquid significat. And so going on, he makes mention of a stone, which Albertus Magnus had, that being naturally marked with the figure of a Serpent had this admirable vertue, that if it were put in a place that were haunted with Serpents it drew them all unto it. You may see divers of these admirable Gamahes in Georgius Agricola, who reckons up, what stones there are

are that represent all the parts of mans body; as well as those rare fruits & plants do, which we shall hereafter speake of.

And here it is comonly objected that it is not at all the Figure that produceth any such effect, but some occult quality wherewith the stone is endued. For otherwise if ye Figure were operative, one drop of blood would stop others; and a Living Scorpion should cure the stinging of another Scorpion forasmuch as there is much more conformity and nearnesse of Resemblance betwixt two Reall drops of blood, or two Living Scorpions, then betwixt one pictured & one one Living one. And this is the strongest Objection yt our modern Philosophers do bring to overthrow the power which the Ancients attributed to Figures.

First therefore in Answer It is true indeed that the bare figure represented on stones, hath not of it selfe any power at all to operate, though applied, Except there be some Internall or Externall Agent that may cooperate; as for Example, a Painted Figure will never be able to penetrate though it be applied, if it be either of soft wax or of butter, because that the matter is not at all proper to penetration; but the same same Figure in Wood, Iron Brasse, or any other hard matter will very easily penetrate. In like manner, if a Stone have not either from the Stars, or from its own nature, some quality proper to such or such an effect; as for stopping of blood, some Restringent Quality, & so of the rest. In vain should we expect to find any perfect power in the figure. To say then, y^t it is (for example) this only restringent Quality that stops the blood; and that ye Figure of the drops of blood wherewith the Stone is spotted & painted, is of no concernment at all in the businesse is to —

is to fall back into the former Error: For to what purpose then hath Nature bestowed this Figure on the Stone? there must necessarily be given some kind of reason for it. If it be Answered that Nature had no purpose or End in giving this figure: this were to deny that Principle which is generally received by all. Id non frustra fit quod Natura semper facit vel plurimum.

There were indeed very good reason to doubt of this power, if the Marble called Ophites, (which represents the Figures of Serpents, by whose name it is called,) would cure the biting of a dog, or of a horse only. But

But seeing it cures the stinging of Serpents only and of no other Beast; why should we not attribute something to the very figure?
But to prove more forcibly, that these Figures have some power to operate, against the perverseness of those that dispute against it: If those which repre= sent Scorpions, Serpents, Toads, do find the nature of the place proper and aptly disposed for the supplying of the stone or other Matter on which they are found with a Quality & Nutriment agreeable to the Nature of the thing, whose Image they bear; these figures will then

then certainly be turned into Reall Serpents, Scor= pions and Living Toads, and into no other kind of Creature. So that our Philosophers need not now vex themselves any more to find out how and by what means a Toad should come to be generated in the midst of a great stone De Anim= al. subter. } as was that described by Georgius Agricola which was found within a Milstone, when it was crackt or broken in pieces, either by the force of the venom or else by the violence of the motion: and also how that other was generated which Goropius Becanus saw at Anvers, which was found in the sawing in two of a very thick marble stone

stone; that had neither hole nor rift in it. For the figure of a Toad having been first represented within those Stones, it so came to passe, that by some property of the place it was afterwards changed into a naturall living Toad. And the very selfe same may happen in any other figures, except that of Man whose fabrick is from the hand of God alone. We may conclude therefore that these figures are not represented in vain, both on Stones and on other Things: seing that if they be rightly applyed, they assuredly have some secret power, according to the principle before laid down. And as Toads and other such Creatures are engendred engendred with stones, and the very heart of the hardest Rocks, after the very same wonderfull manner of Generation, those fish Shells also which are found on the tops of Mountains are produced: not in the Sea (as some have ridiculously imagined;) but upon the very place where they are found: which gave occasion to that curious Inquirer into the Secrets of Nature, to draw from hence this Conclusion: Ubicunque igitur humor, sive liquor invenitur, ad Testaceorum vitam idoneus viva Testacea generantur. He speaks this in discoursing of diver severall Figures or Gamahes that he had seen in divers places: and then he goes on goeson, and sayes further; Opifex enim progreditur eo quoad ejus Materia patitur, ultra progressurus, si Loci et materiæ inopia non excluderetur. If a Figure then have so much power, as to change it selfe into that living Creature that it represents (provided that it meet with no Impediment) how can it be denied, but that they also have the power to worke, by some secret Sympathy (if applied) upon the wound given by ye Creature which they resemble?

7. Now, why the same Figure should not rather hurt, then heale a wound so given, seeing that the Living Creature it selfe being venemous, its figure also should, by Sympathy be venemous rather rather then Healing: the Reason I confesse is very dark and hard to be given: Neverthelesse I shall here adventure the first on this Discovery no man, that I know of having as yet undertaken it.

We have therefore said before, that when the Figure of a Scorpion, (for example) being represented on a Stone, finds in the place where it is, any Nutriment, or Humour, agreeable to the Nature of a Living Scorpion, it by little and little acquires perfection, and having at length drawn forth all that which was proper for a Scorpion, it becomes a living Scorpion. We doe also suppose that when this venemous Creature

Creature or a Serpent, Dog or any other Beast chanceth to bite any; they leave an Impression of some particular quality behind, as we see in those y^t are bitten by a Tarantula, who presently fall into a continual Agitation; (not that they continually dance as the general Talk is:) this Venomous Creature having this Quality, that it is always in continual motion; and though it be cut into many small peices yet it will not leave stirring a long time after.

De Incant. De Sens. rer. And so likewise Pomponatius, and Campanella affirme, that if a mad Dog bite a woman with child if there be not speedy remedy used, the fruit of her womb will be formed in the shape of a dog and it will afterwards come into the world with all the lineaments lineaments of a Dog. So true it is that if we would but enquire into the effects of Nature and should be able to yield the reasons of them, we would scorne all that we now know. Now I say that the Figure of a Scorpion, that is naturally represented on a stone, is still endeavouring its own perfection, and where ever it meets with any such Qualities as are proper to it self it attracts, and draws them to it. If therefore the Figure of a Scorpion, be applied to a wound made by a Scorpion, it there finds the Impression of some certain Quality made by a Scorpion: which finding to be proper and agreeable to its own Nature it attracts attracts and draws them to it. If therefore the Figure of a Scorpion be applyed to a Wound made by a Scorpion: it there finds the Impression of some certain Quality made by a Scorpion, which finding to be proper and agreable to its own Nature, it attracts and retains with it-selfe: so that the wound being thus delivered of those Qualities that envenomed it, presently heals up and growes well again. In a word the stronger here prevails against the weaker: So that in the Figure of a Scorpion, which Nature hath represented on a Stone, there being greater store found of the Qualities proper proper to this Creature, then there is in the wound which the Scorpion made; those which are here, are drawn forth by those other, which are in the Stone as being the stronger, and of greater Vertue. Upon this Principle also it is, that a Scorpion bruised to pieces, and applied to the wound, cures it; as doth also its Oyl.

The biting of the Serpent is also healed by the applying of its head, beat in pieces; or else by the Serpent it selfe reduced into powder; as Crollius, and M. du Chesne. I. de la Violette affirmes; as likewise that of a Crocodile is cured by its Fatt: that of a Rat by its flesh made into powder; that of a dog by its hair de Sign. Plant. En la reformation de Theriques its hair or skin: the Venom of a ~~[illegible]~~ Toad Toadstone/ is cured by a certain Stone that is found in his head. And if we should search after the properties of other living Creatures, we should doubtlesse finde the same thing in all of them. Upon this Principle also it is, that if an Egg that is frozen be put into cold water, it will be thawed in a very short space: and Hands that are benumed with cold will presently become unbenummed, if they be put into cold water or into Snow broth. For the greater cold which is in the Water, finding the lesse which is in the Hands; it draws it forth, and Swallows it up; just as a small small Candle is lost, if it be placed neer a great Fire, or a red hot furnace. But if the Cold, y^t is in the Hands were greater then that in the water; and the Venom that is in the wound made by a Scorpions Sting, were more powerfull then that of the Scorpions figure applied to it; we should then see a clean Contrary Effect./

We deny not but that there is a greater Correspondency betwixt two Reall Naturall Drops of Blood; and betwixt two Living Scorpions; then betwixt a Living one and a painted. Yea we rather on ye contrary acknowledge that the great Analogy and Resemblance that there is betwixt them is the is the Cause that Blood either broken into little pieces by stirring or freshly drawn, & applyed to a Wound, stops the bleeding of it; as Experience testefies, if we may believe Crollius: & the Oyle of Haires distilled, keeps the Haire from falling off: So Earthwormes made into Powder destroy those that are bred in our bellies. and the Gravell of the Urine we make, is an excellent Medicine against the Stone: and many other properties there are observed to proceed from this Analogy, or nearenesse of Resemblance.

8. The Power of those Figures that are found in plants, and their parts, seems to have some affinity with that of the figures in Stones; Seing that they also operate on the same things that they represent. Example, the Citrull Cowcumber, which in some sort resembles the figure of a mans Head, is a very soveraign remedy as Porta affirms against the diseases of the Head. So the Herbs, Argemon, Iris and Bolloculus all which represent the figure of an Eye; do likewise cure the Diseases of it. Dentaria which hath the form of Tooth cures the Tooth ach: Palma Christi, and Ischamon which grow in the shape of a Hand, are cures for the wounds of that part as the Herb Geranopodium is for those of ye feet because it beares the Resemblance of them Crollius proceeds more Methodically in reckoning up the wonderfull effects of this Resemblance betwixt the severall sorts of plants, and ye parts of Mans body: and the Order he observes is this.

The Head, saith he, is represented by the Root of Squills, which is of the same figure: and therefore also it is properly applied in the diseases of the Head.

The Haire is represented by that Hairy Mosse, which growes upon the Oaks, and is called, Pili Querceini: and by Thistle-down, the juyce whereof being distilled makes the hair to grow

grow.

The Eares by the Herb Asarum or Asarabacca which is excellent against Deafness.

The Eyes, by the flower of the Herb Potentilla a word, saith Fuchsius, unknown to the ancients, and which is called with us Wild Tansie; the water whereof is of singular vertue for the sight.

The Nose by Water-Mints, the water whereof recovers the Smell when it is lost.

The Teeth by the Hearb Dentaria which causeth the Toothach to cease.

The Hands by the Root of Hermodactil, wch is good against Chops in the Hands.

The Heart

The Heart by the Citron and the Herb called Alleluja which is very soveraign for it.

The Lungs by the Heart Lungwort.

The Liver by Hepatica or Liver wort; which is of good use in the Diseases of the Liver.

You may see all the other Simples in the same Author, that represent the rest of the parts of Mans body; as the Breasts Ventricle Navel &c.

And here it may be Objected that the greatest part of these Plants, though they be reduced into Ashes, yet do they not faile to worke the same effects and to have the same Quality that they had before: and that therefore this power is to be attributed to the Nature of the Plant and and not at all to the Figure which it now no longer retains, when it is once reduced into Powder.

I answer, that though they be chopt in pieces brayed in a Morter, and even burnt to ashes, yet do they neverthelesse retain (by a certain secret and wonderfull power of Nature) both in the Juyce and in the Ashes the selfe same forme and figure that they had before and though it be not there visible, yet it may by Art be drawn forth and made visible to the Eye, by an Artist. This perhaps will seem a Ridiculous story to those who read only the titles of Books: but those that please may may see this Truth confirmed, if they have recourse to the works of M. du Chesne, S. de la Violette one of the best Chymists yt our Age hath produced, who affirmes, that himselfe saw an excellent Polish Physitian of Cracovia, who kept in Glasses the Ashes of almost all the Hearbs that are knowne. So that, when any one out of curiosity, had a desire to see any of them, as (for Example) a Rose, in one of his Glasses, he took that where the Ashes of a Rose were preserved, and holding it over a lighted Candle, so soone as ever it began to feel ye heat, you should presently see the Ashes

began to Move; which afterwards rising up and dispersing themselves about the Glasse; you should immediately observe a kind of little dark cloud which dividing it selfe into many parts, it came at length to represent a Rose; but so fair, so fresh, and so perfect a one, that you would have thought it to have been as substantial, and as Odoriferous a Rose as any growes on the Rose tree; This Learned Gentleman sayes, that Himselfe hath often tryed to do the like: but not finding the successe to answer all the Industry he could use. Fortune at length gave him a sight of this Prodigy; For as he was one day practising

practising with M. de Luynes called otherwise De Fomentieres Counsellour to the Parliament to see the Curiosity of divers Experiments, having extracted the salt of certain Nettles burnt to Ashes, and set the Lye abroad all night in a winter Evening; in the Morning he found it all frozen; but with this wonder attending it; that the Nettles themselves with their Forme and Figure were so lively and so perfectly represented on the Ice, that the Living Nettles were not more: This Gentleman being as it were ravished at the sight sent for the said Counseller to be a Witnesse of this Secret, the Rarity whereof he exprest in these Verses This

This Secret proves, that though the Body die, The Forme doth still within its Ashes lye.
From hence we may draw this Conclusion, ÿ the Ghosts of Dead men which are often seen to appeare in Church yards, are Natural Effects being only the Forms of the Bodies, which are buried in those places; or their outward shapes or figures; and not the Souls of those Men or any such like Apparition, caused by Evil Spirits as the Comon Opinion is.
The Ancients thought that these Ghosts were the Good and Evil Genii which attended alwayes upon Armies: but they are to be excused; seeing they know not how to give any

any other reason of those Apparitions, it being most certain that in Armies, where by reason of their great Numbers, many dye, you shall see some such Ghosts very often (especially after a Battle) which are as we have said, only the figures of the Bodies excited and raised up partly by an Internal Heat, either of ye Body or of the Earth: or else by some External one as that of the Sun or of the Multitudes of the living: or by the violent noyse or heat of great Guns which puts the Air into a heat. Hence may arise these Questions. Whether or no we may by these explain all the Visions that are mentioned by Writers? Whether those wonderful Effects

Effects, which we attribute to Demons or spirits, may proceed from these Figures or not? And then, whether they have any power at all or not? And if so, whence they have it? And if it be granted they have any; Whether they have greater power then the dead body it selfe, whence they proceed? Or whether the dead body is of more power then when it was living? as Paracelsus is of opinion; who saies that Mummie hath in it all the Vertues of plants, stones, &c And that it hath an Occult Magnetique Vertue; which draws Men to the Sepulchers of those whome they account to have been holy men; where, by the vertue of the same Mummie, these are

those Effects wrought, which we call Myracles: which are observed (saith he) to be much more frequent in the Sumer, then in any other season of the yeare, by reason of the heat of the Sun which awakens & excites the Humour that is in the Mumie. These other Questions are disputable Whether or no, these wonderfull formes, which proceed from the blood the bones or the ashes of dead bodies, may serve for an Undeniable Argument of the Resurrection; a thing unknown to most of the philosophers? Whether after they are raysed up they can in any thing be serviceable unto us? An whether by their means we may be naturally able to attain to the knowledge of divers divers secrets which are unknown to us. By what hath been said We may safely account the Objec: tion before proposed to be Invalid & of no force seing that, though the Body be reduced unto ashes, yet neverthelesse the Figure is not thereby destroyed.

And this peradventure is the reason, why it oftentimes raineth frogs: for the Sun drawing up Vapours out of some Moorish place where those frogs, after six months space (say the Naturalists) are changed into Slime; it may so come to passe that those vapours, which afterwards become thick Clouds, may produce by the concurrence of the heat of the Sun the formes forms of Frogs; which meeting there with—Qualities proper for their Generation, receive life and so become Living Frogs.

After the Figures that are found in Stones and Plants we proceed to those figures that are found in Living Creatures both Rationall and Irrational even down to Fishes.

Those then y^t are found in Fishes are Characters Cyphers or all kind of Arms. Raphael Eglin Minister of Zurich gives an account of 3 Fishes which were marked with strange Characters they were taken on the Coast of Norway 1587.

The Figures that are found upon Beasts of the Land are better known, then those upon Fishes: For it hath been often observed, that the hornes of Deer have been marked with certain Characters, and sometimes too even with the shapes of Living Creatures, which have been perfectly represented by them. So we have sometimes seen Catts & Horses, which have had upon their skins such spots of white red or black, that by the intermixing of ye streaks of the severall coloured Hair there hath been represented the figure of another Cat or horse.

Lastly the Figures which are found upon Rational Creatures are such as the Imagination of the of the Mother, during the time of her going with Child, hath imprinted there: And for brevities sake, I shall only set down two Remarkable Examples which prove very powerfully the vertue which we attribute to all Figures. My Sister Jane Rudd had the figure of a Fish upon her left Legg, caused by the desire my Mother had to eate Fish when she was Great: and it was represented with so much perfection & Rarity that you would take it to be drawn by some excellent Master, Now that wherein the wonder lies is that when ever the Girl eat any fish that upon her Legg put her to a sensible pain pain!

The other Example of an Hostess at Paris who had a Mulberry growing upon her lower Lip wch was smooth and plain all the year long till the time that Mulberries began to ripen; at which time hers also began to be red, and to swell more and more, observing exactly the Season & nature of other Mulberries, & coming at length up to the just bigness & Redness of other ripe Mulberries.

Section the 4th.

That according to the Opinion of the Eastern Men, Figures & Images may be so prepared under certain Constellations, as that they shall have have the power Naturally and — without the Aid of any Demon or Devil, to drive away noisom beasts allay Winds, Thunder & Tempests and to cure divers kinds of Diseases.

In all Philosophy nothing hath more per= plexed our new Philosophers then this Subject concerning Images or Figures made under some certain Constellations. The greatest part have Rejected the practice of these Operations as vain and Superstitious.
Yet others not over swayed with passion, — have both allowed and defended it though they suffered for it in their repute: insomuch that

Galleottus, who is acknowledged by Paulus Jovius to have been one of the most Learned and — knowing men of his time, only for having — undertaken the Defence of this Truth have — been handled by some like any base inconsiderable fellow: and the famous Camillus accounted no better then an Atheistical wretch. And this is the usage they bestow on all the ablest men: whereas they ought rather to Answer their Arguments pertinently, and to show the insufficiency of them if they can. But leaving these men to enjoy their own ignorance I shall prove (against all those that have condemned them) that the making of those figures is lawfull, and the power they have is Naturall, Constant and Certain. First Consider their Name.

They are called in Hebrew מגן Maghen i.e. a Scutcheon or Shield: in Chaldie, Ægyptian, & Persian צלמניא, Tsilmenaia w.ch signifies a Figure or Image: In Arabick הלצמם, Talitsman or צלמם Tsalmam, and in Greeke ϛοιχεῖα. Maghen therefore signifies properly any piece of paper or other the like Matter marked with certain Characters drawn from the Tetragramaton, or Great Name of Foure Letters or from any other as we shall shew hereafter. This Word signifies also though Improperly improperly those very figures also & Images we speake of because that those also as well as the Characters of the Tetragramaton do serve as it were in steed of a Buckler or shield of Defence; against Diseases, Lightnings & Tempests Our Discourse shall only be what Naturall Power Images that are made under certain Constellations may have; banishing from hence all Operations of Demons or Spirits, and all Superstitious Powers whatsoever.

I shall prove therefore this Power of Figures and Images three manner of wayes, by the Influence of the Stars: by the Power of Resemblance, and by Experience. I shall begin begin with the last of these.

First then it is Certain and we cannot deny it, without denying the most Authentick Hystoriographers that are, that there have been seen both in our dayes and in the dayes of our Fathers some of these Talismans or Talismanical Figures, that have cured those that have been bitten by Serpents, Scorpions Mad Dogs, and divers other Mischances yt are but too frequent with us. The Antient Arabians, as Almansor, Messahala, Zahel Albohazen, Haly Rhodoam, Albategnius, Homar, Zachdir, Hahamed & Serapion gives us many Examples of this kind which gave Haly occasion to conclude, that, Utilem Serpentis Imaginem effici posse; quando Luna Serpentem Coelestem subit, aut feliciter aspicit Similiter Scorpionis effigiem efficacem, quando Scorpij Signum Luna ingreditur. Neither did he deliver this Doctrine without having had Experience of the Effects: for he affirmes, that himselfe being in Ægypt, had in his hand one of these Images of a Scorpion which did cure those that were stung by this Venomous beast and it was engraven upon a Bezar stone.

in Hist. Franc. } Gregorius Turonensis, besides an infinite number of Rarities which he reports of Heaned Saids saies that when they were sometimes digging at the Bridge at Paris, there was found a piece of Copper, whereon was to be seen the figure of a Rat, of a Serpent, and of a fire. which being afterwards neglected, & peradven=ture either broken to pieces or some way or other spoiled, there was observed in a very short time after a great Number of Serpents and Rats to haunt the City; and they do greatly annoy it still: and we cannot without greif call to minde the many great Losses the City hath since that time endured by fire; all which sad accidents were never heard of here before the taking up of this strange piece of Copper. /

mirar: Lib.3.c.20

It is also reported that Mahomet the Second after he had possessed himselfe of Constantinople the breaking of the lower Jaw of a brazen Serpent was the cause of the Increasing of Serpents in those parts. So true it is that these Talismans have power to divert many of those Calamities that afflict mankind. And who knowes not that by the means of these the Learned men of the Ages past have oft times chased away Insects out of their Cities & fields as Gnats Locusts and Caterpillars. If any desire to see some of these Examples, he may have recourse to the Chiliads of John Tzetzes, where this Greeke Author who lived about the time of that Excellent

Historian

Historian Anna Comnena, Daughter to the Emperour Alexius Comnenus, reports that Appollonius by making a Talisman of a Stork, kept those troublesome birds from coming into Constantinople; and by another Talisman he drove away all the Gnats out of Antioch. You may also see Ptolomies Centiloquium, and ye Comentary of Abo Gafar, falsly attributed to Italy as it is observed by Scaliger.

Aphor: 9. ad marc. Velsr. Epis. 157. 130. Et in Manil.

Furthermore I am of opinion that the first Gods of the Latines which they called Averrunci, or Dij Tutelares were no other then those Talismanical Images: and I ground this my Conjecture from hence that there are some Historians that affirme affirm that they made some of those Tutelar Gods under certain Constellations: But the poison of Idolatry having infected the best of Sciences, was the cause that these Images being afterwards taken for Gods, the true and legitimate manner of making them was smothered & quite lost.

They were wont also to set up some of those Talismans upon the Prow of their ships to preserve them from Shipwrack: and all this to be done naturally too; seeing that a Talisman may be made under the sign of Pisces that may for some certain time render the waters Calm and free from Tempests.

The Greeks, (as Hesychius & Herodotus called called those Figures) set up in Ships, παταικοὺς; a word no doubt borrowed from the Hebrew: פתוחים, Pitochim, which signifies as much as Cælatura: And therefore the Chaldee Paraphrase renders it צלמניא Tsilmenaja. Now we are to take notice that these Figures were not at all of any Humane form, but of some Celestial figure, or other, which confirms me in the beliefe that they were reall Talismans. Neverthelesse the Mariners had also their Statues of some Deity or other as of Mars Apollo, Venus, Mercury & the like which they placed at the poop or hinder part of their ships whence Virgil saies — Aurato fulgebat Apolline Puppis.

Puppis.

Which gave occasion to the Poets to feign that Jupiter stole away Europa under the shape of a Bull; because the Ship of the Cretians who stole her away had for its Talisman the figure of the Celestial Sign Taurus, and for its Deity a Statue of Jupiter. The like Original might probably ye other Fable of Ganimede have had; who is said to have been carryed away by an Eagle, the bird proper to the same God. You may see further concerning this Particular in Sextus Pompeius, lib. de Europa, & Lactantius lib. de falsa Religione. This Custome of Mariners setting up of these Talismans or Images in their their Vessells against Shipwrecks, is so ancient y they say, that among those y came with Aeneas from Troy, there was one that had the figure of two Lyons: That the Gadarens had one with the Image of a Horse: and that the Ship of Alexandria which St. Paul sailed in, had the Images of Castor and Pollux, or according to the Arabians the Gemini graved on it: And that which carried Hippocrates when he tooke his Journy to Abdera for the curing of Democritus bare the figure of the Sun. Now all these Talismans were not made so much for the avoiding of Shipwrack only as for the turning away of some other disastrous accidents or the procuring procuring of some good Fortune or other. And from this practise of the Antients have the Christians taken Example: though in a Christian way, of having Images in their Vessells, and picturing in them the Saints whose Names they bear.

I shall further add to this choice piece of Antiquity:
That these Talismans were not set up in Cities only and Ships, but also in the plain open fields too: and it may be; that that Stone so much Bractan x famed among the Turks, which they call Bractan, and is set up at Mecha, being four foot long, & two foot broad as Suidas reports was only a Talisman. For otherwise we must even content our selves with Turkish Fables, and beleive

that it would never have been so highly prized by them, but for that it served instead of a bed to Abraham, when he had knowledge of his maid Hagar: for besides that this is ridiculous, The Turkes will never acknowledge themselves to be Bastards, and descended from a Servant maid, but from Sarah, & this is the reason that they are so much delighted in being called Sarasins. Others say, that the reason why the Turkes have this stone in so much veneration is because that Abraham tyed his Camel to it when he went up to the top of the Mountain to sacrifice his Son, as Euthymius

In Panopl. / Zigabenus: or as some of the more trifling sort of

of the Arabian Writers will have it, because it was erected in memory of a certain Holy Woman who was taken up into Heaven and afterward honoured upon Earth as a Goddess, for having very charitably entertained the Angels Arot and Marot. That which moved these later to forge these Fables, was the figure of Venus which is engraved upon this Stone, with a Crescent: and this is that which makes me believe, that it was a Talisman of this Syntag. 2. c. 4. / planet, which as M^r. Selden says was anciently taken throughout all Asia for the Moon. And for this cause it is that this people hath Friday in the same Veneration as Sunday is with us with us: and that in memory of this Star, which all the Asians worshipped, the ridges of their Houses and tops of their Temples were adorned with little Crescents as ours are with Crosses. Now it cannot be thought that this stone was only a bare simple Image erected in honour of Venus, for besides that it was placed in the open fields, and not within any Temple; it had that vertue; which no other Image of Goddesse ever had. For it drave away saith Zacuder all Venemous beasts, and rendred all the neighbouring fields both happy & fruitfull: which is so far from being observed in them at this day, that on the contrary, they are all —

utterly barren. And this agrees excellently well with the Nature of these Talismans, whose operation lasteth but for some certain space of time; as Albertus Magnus assures us. thus; (De Mirab. tract. 3 c 3.) Non lateat nos, quod sicut virtutes Naturales perdurant in quodam tempore, et non ultra; ita etiam est de virtutibus Imaginum. Non enim influit aliqua virtus de Cœlo, nisi quodam temporis periodo; postea cassa et inutilis remanet Imago frigida et mortua. Et hæc est causa, quare quædam Imagines non operantur hoc tempore, quod fecerunt tempore antiquo. From the diversity of Opinions concerning this Talismanical Stone it may be judged

how many fabulous stories have been raised touching those Artificial Images; as namely of those which were called Στοιχειώδεις which were broken to pieces by the Latines, at their coming into Constantinople: of the Palladium of which there are so many wonders reported, and which perhaps was nothing else but a Talisman: of those Images of the Amorhites, which as Philo Judæus reports, were called Nymphæ sacræ Biblio. ant. which showed to their slaves hourly, what= soever they were to do which being at last quite decayed, An Angel of the Lord, (being they could neither be broken to pieces, nor burnt burnt in the fire) took and cast into a bottom= pit: The Greeks were the first that turned these Truths into Fables: for having lighted on some of these Images that had been made long before; and seeing them to have such admirable strange Vertues in them being unable to apprehend the reason of these things, they presently betook themselves to forging of old ridicu= lous stories of these as they have done of all other things, the truth whereof they understood not.

7. And here two Questions may be asked first whether the Holy Scriptures make

any mention of these Talismanical Figures or not? And the second, when they were first Invented; and by whome?

To the first of these I answer, that as in none of the Translations so neither in the Original Hebrew is the name of these Talismans found: although there are of those men that attribute all things to the power of Nature only, as Atheists do, who stick not to affirme that the Brasen Serpent set up by Moses in the Wilderness: was but a meer Talisman which drove away Serpents, and healed the bitings of them. But this their opinion is confuted confuted by this; that the Matter of which a Talisman is made must not be any whit contrary to the Nature of the Greif which it is to cure. Now all the Rabbins who have treated upon this subject affirm; that according to the opinion of all the Naturallists there is nothing more contrary to those that are bitten by Vipers, then to touch or looke upon Copper; so that this should have added to the Israelites torment, & more envenomed their wound rather then have cured them. And this was the reason perhaps, why God comanded Moses to make a Serpent of brasse rather then of any

any other Mettal; that so this Incredulous people might know, that seing God cured them by a Remedy quite contrary to their disease; he was able as well to bring them safely into the place to which they despaired of ever arriving. And here by the way I cannot excuse Marsilius Ficinus, who without any ground at all hath charged the Rabbins with having a beleife that their Forefathers made the Golden Calfe in the Wildernesse, to no other end but to serve as a Talisman for the diverting the Influences of Mars and Scorpio wch are adverse to them: Hebrei quoq; (saith he) in Ægypto in Ægypto nutriti, struere vitulum aureum didicerunt, ut eorundem Astrologi putant ad aucupandum Veneris Luneq; favorem, contra Scorpionis atq; Martis influxum, Judæis infestum. This I approve not.

To the second Question, I answer, that it will require the Spirit of Divination to assigne the first Invention of these Talismanical Images to its right Author: yet it cannot be denied but that ye Persians or if you will the Babilonians or Chaldeans were the first that found them out; as you may see in R. Moses his Ductor Dubiorum where he tells us, y.^{t} the Ægyptians and and their Neighbours whome he calls Gens — Zabiorum, Caredim and Aranim, learnt this Doctrine of them. And though we had no — other Testimony but this, that throughout the whole Eastern part of the World there are — yet to be seen some of those Talismans wch — are very ancient ones; it would be an undeni =able argument that the Eastern men were the first Inventors of them. —

8. Some of those Talismans have now quite — lost their Vertue as namely that Leaden One which was made by Achmed Ben Tolon, — Caliph of Egypt which drave away Crocodiles as Julius Scaliger hath observed: as also those (Exercit. 186.)
that

that have been communicated to me by Mr. Du Val. a man well skilled in those Magical Secrets, and whose Closet affords a vast Number of them — I intend to publish them to the world, and to discover this Secret which all the Learned do — either bewail, as a thing lost to the world, or else as of extreame Difficulty: and shall — also show how that all those that have made any of those figures, have mixed such — Superstitions with it as are indeed justly — condemned.

Now some of those Talismans are yet of — as much Vertue, as they were at first. Witness that which is spoken of by the Arabick Cosmographer

Cosmographer (who is a very Authentick writer) and is cited by Joseph Scaliger Epist. ad Vazet. This Talisman, he saith is to be seen in the Country of Hamptz in a City bearing that same name; and it is only the Figure of a Scorpion, graved upon one of the stones in a certain Tower; which is of so great vertue, as that it suffers not any either Scorpion or Serpent to come within the City. And if any one for Experiment sake, bring one of these out of the feild into the City, it is no sooner at the gate but that it dyes suddenly. This Figure hath this Vertue besides that when any any one is stung by a Scorpion or bitten by any other Serpent; they need but take the Image of the stone with a little clay & apply it to the wound, and it is instantly healed. If any one doubt of the Credit of this Cosmographer he may yet adventure to beleive Mr. de Breves, as having been an Eye witnesse of the like Experiment who says in his Travels, pag. 33. that at Tripoli a City of Syria, within a Wall, that reacheth from the Sea Side to the gate of the City there is a certain inchanted Stone, on which is figured in Releif by way of Imbossement, the figure of a Scorpion; which which was there placed by a Magician, for to drive away venemous beasts, which infested this Province; as the Serpent of Brasse, in the Hippodromus at Constantinople, did. And a little above the City, there is a certain Cave which is full of the Carcasses and bones of Serpents which dyed at that time. These are his owne words translated. Now whereas he calls this an Enchanted Stone, and sayes it was placed there by a Magician, you must note that he there speakes according to the sense of the Inhabitants, who know not how to give any other account of the thing, as not not understanding any thing at all of the Natural reason of it as we have said.

At Bizantium, which is now Constantinople there were many of these Talismanicall Figures to be seen: but the fury of warr hath demolished them all, to the great prejudice of the Inhabitants. Sultan Mahomet also caused one of them to be broken to pieces, which was a brazen Horse with a Horseman upon him; which is certainly reported to have preserved the City from Pestilence, and all Contagion of the Air: but since that time this Disease hath raged so fiercely, as that in the

the space of four months Leunclavius, who was present, affirmes, that there died a hundred and fifty thousand persons: and even yearly in the months of July and August, the like effect in a manner is to be seen. In a word all Asia was full of these figures; the use whereof was at length known to the Europeans also: for the Druides as the learned Forsy reports, used these Talismans with good successe; and even our Grand-fathers have assured us, that it was an ancient Tradition; that where the Fairies, the Druids wives inhabited; there neither Haile nor stormes ever spoiled the fruits. And the reason

reason in my opinion was, because they used to make of these Talismans. Now of late many Learned men have rescued from Oblivion these Figures; and Paracelsus did take so much pains herein, as that he made divers of them; and those of such vertue, as that they preserved those that wore them from the Pestilence; as many in Germany have had experience of. Those Talismans which Paracelsus calls Zenexton, by a made Name, (it being the custome of this Author, to devise new Words) are made with exceeding great Art. In one of them there is a Scorpion and a Serpent figured: and he saith it must be made when the Sun and the Moon

Moon enter into the Signe of Scorpio. In anoth[er]

What now can be said both for the Innocence and Power of those Figures? which are both Certain and Naturall, and do protest that I see nothing in them that is above the power of nature. —

The second Meanes which I proposed to use, for the proving of the power of these Figures, is the Power and Vertue of the Resemblance that there is betwixt the Scorpion and its Image; and the Constella=tion that bears the name of this Living Creature. I shall then prove this Vertue, by an Induction of that which Resemblance alone produceth, throughout all Arts and Sciences

Sciences, as Divinity, Philosophy, Physick, Astrology, Physiognomy, Divination of Dreams, Painting, Sculpture, Musick &c

9. Those that are well skilld in the Secrets of the Theology of the Ancients assure us that those that first set up Images in their Temples resembling the shapes of Angels that have appeared upon Earth had no other design in so doing, save only the more easily to invite down those blessed Spirits, by the force of the Resem=blance, and I know not whether or no by the very same vertue of Resemblance, which is found betwixt God and man; (Faciamus hominem hominem ad imaginem et similitudinem nostram:) it hath not rightly been affirmed by some Divines, that the Son of God would nevertheless have become man (yet without suffering death,) though Adam had never fallen. But speaking of things as they are now at present, we know, that Jesus Christ is found in the midst of those, that speake, with Faith, of his Name: because that when we speake with Affection of any One, we represent him to our selves in our Imagination. When therefore speaking of Jesus Christ we fancy him as he is; he is instantly present present with us, appearing to our Hearts at that very instant, that we there frame his Image by our Imagination. So true it is, that Resemblance hath the Power to work wonders, even upon him that hath Dependance upon no other, and is not under any power or Law.

10. Philosophy also lets us see the vertue of this Resemblance, in the business of the Imagination. For if a Woman with Child did but strongly fix her Imagination upon any object during the act of Copulation, the Child will assuredly bear the perfect Image of the same. Every Child knowes knowes the story of the Princesse y^t conceived and brought forth a Black-moor, though her selfe and her husband were both of them fair, only because there was a Moor pictured on the Tester of the Bed. So if the Mother in the Act either strongly fancy Robbing, Killing or Love, the Child will be either a Theife, Murtherer or an Amorous person: If the fancy Travelling, he will be a Traveller, if Dancing or playing on the Lute, he will be very apt for Those things, & so of the rest. And we see by dayly experience ~~the effects~~ of the Strong desires and Longings of Mothers during during the time of their being with Child upon their Children; on whom the strength of their Imagination hath imprinted ye Resemblance of the same thing that they have desired And hence they say it is, that the Children that are got upon a Married woman by some other man then her own Husband shall notwithstanding have the perfect Resemblance of her Husband; because that, during the Act of Generation her mind still runs on him fearing lest he should come and catch them at it.

You may further see the wonderfull effects caused by the power of the Imagination learnedly learnedly discoursed on by Paracelsus, — Marcilius Ficinus, Picus Mirandula, — Tostatus, Valesius, & Medina.

11. Physick likewise observes the admirable Effects caused by Resemblance: witness those Herbs, which asswage the greifs of those parts of our body whose Imag: they bear (as we have already said:) or else — which cure those Diseases, whose figure — or colour they bear. Thus Lentils and Rapeseed cure the small pox in Children — because that the Grains are like to the — Spots of this Disease. And Rhubarb — which is of a yellow colour, expells — Choller choller which is of the same colour. In a — word, those Plants which are Barren or Fruitfull as Porta saith doth render those that use them, Barren or Fruitfull: the Fair makes them Fair; the Deformed makes them Deformed; the Imperfect make them imperfect; so that he concludes with Theophrastus; Accedunt stirpium aliquot — genera deficientium, vel folio vel radice — vel alijs partibus, eadem q; ratione membris illis nostri corporis respondentibus, infesta noxiaq; sunt. The same he also affirmes — of living Creatures. Eadem ratione ad animalia transeundo, si aliquibus membris defecisse videmus Phylogn. l. 1. c. 8. g. 10.

videmus eadem Membris nostris adversantur.
For which reason the Eating of those Creatures which have no blood does wast ours and so of all the other parts. And it is observed that in France, there are more Lepers than in any other Kingdome by reason of the great store of Hogs flesh that is eaten there: So true it is, that our bodies become like unto that which we use to feed on. And for this Reason also is Hercules said to have been very strong because he fed upon the marrow of Lions the strongest among Beasts.

12 Astrology also shewes the vertue of Resemblance

Resemblance, judging of the Qualities of the Child by those of the Stars. For Mars casting forth a glittering red light, makes the Child that is born under its influence of a red colour also. Saturn who is of a pale, faint colour makes him pale and wan.
Jupiter and Venus which cast forth bright clear and pleasant beames, makes the Child beautifull and pleasant. The like is observed also in other Qualities, so that if the Signes be High, and in their Apogaeum the Child (say the Arabians) shall be in like manner of a Tall, and Great Stature; if they are Low he shall be low & of a little stature

As concerning Motion, Saturn, which hath a slow and heavy one makes the Child likewise heavy and lazy: the Moon which hath a swift motion, makes him light and inconsiderate. You may have the fuller prosecution of this Discourse in those two Learned Italians, Cardan, & Porta: who confidently affirm that a man may likewise foretell certainly any other the like qualities that a Child shall be subject to by the figures and other qualities of the Meteors. Thus a man may conclude that ~~[illegible]~~ we shall see Armies battels & wars break forth, after ye Launces of fire, swords, Trumpets & Bucklers have been seen to appear in the air: And chiefly when a Comet hath appeared: of which it is usually said, Nunquam impune visus Cometa. And so likewise we may conclude there will be great Effusion of blood, if all these Meteors are Redder then Ordinary: or when the Sun and Moon, in the time of an Eclypse seem bloody. And if they be Pale & Wan, and wann & of a dead Colour, we may conclude there will follow great Mortality by the Pestilence; which makes those that are infected with it pale wann & colour less.

13. Physiognomy, likewise shewes the most prodigious prodigious Effects of Resemblance and of Figures. For if a man indeavour to counterfeit any other mans Countenance, and that he fancy himselfe to have his hair, eyes, nose, mouth, and all other parts like Him; and in a word if he imagine himselfe like him in his Physiognomy; he may by this means come to know, what his Naturall Inclinations, and what his Thoughts are by the same which he finds in himselfe; during the time of this his making of Faces. This Opinion is grounded upon the Experience of Campanella who expresseth himselfe in those words. Cum quis hominem videt statim imaginari oportet, se nasum habere, ut alter

ut alter habet, et pilum et vultum, et frontem et locutionem: et tunc qui affectus et cogitationes in hac cogitatione illi obrepunt judicat homini illi esse proprios, quem ita imaginando contuetur. Hoc non absque ratione & experientia. Spiritus enim format Corpus, et juxta affectus innatos ipsum fingit, exprimitque. I alwayes thought that the Opinion of Campanella was, that a man should only imagine himselfe to have the same Countenance with the other; as his words seem to mean: but when I was at Rome, understanding that he was brought into the Inquisition. I did out of curiosity to be satisfied in this particular take the pains pains to visit him there. Being therefore in the Company of some Abbots, we were brought to the Chamber where he was: who as soone as he perceived us, came to us, and intreated us to have a little patience, till he had ended a little Note, which he was writing to Cardinal Magaloti. when we were sate down we observed him oftentimes to make certain wry faces; which we conceived to proceed, either from folly, or else from some pain, y^t the violence of the Torments which he had endured put him too: the Calves of his Leggs being all beaten black & blew, and his buttocks having hardly any flesh on them; it having been been torn from him peece meale, to the end they might force him to confesse the Crimes that he was accused of: One of our Company amongst other discourse, asking him if he feelt no pain: He smiling, answered, No; And supposing, that we had been something troubled at the wry faces which he made, he told us; that our Coming in, he fancied himselfe to be Cardinal Magaloti, as he had heard him described and he asked us withall, if he were not a very havy man. Now I, who had before read that passage in his Booke, which I have before set downe, presently conceived that those wry faces are altogether necessary for to beto be able to judge aright of another Mans Naturall Inclination. I shall not here set down what passed between us in this Interview; because it is besides my present subject. I shall now returne to the Effects which are found in Physiognomy, and are produced by the force of Resemblance. We see then by Experience, and all knowing Physiog-:nomists have observed it; that if a man have a round forehead, he is very subject to folly & lightness, being very easily moved any way; in like manner as a Round figure is the most apt for motion: and the Natural Reason of this is, because that the Spirits ascending up, & meeting with a place of a Round Figure, they are very easily easily moved any way. It is also observed that those that have a Sharp Chin, that stands forward, and a little Forehead, are very Brutish & Shrewd: In a word they are qualities like a Hog whose Image they in a manner bear. And without troubling my selfe any further with bringing in Instances of this Nature; you may have recourse to the Physiognomists, who will furnish you with good store of them; by which you will be able to judge, how great the Vertue, and power is of Resemblance, and Figures.

14. The Art of Divination of Dreams is also grounded upon Resemblance; as may appeare Gen: 40. out of the holy Bible; where Joseph foretold ye Cup bearer

Cupboarde that within three dayes he should be restored to his office again: because he had dreamed that he pressed three Clusters of Grapes into Pharaohs Cup. But he foretold the Baker, that after three dayes he should be hanged, & his flesh should be eaten by the birds of ye Air; because that he also had dreamed, that he bare three baskets full; and that ye birds eat up all that was in them. He foretold also the seaven years of plenty, and the seaven years of dearth by the seaven fat kine; and the seaven Lean ones; and by the seaven full eares of Corn, & the seaven thin ones as Pharaoh had dreamed.

Prophane

Prophane Histories also afford us many Examples of this kind, proving the power of Similitudes For Hecuba being with Child, dreamed that she was delivered of a Firebrand, which burnt up her Kingdome: and this was Paris who was afterwards the cause of the burning of Troy down to the ground. I shall here ad moreover that this Resemblance of Dreams hath often times been so powerfull as that, what one hath dreamed, he hath afterwards seen really come to passe. Thus Cornelius Ruffus, dreaming that he had lost his sight, became shortly after quite blind. Consult these following Authors on this Subject, as Nicephorus, Solomon Judaeus Pliny. lib. 7. c. 50.

Galen. de praesag. ex Insomniis

Judaeus

Judaeus, Synesius, Plato, Cicero, Valerius Maximus, Cardan and Artemidorus, who have examined, all that Chrysippus, Antipater, Artemonas, Jamblichus, Aristides, Apomazar the Arabian, and Scirnachan the Indian have saide concerning this particular./

15 Painting and Sculpture do also wonderfully confirme this Power of Figures; for as much as those that are sad and weeping pieces, do make us so sad, as that they sometimes draw tears from our eyes; and the merry & cheerfull pieces, make us Joyfull and cause us to Laugh. And this is the reason why these later are very seldome made use of in Holy matters; and the former sort sort are so frequent in our Churches where we shall oftner finde Jesus Christ pictured on the Crosse then rising from the dead, or sitting on the right hand of his father: because that, besides that the painting him in that posture puts us in mind both of our Redemption, and of his Love towards us, who being Immortall would yet become man, that so he might be in a Capacity to Die for us; it also moves us, by the vertue of Resemblance to be sad; as it is: So great is the power it hath over us. Est enim Similitudo (saith Porta) pictus, sermo vel pulchra loquens, quae movis sermone quibus be nobis Valentior est.

16. Lastly.

16. Lastly, the secret Vertues of Resemblance, & of Figures, appear as well in Musick, as in any other of the Sciences. Thus it is storied of Timotheus the Musitian that by the diversity of voices and Tones which he ordered according to the severall kinds of Humours he was able to raise up in a man any sort of passion y.t he pleased. And we find by dayly experience that merry Songs make us merry, and sad ones make us Melancholy. The Musick of y.e Lydians, as Plato reports, being very Effeminate, made the Hearers also Effeminate: on the Contrary that of the Phrygians made men couragious, manlike and undaunted. I shall not here set down what

vid. Seneca lib. 3. de Ira. c. 9. Plin. l. 28. c. 2. Corn. Cels. l. 3. c. 18.

what some have delivered, of the power that Musick hath in the Curing of Diseases, only by the Harmony and proportionable Mixture of Tones; as it is reported of Pythagoras who is said to have cured Mad men; as Terpander did those that were deaf; and Ismenias those that were drunk. As for Musical Instruments It is most certain that we may make divers of them sound together, without touching of them; provided, that they be all exactly Tuned to the same Pitch and Tone; that that other is which a man shall play on: And although the sound of the others will be very faint, and hardly perceived by the sense; yet you shall plainly

plainly perceive the Motion that the strings do make, if you lay but a Feather, or some other such light thing upon them. How Admirable then is this Resemblance which doth every where produce such wonderfull Effects! Quidnam hic efficit, saith Marsilius Ficinus, ut Cithara subito patiatur a Cithara, nisi situs aliquis, et quaedam Figura conformis? If then Resemblance hath so great power in all those things which we have now showed, we may very safely conclude, that it can have no lesse in that of a Talismanical Figure; & this we may be the more Confident of, since we are Confirmed herein by Experience it selfe.

It now remains that we prove this Power to be Natural, by the Third means which we proposed namely by the Vertue of the Stars. And this we shall very easily be able to do, after we have first showed the manner, which the more Learned Sort do observe, in preparing these Images

The manner of making Talismans.

17. First, they usually propose to themselves, what Effect they would have these Images produce; whether to chase away some hurtfull Beasts, or to allay the violence of winds, to prevent Lightnings, and Hail, to cure certain Diseases, and the like. This being first proposed they then search after the means, that may be proper proper for the attaining of the end proposed: As for Example; for the cure of the Dropsy, it is to be considered, that the disease consists in moisture: they are therefore not to take any matter indifferently, for to Ingrave & form, under such and such Constellations; but it must be of a Substance Naturally hot and Dry. Secondly they must take for the Ascendent some Sign that is likewise hot and dry, as Aries, for instance is said to be: In the third place they must make choice of some Star to which this Malady is subject; such as Saturn is said to be: but there being need also of some star that is very moist moist, (to the end that Sympathy which is so powerfull in all things may assist also in this particular;) they may take the Moon in her Wain. For, as the Curing of the biting of a Viper, they mix some of its flesh, with the Antidote; in like manner for ye expelling of these waterish Humours, we must make use of that Star which hath the greatest affinity with the waters. You must also observe the Sign, which relates to the part of the body that is ill affected; And this is the Counsell of a learned Physician, who says, that; Oportet Medicum absque dubio scire, ubi cauda Draconis sit in homine, ubi Aries Paracels. in Paragra.

Aries, ubi Axis Polaris, ubi sit linea Meridionalis, ubi Oriens, ubi Occidens. &c. Now that the Signes have more agrement with and have stronger influence upon one part of the body then another we are certainly taught by daily Experience in the Curing of wounds. We must also have regard, if it be possible to the Stars to which the Sick person is subject: and then in the last place, we must above all things take care to begin our work under some certain Aspects which are only usefull in the operation, some for to shed their Influences with more heat or cold, and others with lesse as occasion shall shall require: So that all things being thus diligently observed, the Beams of the Stars, finding a figure aptly disposed for the receiving them, do make such an Impression in it, by the Resemblance and Harmony that they there find, as that being once taken in they do afterward Operate on that which they find to be semblable. In all the other Operations they proceed after the same manner: As for Example to chase away Scorpions out of any place, they take the Signe with which they have some correspondence, such as is the sign Scorpio: then do they take some malignant Star which is is Adverse to them; it being not so necessary to observe so many rules in Beasts & other Irrational Creatures as in men. Now when the Figure of a Scorpion is thus prepared, the living Scorpions feeling naturally the Offensive Influence wherewith the Image is indued; they presently avoid the place for their own preservation; or else, if they be too near it, they presently dye. If it be thought by any a Hard thing to conceive, how these Living Creatures should have any sense of this Influence; Let them but consider, that there are some persons that bear so strange a hatred to Catts or other like Beasts, as that if there be any within the house House where they are, they do presently fall into a sweating and trembling, although they see them not. It is reported also that there is a certain Herb, that Cats will sent at a very great distance: inso much that if one lay it upon the top of a house or in a Chamber, you shall have them come from very far to tumble and rowle themselves on it. Many things are delivered by the Naturalists, which are in appearance much more incredible then these. It therefore now remains only that I Answer three doubts that are proposed, namely, Whether the Stars have any Influence upon Things here below below, or not? Whether they have any Resemblance with them? And, Whether Artificial Figures can retain their Influences, and afterwards operate by them? as we have said.

18. But first of all I must lay down this, for a most certain Conclusion and Foundation; — That the Stars, and their Influences in these Figures have no Power at all over our Wills.
And therefore I dislike those Operations, as vain & unprofitable which Albinus Villanovensis sayes may be — (In Magia Astr.) effected by means of these Images.

the Invention whereof we do reject as vain, as well as those of Marcellus Empiricus,

In making of these figures all words are indifferent and serve but to amuse the simpler sort of people. As when Albinus Villanovensis saies — that for to cure the Tertian and Quartan ague the pain of the Nerves Ventricle and privy parts, you must grave the Image of a Scor= pion, upon a piece of Gold or Silver, when the Sun is in his proper House, and the Moon in Capricorne, and while you are Graving it you must say these words: Exurge Domine Gloria mea; Exurge Psalterium, & Cithara Exurgam

Exurgam diluculo: and then rehearse this Psalm, Miserere mei Deus, miserere mei quia in te confidit anima mea.

From hence it is that so many Superstitions have sprung; and that people at length begun to undertake the Cure of diseased persons, meerly by the bare writing of certain words, without any regard had either to the Stars or any thing else.

Let us now come to the first Quere, which we are to prove for the Establishing of the power of figures: namely Whether the Stars have any Influence upon, and do cause any motion in things here below

19 Aristotle endeavouring to prove the Affirmative brings a most excellent Argument and worthy of so great a Philosopher which is this. That, (saith he) from whome Motion took its Beginning, the same hath no doubt given to all other things the power of Selfe motion: Now without all dispute the Motion of the Heavens was the first in Nature; therefore, whatsoever moves, moves by the motion of the Heavens. Insomuch that if the motion of these should cease, both Growth and Motion would also cease in all things here below. Junctin brings here an Example

In Sphaer. Sacr: c. 3 }

Example of a Mans heart which as it is the beginning of life, and motion, so doth it comunicate Life and motion to all the rest of the Members: So that if it once be wounded, not only the Motion ceaseth in all the parts of the body, but even Life also. You may see this Position confirmed by Hippocrates who backs it with so many reasons, and so strongly asserts the truth of those Celestial Influences, as that he confidently affirmes, that by the rising and setting of the starrs, a man may foretell Tempests, Rain, Stormes and other Changes of weather, through the neglect of which Observations

Lib. de Aere et Aquis

Observations, Physicians are very often deceived in their cures and Diseases. Cum temporum mutationes, saith he, & Astrorum ortus, & occasus observaverit Medicus, quemadmodum singula horum eveniant praenoscit utique & de anno, qualis hic sit futurus &c. And then, afterwards showing what time and what seasons are dangerous for sick people, by reason of the divers motions of the stars, he presently adds Periculosissima sunt ambo Solstitia, maxime vero aestivum periculosum: etiam Æquinoctium utrumque, magis vero Autumnale. Oportet autem & Astrorum ortus considerare; praecipue Canis: deinde Arcturi, & Plejadum occasum

Morbi

Morbi enim in his maximè diebus judicantur, aliiq3 pereunt, alii vero desinunt; aut in aliam speciem, aliumq3 statum transmutantur.

It would be but lost time if I should stand longer upon the proof of this so cleare a truth which all men ought to confesse to be so, were there no other Argument for it, but this, that it hath been constantly observed, ever since the first beginning of Astronomy in the world, that the Rising and setting of the fixed starrs have been the cause of very great changes here on earth and he must either be a very ridiculous senselesse man, or else a very ignorant, that should should go about to deny, that the Hyades, & the Plejades, are not Watry Cloudy Constellations that is to say do cause Rainy, Cloudy Darke weather; as Leo and the Dog star bring heat and Drowth: and Orion a Wet and tempestuous season, and so of the rest.

Vid. Gul. Rovill. hist. Plant.

And after all, does not observe, that there are some certain flowers, that turn about as the Sun does: and others, that appeare above the water at his Rising, and when he setts, sinke down again, and hide themselves, as it were bewayling his absence Neither are the Influences of the Starrs shed upon Hearbs alone; but even upon stones stones also: some whereof do so exactly observe the motion of those particular starrs, whose Influence they beare, as that they change their Aspects with them. An Example of this Truth you have in the Stone called Lunaria, which is indued with such wonderfull qualities, as that it changeth its Appearance, in like manner as the Moon doth whose name it beareth. In a word do not the Humours in our bodies, increase with this planet and decrease when it decreaseth? If any desire more Instances backed with convincing reasons he may have recourse to the Astronomical Predictions of Ptolomy, & he shall there find that that the truth of these Influences is too clear to be called in question.

20. The other point, concerning the Resemblance of the Heavenly Constellations to sublunary things, is something more difficult to prove; though not less true. Nevertheless this Objection is brought against it. If the Constellations of the Ram the Bull, the Twins &c. do resemble these living Creatures it is either Really, or else by Imagination. If Really; they are then, either in the Eight Sphear or else in some other: But they are not in the Eight. For, in the Constellation of the Ram, the Bull &c. there is no sign at all of these these Beasts being figured or represented by the Stars: Neither are they in the Christalline Heaven, nor yet in any of the Sphæres of the Planets: for we should then see them, as we do the other Stars: nor yet in a Ninth Heaven, as some have thought.

If they are only by Imagination, then are their Effects also Imaginary, and have no truth in them, and so by consequence, the power of Talismans, or Figures is vain.

We Answer then that according to the Judgment of the most learned Astrologers these Images are not at all reall: for in the Starrs that make up the Constellations of the Ramm a man may as well fancy a Horse there as a Sheep; as I have sometimes made trial. Neither yet are they altogether Imaginary, in the same sense as a Chimara is Imaginary, which never had being in nature: but they are so ordered in the Heavens by our Imagination, because that the Constellation which we call Aries, or the Ram hath a strong Influence upon sheep, as Taurus hath upon Bulls, and so of the rest. Or else the Celestial Ram is so called, because there is not any beast upon the Earth that is more like in nature to this Constellation then the Ram: For it renders Him that is born born under it so Pious, so meek, so gentle, so courteous, that he resembles in all things the Innocent Lamb. He will also have a hard head and thick hair curled in rings like a fleece of wool. Vidimus enim (saith Junctin) complures hujus Signi homines, capite malliari, spissis crinibus ad modum velleris et supra frontem elevatis, quasi capite certarent.

And these are the Natural Reasons why these Celestiall Signes are called by the names of living Creatures. One may add to this with Junctin that when the Moon is in the Sign Aries this Sign hath then the stronger influence upon the Head of man, & renders it strong as as that of this beast: and this may be another reason why this Constellation is called by the name of this Beast, rather then of any other. So in like manner when the same Planet is in the sign of Taurus, it hath a stronger Influence upon the Neck; wherein consists the cheifest strength of a Bull: when it is in Gemini, the Influence is strong upon the Arms; and for this cause this Sign is represented by the Image of two Children embracing one another: When it is in the Crab, the Breast is then sharer in its Influences; because that this Creature always goeth upon its breast. And when it is in Leo the the Sign sheds its Influence upon the Heart from whence the Lion is said to be a generous and courageous beast. You may see the rest of this Discourse in the same Author which I shall not here trouble my selfe to set down, because the reasons do not at all satisfy me. I do therefore beleive that these Signes do cast forth their Influences upon the severall Members of the Body though not for the Reasons here delivered which often prove to be very impertinent; but only because we dayly see the Experiment of it. They do therefore visibly work by their Influences, upon those Beasts whose names they they are called by: for Dogs run mad in the Dog dayes; and Lions are very furious under the Sign Leo: and this was the only reason which moved the first Philosophers to call these Constellations, by the names of these Beasts: and all the other reasons that are brought are but of later standing and have been Invented by the later Astrologers. These Constellations then are called by the names of these Living Creatures, because that they are observed to have great power over them. You may see the Abridgment of all that Junctini hath written hereof in Heurnius Cardan and Galeottus, who hath a particular Chapter Ibid. Philos. barb. de variet. Doctr. promisc. cap. 35.

Chapter upon this Question; Quare Signa Zodiaci animalium nomina habent? Where he concludes thus; Aries, enim in Oves; Taurus in Boves, Leo, in Leones, Scorpio, in Scorpiones, Pisces in pisces; Virgo in Virgines, & steriles; et sic de ceteris, imperium habent.

As for the rest of the forty eight Constellat: I shall not here speak any thing of them; because that some who have undertaken to defend the power of figures, have said that the signes of the Zodiack only are of power to work effectually & Generally, for as much as they make their Circuit, or at least the Sun in them over the whole Earth; whereas the other

At this present I shall shew how those of the Zodiack may have power to operate upon Figures framed by Art: And this is the third point which I have undertaken to prove.

21\. The Question then is, Whether the Starres do shed their Influences, as well on Artificiall as Naturall Things or not?

I Answer in two Words that the Affirmative is so certainly True, that neither Thomas Aquinas (who left nothing unexamined in this Question) nor Albertus Magnus could possibly deny it. And even Experience teacheth Contra gent. l. 3. & Lib. De Fato In Specul. & de Mirab. Tract. 3. c. 4 & 5.

teacheth us, that the Sun warmeth as well the Artificial Image of a Man as the Man himselfe: now if this Planet work indifferently upon Both, why should not the rest do so too? In a word why should not the Stars as well operate on Artificial as on Naturall things; seeing that in their Essence they are all Naturall? should we exclude Gold from the Number of things naturall because it is fashioned into a Ring? And are Stones rendred lesse naturall when they are framed into a House If it be objected, that, however, they should not acquire more vertue, then they had before

I answer

I answer that the Contrary is manifestly proved by two Reasons. The first is, because that the different Figure renders them more apt to operate to such or such an action then they were before: as for Example. If a piece of wood or Stone, were unapt to hold water, by making of it hollow it presently becomes fit for such a purpose and so in other Figures. The other Reason is; that these things when they come under the Workmans hands are wrought under certain Constellations; which Communicate such Influences and Qualities unto them as they never had before: as we see by Experience

by experience in Bisket bread; one sort whereof will keepe a very long time; and the other that was baked either before or after it, will be subject to wormes and corruption, although kept in the same place, & made of the same corne, & kneaded up with the same water, & with all other imaginable conditions. But to keepe our selves to the businesse of figures only We shall now Conclude that if they are prepared with all those Circumstances observed & Ingraven upon some matter that is proper for the Receiving of the Influences of the Stars; they may naturally retain them & worke those wonderfull Effects which we have before set downe.

Section the 5th

That the Objections

Section the 5th

That the Objections made against Talismanicall Figures, make not any thing at all against their Power.

The Wonderfull Effects wrought by Figures Talismanicall have so perplexed the minds of those men who account every thing Magick which they are not able to comprehend without making any distinction betwixt Power which is Naturall and Lawfull & that which our Faith permits us not to meddle with; They have boldly boldly published. That what Vertue soever proceeds from Figures is utterly Diabolical But when they perceived that Knowing Men would hardly sit down so; and that it concerned them to produce some Reasons to prove that these Figures can have no Naturall Power at all; they have at length brought these following Ones; though they are built on very weak foundations as we shall make it appear.

1. The first is, that Reason it selfe tells us that these Operations cannot be Totally Naturall, but rather Superstitious and Dangerous; seeing that, to reduce them to a full and entire Effect, there are some certain Words to be used which have no Power at all, especially over things which have no Sense; and that therefore the Making of them ought to be forbidden, and rejected as the Church hath ordained.

To Answer fully and in Order both to this Objection, and to the rest that follow I say, that we have condemned all words & all other Superstitions. As for the Church it never yet rejected the true and lawfull Power of Figures, as the Writings of Aquinas and Cardinal Cajetan do testify. And if the Fathers have sometimes condemned it; it was not till they saw that it was so mixed with Superstition (that I say not Abomination) that they-

that they conceived that they should never other= wayes be able to divert men from the practice of it, but by condemning it utterly: as Moses like wise did in forbidding absolutely the Graffing on a Tree of a different kinde, only to keepe them from that Sin, which was usually comitted at that action as we shall shew= hereafter. And that it may appear that the bare figures have not been used alwayes with= =out any Application of words & Ceremonies such as were not only vain, but ridiculous= also; we may take notice, that in Ægypt, = when they would cause Haile to cease; which might have been effected by the Vertue of a= bare= bare Talisman only; it was thought necessary that four Naked Women should lye along upon the ground on their backs; and lifting up their feet on high they were to pronounce= some certain words, and so the Haile would cease. Quatuor Mulieres (said they as R. Moses reports,) jaceant in terra super dorsum suum nudæ, et erigant pedes suos, et dicant talia= verba, et operentur istud: grando, descendens= super locum illum, recedet ab eodem loco.

This ridiculous Ceremony was taken from the posture of some Talismanicall figure which= served to divert Stormes of Hail; whereon= saith Chomer was graven the Image of Venus lying lying along. Besides, some ignorant persons having lighted upon some of the Characters w.ch the Ancients had invented, that so they might conceale their Philosophical Secrets, from the unworthy Rabble, not knowing the Originall of them, and beleiving that they had some secret Vertue in them, they graved them on Talismans. Such perhaps was the Ægyptian Serapis, which had on its breast the so much celebrated Letter Tau. This inscribing of Cifres and Characters, brought also along with it this Beleife; that seing there were Letters writt upon Talismans they might certainly then be read also: and hence did this Superstition take

Tom. 1. cap. 65.

take Rise of speaking words in the making of those Figures; and afterwards of setting along the figure; and using the bare words only: as it is reported of Trallianus, who used these words for the cure of the Collick; φεῦγε, φεῦγε, ἰοῦ χολή. And Homer writes that the bleeding of Ulisses his wound was stopped by using certain words: as likewise that of Oroondates was in Heliodorus; who with Strabo affirmes that the Indians, and Ethiopians, use no other way of curing their Diseases. Froissart assures us, that he hath seen these Ceremonies practised in his time: and even in our dayes they are used but too often especially especially by superstitious women. But at last there were some that made more esteem of Characters, then of plain words, considering with themselves what the power of figures was.

lib. 28. cap. 2. } Thus Pliny reports, that M. Servilius made use of those two Letters, M, and A. to keep himselfe from being bleare eyed: and Eudoxia the Empresse, being in Travell with a Child, desired (as Cedren reports,) to have certain Letters applyed to her Belly, for to bring forth the dead Child: but it was all in vain for it cost her her life. To conclude, these things having been invented only for the Conceal=ing of some secrets, as we have said (after Roger de secretis oper. Art. & Nat. cap. 1. } Roger Bacon, who saith, Quæ Philosophi adin=venerant in operibus artis, et Naturæ, ut secreta occultarent ab indignis;) they were afterwards turned into Superstition by those who mixed them with the Images and made use of them beyond the power of Nature.

2. Now that the practice of making these Figures was never forbidden, but only to keepe us off from those Abominations, that were usually hereby comitted, (the Invention being neverthelesse naturall, and the things them=selves inocently used by Good men without the assistance of of any other power save that of Nature;) We may perceive by a like Example

Example, in the Comand that was given, of not Grafting on a Tree of a different Kind. For it was given for no other Reason, but to turn away the Jewes from those filthinesses and Abominations, which they usually comitted at this kind of Engrafting. The Latine words will in some sort hide the Uncleanness of the discourse of these Villanies. You shall have them from the above named R. Moses a man of very great Knowledge in these Traditions. Dixerunt ergo, quod in horâ quâ inseritur una species in aliam, oportet ut ramus inserendus sit in manu alicujus Mulieris pulchræ, et quod vir aliquis carnaliter cognoscat eam eam præter morem naturalem. Et dixerunt, quod in tempore illius actus debet mulier inserere ramum in arbore. From hence a man might conclude it was, that God, to set a Mark upon the Foulness of this Crime, would have the very Trees themselves also to have some sense of it. For if a Whore planted

an Olive Tree, (saith one of the Learnedest Prelates of France, according to the opinion of the Naturalists,) it would never bear any fruit Oliva (saith he) a Meretrice plantata vel infructuosa perpetuò manet, vel omnino arescit. Now to Engraffe any Tree whatever is a thing both natural, and of it selfe indifferent: neverthelesse nevertheless it was forbidden meerly to avoid the Sin which Nature abhors. Propter hoc igitur, is the Conclusion of the fore cited Jew, prohibitæ fuerunt Comixtiones, scilicet incisio arboris in aliam speciem, ut elongemur a causis Idololatriæ & fornicationum. And the like cause hath also moved those men that have condemned Figures; though they are both Naturall and the making of them Lawfull; as we have already shewed. Now the reason why they have been also rejected by some of the more Learned sort was either to give way to the Rigour of ye Inquisition; as the Italians and Spaniards have done; or else for want of having taken the pains to examine them; as Gul: Parisiensis, Gerson, and divers others, whose Objections also, which they conceive to be invincible ones we shall likewise answer.

3. The second Objection is grounded upon the Foolishness and Impertinence of the words yt are used about these Talismans, at ye making whereof ignorant people do still use some certain Words which say they, are very neer bordering upon Idolatry.

We do reject & Condemn the Superstitious words & Observations delivered by Villanovensis, and by Antonius Mizaldus. as namely, where he affirmes according to Ptolomy, that for to drive away away Serpents, you must prepare a square plate of Copper, and graving two Serpents on it;

Cont. 1. Aphor. 52. when the second Face of Aries is Ascendent, you must say these words: Ligo Serpentes per hanc Imaginem, ut nemini noceant, nec quenquam impediant, nec diutius, ubi sepulta fuerit, permaneant. As also when he pies according to the same Ptolomy, that to drive away Rats and Mice, you must grave the Image of them, upon a plate of Tin, or Copper, when the third face of Capricorne is Ascendent Aph. 45. Saying: Ligo omnes Mures per hanc Imaginem ut nullus, in loco ubi fuerit, manere possit.

So likewise for to gather together and catch Fishes, you must Engrave the Image of a Fish upon a piece of Lead or Tin, when the first Face of Aquarius or of Pisces is Ascendent Aph. 94. saying: Ligo et adjuro omnes Pisces qui sunt in flumine (withall naming the River) ad tractum balistæ, ut ad hanc Imaginem veniant, qualiscunque in ejus aqua posita fuerit.

And so also for the driving away of Wolves either out of a Wood, or from a Sheepcoat, you must grave upon a Plate of Copper, or of Tin the Image of a Wolfe with his feet tied, and two Mastives seeming to bark at him, when the second face of Sagittarius

Cont. 2. Aph. 8. is Ascendent, and you must withall say:

Extermino

Extermino per hanc Imaginem omnes Lupos, qui sunt in hac Villa aut Nemore; (calling the wood or the Sheeps house by its name,) ut non remaneat aliquis eorum in illo. And to render a Huntsman fortunate in his Game; you must grave upon a piece of Tin, Silver, or Copper, the Image of a huntsman, having in his hand a bow bent and ready charged with an Arrow graving it under the sign of Sagittarius, whose Image he representeth, and saying: Per hanc Imaginem ligo omnes feras Silvestres, cervos, apros, lepores, ut nulla meam venationem subterfugiat, quin optatam portionem & prædam mihi semper relinquat. A friend of mine

Cont. 5. Aph. 100.

Of the Talismanicall Sculpture of the Persians &c.

A friend of mine made above a hundred Talismans according to these vain rules here delivered, but not one of them answered his Expectation — But I desiring him to make one according to the Directions I gave him he presently saw the Effect follow. And M. Sanclarus the Learned Regius Professor in the Mathematicks protested to me that he cured a most intolerable pain in the Reins by one of those true Talismans. Now I have formerly said that we condemne all figures and words, that are mixed with Superstition, in these Talismanicall Figures only; As for those Ceremonies and words which are piously used; as for Example

Example to cause a Storm of Haile to cease; a man may use them without any suspition at all according to the Judgment of some Divines. The manner is thus described by Wierus. Having first made the Signe of the Crosse, against the Lightning, Hail, Thunder, Tempest; you must take three Hailstones of those that first fell, and cast them into the fire, in the name of the Holy Trinity; and having repeated the Lords Prayer two or three times over, you must read the Gospell of St. John: which being ended, you must make the signe of the Crosse, over against the Cloud, & the thunder on every on every side, and make the same also upon the ground towards the four quarters of the world: And after that the Exorcist shall have said three times, Verbum caro factum est, Adding to it as often these words; Per Evangelica Dicta fugiat tempestas ista. If the Tempest were raised out of Malice it will cease. saith Wierus. I observe that there hath crept in Superstition Here also, as well as into the Businesse we now treat of.

The third Objection is grounded upon the Impotency of the Matter Ingraved. For how can an Image which is dead, & without Motion give Motion to others, & have have such Operations, as are attributed unto it?

Thus it is Argued by Gulielmus Parisiensis against these Figures. Quomodo Imago mortua, et omni modo inapprehensa omniq; modo imobilis, movere et vibentis aut qualiter praestat Scientiam, quam nec habet, nec actu nec potentia eam habet certissimum[?]

Gerson says the same; and brings in a manner all the very same Arguments in a Booke (Lib. peculiari dudum pro: posit:) that he hath written against a certain Physician of Montpelier, who graved upon a peece of Gold, the Image of a Lion for the Cure of ye Stone.

4. To this I Answer, that the Image of it selfe is dead, and without any Motion: but that by the vertue of the Stars under which it was made it hath hath acquired new Qualities, which it had not before: or else that the matter being before endued with some Qualities that were proper for such an Effect by a Semblable Figure, and its Qualities are excited. Item Ars (saith Marcilius Ficinus) suscitat inchoatam ibi virtutem, ac eum ad Figura redigit, similem sua cuidam calesti figura quam sic expositam Calum ea perficit virtute qua caperat, exhibens quasi Sulphuri flammam.

Thus many things if they are not excited work not at all: As for instance, to make some Hearbs to smell, you must crush them betwixt your fingers. So Amber, which hath received from the Heavens the property of drawing Strawes to it to it; yet unlesse it bee a while rubbed and chafed — it is not able to doe it. The Bezaar or Bezahar stone (which Marcilius Ficinus sayes, signifies as much as, A morte liberans: though this bee an Etymologie as unknown, as Untrue:) which is naturally endued with the power of Expelling Poyson, becomes also a very Soveraigne Remedy against it. That of the Scorpion, if there bee first graved on it the figure of a Scorpion, under the Influence of the Celestiall Constellation of the same name. — The Flint-stone gives not its fire; unlesse you strike it: In a word there is scarcely any thing but requires to bee Excited, and awakened up to its work; even as low as Artificial things; many whereof appear not not at all unlesse there bee Art used to discover them as wee may see; for Example: In Letters written with the Juice of Citrons, Figs, Onyons, Salt Almonick and many other things; which must bee either held before the fire or else dipped in water, that they may bee read. In like manner also it is necessary that the Vertues of Metals and of Stones should bee excited by the Celestial Rayes for the rendring them apt to effect that which wee desire. Now that these Raies are so powerfull and that they are able to penetrate Stones and into the bowells of the Earth, wee have already proved; and shall here confirme it by the testimony of Bonaventure, (Dicunt Philosophi

lib. 2. dist. 12. qu. 2 art. ult.

Philosophi, quod Corpus cæleste, mediante suo lumine, influit ad profundum terræ, ubi mineralia corpora generari habent: et quantum ad hoc verum dicunt.

When Testimonies are grounded upon Experience, they cannot possibly then be denied: and we know that the Sun penetrates very far into the Earth, and there gives Life to plants & living Creatures too; which when we see taken up, astonish us very much: as appears out of Georg. Agricola, and the Learned Licetus Professor at Padua.

De Animal. Subt.

As for subterraneous Fishes, we find them but too often enlivened by the Stars to our great Disadvantage: as you may observe out of Seneca, who saies that Philip having sent men down into an old Gold mine

Gold mine to see if the Covetousness of man had yet left there any thing undiscovered; they perceived Rivers running along those deep Caverns, and many other prodigious Sights: by which we may be certainly assured that the Heavens do operate through every part of the Universe. Descendisse illos, sayes this Learned Author, cum multo lumine, et multos durasse dies: deinde longa via fatigatos, vidisse flumina ingentia, et conceptus aquarum inertium vastos ~~vastum~~ pares nostris, nec compressos quidem terra supereminente, sed liberæ laxitatis, non sine horrore visos. And those y^t write of the Riches of America, assure us that the Mine of Ptosi where Gold is generated is so—

is so hollow and so deep, that nothing can more fitly represent the Dreadfull Image of a Horse. If then the Starrs do operate, within the bowells of the Earth, upon Living Creatures Plants & Mettals why not upon Stones also? I do therefore account the Conclusion of Hieron. Hanvest, an Ancient Learned Sorbonist, to be most true who searching after the Reason of Gamahes, concluded (after a long dispute;) that the figures or painting on them, proceeds from two Causes; from the Starrs & from the property of the Earth

Lib. de causis. fol. 85 } See here his own words. Quid igitur dicendum sit? Respondeo, ex duplici radice posse contingere. Uno modo ex radice siderea, secundum Astrologorum Authoritatem Authoritatem multis Experimentis comprobatam. Alio modo ex radice inferiore, &c. Now this Power or vertue of the Stars works indifferently upon all things, which Consideration hath moved many that stand up for the Power of figures, to believe; that all sorts of stones, mettals or other Matter indifferently if it be graved and wrought according to the Rules before delivered would work the same Effect. For as Fire heateth all things that are set before it; in like manner do the Stars operate, say they upon all things indifferently. But I hold the first Opinion to be the truer and more certain: not that this later is false; but because the Effect here is slower. for the Fire fire will indeed heat all things that are placed neer it: But if the Matter be indisposed the Heat will not work so speedily: as we see in Green wood, and in a pebble stone, which requireth a longer time to grow hot in, then a Brick doth: and so in all other things. It is required then, to the end the Stars may operate the more easily and in lesse time that the Matter be before hand indued with some Quality, that is proper to the Effect which we have proposed to our selves; and have also some Sympathy with those Cælestial Signes, which we intend to make use of. You may see this Sympathy & ye wonderfull Correspondence correspondence that there is betwixt Stones Minerals, Herbs, plants, Flowers, Tasts, Smels, Colours, Beasts, Fishes, Birds and all things else; and the Stars, as in Georgius Venetus, de Harmonia Mundi, and in the Learned Coment of M. Moreau a Physitian, upon Schola Salernitana, the reading whereof, in all sorts of Books whatever is truely very Admirable

Tom. 4. Cant. 1. c. 31.

Cap. 19. p. 322. & seq.

5. The Fourth Objection brought is. That if this Art of preparing Figures or Images be Certain, and their Vertue so great as is said The Egyptians Arabians and Persians, who were the first Inventers of them, would then have made themselves Lords of the whole Earth

Earth, in subduing all their Enemies: which thing they have not done; but contrarywise have themselves all been conquered.

To this I Answer, that no Image or Talismani--cal Figure can possibly be capable to operate so great an Effort: they may indeed possibly excite, in some small measure the Courage of Combatants, and make them lesse fearefull of the Terrors of warr; but these Qualities alone will never be sufficient, for the obtaining of a Victory. If any here urge against me the Story of Nectanabo, who is said to have drowned all his Enemies Ships by making certain little vessells of wax, and then

MUSEUM

then drowning them: I answer, that the Story lookes very doubtfully; neither do I give any more Credit to it then to those flams we hear reported of Sorcery in our own dayes, who are said by pricking a little Image of wax in any part of it, to wound the same part of the body in the person whome it represents. But suppose these things were so, yet it would not be from hence concluded, that these Effects were wrought by the vertue of the Stars; but rather by some evill Angels to whome God may have loco citato / given some such power. Gulielmus Parisiensis utterly deny these stories to be true; as indeed

indeed they are mostly fabulous: Neither do I believe there is any one truth in them. If it be returned upon us, that there is nothing in them, but a man may beleive, since possibly they might be true: I Answer, That many things might have been, which never yet have been: As for instance there might have been more Suns, and more worlds then one:

6. The Fifth Objection is, that it is necessary that Natural Agents should some way or other Touch the thing they are to Operate upon: but a Figure, which cureth the Stone, Collick or any other Disease, toucheth toucheth not at all the part Affected: the vertue of it therefore cannot be Naturall.

The Answer to this Objection is so easy that without troubling our selves to reckon up with Scotus, the severall ways of Touching, we need no more but give an Instance in a Hott Brick. For as a Brick receives heat from the fire, without touching either Coales or Flame; in like manner doth an Image receive the Influence of the Stars, without touching any part of the Heavens. In a word all the Touching which is now found is only a Virtuall Touching, as we see in the Sun, which though it be so far distant from Dist. 37 in Sent.

from the Earth doth never the lesse warm it by its vertue. And as a Brick heated either by the Sun or by the Fire, doth afterward operate upon any other body, comunicating its vertue to it; if it be applied unto it: In the same manner doth a Figure or Image operate upon another body, comunicating the Influ= ences, which it hath received from the Stars unto it, if it be in like manner applied either by a Corporeal or by a Virtual Touching only.
I shall not here produce the Miraculous Opera =tion of the Weapon Salve which Cures a wound at a Hundred Leagues distance, if it be but applied to the weapon that made it
And

And that you dresse it as you would do the wounded person, as it is proved by Rodolphus Goclenius, and Baptista Helmontius. If I should have made use of this Example, I should never have been quiet from having it thrown in my teeth, that the Operation of this Magnetical Unguent is superstitious, and Diabolicall. This is the whole Burden of the Ignorant Rabble; who Impute; what ever they find to carry wonder with it, to the Operation of Evil Spirits:
And yet I have been assured by M. Loysell Physician to the late King of ffrance; that this very Operation was naturall, and that himselfe had made use of it with good Successe and on a

on a very good man. Now if Gulielmus Parisiensis deny that the Operation of a Talismanicall Image which is buried under ground, can be Naturall; because that it is kept in by the Earth which covers it: he may as well conclude that the Operation of a Needle touched with a Loadstone is also Diabolical; seeing that although it be a hundred fathoms deepe within the Earth, yet will it alwayes turn it selfe towards the pole. This Comparison is so much the more pressing, because that most of the learned beleive that this Vertue of the Loadstone is comunicated unto it by that part of the Heavens which the Needle points to. so true it is that there is nothing more powerfull, then the Influences of the Stars, when they have once made an Impression upon things here below:

7. The sixth Objection strikes at ye Power which we have attributed to Resemblance: for there is not any where (saith Gulielm. Parisiensis,) a nearer Tye, & Correspondence, then in the Love of a Mother and her Child: and yet if a Mother drown her selfe, the Child will not presently do so too; and so he concludes Quanto minus igitur in tam diversis ut sunt Imago et Imaginatum, nulla ligatura inter ea erit, quae cogat, ut quod quod patitur Imago, patiatur et Imaginatum

I know very well that this Author makes use of this Argument against Nectanabos, but seing that he brings it also against Talismani-call Images, I Answer; that those Images (as we have already said.) have no power at all over our Wills. Now to Drown ones Selfe or Not to Drown ones selfe is an action which depends wholly upon the will. But if a Child resemble the Mother, as well in the lineaments of the face, as in the actions of the Soul, there is no doubt, but that this Resemblance may have very much power both as well on the passions of the mind as on those those of the body, which proceed from within: as it is often observed: And even in our dayes I have heard of two young Children which were Brothers, at Riez an Episcopal City in Provence in France; who by reason of their being so perfectly like one another, If One of them were sick, the other was so too: as for Example; if One began to have a pain in the head, the other would presently feele it. If one of them were asleep or sad, the other could not hold up his head, or be merry: and so of the rest: as I have been assured by M. Poitevin a very honest man, and a Native of the same City.

8. The Seventh Objection brought by the same Gulie. Parisiensis, and Gerson, is, That if at any time these Talismanicall Stones have been known to cure the bitings of Serpents, and the Stingings of Scorpions; this Effect proceeded not at all from the Stars, but from some secret properties in the Stone; whereon the figure of a Scorpion or Serpent was graved.

This Objection is Answered in two words. I say then that we have already proved that the Stars have power to Comunicate this Vertue to the stone; and also, that it is not at all Naturall to it, and proceeding from from its own proper Vertue; because that before it was figured and prepared under certain Constellations, it had no such vertue at all.

And indeed to what end should a man take so much pains in graving and preparing it, under divers Aspects of the Stars, if it had as much vertue before? To what purpose also should the Inhabitants of the County of Hamptz in Turkie, trouble themselves to take the Impression of a Scorpion that is figured upon a stone in a certain Tower, in a piece of Potters Clay, if the Clay it selfe had the same Vertue before? We say therefore that it had not any Vertue before before, proper for such an Operation; and that this Vertue was comunicated unto it, by the Stone in the Tower; and to the Stone by the starrs.

I shall not here examine the Arguments of Gul. Parisiensis, which are to be seen pag. 56. Quod omnia ista quae fiunt per Imagines, malignissime fiant: because that in this Chapter he treats only of speaking Images or Statues, such as was that speaking Image of a man which is falsly said to have been made by Albertus Magnus. But the Images we speake of, are quite another thing, as is also their Power. So that there is nothing wanting now to the full vindication of them from falshood, and all other other Calumnies save only to Answer the Eight Objection brought both by Gerson & Gulielmus Parisiensis also, the most powerfull of all the rest.

9. If so be the Stars are the cause of these Operations, why then say they should not their Virtue descend rather upon the living Scorpion then upon its Images? Quomodo (saies the later of these) non potius hujusmodi virtus descendit super ipsum Scorpium vivum?

If we but call to mind, what hath been before delivered we shall find it no hard matter to answer this Objection. For we confess that the living Scorpion is not at all exempted from this Celestial Vertue; seeing that, if it be applied applied to the wound, it cureth it as well as its Talismanicall Image: so doth the Crocodile, the Rat, the Toad, the Dog, and the Viper also.

And if in all the rest of Living Creatures we finde not the same effect, it is rather for want of searching after it, then any Defect in Nature: seing that those that are most skilfull in the Wonderfull works of God do certainly assure us that where ever any Disease is found, there also is the Remedy to be had. And who would ever have thought, that the Gravell which is found in Urine, should serve for a Remedy against ye stone? and a World of other the like secrets there are which are dayly brought to light. But it may here

Disq. Mag. l. 1. c. 4. sect. 1. de Incant.

here be demanded. Why then should not the Stars Comunicate the vertue of driving away Scorpions as well to the Living Scorpion as to its Image?
I Answer, that if it were so, Nature should then make warr against its self, and should utterly destroy it self in a short time; seing yt all living Creatures would soon be destroyed by one another. Most wisely therefore was it Ordered that the Stars only & men should have this vertue comunicated unto them.

10\. The Ninth Objection, is the Answer of Delrio to the Reasons brought by Cajetan and Pomponatius. For whereas the Later of these saies; that although Figure be not ye Beginning

and Cause of Operation, yet it may operate very much: seeing that we may observe out of experience; that the figure of a foul deformed man, strikes us with a kind of sadness, whereas a Beautifull works in us an Effect quite contrary. Besides Beautifull Objects do so move us, as that we love them; which foul & ill favoured do not at all: Therefore saith Pomponatius Figures have some power to Operate. Delrio answers nothing to this, but only to the Consequence; Denying that Magical Figures are Beautifull or Deformed. But even Children may easily perceive, that his Antecedent is utterly false. For those Figures, which he calls calls Magicall, and we Talismanicall are truely and really Beautifull or Deformed, according as the things are; which they represent which are, for the most part the Heavens & the Stars; the Beauty whereof ravisheth our Senses. Besides these figures do ordinarily represent some Constellation or other, as the Virgin, the Twinns, & the rest. Now if a Living Virgin and Living Twins are Beautifull or deformed, why then should not their figures or pictures be so too? Let us now proceed to the Arguments of Cajetan, which Delrio refutes with as little Reason as he hath done those of Pomponatius.

This Learned

This Learned Cardinal then layes down this most true and powerfull Conclusion in favour of Talismanicall Figures. Figura licet non sit ipsum principium Operationis, est tamen conprincipium. He proves the Antecedent. quia in artificum instrumentis efficit Figura, ut illa sic vel sic operentur; tum quia ferrum latum super aquas fertur, quod si in formam aliam contrahas, demergetur. Those Reasons of his are so strong and so certain, as that it is impossible to overthrow them. For seeing that a plate of Iron that is large and very thin, will swim upon the water; but if you reduce it into a Round solid forme, it sinks presently.

Is it not evident that this proceeds meerly from the figure? what manner of Spirit must he be of that dares affirme the contrary; unlesse he be energy meanes to say; however as Delrio saies; whose Answer you have in these words. Respondeo Figuram esse Conprincipium in motu locali, et Operationibus quae per hunc motum fiunt; ut sunt variae divisiones continui per dolabram per malleū per asciam, per serram; non vero in operationibus quae fiunt per alterationem. I cannot but wonder that this acute Jesuite who hath showed himselfe in other things a most Learned & sound Philosopher should so grossly offend here against those very Philosophical Maximes which himselfe which himselfe hath laid down. For where he grants that Figure is a Co-principle in a local Motion, and in the Operations which this motion produceth; but not in those which are caused by alteration; he concludes against that which himselfe had before laid down; seeing that according to the comon consent of all Philosophers, Heat is caused by motion but Heat is a kind of Alteration: Therefore Figure is of it selfe a Co-principle; in the Operations which are caused by Alteration.

Again when he grants to Cajetan, that a large piece of Iron may perhaps swim upon ye water yet he saies that it is not by reason of the figure figure, but of the Quantity, these are his words — sed esto, fiat, erit non ratione Figurae sed Quantitatis. Well, out of it selfe & in sound Philosophy Quantitas non est activa: For then what the consequence must be: And in the end when Cajetan concludes that it is the figure therefore that makes a large piece of Iron to swim upon the water. Delrio answers, that this figure is only Accidentall: for saith he let this large thin piece of Iron be reduced into some other figure either Circular — square or five angled it will do the same, it will still swim upon the water: therefore the figure operates not but by accident. But here Delrio — deceives himselfe; for Cajetans purpose is not to approve oppose one Flat Figure against a solid one.

For a flat figure, whether it be square, circular, Octogonal or of what fashion soever it be; will do that, which the same figure, if it be solid will not do, which is most true; seeing that a piece of iron that is square and thick withall, sinkes presently to the bottom of the water; which the same piece of iron would not do, were it square and very thin. It is therefore a most undeniable Maxime that Figure hath some power to operate.

11. The other Objections which are made against the power of these Images, are set down and refuted by Galeottus the most weighty of which, are these following — In these Images

De Doctrina promiscua cap. 24.

In these Images which are Engraved on Gold for the cure of the Stone; and the Pain in the Reins, the Gold of its one Nature cannot work this cure much lesse then can the Image; which being, without Life cannot by any means alter the Gold and change it into another Nature. Besides in the Image there is found neither Action nor passion: Again the Gold of it selfe whether it be figured, or not, is still of the same Species; and Consequently the beams of the starrs must all=ways work upon it; after one & the same manner and if it should work rather upon Gold wch is figured, then upon that which is plain; This Action would seem to proceed rather from the Election

Election of the Heavens then from any other cause In a word, the vertue which is attributed to this
Not Naturall, because it proceeds from within: much less is it artificiall ~~but Naturall~~, because it ~~proceeds from within~~ is not comunicated unto it by the Artificer: It must therefore necessarily proceed from some other cause.
The Learned Answer of Galeottus to these Objections is this. Non enim in hac re mutatio speciei requiritur, nec proprietas auri imutatur, nec ulla Cœlorum Electio intervenit, nec ab Artifice vis illa sanandi datur, nec Imago, ut Imago quicquam Efficit, &c. Sed principium actionis actionis ac passionis affert, ut Tho. Aquinas & Albertus Magnus testantur; non ut Figura, et Imago, Mathematice animadversa; sed ut affert aliam in re figurata preparationem quæ cœlestem actionem sine difficultate variis modis accipiat. And afterwards explaining how it comes to passe, that among the divers kinds of figures that are under the Heavens, some are more naturally apt to receive the Influences then others are; he brings in the instance of Looking glasses, amongst which those that are hollow receive the beams of the Sun, in so such a measure, as that they burn, and others receive them scarcely at all. So the diversity

diversity of Hills and Valleys is the cause of a greater either Heat or Coldness: We may also here add an Instance in pieces of Ice, which the Sun cannot so easily melt and dissolve, if they be plain and smooth; but very easily, if they be Uneven and rough. Which hath given occasion to some to say that Painted Figures are nothing so proper to the Subject we treat of, as Graven and Carved are: which are most true: As for Gold, although the figure change not the Species of it, yet notwithstanding it renders it more apt and proper for such an action: as water cold and hot, though it be still the same Species yet yet the one will boil our meat when the other will not. Which makes Gallcottus to Conclude in these termes. Requiritur ergo in unius et ejusdem speciei rebus, certum culturæ temperamentum ut varietur effectus.

12. It hath also been Objected against Franciscus Ruëus, who undertooke the defence of this kind of Sculpture, after Galeottus, that if it be indued with such wonderfull Vertues, Mans workmanship should then have more power, then Gods; seeing that the Graved figure of a Lion should be able to cure the pains of the Reins; which a Living Lion could not do. To this he answers, and that very pertinently, that

that which man does is as well the work of God as that which God himself does; seeing that we are but his Instruments; and that all our Actions, according to the Apostle are in him and depend on him. Besides we sometimes see; that that which hath been composed by man, proves to be of greater vertue; then that which God hath simply Created: as, for Example; Treacle is of more Soveraign Vertue against Poyson then any Simple that the Naturalists have yet found out.

13. I thought that I had now Answered all the Objections that had been made against these Figures, but I have lately met with another which which is a more confident one then any of all the rest. And it is Naudaeus his, in his Apology which we formerly cited: where defending the honour of Virgil, who is branded with the Name of a Necromancer because that he sometimes applied himselfe to the making of these Talismanical Images he boldly affirmes, that all the Stories wch are reported of this Poët are false and ridiculous. He denies then Consequently, those Images which he made; as the Brazen Fly which he set up, upon one of the Gates of the City Naples; which for the space of Eight years; kept all manner of flies from coming coming into the City. He denies also that other Talisman, of a Horse leech, graved on a plate of Gold; which he cast into a well for to drive away the vast number of Horse-leeches that annoyed the said City. In a word he stands not to dispute, whether the Operations of these Images are Naturall or not but he plainly denies in termes, that there was ever any such thing in the world: as if he could not by any means have defended Virgils Innocence without casting himselfe upon this Extreame; and giving the Lye to all the Authors that have reported these stories. That which he saies in the Progress of

of his Discourse, by way of confirmation of his Assertion, is after the same rate. For by reason of the great number of places, from whence these beasts are reported by Historians to have been driven away; one may, saith he very well doubt, whether, because they are said to have been driven from so many, they were ever driven from any, or no. As if, because of the great Number of battails that Hannibal is reported by Historians to have fought with the Romans, we might not by the same reason doubt whether he fought any with them or not. He saies moreover that Scaliger had good reason to

to make himselfe merry with one of those Fly drivers, who having made a Talismanical Plate for this very purpose, he had no sooner set it up upon one of his Windowes, but a Fly comes presently and shites upon it for handsele. But he must not thinke that these Reasons of his are able to derogate any thing from the power which we have acknowledged these Figures to have. For (that we may give him his Answer) If such a Physician is not able to cure a sick man, or if such an Arithmetician be not able to bring to an end some Operation which he hath begun, shall we therefore conclude conclude that Physick and Arithmetick are false and ridiculous? An Able man can do that which an Ignorant man cannot: and if he also sometimes fail, it must be imputed to some default, either on his part or on the matter, and not in the Science which is infallible. In which notwithstanding there are so many things to be observed, that I cannot wonder much if many men find not the Effect answer their Expectation. Another Reason which renders the Endeavors of men herein often fruitlesse; is, the little certainty that we have of Celestial affairs as being so farr removed from us. And this is this is that which Roger Bacon saith. Quia difficile est in his Certitudinem Celestium percipere; ideò in his multus est error apud multos; et pauci sunt qui sciant aliquid utiliter et veraciter ordinare. And this is the only Reason why so many great Personages have passed by both this Science, & that of Erecting Horoscopes, and also the so much famed Philosophers Stone; being taken up with Imployments of more importance; and which required not either so much time or pains: Not, but that they acknowledged the Truth, both of the one and of the other, and especially of Talismans: as may appeare appeare out of severall Epistles of Joseph Scaliger to the Srs de la Vau, Vazet, and Bagarris. So that I am of opinion, that if his Father, Julius Scaliger did make himselfe merry to see that a Mathematician should not be able, with a Figure made to drive away Flies, to keepe a Fly, from coming and abusing it; it was rather to laugh at the ignorance of the Artist, then at the Art he professed; seeing he hath acknowledged the power of it in divers places. As concerning the Author called Gervais, who attributes to Virgil these Talismanicall Images, as namely a Brazen Fly a Golden Horsleech and some others: the high Imployments which he was taken into by by the Emperour Otho, (to whome he was Chancelour) and the Booke which he presented him with, the Title whereof was Ocia Imperialia, ought in my opinion, to render him a man worthy of credit: for as much as it highly concerned a man of his Rank and Condition to publish nothing, but what was both Grave, Serious and true. And certainly if he should have so much forgotten himselfe as to have presented the Emperour with a parcell of absurd, Impossible fabulous stories, as Naudaeus is pleased to call them; this would have been the means to have made him been cryed down for a Fool, especially in a Princes Court, where there are alwayes found some High Spirits

Spirits, that cannot flatter at all; & some others who envying the fortune of the Great ones, will be sure to examine their very least actions; & will not pardon the least fault they comit . As for this Chancelour who hath ever refuted him? nay rather what Historian hath not transcribed him, and inserted his stories into his own writings as most True ones? And whereas some may say, that he hath some things, which seem Ridiculous and Incredible: I answer that they ought not to be so esteemed; since that the ages past, and even our own times do produce the like. So, that Admirable Tower, or Steeple, which Necham reports to have have been made by Virgil with such wonderfull Art; as that the Tower, which was built all of stone; moved to and fro when the Bell rung out is not without Parallel: for at Moustiers, a City of Provence, the Steeple, whose stones are all mortaised one within another, hath in a manner the very same motion that the Bell hath in Ringing; and that in so strange a manner as that sometimes those which are on the top of it knowing nothing of it, when they perceive the Bells begin to ring are very much affrighted.

14. I could in like manner make good the greatest part of those other Stories which are reported of this Poet; which the same Naudaeus accounts both false and Impossible; but that I see on the other hand that they come very far short of those Admirable Inventions, Images and figures which our own Age hath brought forth. As for Example those admirable Clocks which are to be seen; one whereof I saw at Ligorne brought thither to be sold by a German; which had so many Rarities in it, as I should never have believed if my own Eyes had not seen it. For besides an infinite Number of strange motions which appeared not at all to the eye, You had there a company of Shepheards, whereof some played upon the Bag-pipe with such Harmony, & exquisite motion of the fingers; as that one would have thought thought they had been alive. Others Daunced by Couples, keeping exact time and Measure; whilst others capered, and leaped up & down with so much nimbleness that my spirits were wholly ravished with the sight. I shall not here say any thing of that Admirable Instrument which is to be seen in the hands of Mr de Peyrese, one of the Kings Councell, which sheweth the howers of the day and the just time of the ebbing and flowing of the Sea, by the motion of a little blewish water, which is shut up within a little Circular Pipe of Glasse; in which you shall somtimes see this water quite conveyed away. I shall also passe by Architas his wooden wooden Dove; and the Artificiall Fly, and Eagle, which have in our dayes been made by Art to fly, at Norimberg: the Author whereof hath also made very admirable Hydraulicks and a perpetuall Rainbow, as Antonius Possevinus reports: as also the Burning Glasse which Proclus made, in imitation of that wherewith Archimedes burnt the Ships of the Romans, at the siege of Syracuse: the Statue of Memnon, which alwayes yeilded a strange sound, at the rising of the Sun. And those of Severinus Boëtius, (so much admired by Theodoricus King of Italy;) who as Cassiodorus saith made Serpents of brasse to ~~tosing~~ hisse, birds of brasse to sing, and in a word gave gave as it were, Life and Soul to all kinds of mettals. The Art of Flying, which Lucian affirmes that himselfe hath seen practised; and which was publickly shewen upon the Theater in Neros time as Suetonius reports: the Admirable Effects which Roger Bacon promised as of raising Artificial Clouds, and causing Thunder claps to be heard, and Flashes of Lightning to be seen; and afterwards to have all this end in a Shower of Rain. The figure of the Heavens made in Brasse by Janellus Turrianus of Cremona, which were much more admirably done then that of Archimedes; and was to be seen not many years since in Spain together together with a little Mill, which on one side made a noyse as of a Mill clack; and on the other cast forth the Meale ground: The Tree which they call Vegetall, which is made to grow in a glasse in lesse then a Nights space: The Rose, and all other flowers which by Art are raised up out of their owne ashes: The burning Lamp which was found in the Temple of Venus, which the violence of winds could not extinguish: And that other Candle made of a certain stone Lighted, which was harder then any Iron: Whereof Lucas Tudensis, and Tostatus make mention: as also many other the like which the Learned Licetus hath lately made an Exact Discourse of in his Book

Book, de Lucernis Antiquorum. Lastly I shall also omit to speak of the Invention of divers kinds of Hydraulicks in our own times, which are of so wonderfull strange Contrivance; as that there is nothing in the world which they do not imitate: as also those Statues of Men and Women, that speak, although Inarticulately; that Move of them-selves, and play upon divers Instruments: Of Birds that fly and sing: of Lions that roar; Of Dogs that barke; and others that fight with cats, in the same manner as Living Dogs do: and a thousand other Wonderfull Inventions of men, which are enough enough to astonish our Senses. Now what reason hath the Author of that rash Apology to say as he does, that this Learned Chancelour to the Emperour Otho was not in his right wits when he wrote the fore mentioned Book; where the Effects of those figures, which he attributes to Virgil have much less of wonder in them then these we have here specified. So that consequently, a man might by this means, defend this excellent poet, against the Imputation of Magick, without denying (both against the experience of former ages & of our Own,) the power of Talismans; the Truth, and Efficacy whereof you may see acknowledged acknowledged in the works of those Authors — which we have formerly cited, whose quality renders them both without suspition and above all Reproach.

14. After all these Objections, there are yet some other may be made, which have quite escaped our Criticks. I shall first propose and then Answer them; to the end I may clear this Subject, w.ch hath been so unjustly cried down, of all doubts and Difficulties. —

It may be thus Objected, that, seeing that in making of a Talismanicall Image we are to — grave only One Celestiall Figure; the rest, which should concurr in the Operation — not not finding their Image there cannot — Operate at all.

Secondly it is Ridiculous to Grave the figure of a Ram, a Lion, and so of the rest, seeing — that the Constellations whose names these are do not do the businesse in the Effects which — we see in Nature; but rather the Sun, passing — through the parts of the Heavens.

Thirdly, the vertue of the other Stars will be comunicated to the Image, as well as of those, which we chiefly desire to make — use of; seeing that both the one & the other do continually send forth their Influences: those therefore that are of contrary qualities will will hinder the Operation of the other.

Lastly, those Figures must needs be superstitious, and no whit Naturall; seeing that the Figure of a Scorpion either ingraven or Imbossed on a stone; hath not only the power to cure the Stinging of a Scorpion it selfe; but is able also to comunicate this power to another figure, taken from it in a piece of Clay: as in that we have spoken.

To the first I answer that a Man may if he please grave Divers Images according to the Diversity of the signes that he would observe: Such a one was that Talismanicall Stone

Stone of the Sr de Bagarris which was seen in Paris by divers learned men. Such a one also is one of those Silver Talismans, that M. de Marescott Master of the Requests so much honoured me, as to comunicate unto me; although I conceive it to have been made by some Superstitious person. For besides the Table of Latine Cifers that you find there, and some Chymical Characters there are also three Angelical Characters like those in Clavicula Salomonis. which makes me suspect the rest. The figure of a Woman on the one side is certainly meant for the signe of Virgo and the three Hebrew Letters Letters which are on the other side: אה׳א: are the Abbreviatures of these three Entire words: אֵל הַשֵּׁם אֶחָד: El hasem Echad: that is to say, word for word; God; This Name is one.

The Influences of many Severall stars may be comunicated to one Sole Figure; as ye Vertue of many sundry Hearbs, which proceedeth from the same Starrs, may be reduced into one Medicine. This Comparison is used by Marsilius Ficinus, who following the Opinion of the Ancients saies: Illa vero ex quam plurimis conflari pro arbitrio possunt. Ut si centum Solis Jovisq[ue] dotes, per per centum plantas, et animalia, similiaq[ue] 5 sparsa fuerint; componere simul haec centum tibi comperta possis: et in unam conficere formam, in qua Solem fere Jovemq[ue] totum jam videaris habere. So that there is no great Necessity that the Figures of all the Constellations should be ingraved but only of that which you would have to Operate the more Effectually. And though the other Stars meet not with a Figure semblable to their Operations; yet will they Operate notwithstanding: for as much as they do continually shed forth their Influences upon all things indifferently; and do comunicate comunicate their Vertue to the Gold, or to the Stone; though some more, and other some lesse; according to the divers Aspects under which they were wrought.

To the second Objection I answer in one word, that it is all one: whether it be the twelve Constellations of the Zodiack or the Sun in them, that sheds forth these Influences, so that we be but assured by Experience that they come from such a part of the Heavens, and that the Effect alwayes follows. We are therefore alwayes to grave such a Figure, as is correspondent to this Effect, whether it proceeds from the Sun or from the

the other starrs. And yet it is Manifest that it proceeds not principally from the Sun; seeing that the rest of the forty eight Constellations, which are not in the Zodiack and through which the Sun passes not at all do nevertheless; in some sort Operate also.

The Third Objection is as easily Answered as the former: for asmuch as those Constellations, which are of a Contrary Nature to the Effect which we desire; though they do Operate; yet it is but Faintly and with little force: for we use to observe the time either when they are not in our Hemisphere, or if they be, we then take them them, when their Aspect is weakest, and when a Fortunate Star accompanies them.

The last Objection is indeed the most Difficult of all the rest; seeing that the Vertue; which we find Imprinted in a Talisman seems to surpasse the power of Nature. Neverthelesse we are able to make it appeare that there is nothing Extra=ordinary in it, by instancing in the Loadstone; which having comunicated its vertue to a piece of Iron, This piece of Iron comunicates it afterwards to another, in drawing it to it selfe and retaining it. In like manner may a Talismanicall Figure

Figure comunicate its Vertue to another Figure; which shall have received Impression from it; which shall afterwards have the power to worke the same Effects: only the Difference is, we can give a reason of this later though not of the Former: For the Talisman is as a Brick made very hot, which is able to heat another Brick, though not with so much force as the fire does: and the same is to be said of the print of a Talis=man in Clay, which can never be so power=full in Operation as the Talisman it selfe which is heated or penetrated by the Beams of the Starrs./

We Conclude

We Conclude then that we may Naturally and without the Aid of Spirits, prove by the Secrets of Nature not only the power of these Images, but of many other Operations also which are more wonderfull. As for Example to send News to our friends in less then an houres space above a hundred Leagues off: as Trithemius Abbas, & Bartholomy Cordelier, and after them Robert Flud have undertaken to do. To do such Miraculous things, by the helpe of Looking-glasses as we would think to be utterly Impossi=ble: such as were those strange Operations which Roger Bacon undertooke to do in the Number

In Tract Apol. pro Societ. Fratr. de Ros. Cru=cis. Part 3. c. 4

Number Nine; by which he promised the Pope that if he would furnish him with such a Sum of money, as the charge of making them would require he should be able to annoy the Turks more by these Glasses then by an Army of a Hundred thousand men. Breifly if Aristotle had not informed us that the Image in the air which inseperably followed a certain man, so that he could never be rid of it, was Naturall: would it not presently have been concluded that it was some Familiar Spirit or some Dæmon, that took upon it the Figure of this Man? And yet neverthelesse, this was only the Effect

Effect of the Man's own weaknesse of sight which being unable to penetrate the Medium of the air, its beams were reverberated, in like manner as in a Looking glasse; so that whoever his eyes were open, he still saw his own Image in the air. Which makes me to be of their Opinion who indeavor to vindicate the ancients, from the Imputation of Magick, & to think that the works which they did, & which are comonly called Diabolical, proceeded meerly from some natural principles and I am seriously of this minde, that there can be nothing more ridiculous, then to have recourse to Spirits. For besides that Campanella

Campanella, Riolanus, Symphorianus, Campegius and many others assure us, that, whatsoever they may have done; yet they have never observed any thing that was supernaturall, at least in those works which are said to proceed from Spirits: We our selves may do without their aid, whatsoever they can do; seeing that they have no advantage over us, but operate only by applying active things to passive, like as we do. We Conclude therefore with the learned Bacon.

The famous celebrated Nuptials of the thrice Great Hermes.
Allegoricaly describing the Mystical Union and Comunion of Christ with every Regenerate Soul: Composed By C.R: a German of the Order of the Rosie Cross about 255 years past, and from the Latin Manuscript, faithfully Translated into English by Peter Smart Master of Arts 1714.

Suspensa hedera nihil opus est

~~Vino vendibili non opus est hedera~~

In the Margin are brief notes of the late Dr. Rudd which Explains some hard words & sentences in the following Treatise Hermes Nuptials &c.

The First Day.

On an Evening before Easter Day, I sate at a Table, and having (as my custome was) in my humble Prayer sufficiently conversed with my Creator, and considered many great Mysteries, (whereof the Father of Lights his Majesty had shown me not a few) and being now ready to prepare in my Heart, together with my dear Paschal Lamb, a small unleavened, undefiled Cake; all on a sudden ariseth so horrible a Tempest, that I imagined imagined no other but that through its mighty force, the Hill whereon my little house was founded would fly in pieces. But in as much as this, and the like from the Devil (who had done me many a spite) was no new thing to me; I tooke courage and persisted in my Meditation, till some body (after an unusuall manner touched me on the Back; whereupon I was so hugely terrified, that I durst hardly looke about me yet I shewed my selfe as cheerfull as (in the like Occurrences) humane frailty would permit; Now the same thing still twitching me severall times by the Coat; I looked back and behold

Procanissa } Lady Chamberlain or Controller } it was a fair and glorious Lady, whose Garments were all Skye colour, and curiously (like Heaven) bespangled with golden stars, In her right hand she bare a Trumpet of beaten Gold, whereon a name was engraven (which I could well read in) but am as yet forbidden to reveale it. In her left hand she had a great bundle of Letters of all Languages, which she (as I afterwards understood) was to carry into all countries. She had also large and beautifull wings, full of Eyes throughout, wherewith she could mount aloft, and flye swifter then any Eagle I might perhaps been able to take further notice notice of her, but because she staid so small - a time with me, and terror and amazement still possessed me; I was fain to be content. - For as soon as I turned about, she turned - her Letters over and over, and at length - drew out a small one; which with great - Reverence she laid down upon ye Table; - and without giving one word departed - from me: but in her mounting upward - she gave so mighty a blast on her gallant Trumpet that the whole hill eechoed thereof and for a full quarter of an hour after, - I could hardly heare my own words.

In so unlooked for an adventure I was - at a -

at a loss, how either to advise or assist my poor selfe, and therefore fell upon my knees and - besought my Creator to permit nothing con = whereupon with fear and trembling I went to the Letter, which was now so heavy as had - it been meer Gold, it could hardly have been so weighty. Now as I was diligently viewing it, I found a little Seal, whereupon a curious -

Now as soon as I espied this Sign I was - the more comforted as not being ignorant that such a Seal was little acceptable; &

I tenderly opened the Letter, and within it in an De Nuptijs. As soon as I had read this Letter, I was presently like to have fainted away, all my hair stood an end, and a cold sweat trickled down my whole body. For although I well

He had scarce done speaking, when an Ancient Matron comanded her Servants to let down the Cord seven times into the Dungeon, and draw up whosoever could hang upon it. Good God! that I could sufficiently describe the hurry and disquiet that then arose amongst us; for every one strove to get to the Cord, and yet only hindred each other. But after seven minutes a sign was given by a little bell, whereupon at the

At that time I could not come near the Cord by much, having (as is before mentioned) to my huge misfortune, betaken my selfe to a Stone at the wall of the Dungeon, and thereby was disabled to get to the cord which descended in the middle. The Cord was let down the second time; but divers because their chains were too heavy, and their hands too tender could not keep their hold on the cord, but with themselves beat down many another, who else perhaps might have held fast enough; nay many a one was forcebly pulled off by another who yet could not himselfe get at it; so mutually envious were we even in this our great misery

Thus it came to passe that at these five times very few were drawn up. For as soon as the sign was given, the Servants were so nimble at the draught that the most part tumbled one upon another, and the Cord at this time especially was drawn up very empty. whereupon the greatest part, and even my selfe, despaired of Redemption, and called upon God that he would have pitty upon us, and (if possible) deliver us out of this obscurity, who also then heard

The Second Day

Tripudium Creaturarum ad nuptias

I was hardly got out of my Cell into a Forrest, when methought that the whole Heaven and all the Elements had already trimmed them=selves against this Wedding. For even the Birds in my opinion chanted more pleasantly then before, and the young Fawns skipped so merrily that they rejoyced my old Heart, and moved me to sing: wherefore with a loud voice I thus began:

With mirth thou pretty Bird rejoice, Thy Maker's praise inhansed.
Lift up thy shrill and pleasant voice, Thy God is high advanced.
Thy Food before he did provide And gives it in a fitting side Therewith be thou sufficed.
Why shouldst thou now unpleasant be,
Thy wrath against God venting?
That he a little Bird made thee Thy silly head tormenting?
Because he made thee not a man O peace, he hath well thought thereon.
Therewith be thou sufficed.
What is't I'd have poor earthly worm, By God (as 'twere) inditing, That I should thus against Heaven storm

To pine therefore his needless His Name perhaps thou hadst defam'd

And cannot be deceived.

This sang I now from the bottom of my Heart — Per Sylvam.) throughout the whole Forrest so that it resounded from all parts, and the Hills repeated my last words untill

But if I went forward on my way I perceived no hindrance at all: From whence I could easily conclude, that it would cost me my Life; in case I should set my selfe against the Winde; wherefore I patiently, tooke up my Cross, got upon my feet, and resolved, since so it must be; I would use my utmost indeavor to get to my Journeys end before night. But it best of all pleased me, that all those, of whome I had any esteem were very quiet in their business, and made no loud outcry of it, but acknowledged themselves to be misunderstanding men to whome the mysteries of Nature were too high, and they themselves much too small. In this Tumult I had almost cursed the day wherein I came hither; for I could not but with anguish behold that those lewd vain people were above at the Board but I in so sorry a place could not, however rest in quiet, one of those Rascals scornfully reproaching me for a motly Fool.

Now

Now I thought not that there was yet one Gate behinde through which we must pass, but imagined I was during the whole Wedding, to continue in this scorn contempt and indignity, which yet I had at no time deserved, either of the Lord Bridegroom or the Bride; And therefore (in my opinion) he should have done well to have sought out some other Fool to his Wedding then me. Behold to such impatience doth the Iniquity of this world reduce simple hearts. But this really was one part of my lameness, whereof as, is before mentioned, I dreamed. And truely this clamor the longer it lasted, the more it increased. For there were already those who boasted of false and imaginary Visions, Assessor modestus } Now there sate by me a very fine quiet Man, who oftentimes discoursed of excellent matters, at length he said Behold my Brother, if any one should now come who were willing to instruct these blockish people in the right way, would he be heard? No, verily, replyed I. The world, said he is now resolved (whatever comes on it)

Whilst he was thus speaking, and the Clamour the longer it lasted, the worse it was, all on a sudden there began in the Hall such musica. / excellent and stately Musick as all the days of my life I never heard the like; whereupon every one held his peace, & attended what would become of it: Now there were in this Musick all sorts of stringed Instruments

After halfe an hour this Musick ceased unexpectedly, and we could neither see nor heare any thing further. Presently Presently after before the Door of the Hall began a great noise sounding and beating of Trumpets, Shams and Kettle Drums, also Master like, as if the Emperour of Rome had been entring: whereupon the Door opened of it selfe and then the noise of the Trumpets was so loud that we were hardly able to endure it. Mean while (to my thinking) many thousands small Tapers) came into the hall, all which of themselves marched in so very exact an order, as allogether amazed us, till at last the two forementioned Pages with bright Torches, lighting in a most beautifull Virgin, all drawn on a gloriously gilded Triumphant selfe albedo./ Skye-colour, but arrayed in a snow white glittering Robe, which sparkled of pure Gold, and cast such a lustre that we durst not steadily behold it. Both the Pages were after the same manner habited (albeit somewhat more slightly) as soon as they were come into the middle of the Hall, and were descended from the Throne, all the small Tapers made obeisance before her: Whereupon we all stood up from our Benches, yet yet every one staid in his own place. Now she having to us, and we again to her, showed all respect and Reverence in a most pleasant Tone she began thus to speake:

Salutatoria Hospitum

♀ Philosoph: The King my Lord most gracious, Who now's not very far from us As also his most lovely Bride, ☿ Philosoph: To him in troth and honour ti'd; Already with great Joy indu'd, Have your arrival hither view'd:

And do to every one, and all Promise their Grace in Special;
And from their very hearts desire,
You

You may it at this time acquire;

That so their future Nuptial Joy

May mixed be with none annoy.

Hereupon with all her small Tapers she again courteously bowed and presently after began thus —

Propositio Actionis } In th' Invitation writ, you know

That no man called was hereto

Who of Gods rarest Gifts good store

Had not received long before,

Adorned with all requisits,

As in such cases it befits,

How though they cannot well conceit

That any mans so desperate,

Under Conditions so hard,

Here to intrude without regard;

Unlesse he have been first of all,

Prepared for this Nuptial;

And therefore in good hopes do dwell

That with all you it will be well:

Yet men are grown so bold, and rude;

Not weighing their ineptitude,

As still to thrust themselves in place

Whereto none of them called was:

No Cocks-Comb here himselfe may sell,

No Rascall in with others steal;

For they resolve without all let

A Wedding pure to celebrate.

So then —

Probatio Artificum.

So then the Artists for to weigh,
Scales shall be fixt th'ensuing day; Whereby each one may lightly finde What he hath left at home behind.

Examination of the Candidates.

If here be any of that Rout Who have good cause themselves to doubt, Let him pack quickly hence aside;
For that in case he longer bide, Of grace forelorn, & quite undone Betimes he must the Gantlet runn:
If any now his Conscience gall He shall to night be left in th' Hall And be again releas't by morn, Yet so he hither ne'er returne.

If—

If any man have confidence, He with his waiter may go hence, Who shall him to his Chamber light Where he may rest in peace to night,
And there with praise await ye Scale Or else his sleep may chance to faile.
The others here may take it well, For who aim's bove whats possible, 'Twere better much he hence had past But of you all wee'l hope the best.

As soon as she had done speaking this, she again made reverence and sprung cheerfully into her Throne; after which the Trumpets began again to sound, which yet was not of-force to take from many their grievous sighs so they again conducted her invisibly away, but the most part of the small Tapers remained in the Room, and still one of them accompanied each of us. In such perturbation tis not well possible to express what pensive Thoughts & gestures were amongst us. Yet the most part resolved to await the Scale, and in case things sorted not well, to depart (as they hoped) in peace. I had soon cast up my reckoning Autor humiliat se.

much rather to content my selfe with

Now after that every one by his small Taper had severally been conducted into a Chamber (each as I since understood into a peculiar one) There staid nine of us & amongst the rest he also, who discoursed with me before at the Table. But although our small Tapers left us not yet soon after within an hours time; one of the forementioned pages came in and bringing a great bundle of Cords with him, first demanded of vs whether we had concluded to stay there; which when we had with sighs affirmed, he bound each of vs in a severall place and so went away with our small Tapers, and left vs poor wretches in darkness. Then first began some to perceive the eminent danger, and I my selfe could not refrain tears. For although we were not forbidden to speak; yet Anguish and affliction suffered none of vs to utter one word. For the Cords were so wonderfully made yet none could cut them, much less get them off his feet: yet this comforted me, that still the future gain of many

But we by one only Nights Pennance might expiate all our presumption: till at length in my sorrowfull thoughts I fell asleep; during which I had a Dream; Now although there be no great matter in it, yet I esteeme it not impertinent to recount it: Methought I was upon an high Mountain, and saw before me a large great Valley, in this Valley In this Valley were gathered together an unspeakable multitude of people each of which had at his head a thread by which he was

But in the air there flew up and down an antient man who had in hand a pair of sheers where with here he cuts one's, and there another's thread. Now he that was nigh the Earth was so much the readier, and fell without noise; but when it hapned to one of [presumptuous] the high ones, he fell so that the Earth quaked. To some it came to passe that [presumption so abated] their threads was so stretched, that they came to the Earth before the thread was cut.

I tooke pleasure in this tumbling, & it joyed me at the heart, when he that had over exalted himselfe in the air, of his Wedding, got so shamfull a fall, that it carried even some of his Neighbours along with him. In like manner it also rejoyced me, that he who had all [humble] this while kept himselfe near the earth could come down so safe and gently that even his next men perceived it not. But being now in my highest fit [Expergefac:] of Jollity, I was unawares jogged by one of my fellow Captives, upon which I was awaked and was very much discontented with him; Howbeit I considered my dream and and recounted it to my brother, who lay by me on the other side; who was not dissatisfied with it, but hoped, some Comfort might thereby be pretended. In such discourse we spent the remaining part of the night, and with longing expected the Day.

The Third Day

Now as soon as the lovely day was broken, and the bright Sun, having raised himselfe above the Hills, had again betaken himselfe in the high Heaven, to his appointed Office; My good Champions began to to rise out of their beds, and leisurely to make themselves ready unto the Inquisition, whereupon one after another, they came again into the Hall and giving us a good morrow, demanded how we had slept to night; and having espied our Bonds, there were some that reproved us for being so cowardly, and that we had not (much rather) as they, hazarded upon all adventures. Howbeit some of them whose Hearts still smote them made no loud cry of the buisiness. We excused our Selves with our ignorance, hoping we should now soon be set at liberty, and learn wit by this disgrace? that they on the contrary had not yet alltogether escaped escaped, and perhaps their greatest danger was still to be expected: At length each one being every band chose one for their proper weight; and then again sprang up into her high Throne Now as soon as she had made her reverence, with a very shril Tone she began thus to speake:

Who into a Painters room does go.
And nothing does of painting know, Yet does in prating thereof, pride it; Shall be of all the world derided.
Who into the Artists order goes;
And thereunto was never chose Yet with pretence of skill does pride it;

Ponderantur Artifices. } As soon as the Virgin had done speaking, one of the pages comanded each one to place himselfe according to his order, and one after another to step in:

2. Cæsar. } Next him again came forth another Emperour, who stept hautily into the Scale, and having a great thick booke under

3. alij Cæsares } band. Thus it went also with some others of the Emperours, who were all shamefully laughed at & captived.

4. Cæsar probatissimus } After these comes forth a little short man with a curld brown Beard an Emperour too, who after the usual reverence got up also and held out so steadfastly, that methought, had there been more weights ready, he would have outstood them; To whome the Virgin immediately arose, and bowed before him, causing him to put on a Gown of red Velvet, and at last reached him a branch of Laurell, having good store of them upon her Throne, upon the steps whereof she willed him to sit down. Now how, after him it fared with the rest of the Emperours, Kings and Lords, would be too long to recount; but I cannot leave unmentioned, y^t few of those great personages held out. Howbeit sundry eminent Vertues (beyond my hopes) were found in many. One could stand out this, the second another, some two, some three, four or five, but few could attain to the just perfection; but every one who failed, was miserably laughed at by the bands.

After the Inquisition had also passed over the Gentry, the learned and the unlearned, & the rest, and in each condition perhaps one, it may be, two, but for the most part none, was found perfect, it came at length to those honest Gentlemen

Proba falsariorum } Gentlemen, the Vagabond Cheaters, and rascally Lapidem Spitalauficum makers, who were set upon the Scale with such Scorn, that I my selfe for all my Greif was ready to burst my belly with laughing, neither could the very prisoners themselves refrain. For the most part could not abide that severe triall, but with whips and scourges were jerked out of the Scales; and led to the other prisoners, yet to a suitable band. Thus of so great a throng so few remained, that I am ashamed to discover their Number.

Nobiles nihilominus ornantur. } Howbeit there were Persons of quality also amongst them, who notwithstanding were (like the rest) honoured with velvet Robes and wreaths

The Inquisition being compleatly finished, and none but we poor coupled hounds standing aside; at length, one of the Captains stepped forth, and ~~stepped~~ said Gratious Madam, if it please your Lady ship let these poor men, who acknowledged their misunderstanding, be set upon the Scale also without their incurring any danger of penalty, and only for recreation's sake; if perchance any thing that is right may be found amongst them.

Yet since the Virgin consented, so it must be; and we being untied were one after another set up: Now although the most part miscarried, yet they were neither laughed at, nor scourged, but peaceably placed on one side.

But for as much as I out stayed all the weights, the Virgin comanded them to draw me up by force, whereupon three men hung on the other side of the Beam, and yet could nothing prevail. Whereupon one of the Pages imediately stood up, and cryed out exceeding loud THAT's Punishments due to Cheaters. Those should be stripped, and caused to run out naked. The fourth with Rods, whips, or dogs, should be hunted out. Those who the day before willingly surrendred themselves, might be suffered to depart without any blame. And last of all those presumptuous ones, and they who behaved themselves so unseemly at Dinner the Day before, should be punished in body and life according to each mans demerit. This opinion pleased the Virgin well, and obtained the upper hand. There was moreover another Dinner vouchsafed them, which they were soon acquainted with. Secrecy.

Proborum exaltatio.

Our Table was covered with red velvet, beset with drinking Cups of pure silver and Gold, which the rest could not behold without amazement and very great anguish. But ere we had seated our selves, in came the two pages, presenting every one in the Bridegrooms behalfe, the Golden Fleece, with a flying Lyon Remuneratio a Sponso.

Lyon requesting us to weare them at the Table, and as became us to observe the Reputation and Dignity of the Order, which his Majesty had now vouchsafed us, and should suddenly be ratified with suitable Ceremonies. This we received with profoundest submission, promising obediently to performe whatsoever his Majesty should please. Besides these, the noble Page had a Scheduole; wherein we were set down in order. And for my part I should not otherwise be desirous to conceale my place; if perchance it might not be interpreted to Pride in me, which yet is expressely against the fourth weight. Now because our entertainment entertainment was exceeding stately, we demanded one of the pages, whether we might not have leave to send some choice bit to our Friends and Acquaintance, who making no difficulty of it every one sent plentifully to his acquaintance by the waiters howbeit they saw none of them; and forasmuch as they knew not whence it came, I was my selfe desirous to carry somewhat to one of them, but as soon as I was risen, one of the Waiters was presently at my heels Elbow, saying, He desired me to take friendly warning, for in case one of the pages had seen it, it would have come to the Kings eare, who would certainly have taken it amiss amiss of me; but since none had observed it but himselfe, he purposed not to betray me; but that I ought for the time to come to have better regard to the dignity of the order: with which words the servant did really so astonish me that for a long time after I scarce moved upon my seat, yet I returned him thanks for his faithfull warning as well as in haste and affrightment I was able.

Soon after the Drums began to beat again, to which we were already accustomed: For we well knew it was the Virgin, wherefore we prepared our selves to receive her, who was now coming in with her usuall Train upon her high Seat, one of the Pages bearing before her a very presents the same in the Kings behalfe, saying, That it was brought us from his Majesty, and that in honour of him we should cause it to go round. Upon the Cover of this Goblet stood FORTUNE curiously cast in Gold, who had in her hand a red flying Ensigne, for which cause I drank somewhat the more sadly, as having been but too well acquainted with Fortunes waywardness.

Ornatus Virginis.

But the Virgin as well as we, was adorned with the Golden Fleece and Lyon, whence I observed that that perhaps she was the president of the order Wherefore we demanded of her how the Order might be named? She answered that it was not yet seasonable to discover it, till the affair with the prisoners were dispatched. And therefore their eyes were still held; and what had hitherto hapned to us, was to them only for an Offence and scandal, although it were to be accounted as nothing, in regard of the honour that attended us. Hereupon she began to distinguish the Reprobi dividuntur } Patent which the other page held into two different parts, out of which about thus much was read before the first Company.

Accusatio unius partis. } That they should confess that they had too lightly given credit to false fictitious Books, had assumed too much to themselves, and so came into this Castle, albeit they were never invited into it; and perhaps the most part had presented themselves with design to make their Markets here; and afterward Affectibus mundanis. } to live in the greater Pride and Lordlinesse; And thus one had seduced another, & plunged him into this disgrace and ignominy, wherefore they were deservedly to be soundly punished.

Which they with great humility readily acknowledged, and gave their hands upon it.
After which a severe check was given to the rest much after this purpose.

Alterius partis. } That they very well knew, and were in their conscience convinced that they had forged false fictitious Books, had befooled others, and cheated them, and thereby had diminished Royal dignity amongst all. They knew in like manner what ungodly deceitfull Figures they had made use of, in so much as they spared not even the Divine Trinity, but accustomed to cheat people all the Country over. It was also now as clear as Day with what practices they had indeavoured to ensnare the true Guests, and introduce the ignorant: in like manner, that it was manifest to all the world that they wallowed in open Whoredome Adultery, Gluttony and other Uncleannesses: All which was against the express Orders of our Kingdoms. In brief they knew they had disparaged Kingly Majesty, even amongst the comon sort, and therefore they should confess themselves to be manifest convicted, Vagabond Cheaters, Knaves and Rascalls whereby they deserved to be cashiered from the company of civil people and severely to be punished.

Confessio invita. } The good Artists were loath to come to this Confession, but in as much as not only the Virgin her selfe threatned and sware their Death, but the other party also vehement=ly raged at them, and unanimously cryed out out, that they had most wickedly seduced them out of the Light: they at length, to prevent a huge missfortune, confessed the same with with dolour, and yet withall alledged that what had herein happened was not to be

Excusatio./ For in as much as the Lords were absolutely

And furthermore his Majesty resolveth shortly to comunicate with your Lordships a Catalogue of Herreticks or Index Expurgatorius that you may henceforward be able with better Judgment discerne between the good and the Evil. And because his Majesty ere long also purposeth to rumage his Library and offer up the seductive Writings to Vulcan he friendly, humbly and courteously intreats every one of your Lordships to put the same in Execution with your own, whereby it is to be hoped

In fine for as much as the Estates of the Land have still somewhat to demand of your Lordships, his Majesty hopes that no man will think much to redeeme himselfe with a Chain or what else he hath about him, and so in friendly manner to depart from vs and through our safe conduct to betake himselfe home again.

The others

4. They who were drawn up by the sixth or seventh, and not by the rest shall be some what more graciously dealt withall and so forward. For unto every Combination there was a certain punishment ordained which were here too long to recount:

5. They who yesterday seperated themselves freely of their owne accord shall go out at Liberty without any blame.

6. Finally, the convicted Vagabond Cheaters who could move up none of the Weights shall as occasion serves be punished in body and Life, with the Sword, Halter water and rods. And such Execution of Judgment shall be inviolably observed for an Example unto others.

they stood severally before us, so I diligently numbered and noted them down in my Table Book; and it is very admirable that amongst all those who weighed any thing, none was equal to another. For although amongst those who weighed three, there were thirty five; yet one of them weighed the first, second and third, another the third, fourth and fifth, a third, the fifth, sixth and seventh, and so on. It is likewise very wonderfull that amongst one hundred twenty six who weighed any thing, none was equal to another; And I would very willingly name them all with each mans weight were it not as yet forbidden me, But hereafter I shall Reorum moras. Now this Judgment being read over, the Lords in the first place were well satisfied, because in such severity they durst not looke for a mild Sentence. For which cause they gave more then they were desired, and each one redeemed himselfe with Chains, Jewells, Gold, Monies and other things, as much as they had about them, and with reverence tooke their leave. Now although Others were driven out with small Bells. Some were Scourged forth. In brief the punishments were so various, that I am not able to recount them all. In the end it came to the last also with whom somewhat a longer time was spent, for whilst some were hanging, some beheading, some forced to leap into the water, and the rest otherwise dispatching, much time was consumed. Verily at this Execution my eyes ran over, not indeed in regard of the punishment, which they otherwise for their impudence well deserved but in contemplation of humane blindness, in that we are continually busying our selves in that which ever since the first Fall hath been hitherto sealed up to us.

Thus the Garden which so lately was quite full was soon emptied; so that besides the Souldiers there was not a man left. Those were comanded to lead us up and down the Castle (yet but into certain places) and if possible to shorten the time according to our desire: Mean time the Virgin took leave with this Consolation, that at supper she would be with us again, and after that celebrate the Ceremonies of the hanging up of the Weights, requesting that we would in patience wait till the next day, for on the morrow we must be presented to the King.

I indeed caused my Page to conduct me (together with my Companion) up and down the Castle ~~a kindred~~ ~~[illegible]~~ of which walk it will never repent me, as long as I have a day to live. For besides many other glorious Antiquities, the Royal Sepulcher was also showed me, by which I learned more then is extant in all Books. There in the same place stands also the glorious glorious Phœnix. whereof I intend to write a peculiar Treatise, as also concerning the Lyon, Eagle, Griffon, Falcon and the like together with their Draughts and Inscriptions. It grieves me also for my other Consorts, that they neglected such pretious Treasures. And yet I cannot but think it was the special will of God it should be so.

I indeed reaped the most benefit by my Page; for according as each ones Genius lay, so he led his intrusted into the quarters and places which were pleasing to him.

Usus eorum quæ autor videt.

Now the Keys hereunto belonging were com:itted to my Page; and therefore this good Fortune hapned to me before the rest; For although Neither shall these Monuments and Learned Antiquities which we copied & transcribed be concealed, being of admirable use to the Adept.

The other thing that was showed us two was the Noble Library as it was altogether before the Reformation. Of which (although it rejoyces my heart as often as I call it to minde) I shall shortly publish the Catalogue thereof. At the Entry of this famous ~~[illegible]~~ Library stands a great Book, the like whereof I never saw, in wch all all the Figures, Rooms, Portals, also all the Writings, Riddles, and the like to be seen in the whole Castle are delineated. Now although we have made some promise concerning this also, yet at present I must contain my selfe and first learn to know the World better. In every Book stands its Author painted; whereof (as I understood) many were to be burnt, that so even their memory may be blotted out from amongst the Righteous. Now having taken a full view hereof, and being scarce gotten forth, another Page came running to us, and having whispered something in our Pages ear, he delivered up the Keys to him, who imediately carryed them up the winding Stairs; But our Page was very much out out of Countenance, and we setting hard upon him with Intreaties, He declared to us that the Kings Majesty would by no means permit that either of the two, namely the Library and Sepulchres should be seen by any man, and therefore he besought us as we tendered his Life to discover it to no man, he having already utterly denyed it: Whereupon both of us stood hovering between joy and fear, yet it continued in silence, and no man made further inquiry about it. Thus in both places we consumed three hours, which does not at all repent me. Now although it had already stricken seven yet nothing was hitherto given us to eat

Howbeit our hunger was easy to be abated by constant Revivings, and I could be well content to fast all my life long with such entertainment. About this time the curious Fountains, Mines, and all kind of Art Shops, were also shown us, of which there was none but surpassed all our Arts, though they should all be melted into one Masse. All their Chambers were built in Semi-circles that so they might have before their eyes the costly Clock-work which was erected upon a fair Turret in the Center, and regulate themselves according to course of the Planets, which were to be seen on it in a glorious manner. And hence I could

I could easily conjecture wherein our Artists failed, howbeit its none of my duty to inform them. At length I came into a spacious Room (shown indeed to the rest a great while before) in the middle whereof stood a Terrestrial Globe, whose Diameter contained thirty foot; albeit near half of it, except a little which was covered with the steps was let into the Earth. Two men might readily turn this Globe about with all its Furniture, so that more of it was never to be seen, but so much as was above the Horizon. Now although I could easily conceive that this was of some special use, yet could I not understand whereto those Ringlets of Gold of Gold (which were upon it in several places) served; at which my Page laughed, and advised me to view them more narrowly. In brief, I found there my Native country noted with Gold also; whereupon my Companion sought his and found that so too. Now for as much as the same hapned in like manner to the rest that stood by, The Page told us of a certain that it was yesterday declared to the Kings Majesty by their old Atlas (so is the Astronomer named) that all the gilded points did exactly answer to their native Countries, according as had been shown of each of them. And therefore he also, as soon as he perceived, that I undervalued my selfe, and that neverthelesse there stood a point upon

I saw much more too upon this Globe then I am willing to discover. Let each

Now after we had each to other related our Employment since noon (how beit, not a word was spoken of the Library & Monuments) being already merry with the Wine, the Virgin began thus: My Lords, I have a great contention with one of my Sisters: In our Chamber we have an Eagle; Now we cherish him with such diligence, that each of us is desirous to be the best beloved, and upon that score have many a Squabble. Now as soon as he espyed us both, he imediately gave my Sister another branch which he had in his Beak, and offered at mine; which I gave him, Now each of us hereupon imagined her selfe to be best beloved of him; which way am I to resolve my selfe?

This modest proposal of the Virgin pleased us all mighty well, and each one would gladly have heard the Solution, but in as much as they they all looked upon me, and desired to have the beginning from me; my mind was so extreamly confounded that I knew not what else to do with it but propound another in its stead, & therefore said Gracious Lady, your Ladyships question were easily to be resolved if one thing did not perplex me. I had two Companions both which loved me exceedingly; now they being doubtfull which of them was most dear to me, concluded to run to me unawares, and that he whom I should then embrace should be the right; this they did, yet one of them could not keep pace with the other, so he staid behind and wept, the other I embraced with amazement. Now when they had afterward

The Virgin wondered at it, and well observed whereabout I was whereupon she replyed, well then let us both be quit, and then desired the solution from the rest. But I had already made them wise. Wherefore the next began thus.

In the City where I live a Virgin was lately condemned to death, but the Judge being something pittifull towards her, caused it to be proclaimed that if any man desired to become

☿ ♃ In a certain City there dwelt an honourable Lady who was beloved of all, but especially by a young noble Man, who would needs be too importunate with her; at length she gave him this determination, that in case he would, in a cold Winter, lead her into a fair green Garden of Roses, then he should obtain, but if not, he must resolve never to see her more. The

The noble Man travelled into all Countries to finde such a man as might performe this, till at length he lite upon a little old man that promised to do it for him in case he would assure him of half his Estate; which he having consented to, the other was as good as his word. Whereupon he invited the foresaid Lady home to his Garden, where contrary to her expectation she found all things green, pleasant, and warm, and withall remembring her promise, she only requested yt she might once more return to her Lord, to whom with sighs and Tears she bewailed her lamentable condition: but for as much as he

as he sufficiently perceived her faithfulness, he dispatched her back to her Lover, who had so dearly purchased her that she might give him satisfaction. This Husbands integrity did so mightily affect the Nobleman, that he thought it a sin to touch so honest a wife; so he sent her home again with honour to her Lord. Now the little Man perceiving such Faith in both these; would not, how poor soever he were; be the least, but restored the Nobleman all his Goods again, and went his way. Now (my Lords) I know not which of these persons may have shown the greatest Ingenuity? Here our Tongues were quite cut off. Neither would

Now I thought with my selfe; during her Life thou couldst have no part in this Woman, but yet now dead as she is thou mayst embrace and Kiss her sufficiently; whereupon I took my Servant with me, who dug her her up by night; Now having opened the Coffin, and and locked her in my Arms, and feeling about her Heart, I found still some little motion in it, which increased more and more from my warmth, till at last I perceived that she was indeed still alive wherefore I quietly bare her home; and after I had warmed her chilled Body with a costly Bath of Herbs, I comitted her to my Mother untill she brought forth a fair Son, whom (as the Mother) I caused faithfully to be nursed. After two days (she being then in a mighty amazement) I discovered to her all the forepassed affair, requesting her that for the time to come she would live with me as a wife, against which she thus excepted, in case it should

Now after two Months (being then to make a Journey else where) I invited her Husband as a Guest, and amongst other things demanded of him, whether if his Deceased wife should come home again he could be content to receive her, and he affirming it with Tears and Lamentations, at length I brought him his wife together with his Son, and an account of all the fore-passed business, intreating him to ratify with his consent my fore-purposed Espousals. After a long dispute he could not beat me from my right but but was fain to leave me the Wife. But still the contest was about the Son. Here the Virgin interrupted him, and said, it makes me wonder how you could double the afflicted mans griefe. How, answered he, was I not then concerned? Upon this there arose a dispute amongst us, yet the most part affirmed, that he had done but right. Nay, said he, I freely returned him both his wife and Son. Now tell me (my Lords) was my honesty, or this mans Joy the greater? These words had so mightily cheared the Virgin that (as if it had been for the sake of these two) she caused a Health to go round. After which the rest of the proposals went on on somewhat perplexedly, so that I could not retain them all, yet this comes to my mind, yt

Now tell me my Lord, how am I called? The Answer was intricate enough to me; yet I left not off so, but said, Noble and vertuous Lady may I not obtain one only Letter? yea (said she) that may well be done. What then

With this I was content, & easily found her name; at which she was well pleased with assurance that much more should yet be revealed to us. shamefacedly towards the Earth, very humble in behaviour, the Second was also a modest bashfull Virgin; The third as she entered the Room seemed amazed at somewhat, and as I understood she cannot well abide where there is too much mirth. The fourth brought with her certain small wreaths thereby to manifest her kindness & liberality. After these four came two w.ch were somewhat more gloriously Apparelled; they saluted us courteously; One of them had a Gown of Sky-Colour spangled with golden Stars; The other was Green, beautified with red & white Stripes. On their Heads they had thin flying Tiffaties which did most becomingly adorne them.

At last came one alone who had on her head a Coronet, but rather looked up towards Heaven, then towards the Earth. We all thought it had been the Bride, but were much mistaken, although otherwise in honour, Riches & State she much surpassed the Bride; and she afterwards ruled the whole Wedding. Now on this occasion we all followed our Virgin, & fell down on our knees, howbeit she shewed her selfe extream humble offering every one her hand, and admonishing us not to be too much surprized at this, for this was one of her smallest Bounties, but to lift up our Eyes to our Creator and learn hereby to acknowledge his his Omnipotency, and so proceed in our enterprised Course, employing this Grace to the praise of God and the Good of Man. In sum her words were quite different from those of our Virgin, who was somewhat more worldly. They pierced even through my bones and marrow And thou, said she further to me; hast received more then others, see that thou also make a larger return. This to me was a very strange Sermon; for as soon as we saw the Virgins with the Musick we imagined we must presently fall to Dancing but that time was not as yet come.

Now the Weights whereof mention hath been before before made stood still in the same place; whereof the Queen (I yet know not who she was) comanded each Virgin to take upone, but to our Virgin she gave her own, which was the last and greatest, and comanded us to follow behinde; our Majesty was then somewhat abated, for I well observed that our Virgin was but too good for us, and that we were not so highly reputed as we our selves were almost in part willing to phantisie. So we went behind in our order and were brought into the first

Supellex. there was nothing costly in this Room, save only certain curious little Prayer Books, which should never be missing. In the midst was erected a Pulpit, very convenient for Prayer, wherein the Queen kneeled down, about her we were all fain to kneel and pray after the Virgin, who read out of a Book, That this Wedding might tend to the honour of God and our own benefit. Afterwards we came into the second Chamber where the first Virgin hung up her weight also, and so forward till all the Ceremonies were finished. Hereupon the Queen again presented her hand to every one, and departed thence with her Virgin.

Virgin Our president stayed yet a while with us. But because it had been already two hours night, she would no longer detain us; methought she was glad of our Company, yet she bid us good night and wished us quiet rest, and so departed friendly although unwillingly from us. Our Pages were well instructed in their business, and therefore shewed every man his Chamber; and stayed also with us in another Pallet; that in case we needed any thing we might make use of them. My Chamber (of the rest I am not able to speak) was royally furnished with rare Tapistries, and hung about with paintings.

But above all things I delighted in my Page; who was so excellently spoken, and experienced in the Arts, that he yet spent me another hour, & it was halfe an hour after three when first I fell asleep. And this indeed was the first night that I slept in quiet, and yet a scurvy Dream would not suffer me to rest; For I was all the night troubled with a Door which I could not get open, but at last I did it. With these Phantasies I passed the time, till at length towards Day I awaked.

I still lay in my Bed and leisurely surveighed all the noble Images and Figures up and down about my Chamber, during which on a sudden I heard the Musick of Coronets as if they had been already in Procession. My Page skipped out of the Bed as if he had been at his wits end, and looked more like one dead then living; In what case I then was is easily imaginable, for said he; The rest are already presented to the King; I knew not what else to do, but weep outright, and Curs my own sloathfulness; Yet I dressed my selfe, but my Page

But he soon returned, and brought with him this joyfull news that the time indeed was not yet past, only I had over slept my Breakfast, they being unwilling to waken me because of my Age; But that now it was time for me to go with him to the Fountain where the most part were assembled; with this consolation my spirit returned again, wherefore I was soon ready with my habit, and went after the Page to the Fountain in the aforementioned Garden where I found that the Lyon instead of his Sword had a pretty large Tablet by him. Now having well viewed it, I found

Now there was one there that had a minde to returne my disgrace again upon the Virgin; where upon he said, I hope not only We, but the Virgins too themselves will beare witness in behalfe of our Brother, that our Lady President hath promised her selfe to be his Bedfellow to Night I should be well content with it, Replyed the Virgin, if I had not reason to be afraid of these my sisters, there would be no hold with them should I chuse the best, and

and handsomest for my selfe, against their will.

My Sister, presently began another, We find hereby that thy high Office makes thee not proud; wherefore if by thy permission we might by Lot part the Lords here present amongst us for Bed-fellows, thou shalt with our Good will have such a Prerogative. We let this passe for a Jest, and began again to discourse together. But our Virgin could not leave tormenting us, and therefore began again, My Lords, how if we should permit fortune to decide which of us must lye together to Night? Well said I, if it may be no otherwise, we cannot refuse such a proffer, Now because it was concluded to make this tryal after meat, we resolved to sit no longer at ~~meat~~ Table so we arose, and each - each one walked up, and down with his Virgin.

Nay, said the Virgin, it shall not be so yet, but let us see how Fortune will couple us; Upon which we were separated asunder: But now first arose a dispute how the business should be carried, but this was only a premeditated device, for the Virgin instantly made the proposall that we should mix our selves together in a Ring, and that she beginning to count from her self, the seventh, was to be content with the following seventh, whether it were a Virgin or a Man; for our parts we were not aware of any craft and therefore permitted it so to be; but when we thought we had very well mingled our selves, the Virgins neverthelesse were so subtil that each one know - know her station before hand: The Virgin began to reckon, the seventh next her was again a Virgin the third seventh a Virgin likewise, and this happ so long till (to our amazement.) all the Virgins came forth, and none of us was hit; Thus we poor pittifull Wretches remained standing alone; and were moreover forced to suffer our selves to be jeered too and confesse we were very handsomly couzened.

In short, who ever had seen us in our Order, might sooner have expected the Skye to fall, then that it should never have come to our turn. Here with our Sport was at an end, and we were fain to satisfy our selves with the Virgins waggery. In the interim, the little wanton Cupid came also in unto us; but because because he presented himselfe on behalfe of their Royal Majesties, and delivered us a Health (as from them) out of a golden Cup, and was to call our Virgins to the King, withall declaring he could at this time tarry no longer with them we could not sufficiently sport our selves with him: So with a due returne of our most humble we let him flye forth again. Now because (in the Interim) the mirth began to fall into my Consorts feet, and the Virgins were nothing sorry to see it, they quickly lead up a civil Dance | a merry dance.

After some few Dances our president came in again, and told us how the Artists & Students had offered themselves to their Royall Majesties, for their Honour and Pleasure, before their departure to act a merry Comedy; and if we thought good to be present at it, and to wait upon their Royal Majesties to the House of the Sun, it would be acceptable to them, and they would most graciously acknowledge it: Hereupon in the first place we returned our most humble thanks for the Honour vouchsafed us, not only so, but moreover most submissively tendered our small Service, which the Virgin related again, and presently brought word to attend their Royal Majesties (in our Order) in the Gallery, whither we were soon lead, and stayed not long there for the Royal Procession was just ready yet without any Musick at all. The unknown Queen, who was yesterday with us, went foremost with a small and costly Coronet, apparelled in white Sattin, she carried nothing but a small Crucifix which was made of a Pearl, and this very day wrought between the young King and his Bride. After her went the six forementioned Virgins in two ranks, who carried the Kings Jewels belonging to the little Altar: next to those came the three Kings.

The Bridegroom was in the midst of them in a in a plain dress, only in black Sattin after the Italian Mode. He had on a small round black Hat, with a little black pointed Feather, which he courteously put off to us, thereby to signify his favour towards us. To him we bowed our selves, as also to the first, as we had been before instructed. After the Kings came the three Queens two whereof were richly habited, only she in the middle went likewise all in black, and Cupid held up her Train; After intimation was given to us to follow, and after us the Virgins, till at last old Atlas brought up the rear. In such Procession, through many stately Walks we at length came to the the Sun, there next to the King and Queen upon a richly furnished Scaffold to behold the fore-ordained Comedy: We indeed though separated, stood on the right hand of the Kings, but the Virgins on the left, except those to whom the Royal Ensignes were committed. To them was allotted a peculiar standing at top of all. But the rest of the attendants were fain to stand below between the Columns, and therewith to be content. Now because there are many remarkable Passages in this Comedy, I will not omit in brief to run it over.

Præcipua quæ agebantur Actus. 1.

First of all came forth a very ancient King

King, with some Servants, before whose Throne was brought a little Chest, with mention that it was found upon the Water, Now it being opened, there appeared in it a lovely Babe, together with certain Jewels, and a small Letter of parchment sealed, and superscribed to the King. Which the King therefore presently opened, and having read it, wept, and then declared to his Servants how injuriously the King of the Moors had deprived his Aunt of her Country, and had extinguished all the Royall Seed even to this Infant with the Daughter of which Country he had now purposed to have ~~m~~ matched his Son.

Hereupon

Hereupon he swore to maintain perpetual enmity with the Moors and his Allies, and to revenge this upon him; and therewith comanded that the Child should be tenderly nursed; and to make preparation against the Moor; Now this provision and the Discipline of the young Lady (who after she was grown up was comitted to an ancient Tutor) continued all the first Act, with many very fine and laudable sports besides.

Interludium/ In the Interlude a Lyon and a Griffon were set at one another, to fight, and the Lyon got the Victory; which was also a pretty sight

Actus 2. In the second Act, the Moor a very black treacherous fellow, came forth also, who having with vexation understood that his Murder was discovered, and that too a little Lady was craftily stollen from him began thereupon to consult how by Stratagem he might be able to encounter so powerful an adversary, whereof he was at length advised by certain Fugitives who by reason of famine fled to him: So the young Lady contrary to all mens expectation fell again into his hands: Whom had he not been wonderfully deceived by his own Servants, he had like to have caused to be slain. Thus this Act too was concluded with a marvellous triumph of the Moore.

Act. 3. In the third Act a great Army on the Kings party was raised against the Moore, and put under the conduct of an ancient valiant Knight who fell into the Moores Country, till at length he forceably rescued the young Lady out of the Tower, & apparrel=led her anew: After this in a trice they erected a glorious Scaffold & placed their young Lady upon it: presently cam twelve Royal Embassadors amongst whom the fore mentioned Knight made a Speech alledging that the King his most gratious Lord had not only heretofore delivered her from death death, and even hitherto caused her to be royally brought up (though she had not behaved her selfe altogether as became her) But moreover his Royal Majesty had, before ☿ ♀ others elected her, to be a Spouse for the young Lord his Son: and most graciously desired that the said Espousals might be really executed in case they would be sworn to his Majesty upon the following Articles. Hereupon out of a Patent he caused certain glorious conditions to be read, which if it were not too long were well worthy to be here recounted. In briefe the young Lady took an Oath inviolably to observe the same returning thanks with in in most seemly sort for this so high a Grace.

Whereupon they began to sing to the Praise of God, of the King, and the young Lady, and so for this time departed.

Interludium. For sport, in the mean while, the four Beasts of Daniel, as he saw them in the Vision, and hath at large described them, were brought in all which had its certain signification.

Actus 4. In the fourth Act the young Lady was again restored to her lost Kingdom, and crowned, and for a space, in this array conducted about the place with extraordinary Joy: after this many and various Embassadors presented themselves, not only to wish her prosperity prosperity but also to behold her Glory. Yet it was not long that she preserved her Integrity, but soon began again to look wantonly about her, and to wink at the Embassadors and Lords; wherein she truly acted her part to the Life. These her manners were soon known to the Moore, who would by no means neglect such an opportunity, and because her Steward had not sufficient regard to her, she was easily blinded with great promises, so that she had no good confidence in her King, but privily submitted her selfe to the intire disposall of the Moore.

Hereupon the Moore made haste, and having (by her consent) gotten her into his Hands, he gave her good words so long till all her Kingdome had subjected it selfe to him: After which in the third Scene of this Act, he caused her to be lead forth, and first to be stript stark naked, and then upon a Scurvy wooden Scaffold to be bound to a Post, and well scourged, and at last sentenced to Death. This was so wofull a Spectacle, that it made the eyes of many to run over. Hereupon thus naked as she was, she was cast into Prison, there to expect her Death which was to be procured by Poyson, which yet killed her not, but made her leprous all over: Thus this Act was for the most part lamentable.

Interludium.) Between, they brought forth Nebuchadnezzars Image

Image; which was adorn'd with all manner of Arms, on the Head, Brest, Belly, Legs, and Feet, and the like; of which more hereafter in our future explication.

Actus 5. In the fifth Act the young King was acquainted with all that had passed between the Moor, and his future Spouse; who first interceded with his father for her, intreating that she might not be left in that Condition; which his Father having agreed to, Embassadors were dispatched to Comfort her in her Sickness and Captivity; but yet withall to give her notice of her inconsideratness. But she would not yet receive them, but consented to be the Moor's Concubine, which was also done and the young King was acquainted with it

After—

Interludium. After this comes a band of Fools, each of which brought with him a Cudgel wherewith in a trice, they made a great Globe of the World, and as soon undid it again, it was a fine sportive Phantisie.

Actus 6. In the sixth Act the young King resolved to bid battle to the Moore, which also was done. And albeit the Moore was discomfited, yet all held the young King too, for dead. At length he came to himselfe again, released his spouse, and comitted her to his Steward and Chaplain. The first whereof tormented her mightily, at last the Leaf turned over, and the Priest was so insolently wicked that he would needs be above all, untill the same was reported to the young King—

King, who hastily dispatched one who broke the no[illegible] of the Priests mightiness, and adorned the Bride in some measure for the Nuptials.

Interludium. After the Act a vast artificial Elephant was brought forth: he carried a great Tower with Musitians which was also well pleasing to all.

Actus 7. In the last Act the Bridegroom appeared in such pomp as is not well to be believed, and I was amazed how it was brought to passe. The Bride met him in the like Solemnity. Where=upon all the People cryed out Vivat Sponsus, Vivat Sponsa. So that by this Comedy, they did withall congratulate our King and Queene in the most stately manner: which (as I well observed) pleased them extraordinary well.

Comædorum applausus erga Regem et Reginam.

At length they made some passes about the stage in such Procession, till at last they altogether began thus to sing.

Epilogus. / After this thanks were returned, and the Comedy was finished with Joy, and the particular good liking of the Royal Persons, wherefore ~~the Royal Persons~~ the

(the Evening also being already hard by) they departed together in their forementioned order: But we were to attend the Royal Persons up the winding stairs into the forementioned Hall, where the Tables were already richly furnished, and this was the first time that we were invited to the Kings Table. The little Altar was placed in the midst of the Hall, and the six forenamed Royal Ensignes were laid on it.

But our president engaged her selfe and promised very largely on our behalfe, which gave them satisfaction. Mean time a little Bell was tolled, at which all the Royal Persons waxed so mighty bleak that we were ready utterly to despair. They quickly put off their white Garments again, and put on intirely black ones; The whole Hall likewise was hung about with black Velvet, the Floor was covered with black Velvet, with which also the Cieling above (all this being before prepared) was overspread. all had seated themselves round about upon the Form, and we also had put on black habits; in comes our President again, who was before gone out, and brought with her six black Taffata Scarfs with which she bound the six Royal Persons Eyes. Now when they could no longer see, there were imediately brought in by the Servants six covered Coffins, and set down in the Hall, also a low black seat placed in the midst. Finally, there stept in a very cole black tall man who bare in his hand a sharp axe. Now after that the old King had been first brought to the Seat his head was instantly whipt off, and wrapped up in a black Cloth, but but the Blood was received into a great Golden Goblet, and placed with him in the Coffin that stood by, which being covered was set aside. Thus it went with the rest also, so that I thought it would at length have come to me too, but it did not; For as soon as the six Royal Persons were beheaded the black man went out again; after whom another followed, who Beheaded him too just before the Door, and brought back his head together with the ax, which were laid in a little Chest. This indeed to me seemed a bloody Wedding, But because I could not tell what would yet be the event, I was fain for that time to captivate my understanding untill I were further resolved

For the Virgin too, seeing that some of us were faint hearted and wept, bid us be content. For said she to us, The Life of these standeth now in your hands, and in case you follow me, this Death shall make many alive. Herewith she intimated we should go sleep, and trouble our selves no further on our part, for they should be sure to have their due right; and so she bade us all Good night, saying, That she must watch the dead Corps this night: We did so, and were each of us conducted by our Pages into our Lodgings. My Page talked with me of sundry and various matters (which I still very well remember) and gave me cause enough to

to admire at his understanding: But his intention was to lull me asleep, which at last I well observed, whereupon I made as though I was fast asleep, but no sleep came into my eyes, & I could not put the beheaded out of my minde. Now my Lodging was directly over-stuck full of Lights. Above on the top of each of them hovered a Flame that passed to and fro, and sometimes descended quite down, so that I could lightly judge that it must needs be the Spirits of the Beheaded. Now these Ships gently approached to Land, and each of them had no more then one Mariner. As soon as they were now gotten to shore, I presently espied our Virgin with a Torch going towards the Ships, after whom the six covered Coffins together with the little Chest, were carried; and each of them privily laid in a Ship. Wherefore I awaked my Page too, who hugely thanked me, for having run much up &

Now as soon as the Coffins were laid in the Ships, all the Lights were extinguished and the six flames passed back together over the Lake; So that there was no more but one Light in each Ship for a Watch. There were also some hundreds of watchmen who had encamped themselves on the shore; and put the Virgin back again into the Castle; who carefully bolted all up again, so that I could well judge that there was nothing more to be done this night, but that we must expect the day; so we again betook our selves to rest. And I only of all my Company had a Chamber towards the

The night was over, and the dear wished for day broken, when hastily I got me out of bed, more desirous to learn what might yet ensue, than that I had sufficiently slept. Now after that I had put on my Cloaths, and according to my custom was gone down the stairs, it was still too early, and I found nobody else in the Hall

This I —

Thalamus Veneris Sepulch[illegible]

This I thus copied, and set down in my Table Book. Now after this Door was opened, the Page led me by the hand through a very dark Passage till we came again to a very little Door, that was now only put too, For (as the Page informed me) it was first opened but yesterday when the Coffins were taken out, and had not been since shut. Now as soon as we stepped in, I espied the most precious thing that Nature ever created: For this Vault had no other Light but from certain huge great Carbuncles; And this (as I was informed) was the Kings Treasury.

But the most glorious and principal thing, that I here —

Thesaurus Regis. } here saw, was a Sepulcher (which stood in the middle) so rich that I wondered it was no better guarded whereunto the Page Answered me, That I had good reason to be thankfull to my Planet, by whose influence it was, that I had now seen certain pieces which no humane Eye else (except the King's Family) had ever had a view of.

Descriptio Sepulchri. } This Sepulcher was triangular and had in the middle a Kettle of pollished Copper, the rest was of pure Gold and pretious stones; In the Kettle stood an Angel, who ~~held~~ held in his Arms an unknown Tree; from which it continually dropped into the Kettle and as oft as the Fruit fell into the Kettle it turned into water too, & ran out out from thence into three small Golden Kettles standing by. This little Altar was supported by these three Animals, an Eagle an Ox & a Lyon, which stood on an exceeding costly Base. I asked my Page what this might signify: Here, said he, lies buried Lady Venus, that Beauty which hath undone many a great Man, both in Fortune, Honour, Blessing and prosperity.

Aliud Triclinium. } After which he showed me a Copper Door on the Pavement. Here (said he) if you please, we may go further down; I still follow you (replyed I) so I went down the steps, where it was exceeding dark, but the Page imediately opened a little Chest, wherein stood a small everburning-over burning Taper, at which he kindled one of the many Torches which lay by. I was mightily terrified, and seriously asked how he durst do this? He gave me for an Answer, As long as the Royal Persons are still at rest, I have nothing to fear. Herewith I espied a rich Bed, ready made, hung about with curious Curtains, one of which he drew, where I saw the Lady Venus stark-naked (for he heaved up the Coverlets too) lying there in such Beauty, and a fashion so surprizing that I was almost besides my selfe, neither do I yet know whether it was a piece thus carved, or an humane Corps that lay dead there; for she was altogether imoveable, and yet I durst not touch her. So she was again covered and the Curtain drawn before her, yet she was still (as it were) in my Eye: But I soon espyed behinde the Bed a Tablet, on which it was thus written.

I asked my Page concerning this Writing; but he laughed, with promise that I should know

know it too. So he putting out the Torch we again ascended: Then I better viewed all the little Doors, and first found, that on every corner there burned a small Taper of Pyrites, of which before I had taken no notice; for the fire was so clear, that it looked much liker a Stone than a Taper. From this heat the Tree was forced continually to melt, yet it still produced new fruit. Now, behold, (said the Page) what I heard Revealed to the King by Atlas. When the Tree (said he) shall be quite melted down, Then shall Lady Venus awake, and be the Mother of a King. Whilst he was thus thus speaking, in flew the little Cupid, who at first was somewhat abashed at our presence, but seeing us both look more like the Dead than the Living, he could not at length refrain from Laughing, Demanded what Spirit had brought me thither, whome I with trembling answered, that I had lost my way in the Castle, and was by chance come hither, and that the Page likewise had been looking up and down for me, and at last lited upon me here, I hoped he would not take it amiss. Nay then 'tis well enough, yet said Cupid, my old busie Grandsir, but you might lightly have served me a Scurvy me a scurvy trick, had you been aware aware of this Door. Now I must look better to it, and so he put a strong lock on the Upper Door, where we before descended. I thanked God that he lited upon us no sooner, My Page too was the more jocond, because I had so well helped him at this pinch. Yet can I not (said Cupid) let it pass unrevenged, that you were so near stumbling upon my Dear Mother; with that he put the point of his Dart into one of the little Tapers, and heating it a little, pricked me with it on the hand, which at that time I little regarded, but was glad that it went so well with us, and that we came off without without further danger: Mean time my Companions were gotten out of bed too, & were again returned into the Hall. To whome I also joyned my selfe making as if I were then risen first. After Cupid had carefully made all fast again, he came likewise to us, and would needs have me shew him my hand, where he still found a little drop of blood, at which he heartily laughed, and bad the rest have a care of me, I would shortly end my days. We all wondered how Cupid could be so merry, and have no sense at all of the yesterdays sad passages. Now our President had in the means time made made her self ready for the Journey coming all in black Velvet, yet she still bare her branch of Laurel, her Virgins too ~~...~~ had their branches. Now all things being in readiness, the Virgin bid us first drink somewhat, and then presently prepare for the procession; wherefore we made no long tarrying, but followed her out of the Hall into the Court. In the Court stood six Coffins, and my Companions thought no other but that the six Royal Persons lay in them, but I well observed the Device.

Yet I knew not what was to be done with those other. by each Coffin were eight muffled men. Now as soon as the Musick Musick went (it was so mournfull & dolesome a Tune, that I was astonished at it) they took up the Coffins, and we (as we were ordered) were fain to go after them into the forementioned Garden, in the midst of which was erected a wooden Edifice; having round about the roof a glorious Crown, and standing upon seven Columns; within it were formed six Sepulchers, and by each of them a stone; but in the middle it had a round hollow rising stone: In these Graves the Coffins were quietly and with many Ceremonies layed: The Stones were shoved over them, and they shut fast. But the little Chest was to lye in the the middle. Herewith were my Companions deceived, for they imagined no other but that the Dead Corps were there: Upon the top of all there was a great Flag, having a Phœnix painted on it, perhaps therewith the more to delude us. Here I had great occasion to thank God that I had seen more then the rest. Now after the Funerals were done, the Virgin having placed her selfe upon the middle-most Stone, made a short Oration, That we should be constant to our ingagements and not repine at the pains we were hereafter to undergo, but be helpfull in restoring the present buried Royal Persons to Life again, and therefore therefore without delay to rise up with her, to make a Journey to the Tower of Olympus, to fetch from thence Medicines usefull & necessary for this purpose. This we soon agreed to and followed her through another little door quite to the Shore.

There the seven forementioned Ships stood all empty; on which all the Virgins stuck up their Laurel Branches, and after they had distributed us in the six ships, they caused us in Gods name; thus to begin our Voyage and looked upon us as long as they could have us in sight, after which they with all the watchmen returned into the Castle. Our ships Virgines remanent in arce.

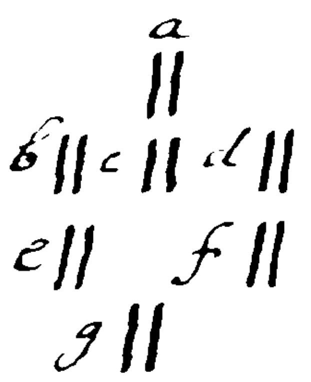
Our Ships had each of them a peculiar device. Five of them indeed had the five regular Bodies, each a severall one, but mine in which the Virgin too sate, carried a Globe. Thus we sayled on in a singular order, and each had only two Marriners.



Foremost went the Ship (a) in which as I conceive the Moor lay, in this were twelve Musitians who played excellently well, its device was a Pyramid. Next followed three abreast, b, c, and d, in which we were disposed, I sate in (c.) In the midst behinde these came the two fairest & stateliest Ships, e, and f, stuck about with many many Branches of Laurel, having no Passengers in them; Their Flags were the Sun and Moon. But in the rear only one Ship (g) in this were Forty Virgins 40 Virgines comites.

Now being thus passed over this Lake, we first came through a narrow Arm, into the right Sea, where all the Syrens, Nymphs, and Sea Goddesses had attended us; wherefore they imediately dispatched a Sea Nymph to us to deliver their Present and Offering of Honour to the Wedding. It was a costly, great, set, round, and Orient Pearl; the like to which hath not at any time been seen, either in ours or yet in the New World.

Now

Now the Virgin having friendly received it, the Nymph further intreated that audience might be given to their Divertisements, and to make a little stand, which the Virgin was content to do, and comanded the two great Ships to stand into the middle and with the rest to incompass them in Pentagon, thus

They having with most admirable concent and melody finished this Song, I no more wondered at Ulisses for stopping the ears of his Companions; for I seemed to my-selfe selfe the most unhappy man alive that Nature had not made me too so trim a Creature. But the Virgin soon dispatched them, and comanded to set Sail from thence; where-fore the Nymphs too after they had been presented with a long red Scarff for a Gratuity; went off, and dispersed themselves in the Sea.

The Nymphs are rewarded.

I was at this time sensible, that Cupid began to work with me too, which yet tended but very little to my credit, and for as much as my giddiness will profit none I am resolved to let it rest as it is. This was the very wound I received on the Head in a Dream: and let every one take warning by me of loitering about

After some hours, having in friendly Discourses made a good way, we came within Ken of the Tower of Olympus, wherefore the Virgin comanded by the Discharge of some Pieces to give the Signal of our approach, which was also done; and imediately we espied a great white Flag;

Turris Olympi. thrust out and a small gilded Pinnace sent forth to meet us. Now as soon as this was come to us, we perceived in it a very antient Custos. man, the Warden of the Tower, with certain Guards cloathed in white of whom we were friendly received, and so conducted to the Tower. This Tower was situated upon an Island exactly square structura. square, which was invironed with a wall so firm and thick, that I my selfe counted two hundred

Dies. and sixty passes over. On the other side of the Wall was a fine Meadow with certain little Gardens, in which grow strange, and to me unknown, Fruits; and then again an inner wall round about the Tower. The Tower of it selfe was just as if seven round Towers had been built one by another, yet the middle most, was somewhat the higher, and within they all entred one into another, and had seven storys one above another. Being thus come to the Gates of the Tower we were led a little aside on the Wall, that so as I well observed observed, the Coffins might be brought into the Tower without our taking notice; of this the rest knew nothing. This being done, we were which albeit it were excellently painted, yet we had here little recreation, for this was Labores hospitum nothing but a Laboratory, where we were fain to beat and wash Plants, and precious stones, & all sorts of Things, and extract their juice and essence, and put up the same in Glasses, and deliver them to be laid up. And truly our Virgin was so busie with us, and so full of her Directions, that she knew how to give each of us Employment enough, so that in this Island

Island we were fain to be meer drudges, till we had atcheived all that was necessary for the restoring of the Beheaded Bodies. Mean time (as I afterward understood) three Virgins were in the first Apartment washing the Corps with all Diligence. Now having at length almost done with this our preparation, nothing a little draught of wine, whereby I well observed, that we were not here for our pleasure; for when we had finished our days Lectus tenuis. work too, every one had only a Mattress laid on the Ground for him, wherewith we were to content our selves./

For my part I was not very much troubled with sleep, and therefore walked out into the Garden and at length came as far as the wall; and because the Heaven was at that time very clear, I could well drive away the time in contemplating the Stars; By chance I came to a great pair of Stone-Stairs, which led up to the top of the Wall. And because the Moon shone very bright, I was so much the more confident, and went up, and looked too a little upon the Sea which was now exceeding calm; and thus having good opportunity, to consider better of Astronomy, I found that this present night there would happen such a Conjunction of the Planets, the like to which was not

was not otherwise suddenly to be observed.

Now having looked a good while into the Sea, and it being just about Midnight as soon as it had struck Twelve; I beheld from far the seven Flames passing over Sea hitherward, and betaking themselves to the top of the Spire of the Tower. This made me somewhat affraid; for as soon as the Flames had setled themselves, the Winds arose; and began to make the Sea very Tempestuous. The Moon also was covered with Clouds, and my Joy ended with such fear, that I had scarce time enough to hit upon the stairs again and betake my selfe again to the Tower.

Now whether the Flames tarried any Longer, or passed away again. I cannot say. For in this obscurity I durst no more venture abroad: So I laid me down upon my Mattress, and there being besides in the Laboratory a pleasant and gently purling Fountain I fell asleep somuch the sooner And thus this Fifth Day too was concluded with Wonders.

[illegible]ine [illegible] dubious opinions.

Next morning, after we had awaked one another, we sate together a while to discourse what Might yet be the Event of things. For some were of opinion that they should all be inlivened again together. Others contradicted it; because the decease of the Antients was not only to restore Life, but increase too to the young ones. Some imagined that they were not put to Death, but that others were beheaded in their stead. We having now talked together a pretty things were ready, and the Prayers brought done he placed all the Glasses together, and put them in Pueri armiferi. a case. Presently some certain youths bringing with them some Ladders, Ropes, and large Wings which they laid down before us and departed.

Then the old Man began thus My Dear Sons, one of these three things must each of you this day constantly bear about with him. Now it is free for you either to make a choice of one of them, or to cast Lotts about it. We replyed we sors. we would chuse. Nay said he let it rather go by Lot. Hereupon he made three little Schedules, in one he writ Ladder, on the second Rope, on the third Wings; These he laid in an Hat, and each man must draw, and whatever he happned upon that was to be his. Those who got the Ropes, imagined themselves to be in the best case, but I chanced on a Ladder which hugely afflicted me, for it was twelve foot long, and pretty weighty, and I must be forced to carry it, whereas the others could handsomly coyle their Ropes about them: and as for the Wings, the old man joyned them so neatly on to the third sort, as if they had grown upon them.

Hereupon

Hereupon he turned the Cock, and then the Fountain ran no longer, and we were fain to remove it from the middle out of the way.

After all things were carried off he taking with him the Casket with the Glasses, took leave, and locked the Door fast after him, so that we imagined no other, but that we had been imprisoned in this Tower.

Ascensus in 2. Conclave

But it was hardly a quarter of an hour before a round Hole at the very top was uncovered, where we saw our Virgin, who called to us, and bad us Good morrow, desiring us to come up. They with the Wings were instantly above through the Hole. Only they with the Ropes were in evil plight. For as soon as ever one of us was up, he was comanded to draw up the Ladder to him. At last each Mans rope was hanged on an Iron Hook, so every one was fain to climb up by his Rope as well as he could which indeed was not compassed without Blisters.

Restis difficultes

Now as soon as we were all well up, the Hole was again covered, and we were friendly received by the Virgin. This Room was the whole breadth of the Tower it selfe, having six very stately Vestries a little raised above the Room, and to be entred by the Ascent of three Steps.

Descriptio 2. Conclav:

In these Vestries we were distributed there to pray for the life of the King and Queens Queen, mean while the Virgin went in and-out at the little Door (a) till we had done.

For as soon as our Process was absolved there was brought in and placed in the middle—through the little Door, by twelve persons—(which were formerly our Musitians) a wonder: full thing of a longish shape, which my Companions took only to be a Fountain. But I well observed that the Corps lay in it, for the inner chest was of an ovall Figure, so large that six persons might well lye in it one by another most delicate noise of Musick. The Virgin—carried a little Casket, but the rest only Branches and small Lamps, and some too lighted Torches.

The Torches were imediately given into our Hands, and we were to stand about the—Fountain in this Order.

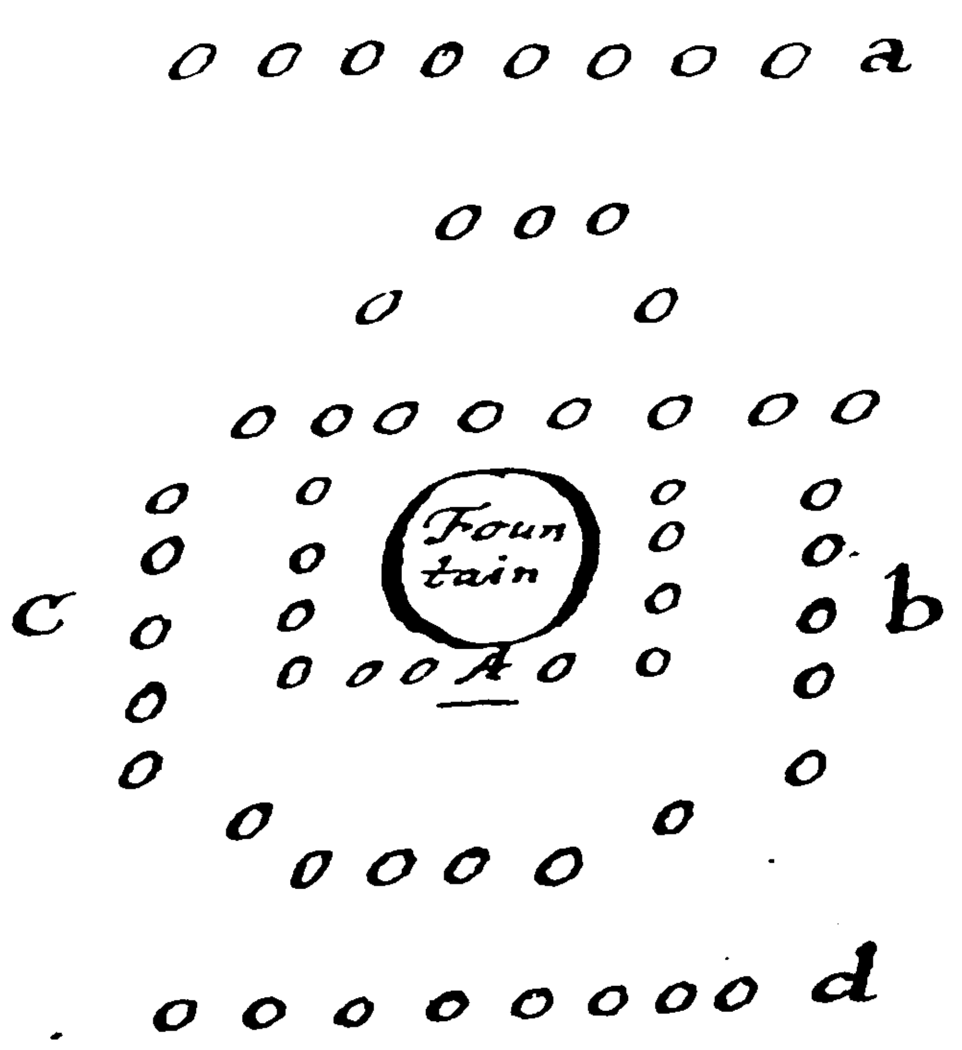
Ordo Chori.



First stood the Virgin (A) with her attendants in a Ring with the Lamps and branches (c) next

next stood we with our Torches (b,) then the Musitians (a) in a long rank, last of all the rest of the Virgins (d.) in another long rank too. Now whence the Virgins came, or whether they dwelt in the Castle, or whether they were brought in by night, I know not virgines unde. } for all their Faces were covered with delicate white Linnen, so that I could not know any Quid in arcula. } of them. Hereupon the Virgin opened the Casket in which there was a round thing wrapped up in a peece of green double Taffata. This she layd in the uppermost Kettle, and then covered it with the lid, which was full of holes and had besides a rim, on which she poured poured in some of the Water which we had the day before prepared, whence the Fountain began immediately to run, and through four small pipes to drive into the little Kettle; beneath the undermost Kettle there were many sharp points, on which the Virgins stuck their Lamps, that so the heat might come to the Kettle, and make the water seeth.

Now the water beginning to simper by many little holes, it fell in upon the Bodies, and was so hot, that it dissolved them all, and turned them into Liquor. But what the above said round wrapt up thing was, my Companions knew not, but I understood that it was it was the Moors head, from which the water conceived so great heat. Round about the great Kettle there were many holes in which they stuck their Branches; now whether this was done of necessity, or only for Ceremony I know not; However these Branches were continually besprinkled by the Fountain whence it afterwards dropt somewhat of a deeper Yealow into the Kettle. This lasted for near two hours, that the ffountain still constantly ran of it selfe; but yet the longer the fainter it was. Mean time the Musitians went their way, and we walked up and down in the Room and truely Rami Laudes.

Deliciæ in Conclavi

truely the Room was so made that we had opportunity enough to passe away our the time: There was for Images, Paintings, Clockworks, Organs, Springing Fountains, and the like nothing forgotten.

Now it was now the time that the Fountain ceased, and would run no longer: upon which the Virgin comanded a round Golden Globe to be brought. But at the bottom of the Fountain there was a Tap, by which she let out all the matter that was dissolved by those hot drops (whereof certain Quarts were then very red) into the Globe. The rest of the Water which remained above in the Kettle Kettle was poured out. And so this Fountain (which was now become much lighter) was again carried forth. Now whether it was opened abroad, or whether any thing of the Bodies that was further usefull, yet remained, I dare not certainly say: But this I know that the Water that was emptied into the Globe was much heavier than six, or yet more of us were well able to bear, albeit for its bulk it should have seemed not too heavy for one man.

Gravitas Aquæ.

Now this Globe being with much ado gotten out of Doors, we again sate alone. But I perceived a trampling over head, had an eye to my to my Ladder. Here one might take notice of the strange opinions my Companions had concerning this Fountain: For they not imagining but that the Bodies lay in the Garden of the Castle, knew not what to make of this kind of working, but I thanked God that I awaked in so opportune a time, & saw that which helped me the better in all the Virgins businesse:

Autor solus novit verè quæ agerentur.

After one quarter of an hour the Cover above was again lifted of and we Comanded to come up, which was done as before with Wings, Ladders, & Ropes. And it did not a little vex me, that whereas the Virgins could could go up another way we were fain to take so much toil; yet I could well judge there must be some special reason in it, and we must leave somewhat for the old man to do too. For even those with the Wings had no advantage by them but when they were to mount through the Hole. Now being gotten up thither also, and the Hole shut again, I saw the Globe hanging by a strong Chain in the middle of the Room.

Descriptio Conclavis.

In this Room was nothing else but meer Windowes, and still between two Windowes there was a Door which was covered with nothing but a great polished Looking Glasse, and these Windowes Artificial Optics.

Windowes and Looking-Glasses were so optically opposed one to another that although the Sun (which now shined exceeding bright) beat only upon one door, yet (after the Windowes towards the Sun were opened, and the Doors before the Looking-Glasses drawn aside) in all quarters of the Room there was nothing but Suns, wch by artificial Refractions beat upon the whole golden Globe hanging in the midst; and for as much as the same (besides that bright=ness) was polished, it gave such a Lustre, that none of us could open our Eyes, but were therefore forced to look out at Windowes till the Globe was well heated, and brought to the the desired effect. Here I may well avow that in those Mirrours I have seen the most wonderfull Spectacle that ever Nature brought to light; for there were Suns in all places, & the Globe in the middle shined yet brighter, so that, but for one twinkling of an Eye, we could no more indure it then the Sun it selfe. At length the Virgin comanded to shut up the Looking Glasses again, and to make fast the Windowes, and so let the Globe cool again a little; and this was done about seven of the Clock Wherefore we thought good, since we might now have leasure a little to refresh our selves with a Breakfast; This Treatment again again was right Philosophical, and we had no needs to be afraid of Intemperance, yet we had no want, and the hope of this future Joy (with which the Virgin continually comforted us) made us so jocond that we regarded not any pains or inconveniences. And this I can truely say too concerning my Companions of high quality, that their minds never ran after their Kitchin or Table, but their pleasure was only to attend upon this adventurous Physick, and hence to Contemplate the Creators Wisdom & omnipotency.

After we had taken our Refection, we again setled our selves to work, for the Globe was sufficiently sufficiently cooled; which with toil and labour we were to lift off the Chain and set upon the Floor. Now the dispute was how to get the Globe in sunder, for we were demanded to divide the same in the midst. The Conclusion was that a sharp pointed Diamond would best do it. Now when we had thus opened the Globe, there was nothing of redness more to be seen, but a lovely great snow white Egg: It most mightily rejoyced us, that this was so well brought to passe.

Resolutio Globi.

For the Virgin was in perpetual care least the Shell might still be too tender. We stood round about this Egg as jocond as if we our selves had laid it. But the Virgin made it presently presently be carried forth, and departed her self too from us again, and (as always) locked the Door too. But what she did abroad with the Egg, or whether it were some way privately handled, I know not, neither do I believe it. Yet we were again to pause together for one quarter of an hour, till the third hole were opened, and we by means of our Instruments were come upon the fourth Stone or Floor.

In this Room we found a great Copper Kettle filled with yealow Sand, which was warmed with a gentle Fire, afterwards the Egg was raked up in it, that it might therein come to perfect was in it soon freed himselfe and showed himselfe very jocond yet he looked very Bloody and unshapen: We first set him upon the warm sand, so the Virgin comanded that before we gave him any thing to eat, we should be sure to make him fast, otherwise he would give us all work enough.

Pascitur sanguine decollatorum.

This being done too food was brought him; which surely was nothing else than the Blood of the Beheaded, deluted again with prepared water, by which the Bird grew so fast under our Eyes, that we well saw why the Virgin gave us such warning of him. He bit and scratcht so devillishly about him, that could he have had his his will upon any of us, he would soon — have dispatched him. Now he was wholly black and wild, wherefore other meat was brought, perhaps the Blood of another of the Royal persons, whereupon all his black Feathers moulted again, and instead of them there grew out Snow white Feathers. He was somewhat tamer too, and suffered him=selfe to be more tractable; never the less — we did not yet trust him. At the third feeding his Feathers began to be so curiously coloured that in all my Life I never saw the — like colours for beauty. He was also exceeding tame, and behaved himself so friendly with us, us, that (the Virgin consenting) we released — him from his Captivity. 'Tis now reason (began our Virgin) since by your dilligence and the — old mans consent, the Bird has attaind both his — life; and the highest Perfection, that he be also — joyfully consecrated by us.

Herewith she comanded to bring in Dinner, and — that we should again refresh our selves, since the most troublesome part of our Work was now over, and it was fit we should begin to — enjoy our passed Labours. We began to make our selves merry together. Howbeit we had still all our Mourning Clothes on, which seemed somewhat reproachfull to our Mirth.

Now the Virgin was perpetually inquisitive, perhaps to find to which of us her future purpose might prove servicable. But her discourse was for the most part about melting; and it pleased her well when any one seemed expert in such compendious Manuals, as do peculiarly comend an Artist. This Dinner lasted not above three quarters of an hour, which we yet for the most part spent with our Bird, whom we were fain constantly to feed with his Meate: But he still continued much at the same growth. After Dinner we were not long suffered to ~~dig~~ digest our meat; but after that the Virgin together with the Bird was departed from us. The fifth Room was ~~[illegible]~~ set open to us, whither we got to after the former manner and tendred our services.

5. Conclaves.

In this Room a Bath was prepared for our Bird, which was so coloured with a fine white Powder, that it had the appearance of mere milk. Now it was at first cool when the Bird was set into it: He was mighty well pleased with it, drinking of it, and pleasantly sporting in it. But after it began to heat by reason of the Lamps that were placed under it, we had enough to do to keep him in the Bath. We therefore clapt a Cover on the Kettle and and suffered him to thrust his head out through a Hole, till he had in this sort lost all his Feathers in this Bath, and was as smooth as a new born Child, yet the heat did him no further harm, at which I much marvelled; For in this Bath the Feathers were quite consumed, and the Bath was thereby tinged into blew; at length we gave the Bird air, who of himselfe sprung out of the Kettle and was so glitteringly smooth, that it was a pleasure to behold it.

But because he was still somewhat wild, we vincitur. were fain to put a Collar with a Chain about his Neck & led him up & down the Room.
Mean time a strong Fire was made under the Kettle,

~~Avis~~ Balneum coquitur in lapidem } Kettle, and the ~~Bird~~ Bath sodden away till it all came to a blew Stone, which we took out, and having first pounded it, we were afterwards fain to grind it on a Stone; and finally with this Colour to paint the Birds whole skin over: Now he lookt much more strangely, for he was all blew except the Head which remained white.
Herewith our Work on this Story too was performed; And we (after the Virgin with her blew Bird was departed from us) were called 6. Conclave. up through the Hole to the sixth Story; which was done too, there we were mightily troubled, for in the midst a little Altar, every way like that in the Kings Hall above described, described, was placed. Upon which stood the six forementioned particulars, and he himselfe (the Bird) made the seventh.

First of all the little Fountain was set before him, out of which he drunk a good draught; afterwards he pecked upon the white Serpent untill she bled mightily. This Blood we were to receive into a Golden Cup and pour it down the Birds throat, who was mighty averse from it, then we dipt the Serpents head in the Fountain, upon which she again revived and crept into her Deaths head, so that I saw her no more for a long time after.

Mean time the Sphere turned constantly on until

until it made the desired Conjunction.

Immediately the Watch struck one; upon which there was a going another Conjunction. Then the Watch struck two. Finaly while we were observing the third Conjunction, and the same was Indicated by the Watch, the poor Bird of himselfe submissively laid down his Neck upon the Book, and willingly suffred his head (by one of us thereto chosen by Lot) to be smitten off. How be it he yielded not one drop of blood, till he was opened on the breast, & then the Blood spun out so fresh and clear as if it had been a Fountain of Rubies.

His Death went to the heart of us, and yet we might might well judge, that a naked bird would stand us in little stead. So we let it rest, and removed the little Altar away, and assisted the Virgin to burn the Body (together with the little Tablet hanging by) to Ashes, with fire kindled at the little Taper; afterwards to cleanse the same several times, and to lay them in a Box of Cypress wood.

Jocus. 1 Here, I cannot conceale what a trick I and three more were served; after we had thus diligently taken up the Ashes. The Virgin began to speake thus. My Lords, we are here in the sixth Room, and have only one more before us, in which our trouble will be at an end, and then we shall shall returne home again to our Castle, to awaken our most gracious Lords and Ladies. Now albeit I could heartily wish, that all of you, as you are here together, had behaved your selves in such sort, that I might have given you Commendations to our most renowned King and Queen, and you have obtained a suitable Reward; yet because, contrary to my desire, I have found amongst you these four (here with she pointed at me & three more) lazy and sluggish Labourators, and yet according to my good will to all and every one, am not willing to deliver them up to condign punishment; However that such negligence may may not remain wholly unpunished, I am purposed thus concerning them that they shall only be excluded from the future Seventh and most Glorious action of all the rest, and so too they shall incur no further blame from their Royal Majesties.

In what a case we now were at this Speech, I leave others to consider: ffor the Virgin so well know how to keep her Countenance; that the Water soon ran over our Baskets, and we esteemed our Selves the most unhappy of all men.

After this the Virgin by one of her Maids (whereof there were many always at hand) caused caused the Musitians to be fetcht, who were with Cornets to blow us out of Doors with such scorn and derision that they themselves could hardly sound for laughing. But it did particularly mightily afflict us, that ye Virgin so vehemently laughed at our weeping, anger and impatience, and that there might well perhaps be some amongst our Companions who were glad of this our missfortune. But it proved otherwise.

Comodum & joco. } For as soon as we were come out at the door, the Musitians bid us be of good cheer

7. Conclave./ and follow them up the winding stairs; They led us up to the seventh Floor under under the Roof, where we found the old man — whom we had not hitherto seen standing upon a little round Furnace. He received us friendly and heartily congratulated us, that we were — here so chosen by the Virgin; but after he — understood the affright we had conceived, his belly was ready to burst with Laughter, that we had taken such good Fortune so hainously. Hence said he, my Dear Sons learn, That man never knoweth how well God intendeth him. During this Discourse, the Virgin — also with her little Box came running in, who — (after she had sufficiently laughed at us) — emptied her Ashes out into another Vessel, and filled hers again with other matter, saying she must now go to cast a mist before the other Artists — Eyes, that we in the mean time should obey the old Lord in whatsoever he comanded us, and not remit our former diligence.

7. Conclave.

Herewith she departed from us into the seventh Room whither she called our Companions. — Now what she first did with them there, I — cannot tell, for they were not only most earnestly forbidden to speak of it, but we too by reason of our business, durst not peep on them — through the Cieling. But this was our work.

we were to moisten the Ashes with our fore-prepared water till they became altogether like like a very thin Dough. After which we set the matter over the Fire, till it was well heated then we cast it thus hot as it was into two little forms or moulds, and so let it cool a little (here we had leasure to look a while upon our Companions through certain Crevises made in the floor) they were now very busie at a Furnace; and each was himselfe fain to blow up the Fire with a Pipe, and they stood thus blowing about it, as if they were ready to loose their breath. Howbeit they imagined they were herein wondrously preferred before us. And this blowing lasted so long till our old Man roused us to our work again; So that I cannot say what was done afterwards

We having opened our little forms, there appeared two beautifull bright and almost Transparent little Images, the like to which mans eye never saw, a Male and a Female, each of them only four inches long; and that which most mightily surprised me, was that they were not hard but limber and fleshy, as other humane bodies, yet had they no Life: So that I do most assuredly believe that the Lady Venus's Image was also made after some such way.

Homunculi duo.

These Angelically fair Babes we first laid laid upon two little Sattin Cushonets, and beheld them a good while till we were almost besotted upon so exquisite an object.

Pascuntur sanguine avis —

The old Lord warned us to forbear, & continually to instill the Blood of the Bird (which had been received into a little Golden Cup) drop after drop into the mouths of the little Images, from whence they apparently to the eye encreased; and whereas they were before very small, they were now (according to proportion) much more beautifull; so that worthily all Limners ought to have been there, and have been ashamed of their Art in respect of these productions of Nature.

Now

Now they began to grow so big, that we lifted them from the little Cushonets, and were fain to lay them upon a long Table which was covered with white velvet. The old man also comanded us to cover them over up to the Breast with a fine white double Taffata, which because of their unspeakable beauty, almost went against us; but that I may be brief, before we had in this manner quite spent the blood they were already in their perfect full growth, they had Gold-yellow curled Hair, and the above mentioned figure of Venus was nothing to them. But there was not yet

any

any natural warmth or sensibility in them, they were dead Figures, yet of a lively and natural Colour: and since care was to be taken that they grew not too great, the old man would not permit any thing more to be given them, but quite covered their Faces too with the Silk, and caused the Table to be stuck round about with Torches. But here I would not have you imagine that these Lights were of necessity, for the old mans intent hereby was only that we should not flames; However, I ~~but~~ permitted the other down on a Bench over against the Table: presently the Virgin came in too with managed under the roof, which was wonderfully it was directed just against the forementioned looked upon the Images; but I had other thoughts; For as soon as the foliage or with this Device my Companions were deluded, so that they imagined that life came into the Image by means of the fire of the foliage, for as soon as he received the Soul he twinckled with his eyes, howbeit he scarce stirred. The second time he placed another Tube upon its Mouth, and kindled it again, and the Soul was let down through the Tube. This was repeated upon each of them three times, after which all the Lights were extinguished and carried away. The Velvet Carpets of the Table were cast together over them, and imediately a travilling Bed was unlocked unlocked and made ready, into which thus wrapped up they were born, and so after the Carpets were taken off them, they were neatly laid by each other, where with the Curtains drawn before them they slept a good while. (Now was it also time for the Virgin to see how our other Artists behaved themselves, they were well pleased, because (as the Virgin afterwards informed me) they were to work in Gold, which is indeed a piece also of this Art but not the most Principal, most necessary and best: They had indeed too a part of those Ashes, so that they imagined no-one with another stepped aside a little, & permitted them both somewhat better to recruit themselves, mean time playing his tricks with us; and at length he would needs have the Musick fetcht to be somewhat the merrier. Not long after the Virgin her selfe comes: And after she had most humbly saluted the young King, and Queen (who found themselves somewhat faint) and kissed their hands, she brought them the two forementioned Garments, which they put on and so stepped forth.

Now there were already prepared two very curious Chairs, wherein they placed them selves selves: and so were by us with most profound Reverence congratulated; for which the King in his own person most gratiously returned his thanks, and again re-assured us of all Grace. It was already about five of the Clock, wherefore they could make no longer stay: but as soon as ever the choicest of their furniture, could be laden, we were to attend the young Royal Persons down the winding Stairs, through all Doors and watches unto the Ship, in which, they imbarqued themselves, together with certain Virgins, and Cupid, and sailed so mighty swift that we soon lost sight of them, yet they were met (as I was informed) by certain stately Ships; Thus in four Hours time they had made many Leagues out at Sea. After five of the clock the Musitians were charged to carry all things back again to the Ships, and to make themselves ready for the voyage. But because this was somewhat long a doing, the old Lord comanded forth a party of his concealed Soldiers, who had hitherto been planted in the wall, so that we had taken no notice of any of them, whereby I observed that this Tower was well provided against opposition Custos Senex.

Now these Soldiers made quick work with our stuffe, so that no more remained further to be done but to go to Supper.

Now the ~~[illegible]~~ Table being compleatly furnished, the Virgin brings us again to our Companions where we were to carry our selves, as if we had truely been in a Lamentable condition, and forbear laughing. But they were always smiling one upon another, howbeit some of them too simpathized with us. At this Supper the old Lord was with us too, who was a most sharp Inspector over us: For none could propound any thing so discreetly, but that he knew, how either to confute it, or amend it, or at least to give some good document upon it. I learned most by this Lord, and it were were very good that each one would apply himselfe to him, and take notice of his procedure, for then things would not so often and so untowardly miscarry.

The old Mans Closets.

After we had taken our Nocturnal refection, the old Lord led us into his Closets of Rarities, which were here and there dispersed amongst the Bulwarks, where we saw such wonderfull productions of Nature, and other things too which Mans wit in imitation of nature had invented, that we needed a Year more sufficiently to survey them: Thus we spent a good part of the Night by Candle-Light. At last, because we were more inclined to sleep then see many Rarities we we were more inclined to sleep than see many rarities, we were lodged in Rooms in the Wall where we had not only costly good Beds, but also besides extraordinary handsom Chambers, which made us the more wonder why we were the Day before forced to undergo so many hardships. In this Chamber I had good rest, and being for the most part without care, and weary with continual Labour, the gentle rushing of the Sea helping me to sound and sweet sleep, For I continued in one Dreame from 11 of ye clock ~~at night~~ till 8 in the Morning.

The seventh Day

After eight of the clock I awaked, and quickly made my selfe ready, being desirous to returne again into the Tower, but the dark passages in the Wall were so many, & various, that I wandred a good while before I could find the way out. The same happned to the rest too, till at last we all met again in the nethermost Vault, and Habits entirely yellow were given us, together with golden Fleeces.

At that time the Virgin declared to us that we were Knights of the Golden Stone, of which

After we had now thus made our selves ready, and taken our Breakfast, the old man presented each of us with a Medal of Gold, on the one side stood these words.

On the other side these,

In the first the Musitians seated themselves, of which the old Lord had also a great Number, they sailed before us to shorten the time.

Our Flags were the twelve Celestial Signs, and we sate in Libra; besides other things our Ship had also a noble and curious Clock, which shewed us all the Minutes. The Sea too was so calm, that it was a singular pleasure to sail.

But

the old Mans discourse, who so well knew how to passe away our time with wonderfull Histories, that I could have been content to sail with him all my Life long.

Obviatio ex arce. Mean time the Ships passed on amain, for before we had sailed two hours the Mariner told us that he already saw the whole Lake almost covered with Ships, by which we could conjecture they were come out to meet us, which also proved true: For as soon, as we were gotten out of the Sea into sate the King and Queen, together with other

As soon as they were well in Ken of us the peeces were discharged on both sides,

Shalms and Kettle Drums, that all the Ships upon the Sea capered again. Finally, as soon as we came near they brought about our Ships together, and so made a stand, imediately the old Atlas stepped forth on were in readiness. The rest of my Companions were in an huge amazement, whence this King should arise, for they imagined no other but that they must again awaken him. We suffered them to continue in their wonderment, and carried our selves as if it seemed strange to us too.

Atlanti respondet Senex.

After Atlas's oration out steps our old man, making somewhat a larger Reply, wherein he wished the King and Queen all happiness and increase, after which he delivered up a curious small Casket, but what was in it, I know not; only it was committed to Cupid who hovered between them both to keep.

Keep. After the Oration was finished, they again let off a joyfull volle of shot, and so we sailed on a good time together, till at length we arrived at another Shore. This was near the first Gate at which I first entered: At this place again there attended a great Multitude of the Kings Family together with some hundreds of Horses.

Now as soon as we were come to shore, and disembarqued, the King and Queen presented their hands to all of us one with another with singular Kindness; and so we were to get up on Horse-back.

I would desire that you would not interpret the following Narration to any vain glory or pride of mine but to credit me thus far, that if there had not been a special necessity in it, I could very well have utterly concealed this honour which was shewed me.

Honor delatus Autori cum Seno equitat juxta Regem.

We were all one after another distributed amongst the Lords. But our old Lord and I most unworthy, were to ride even with the King, each of us bearing a snow-white Ensign with a Red Cross: I indeed was made use of because of my Age; for we both had long grey Beards, and hair. I had besides fastned my tokens round about about my Hat of which the young King soon took notice; and demanded if I were he, who could at the Gate redeem these tokens? I answered in most humble manner, Yea. but he laughed on me; saying, There henceforth needed no Ceremony; I was HIS Father.

Pater.

Then he asked me; Wherewith I had redeemed them? I Replied, with Water and Salt: Whereupon he wondred who had made me so wise; upon which I grew somewhat more confident, and recounted unto him how it had happened to me with my Bread, the Dove, and the Raven, and he was pleased with it, and said expressly, That it must needs be, that that God had herein vouchsafed me a singular happiness. Herewith we came to the first Gate where the Porter with the blew Cloaths waited, who bare in his hand a Supplication. Now as soon as he spied me even with the King he delivered me the Supplication, most humbly beseeching me to mention his Ingenuity towards me before the King: Now in the first place

Primus Custos quis? Ob visam Venerem factus Portitor.

I demanded of the King, what the Condition of this Porter was? who friendly answered me, That he was a very famous and rare Astrologer, and always in high regard with the Lord his Father. But having on a time comitted a fault against Venus, and beheld her in her bed of rest; this punishment was therefore imposed upon him, that he should so long wait at the first Gate, till some one should release him from thence. I replied, may he then be Released? Yes, said the King, if any one can be found that hath as highly transgressed as himselfe, he must stand in his stead, and the other shall be free.

Autor ejusdem delicti reus proditur a portitore.

This word went to my heart, for my Conscience convinced me that I was the offender, yet I held my peace, and herewith delivered the Supplication. As soon as he had read it, he was mightily terrified, so that the Queen who (with our Virgins, and that other Queen

But he had no mind that he should take notice of it, but putting up the paper, began to discourse of other matters, till thus in about three hours time we came quite to the Castle; where we allighted, and waited upon the King into his foremontioned Hall. Imediately the King called for the old Atlas to come to him in a little Closset, and showed him the Writing, who made no long tarying but rid out again to the Porter to take better

Then began our Virgin highly to comend the diligence we had used, and the pains and labour we had undergone, requesting we might be Royaly rewarded, and that she hence forward might be permitted to enjoy the benefit of her Comission. Then the old Lord stood up too and attested that all that the Virgin had spoken was true, and that it was but equity that we should on both parts be contented. Hereupon we were to step out a little; and it was Because Venus was already uncovered by one of his Guests, for his Observations could not lie to him. And that if his Majesty would please to make a strict and diligent enquiry, he would find that find that she had been uncovered, and in case this should not prove so to be; he would be content to remain before the Gate all days of his life. Then he sued in the most humble manner, that upon peril of Body and Life he might be permitted to be present at this Nights supper, he was in good hopes to spye out the very Offender, and obtain his wished freedom.

This was expressly and handsomly indicted, by which I could well perceive his Ingenuity, but it was too sharp for me, and I could well have endured never to have seen it.

Now I was casting in my mind whether he might perchance be helped through my wish, so I asked asked the King, whether he might not be released some other way? No, replied the King because there is a special consideration in the business. However, for this Night, we may well gratify him in his desire; so he sent one forth to fetch him in Triclinium praeciosissimu.

Mean time the Tables were prepared in a spatious Room, in which we had never been before; which was so compleat, and in such manner contrived, that it is not possible for me only to begin to describe it. Into this we were conducted with singular Pomp, and Ceremony. Cupid was not at this time the Supplication which was delivered were an occasion of much sadness, for the King, was in perplexity how to make Inquisition amongst his Guests, — and the more because thus even they too, who were yet ignorant of the matter, would come to the knowledge of it. So he caused the Porter himselfe, who was already come, to make his — strict survey, and showed himselfe as pleasant as — he was able: Howbeit at length they began — again to be merry, and to bespeak one another — with all sorts of recreative and profitable discourses. Now how the treatment and other Ceremonies — were then performed, it is not necessary to declare — since it is not serviceable to my design.

But all exceeded more in Art, then that we were — overcharged with drinking. And this was the — last, and noblest Meal at which I was present. After the Banquet, the Tables were suddenly taken away, and certain curious Chairs placed round about in circle; in which we together with the King and Queen, both their old — Men, the Ladies and Virgins were to sit. After which a very handsome page opened the abovementioned glorious Book. when Atlas imediately placing himself in the — midst began to bespeak us to the ensuing — purpose. him and how carefully we had attended our duty, and therefore by way of retribution had elected all and each of us Knights of the Golden Stone. That it was therefore further necessary not only once again to oblige our selves towards his Royal Majesty, but to vow too upon the following Articles, And then his Royal Majesty would likewise know how to behave himselfe towards his Liedge people. Upon which he caused the page to read over the Articles which were these.

I. You my Lords the Knights shall swear, that you shall at no time ascribe your Order either unto any Devil, or Spirit, but only to God your Creator, —

Creator and his handmaid Nature.

II. That you will Abominate all Whoredome, Incontinency and Uncleaness, and not defile your Order with such vices.

III. That you through your Talents will be ready to assist all that are worthy, and have need of them.

IV. That you desire not to employ this Honour to worldly Pride, and high Authority.

V. That you shall not be willing to live longer then God will have you.

At this last Article we could not choose but laugh sufficiently, and it may well have been placed after the rest, only for a conceit. Now

The King and the rest of the Lords wondered mightily at so unhoped for confession, and so wished me to step aside a little. Now as soon as I was called for in again, Atlas declared to me, that although it were grievous yet because it was not possible for him to However, no release was to be hoped for till the Marriage feast of his future Son.

This Sentence had near cost me my life, & I first hated my self and my twatling tongue, in that I could not hold my peace; yet at last I took courage, and because I considered there was no remedy I related how this Porter had bestowed a Token on me and commended me to the other, by whose assistance assistance I stood upon the Scale, and so was made Partaker of all the honour and joy already received.

And therefore now it was but equal that I should show my selfe gratefull to my Benefactor: and because the same could no way else be done, I returned thanks for the Sentence, and was willing gladly to sustain some inconvenience for his sake who had been helpfull to me in Coming to so high a place.

But if by my wish any thing might be effected, I wished my self at home again, and that so he by me, and I by my wish might be at Liberty.

but that I must finish my Life under the Gate.

I had also many pensive Thoughts running up and down in my head, what I should yet undertake, and wherewith to spend the time, at length I considered that I was now old, and according to the Course of nature had few years more to live: And that this Anguish and melancholy Life would easily dispatch me, and then my Door keeping would be at an end: And that by a most happy sleep I might quickly bring my self into the Grave. I had sundry of these thoughts. Sometimes it vexed me that I had seen such gallant things and must be robbed of them. Sometimes it

Thus this was the last and worst shock that I sustained: During these my Cogitations the rest were ready.

Wherefore after they had received a good night from the King and Lords, each one was Conducted into his Lodging.

Finally the King exhorted me, that since this was now the last time I was like to see him in this manner: I should however behave my selfe according to my place; and not against the Order: Upon which he took me also in his Arms and kissed me, all which I so understood, as if in the Morning I must sit at my Gate.

Now after they had all a while spoken friendly to me, and at last presented their Hands, comitting me to the divine protection: I was by both the old Men, the Lord of the Tower, and Atlas conducted into a glorious Lodging

Ritual Invocation and Early Modern Science: the Skrying Experiments of Humphrey Gilbert

Frank Klaassen

Early in 1568 Humphrey Gilbert (1537-1583) returned to his family estate in Devon from military campaigns in Ireland where he had distinguished himself with his brutality. It was probably something of a turning point in his life. In the next few years he would put before Elizabeth I his proposal for a new academy and begin in earnest his preparations for seeking the Northwest Passage. A seventeen-year-old protégé of the Gilberts, John Davis (1550-1605), joined him. Under the guidance of the Gilbert household (including Humphrey's younger step-brother Walter Raleigh), Davis was about to embark on a path that would lead him to become one of the great navigators of his age and namesake for the Davis Strait in the Canadian North. Also present was Adrian Gilbert, Humphrey's younger brother and Davis' lifelong associate. They came together one day in February and, employing a show stone and crystals, conjured demons and sought the assistance of angels and the dead. Humphrey, the 'master,' read the prayers requesting aid from the divine, conjured the demons, and directed the operations. A variety of visions appeared in the stones, which Davis, as skryer, reported and which they recorded in detail. Some of what the spirits told him suggest he was seeking information about his own future, but his principal goal was to seek information about performing magic from creation's greatest magicians. To this end, he conjured and bound Azazel, the demon in charge of spirits of the dead, and forced him to bring them Adam, Job, Solomon, Roger Bacon, and Cornelius Agrippa. The great magi appeared and consented to help, their numbers supplemented by the un-asked-for appearances of St Luke and John the Baptist.

Humphrey Gilbert and John Davis were certainly colorful characters: enterprising, audacious, single-minded, and self-promoting men whose violent and dramatic deaths – Davis at the hands of pirates off the coast of Borneo and Gilbert off the Azores in the wreck of a ship he had been advised to leave – were apt conclusions to lives of inveterate risk taking. But one would have no reason to suspect they had such involved interests in ritual magic in the absence of a record of their activities in the British Library manuscript I discuss here and a few circumstantial clues, such as their association with John Dee and his skryers. If foolhardy and opportunistic, they were of sound mind and built significant careers in the complex world of Elizabethan politics and business. Naturally, such a situation needs no defense or explanation; a belief in the efficacy of ritual magic could hardly be considered unusual in the mid sixteenth century nor its practice sociopathic. On another level, however, their interest in ritual magic appears more puzzling.

If Gilbert and Davis do not deserve places in traditional histories of science, which tend to emphasize great discoveries, they certainly merit inclusion in more recent studies of the broader social and intellectual context in which modern science was born.[1]

[1] This shift in orientation is very widespread so I can cite only small fraction of the literature salient to the present discussion. The social organization of science has been the subject of numerous studies. See James E. McClellan III, Science Reorganized: Scientific Societies in the Eighteenth Century (New York: Columbia University Press, 1985). Michael Hunter, Establishing the New Science: The Experience of the Early Royal Society (Woodbridge: Boydell Press, 1989). The social uses and construction of science or scientific truth have been examined in a variety of ways Steven Shapin has argued that since it was rarely possible to verify experimental results their presentation had to draw upon social constructs of honour and dependability. Steven Shapin, A Social History of Truth: Civility and Science in Seventeenth-Century England (Chicago: University of Chicago Press, 1994). Eric Ash discusses the development of the role of the ‘Expert Mediator’ in the sixteenth century and how it laid the groundwork for Bacon’s conception of himself and of the role of the experimental scientist. Eric H. Ash, Power, Knowledge, and Expertise in Elizabethan England (Baltimore: Johns Hopkins University Press, 2004). Anthony Grafton and others have discussed the context and influence of humanism. Anthony Grafton and Nancy G. Siraisi, Natural Particulars: Nature and the Disciplines in Renaissance Europe, Dibner Institute Studies in the History of Science and Technology (Cambridge, Mass.: MIT Press, 1999). Numerous studies have concerned themselves with the ways in which experience was valorized, understood, and warranted. See for example,

They built careers for themselves by promoting the investigation of the natural world as useful and as an important element in state building. Through his abilities, technical innovations, and publication in the area of navigation, John Davis would come to be what Eric Ash has called an expert mediator, synthesizing practical and experientially derived knowledge with theoretical approaches.[2] Gilbert's proposal for a new academy in London reveals his approach to learning, inquiry, and experimentation as almost Baconian. In addition to being practical, skeptical, anti-scholastic, experimental in orientation, and hostile to esoteric language, he also advocates breaking down traditional boundaries among professions and between theory and practice, seeking a fruitful engagement between those theoretically included and those of a more practical bent. Following most accounts of the period one would expect those with such 'proto-scientific' interests to be attracted to the sort of magical literature concerned with natural causation, the structure of the natural world, and the mathematization of reality. Yet the standard fare of natural magic, astrological image magic, 'astral magic', secrets, magical recipes and experiments, or discourses on natural magic, seem to have been of little personal interest to Gilbert and Davis.[3] Instead they chose medieval ritual magic, particularly necromancy, a tradition regarded by most historians as a disappearing, superstitious, and utterly unscientific remnant of the middle ages.[4] This leads to two possible conclusions. Either their interest in this sort of magic was unusual, atavistic, or simply discontinuous with their scientific dispositions – a perfectly reasonable conclusion – or ritual magic was not as outmoded and irrelevant to the history of science as we have thought.

[3] Adrian Gilbert was certainly an active alchemist, but this was arguably not magic at all and, in any event, there is no evidence that Humphrey or Davis shared this interest. The common interest in alchemy and ritual magic evident in a considerable number of sixteenth- and seventeenth-century scribes and manuscript collectors, as well as well known figures like Adrian Gilbert, John Dee, and Simon Foreman, was not common before 1500. I plan to explore the significance of this change in a future article.

It will come as no surprise to readers of this collection that I wish to explore the latter possibility. Gilbert's proposal for a new academy epitomizes many of the ideas regarded as seminal to the scientific revolution. A closer comparison of his proposal with his magical operations and the traditions from which they drew reveals numerous ways in which medieval ritual magic and the intellectual culture which surrounded it conform to the intellectual predispositions and epistemological assumptions of the early scientific revolution. In fact, such strong commonalities may be found between them that this sort of magic should be regarded as quite a natural choice the sixteenth-century man of science. In turn, this should lead us to re-evaluate our assumptions both about sixteenth-century magic and science, but about the notions of magic and science in general.

Humphrey Gilbert's Operations and Medieval Ritual Magic

[4] Charles Webster epitomizes this view, arguing that "popular operative magic" or "magic as the performance of rituals aimed at controlling forces held responsible for the succession of events, slowly fell into abeyance among the intellectual elite but that the idea that "the magus might unlock the potential of occult qualities through exploiting natural magic" or in this way "gain spiritual ascendancy by transcending the limitations of the human frame." His subsequent discussion focuses almost entirely on the relationship between natural magic and medicine. Charles Webster, From Paracelsus to Newton: Magic and the Making of Modern Science (Cambridge: Cambridge University Press, 1982)., 11. A similar perspective is expressed by John Henry. "Magic is not a monolithic subject and it is important to stress that major aspects of the history of magic seem to play no role in the rise of modern science, for example, demonic magic, chiromancy, and cabala. The crucial aspects of the magical tradition for the historian of science were those encompassed by the term Natural Magic which embraced all those arts which relied upon natural lore; for example, astrology and alchemy...." John Henry, "Magic and Science in the Sixteenth and Seventeenth Century," in Companion to the History of Modern Science, ed. Robert C. Olby (London: Routledge, 1990), 583-96. This perspective is reflected in most general considerations of the subject. See the general bibliographic essay of Steven Shapin in Steven Shapin, The Scientific Revolution (Chicago, IL: University of Chicago Press, 1996), 195-200.

The operations I have described are recorded in two related manuscripts bound together in a volume with a variety of other magical works, London, British Library, MS Additional 36674.[5] The first contains a work of necromantic magic and the second a record of the visions attained through its operations, or ones very similar to them. The latter identifies the skryer as John Davis and the master as 'H. G.' Paleographic and circumstantial evidence make clear that the text was a joint effort of Adrian and Humphrey Gilbert, that the first text was probably written by Adrian, and that the second was probably a draft prepared by a secretary based on notes taken during the operations.[6] They began recording visions on February 24 and continued into April. The magical instructions, begun on March 22, were evidently written contemporaneously with the operations. Great similarity to medieval traditions (discussed in more detail below) suggest they probably had one or more necromantic manuscripts at their disposal which they employed as the basis for their operations. They also incorporated prayers and techniques derived from the visions.[7] How much the original text or texts may have been edited is unclear but it seems quite possible that the absence of obviously Catholic elements was due to their editorial efforts.

The sources, techniques, goals, and language of these operations are in almost every respect medieval and most of the differences resulted from relatively superficial revisions by their Protestant and secular scribes. After carefully noting that the work was begun at 8 a.m, the Sun in Aries, the text lists a short set of rules for operation including wearing clean clothes, keeping promises, being good to the poor 'where he seeth need.'

[5] The two sections themselves occur at ff. 47r-57v and 58r-62v.
[6] For more detail about the manuscript see the Appendix to this article.
[7] For example, a prayer revealed by Solomon on Easter 1567 appears on f. 47r. This is discussed in greater detail below, ***.

and avoidance of swearing and drunken company.[8] Such rules commonly occur in the early folios of ritual magic works. The Practica nigromanciae attributed to Roger Bacon specifies clean clothing among the rules and the Liber juratus gives a strong emphasis to keeping good company.[9] Almsgiving is an instruction found in the Ars notoria's Opus Operum and in John of Morigny's work. Medieval ritual texts uniformly emphasize good behavior and moral purity, something which could be assured by seeking confession prior to operation.[10] They give greater emphasis to sexual purity as inherently powerful, something attributable to Catholic traditions in general, but particularly to emphasis on chastity or sexual self-control in the clerical and university settings where this magic was commonly practiced.[11] It seems likely that a Protestant scribe (possibly the Gilberts themselves) removed these more stringent requirements and that the relaxed rules reflect conceptions of sexuality and marriage in Protestant thought and/or the decidedly secular milieu in which the many sixteenth-century magicians (and certainly Gilbert and Davis) moved. As I discuss in detail below, the acquisition of information, learning, or wisdom was a fundamental goal of medieval ritual magic, even necromancy.[12]

[12] The most common form of deriving learning or wisdom was the Ars notoria discussed at length in this volume. The conjuring manual edited and analysed by Richard Kieckhefer also contains a necromantic analogue to the Ars notoria in which demons are invoked rather than angels. See Kieckhefer, Forbidden Rites, 193-96; CLM 849, ff. 3r-5v. A sixteenth century necromantic collection also contains prayers from the Solomonic Ars notoria. See London, British Library, Sloane 3853, ff. 159v-74v.

The ritual procedures described in the instructions and recorded as having been performed by them in the vision accounts are similarly drawn directly from medieval ritual magic. As was the usual practice in necromantic works, the operators employ a combination of angelic and demonic magic, and assume that, while they can command demons, they may only request the aid of God, the angels, and the dead.[13] They work for the most part during the day and are attentive to the hours and the general astrological conditions.[14] They employ crystals or other reflecting surfaces for skrying and endeavor both to trap demons in crystals and also to provide crystals for good spirits to enter voluntarily.[15] They require that a skryer be used to see the visions but not that he be a virgin child as was common in medieval texts.[16] The demon Azazel whom they conjure

[14] It was commonly assumed that one could not conjure under cloudy conditions and, although conjuring at night was possible, it appears that working during the day was generally considered preferable. A roughly contemporary conjuring manual puts it like this. "Habe aerem clarum et non nubilosum quia sol magna habet influentia in spiritibus et appetetunt in radiis solaribus apparere et operari...." London, British Library, Sloane 3318, 2v. See also London, British Library, Sloan 3853, f. 10v. The appearance of clouds demanded that the operations be abandoned. See Oxford, Bodleian Library, Rawlinson D. 252, ff. 30v-31r. Certainly clear atmospheric conditions were necessary for crystalomantic operations. "Tunc in loco secreto et honesto aere sereno....", Ibid., f. 114v.

[15] The notion that one could trap or somehow contain a spirit in a crystal occurs in numerous texts. See for example Oxford, Bodleian Library, Rawlinson D. 252, 42v-44v and Vaticano (Città del), Biblioteca Apostolica, Pal. Lat. 1375 f. 269v-270r. The fourteenth-century catalogue of the books of John Erghome of the Austin Friars at York includes a tract on enclosing a spirit in a mirror. See K. W. Humphreys, ed., The Friars' Libraries, Corpus of British Medieval Library Catalogues (London: British Library, 1990), 87-8.

has a long history beginning with a brief mention in Leviticus, extending through Jewish traditions, and reappearing in Christian cabalism in the late fifteenth century. The somewhat more surprising notion that this demon could facilitate access to spirits of the dead might conceivably be Jewish in origin but was certainly immediately derived from Latin necromantic traditions. Similar operations involving Azazel survive in several other fifteenth- and sixteenth-century British manuscripts.[17] Following the instructions for conjuring the dead, the text gives instructions for conjuring the 'Four Kings', the demons governing the four climes of the world, 'Oriens, Amaimon, Paymon, And Ægin.' Humphrey evidently performed this operation since it is recorded in the notes, although they included no descriptions of the resulting visions if there were any. Operations for the Four Kings are very common in medieval necromantic works and commonly employ mirrors or crystals.[18] The instruction section of the manuscript concludes with all-purpose [17] Although the name appears to have Babylonian roots, the Story of Azazel derives from Leviticus 16:7-28. Agrippa tells us that Cabalist sources identify Azazel as king of the south, one of the four kings of the cardinal directions. Agrippa, De occulta philosophia, III: 24. Azazel is one of the fallen angels in Jewish traditions. Although 'fastened to the mountain of darkness' and willing to teach witchcraft to those who seek his help, Azael does not appear to have any particular association with spirits of the dead. See Louis Ginzberg, The Legends of the Jews, 7 vols. (Philadelphia: Jewish Publication Society of America, 1909), I.126, I.148-52, V.123, V.152, V.171, V.311, and V.416. Pico, drawing on cabalist sources describes Azazel as one who devours those practicing bad magic, but otherwise the demon appears to have no singular connection with spirits of the dead in general. On Pico's discussion, see Brian P. Copenhaver, "Number, Shape, and Meaning in Pico's Christian Cabala: The Upright Tsade, the Closed Mem, and the Gaping Jaws of Azazel," in Natural Particulars: Nature and Disciplines in Renaissance Europe, ed. Anthony Grafton and Nancy Siraisi (Cambridge, MA: The MIT Press, 1999), 46-7 and 72. Although not connected explicitly with the dead, Azazel appears in more extensive narratives in the Book of Enoch, 9-11, 13, and 54-5, and 69-70.

Whatever the earlier sources for this tradition may have been, the Gilberts' immediate sources for this operation were undoubtedly late-medieval British necromantic manuals. Rituals for the speaking with the dead occur in a variety of necromantic sources and appear as early as the fifteenth century. See Oxford, Bodleian Library, Ballard 66, ff. 33-39 (s. xvii), London, British Library, Sloane 3884, ff. 47-56 (s. xvi), and Oxford, Bodleian Library, Rawlinson D. 252 (s. xv.), 66v-68r. Rawlinson D. 252 conjures "Asacel." Interestingly, it is followed by another operation for "Azoel" which may be the same as "Aosal" the other spirit mentioned in the Gilbert manual (f. 50v). Ginzberg identifies Azzazel and Azzael as one and the same. Ginzberg, Legends, V. 152.

[18] For the record of Humphrey Gilbert performing this operations, see f. 62r. For the relevant instructions, see ff. 51r-53v. The names correspond to those listed by Agrippa as princes of the four points of the compass. Henry Cornelius Agrippa, De occulta philosophia, II:7. The four kings are mentioned in the Speculum astronomiae, XI, 23 and 79. For other medieval examples of conjurations of the four kings see Oxford, Bodleian, Rawlinson D. 252, ff. 15r- 24r and 103r-107r and London, London Society of Antiquaries MS 39, f. 17v. Irenaeus mentions the ideas that there are four intelligences presiding over the conjurations for any spirit. Similar open-ended operations may also be found in necromantic manuals. Aside from the lack of any obviously Catholic formulae, such as Ave Marias, and a reduced emphasis on ascetic practices and moral purity in the period leading up to the operations, the instructions are indistinguishable from those in medieval works.[19]

The extensive records of the visions set this text apart from most magical manuscripts. The following passage gives a good impression of them.

> Seene by H.G. and Jo.: on ye 14 daye of marche anno domini 1567 at the sonns sett, or a little after, I knowe not perfectlye, it was aboute 7 of the cloke. First I, and my skryer sawe a rownde fyer in the west, which sodaynly vanished and came agayne. There apered annother with hym which I beheld very well, and from them there went a greate blacke cloud under them, which went from the west, by the north to the east pointe. And ouer that cloud there came an extreme number of fyer, and in the place where the first fyers were there was a greate quantitye yat was marvelous red, and ye which turned into gold; and some parte of the fyer went towards the south, soe yat god of a great miracle shewed it to me and my skryer; also the fyer was marvelous greate and bright, and tourned into gold as before. And sodainly casting my eye asyde, there was a great blacke cloude, which gathered into a sharpe pointe, into the west, and spreade very brode into the top towards the East, being maruelously inclosed with fyer, hauing .6. sundry points of blacke, having under ech bundle on the south side, a longe streyke of gold, very bright, which were in closed with greate fyer. [19] A medieval work of necromantic magic would always include mention of Mary at one point or another. Her complete absence from this manuscript is thus notable. On the other hand, the text reflects the slow and initially superficial nature of the changes in this period. The intervention of John the Baptist and St Luke certainly suggest continuities with Catholic invocation of the Saints and belief in intercession. On the notion that Protestantism brought about a decline of magic, see Keith Vivian Thomas, Religion and the Decline of Magic (New York: Scribner, 1971). Eamon Duffy is largely silent about Thomas' arguments although he explicitly criticizes Thomas for his assumption that the sacraments "were credited with an inexorable and compelling power" only at a popular level. Eamon Duffy, The Stripping of the Altars: Traditional Religion in England, c. 1400-c. 1580 (New Haven, CT: Yale University Press, 1992), 277. Duffy argues instead that much of what Thomas calls superstition or magic was a legitimate form of religious devotion practiced by all levels of English society. For Duffy's discussion of these forms of devotion in Protestant England, see Duffy, 379-593. Robert Scribner's recent work includes useful critiques of Thomas. See Robert W. Scribner, "The Reformation, Popular Magic, and the 'Disenchantment of the World,'" Journal of Interdisciplinary History 23, no. 3 (1993): 475-94; and 'Magic and the Formation of Protestant Popular Culture in Germany' in Religion and Culture in Germany (1400-1800), ed. > illustration follows.] And after the litle streike there apered aboue them 2 greate bundles of golden streiks, which stoode aboue ech of the golden strikes, but the bundle yat stoode vppermost, was not soe bright as he yat stoode below. There was a greate blacke clowd betwene these 2 bundles and about the topp of this maruelous thinge, there was a greate quantitye of greene as before apereth. And betwene of the .6. blacke clowds as before, there was a greate number of fyer betwix eche of them as before you see. Also there apered on the south syde of yt, uppon the nether most bundle of gold, a square golden hyll with .4. corners, with 4 angles standing about yt, at ech corner one, whose names were mathewe, marke, luke, John, being barefoted with bookes in there hands, ther being a greate tre of bloud in the middle of the golden hyll, also there passed by vs, 2 doggs running on the grounde, which were spirits comming from the south towards the northe; the first of them was white, red and blacke, and went lering away apace which had noe tayle. Then followed the other dog which was all blacke, with a long tayle. And when he was right against me and my skryer, he loked first on the miracle before drawen, and then on me, and then on it againe; and soe passed awaye. These dogs had little legs, and greate brode feete, like unto horses. All which things aperith to vs with in one howers space. And when I went from the place, all things vanished awaye.[20]

Although in some of the records the spirits seem to speak directly to the operators from the stone or crystals, this passage and many others give the impression that all of the participants were entirely immersed in the visionary experience. It seems more likely that the skryer saw and reported visions in which he and the others were participants, though it is possible that the others may occasionally have seen things too. Dee’s records of his ‘actions’ contain similar ambiguities in the visionary record, where Dee is always an active imaginative participant in the proceedings, though his notes make it clear that he seldom saw anything.

If they are subject to occasional lapses (such as the failure to record the hour in this instance), and if their record keeping is not as thorough as Dee’s, nevertheless the Gilberts certainly make an effort to be systematic. They commonly record the time and general astrological conditions. The tremendous attention to detail makes clear that they were concerned to preserve accurate and detailed accounts of what the skryer had reported. That they returned to the text and corrected various details reinforces the impression that they wished the vision accounts to be as accurate as possible.[21] Given this concern with detail and accuracy, it may well be that the Gilberts described the visions as if they were visible to all as a literary device to lend the process a level of credibility and to emphasize that they were the result of the efforts of at least two of those present.

This passage illustrates an important way in which Gilbert's operations were not typical of medieval manuals and which cannot be attributed to changes in religious sensibilities. If medieval magical operators made extensive and detailed notes during their operations, to my knowledge, none survive. Accounts of visions attained through magical processes may be found in literary works (usually anti-magical) or in instructions for ritual magic operations which tell the operator what should result. More extensive accounts of visions by magical practitioners are less common. The notable exception, the Liber visionum of John of Morigny, is a highly polished account which is clearly reconstructed from memories of the visions rather than detailed notes taken at the time. Unlike John's work, but more like the records of John Dee's actions, those visionary records in Additional 36674 appear to be relatively undigested. One might speculate that medieval examples have simply been destroyed or lost, but one would still have to account for why these texts did not survive. The most plausible explanation would be that prior to the second half of the sixteenth-century any such notes were not considered worth keeping. In either case, the extensive note-taking of the Gilberts and John Dee, their desire to preserve the notes, and their efforts to assure their accuracy and sense of immediacy seem to represent a new attitude to the raw data of the visions.

A more detailed examination of their goals and methods reveals a similar mix of tradition and innovation. Gilbert's principal goal of deriving knowledge manifests itself immediately at the start of the instructions where the reader is advised to begin with a short general prayer for wisdom.

> This prayer is to be sayde when and before you deale with any spiritt; This was reuealed by kinge Solomon, Anno domini 1567, die 20 Februarij circa 9. 10.
> O god of Aungelles, god of Archaungells; god of Patriarches, god of Prophetts, god of vs sinners; O lord be my help, that this my worke may proceed in good tyme, to thy glorie, O god; and to learninge, and noe Art else, glorifie the in all workes. Amen
> Let not euyll spyritt enter my mynde o god, nor nothinge else but all to thy glorie o god; for learning is all my desier, lord thou knowest; euen as yt was to thy seruaunt Solomon; O lord sende me somme of this good hiddenn worke, that hath not been reuealed to noe mann. Then for that cause I desier the O god to sende yt mee, that in these our laste daies yt may be knowenn. Amen. Amen, lord, Amen with your Pater noster.[22]

Such prayers are fundamental elements in ritual magic works like the Ars notoria where they employ similar kinds of formulae and rhetorical strategies.[23] That this prayer should be said at the start of all spirit operations seems designed to frame the entire set of instructions as a search for knowledge and, at least in these pages, this appears to be sincere: the search for secrets, wisdom, or learning predominates throughout the operations.

Precisely how they thought this knowledge was to be transferred, however, is less clear. The request for knowledge in this passage and the attribution of the prayer to Solomon rightly moved Gabriel Harvey, the seventeenth-century owner and annotator of [22] f. 47r.

the manuscript, to note its evident likeness to the Ars notoria.[24] A passage in which Solomon tells Gilbert that he will be taught 'all the arts' suggests this work above all others. That Solomon also advises him that he must read when told to do so may be a reference to the exercise of reading required in the performance of the Ars notoria.[25] However, the request for a 'hidden worke' in passage above seems to reflect the story of the Liber Rasielis in which secret knowledge is passed to Adam from the angel Rasiel either figuratively or physically in the form of a book.[26] That Gilbert is promised such a book and that Davis retrieves it from the 'House of Solomon' in a vision tends seems to reflect this tradition.[27]

> Jo. sawe a greate woods, having a greate howse in the middle of yt: with a little house by it most strongly buylded; hauving an Iron dore, with 9 keyholes. these being written vn the dore thes caracts following [numerous sigils] And in the house he sawe a chamber richly hanged with gold, in which chamber there was a tre of christale which was written upon very well, hauving many branches, with a dore on hym, as it were with 7. keyholes, which had the [?] written on yt; with in there with there ware many bookes, whereof one had a christall cover and another with the heary syde of a skyn outward; with divers other goodly bookes....[28]

At still other points, Solomon tells Humphrey that he will teach him how to 'make' a book, which suggests the divinely aided editing and writing of John of Morigny and Honorius of Thebes.[29] The instructions for conjuring the Four Kings also advise the operator to demand a book of magic from the demon Oriens, so the search for knowledge of magic is by no means limited to angels and spirits of the dead, even though this appears to have been their most successful avenue.[30] One is left with the impression – not surprising given the variety of possibilities suggested by prior texts – that the operators themselves were unsure what to expect, be it a kind of infusion of knowledge, the delivery of a book, or instruction and guidance, but were content to let the spirits decide.

At the same time, certain kinds of information were actually transmitted to them and consistent features may be discerned both in the nature of that knowledge and how they used it. The great care taken to record the visions suggests the assumption that all the small visual details, such as the sigils on the door, might potentially be important sources of information and perhaps that many of the more incomprehensible ones, such as the activities of the strange multi-colored animals, might need to be decoded or understood at a later date. More importantly, the spirits directly instructed them in the proper performance of magic, sometimes even when they had not been asked, and although they certainly referred to conjuring manuals and perhaps the works of Cornelius Agrippa for information, they appear to have regarded these sources as secondary to the visions. On March 22 between two and three in the afternoon, Humphrey (probably with great relish) was cursing and condemning Bleath, a particularly recalcitrant minor demon.

The prologue to the Liber sacer recounts that Honorius wrote the book with the assistance of an angel. Liber iuratus Honorii, I (pp. 60-1).

> There came of hymselfe the Euangelist Luke into a christall stone that lay on the bourd. And willed me to leaue using the names of God, to such wicked and rebellious spirits offering hymself to doe all things for me, and to teach me, howe to haue althings done by the angles, without such cursings, and coniuring by the word and names of god.... And I hauing the spirit of K. Solomon and the spirite of Jobe before. They both fell on their knees to Luke when they sawe him. And the wicked inferior bleath rean continually away, from one place to another rounde about the stone as fast as might be.[31]

What happens here is unusual in two ways. While John of Morigny also records instances of divine apparition in the course of his performance of demonic magic (including apparitions of the four evangelists), and while these apparitions ultimately do lead to the production of a divine text, the emphasis in John's autobiography is always at first on the strenuous and difficult conversion away from demonic practices. This intervention by St Luke in this passage is a more direct and effortless transition from demonic binding to something more like angelic invocation, its very fluidity suggestive, perhaps, of a dissolving conceptual boundary between angelic and demonic practices. More importantly, the advice which Luke offers them runs counter not only the approach they had already recorded in their book of instructions but to traditional necromancy as a whole. Rather than the standard method of conjuring, which mimicked exorcism by invoking holy names and by drawing upon the power promised by God to good Christians, Luke suggests a temporary but novel arrangement in which he, a spirit of the dead, an elect soul, would control demons on the operator's behalf. As in the case of John of Morigny, visionary experience supersedes traditional and textual authority. It should not be surprising that they were willing to take the word of a saint on how to perform magic over what they found in their conjuring manuals; however, other examples reveal that this was not an isolated example but part of a purposeful, if not systematic, approach. They did not regard magic as the performance of various experiments unrelated except for the similarity of their form, but rather as a progressive program of learning, a cumulative process in which information and experience were assembled over time. Such a progression is implicit in their demand that one begin with lower spirits and work up to more difficult ones. “Bleath, should a younge beginner first call; although to call Assasel yt is the most noble Arte; whose charact followethe.”[32] But the best evidence of their approach to knowledge lies in the way they assembled the manuscripts we are considering.

Their careful dating of their visions allow us to reconstruct the complex relationship between their operations and the magical manual they were writing, or at least some of it. We know that their operations were probably based on some late medieval conjuring manual which they, or some prior scribe, had adjusted according to Protestant and secular sensibilities. It is also possible, if not likely, that they had tried this kind of thing before. While it is true that Humphrey was blustery enough to fancy himself an expert relatively quickly, the confident tone of the text suggests he had been at it longer than a few weeks. They began their recorded operations in late February, and soon after, on the 20th of February, Solomon dictated a new prayer for them to employ at the start of their operations. Presumably they used it from that point on since, as we have seen, they accorded it such an important place in their magical manual when they began to write it on the 22nd of March at 8 a.m. How much they managed to write before that afternoon is unclear, but by 2 p.m. Humphrey was engaged in his operation to conjure the Four Kings. Shortly after this St Luke appeared, offering the correction and assistance we just discussed and promising to teach a new method of operation. Luke fulfilled this promise eight days later with instructions for a show stone in which Bleath would not have been able to disobey.

> The beste and moste excellente waye and Arte is, as well for Aungells, as for Inferiours and other Spyritts, to haue these names of god wryttenn in your stone, as followethe. [A round stone is roughly sketched out but it has been left incomplete since no characters inserted.]
> This is written without, because the circle was to lyttle, but yt muste be written wythin the circle nexte adioyninge, your stone muste be flatt of bothe sides, and cleare without crackes or staines, and as large as may be gottenn, and of a good thicknes.
> Nota: Noe spyritt cann disobay that is called into the stone thus graued; and the makinge therof wast discovered by Luke onn Easter time, beinge in Anno Domini 1567. [33]

This passage falls on the last folio of the manual, and operations employing the names of God to control recalcitrant demons appear in the previous folio. Precisely how the new equipment provided by Luke was meant to alter the operations is unclear. He certainly did not mean for them to cease employing demons or ghosts, which would have entailed rejecting all the methods they had recorded to that point, but rather "willed [them] to leaue using the names of God, to such wicked and rebellious spirits." So it seems likely that they assumed this addition would make certain operations of the manual unnecessary but that in other respects it remained appropriate.

Gilbert and his associates sought to acquire knowledge in a purposeful, even systematic, manner understanding that it would be a cumulative process. They began with ritual magic manuals in hand and, in fact, given that such texts were common, it is quite possible that they had one of the many circulating manuscripts of ritual magic attributed to Solomon or Roger Bacon, or a printed volume by Cornelius Agrippa. If they did not enter into the operations under the assumption that their books might need correction, they certainly assumed that true magical knowledge had to be derived from practice and from direct engagement with the numinous rather than from books. In part they assumed that one had to build up experience in order to practice the art effectively; in part, the practice of the art itself made new information available. They carefully recorded their visions, noting intricate details, evidently assuming their descriptions might ultimately yield further knowledge. The spirits also instructed them. No doubt they understood that Solomon's promise to assist Gilbert in 'making' books would be fulfilled in such a fashion – and they certainly did make a new book. More crucially, the new revealed elements superseded the old and became key elements in the new manual, and at the very least, their experiences facilitated a critical dialogue with whatever base text they originally employed.

So despite being based on the texts and traditions of medieval ritual magic, this manuscript differed from them. Protestant attitudes (or the desire not to appear Catholic) probably motivated the Gilberts or some prior scribe to strip out Catholic elements and to remove requirement of virginity for a skryer and of ascetic practices for the master. The Gilberts added new techniques, prayers, and magical characters to whatever original text or texts they had, and for all we know, they may have made a wide range of other undocumented changes based on instructions from the spirits. That they made careful records of the visions seems to constitute a significant change to the medieval traditions of ritual magic, but they do not appear to have affected its processes or intellectual culture in a dramatic way. In fact, these changes themselves reflect another significant area of continuity with medieval ritual magic. This continuity can be best understood in the broader context of medieval learned magic. So let me introduce this discussion with a brief description of the other major tradition of illicit learned magic prior to 1500.

Astrological image magic is represented by hundreds of manuscript witnesses prior to 1500 and the form of those manuscripts is consistent and distinctive. Magical talismans, rings, or other objects bearing some sort of engraved astrological symbol had received enough approval from scholastic writers as a potentially non-demonic form of magic to grant this kind of magic a kind of associate status within scholastic natural philosophy. Important works of natural philosophy such as the Speculum astronomiae regarded some forms of astrological image magic as natural and non-demonic; and philosophers of the stature of Albert the Great had no quarrel with this idea. In part as a result of this, these texts demonstrate a measure of stability in transmission and interpretation. While Thomas Aquinas and others following him were more stringent in their assessment of the legitimacy of image magic, these early positive evaluations were enough to keep a debate continuously alive in scholastic circles from the twelfth through the sixteenth centuries.[34] As this debate hinged upon obscure details in the scholastic model of physical causation, proponents of astrological image magic, eager to find ways to demonstrate its legitimacy, tended to employ scholastic arguments. Opponents and those who had not made up their minds also depended upon the literature of natural philosophy for clarity and guidance. This situation is reflected in the manuscripts and the codices and libraries that contained them.. Almost uniformly prior to 1500 scribes, collectors, and cataloguers treat astrological image magic as part of the library of natural philosophy and naturalia The principles of scholastic natural philosophy and the opinions of scholastic authorities also played a major role in helping scribes to choose appropriate

[34] The standard discussion of this debate is Nicolas Weill-Parot, Les Images Astrologiques Au Moyen Age Et a la Renaissance, Speculations Intellectuelles Et Pratiques Magiques (Xiie-Xve Siecle) (Paris: Honore Champion, 2002). For a discussion of the Speculum Astronomiae see, 27-90. For an earlier discussion focused upon how Marsilio Ficino engaged the debate see Brian P. texts to copy. Texts which were conformable to scholastic prescriptions of legitimacy were copied at a much higher rate than those deemed illegitimate, many of which do not survive at all.[35]

Works of astrological image magic, by their very nature, also demand a particular kind of treatment by their interpreters and scribes, and this makes them similar to scholastic scientific works in another sense. According to the arguments of the Arabic commentator al-Kindi, the figure in an astrological talisman or ring (as opposed to the stuff of which it was made) had to have an ontological connection with the astrological influences upon which it drew. This assumption was implicit in many of the magical texts themselves; it also formed the core question in the scholastic debate: does the shape of a physical object have or transmit occult properties? Thus, for Latin readers who believed this was possible, the image depicted or described in the text might reflect a cosmological secret: if the image was accurate, the magic would work, and the text would contain a valuable key to understanding how the universe functioned. If it was not accurate, if it did not correctly depict the ontological stellar configuration, it was useless. Truth thus potentially resided in the actual depicted figures or characters in the text itself and their usefulness depended upon their accuracy. More significantly, if an appropriate figure was not employed, the operator ran the risk of invoking the aid of demons. Perhaps for this reason, or perhaps because they were treated like other works of natural philosophy, their transmission tended to be relatively stable and the contents did not vary a great deal. The [35]The approval of two texts by the author of the Speculum astronomiae had a dramatic effect on the transmission of astrological image magic. See Frank Klaassen, "Medieval Ritual Magic in the Renaissance," Aries 3, no. 2 (2003). 166-99. intellectual culture surrounding this sort of magic is thus arguably similar to scholastic culture in its emphasis on the authority of transmitted texts.

The intellectual culture surrounding ritual magic and its written traditions could not be more different. Subject to perennial re-writing, editing, and reformulation, ritual magic was perhaps the most mercurial of all medieval magical traditions. The multiplicity of its textual traditions was both the cause and also the result of the fact that its intellectual tradition in significant ways stood outside the mainstream. Although scholastic arguments certainly played a role in the rejection of ritual magic practices, no scholastic authority ever provided a shred of hope that they might be legitimate. They fall entirely in the realm of what Weill-Parot has termed "addressative" practices – by all standard Augustinian and Thomistic definitions, they are non-natural.[36] It is thus understandable that texts of ritual magic travel with works of naturalia far less often. Astrological image magic texts differ from ritual magic texts in a crucial structural way as well: the purpose of ritual magic texts is generally intermediary: they do not tend to record truths about the world, but rather to represent ritual practices by which contact with spirits may be facilitated in order to attain truths about the world. Like all liturgies, ritual magic is highly subject to local need and local change. Finally, the authors of ritual magic texts were keenly aware that the magical library contained false or misleading texts.[37] If works like the Liber Rasielis tended to represent themselves as [36] So they tend to support themselves on religious and biblical authority, rather than the authority of natural philosophy., for example, the bible recounts how Christians could cast out demons in Christ's name and non-Christians could not. Similarly, being an orthodox Christian was an essential element in performing successful ritual magic. The Liber sacer tells of how the Jews cannot perform magic. Liber iuratus Honorii, III.20 (p. 66). A late-medieval necromancer's manual provides the Apostle's and Athanasian Creeds to help the operator remain orthodox. Oxford, Bodleian, Rawlinson D. 252, ff. 81r-82v. The dependence of ritual magic on Christian rites is self-evident. This is quite different from the use of intention as an element in image magic which is commonly divorced from the moral and religious condition of the practitioner. For the term "addressative" see notes to the opening pages of the Weill-Parot article in this volume.

divinely revealed, they were still less containers of truth than divinely sanctioned means to discover it. Truth had to be discerned in practice and in encounters with the numinous, particularly angels, and the particular knowledge which might be derived would differ from person to person.[38] A fifteenth-century necromancer's manual records necromantic processes in which emphasis is given to questions rather than answers.

> When the spiryt is apperyd: What is thy name? Under what state and what dynite [i.e. dignity] hast thow? What is thy powyr and thy offyse? Undyr what planet and sygn art thow. Of what parte arte thow of the world? Of which element art thow? Whych is thy monyth? What is thy day and thyn owyr? What is thyne howre, day or nyght? Whych is thy winde? What be they caretes that thow abyst to? Whych is thy mansion and thy day? Which is thy sterre? Which is thy stone? Which is thy erbe? What is thyne offyse to do. What is thy metale? Similarly, the commonly occurring conjurations for any spirit suggest the users developed magical processes in response to whatever circumstances might arise in their operations or using whatever new knowledge they might have gained through their practices. For example, it appears that Trithemius probably employed angel magic to fill in the gaps as he wrote his Chronicle.[40] Truths were thus derived directly from experience of the but was not an explicit concern of the authors. The Liber sacer recounts that its author had produced it by extracting the flowers of wisdom from seven volumes of magic for the good magicians. It also recounts that 'others' were given empty husks. "Qui consulente angelo Hocrohel nomine 7 volumina artis magice deffloravit nobis florem accipiens et aliis cortices dimittendo." (Liber iuratus Honorii, I.16.) It is not clear whether this means Honorius intentionally wrote false magical works to deceive the ignorant, found false and empty portions of the original volumes which he somehow left behind, or simply that by removing crucial sections he left behind works denuded of their wisdom. But there is no doubt that the author understood the magical library to be polluted with these 'husks.' John of Morigny, the victim of such a false text, discovered that when he used prayers in the Ars notoria he was unknowingly invoking demons rather than angels. (Liber visionum, 19 (p.181).) Curiously, the 'false' nature of this text was not a barrier to the discovery of truth through it.

[38]The Liber Rasielis gives a long list of the Old Testament patriarchs who employed it. Each of them is said to have derived something different from the volume. München, Bayerische Staatsbibliothek, CLM 51, f. 111v. For an interesting parallel to this process, see the discussion of astrological prognostication in Madagasgar by M. Bloch. Bloch argues that the presence of stable astrological texts did not serve to stabilize interpretive systems, but actually increased their diversity. numinous, from instruction by it, or from interrogating it, and this process of discovery both enabled and depended on a dynamic relationship with the texts, which were continuously being adapted to suit new needs.

Even where ritual texts are handed on in recognizable forms and variants (e.g., in the case of the Ars notoria), practitioners appear to have understood ritual magic as a program of progressive, cumulative, and practical knowledge acquisition. It was understood that one had to learn how to perform ritual magic. The prologue to the Liber sacer requires the understanding of the text be passed on in a kind of magical apprenticeship process, a holy brotherhood in which the master selects appropriate followers who ultimately may be given the right to take up his position and pass the knowledge on to others.[41] John of Morigny talks explicitly about how he had to learn how to make the Ars notoria work.[42] Part of this process may have been a kind of conditioning which made the practitioner more disposed or attentive to whatever psychological mechanisms the magic drew upon, such as dreams or trance states. But this learning process was also understood as practical and cumulative. For example, John appears to take it for granted that the natural result of having developed expertise in necromantic magic was to write a book on the subject.[43] In part the process also involved the development of critical skills in dealing with visionary experiences. When John of Morigny began practicing magic, he was unable to tell the difference between holy and unholy presences and he emphasizes the need for requesting assistance through prayer.[44] Eventually, however, he was able to produce a detailed discussion of the ways in which one could do this.[45]

In summary, ritual magic was not regarded by its practitioners as part of the discourse of scholastic natural philosophy. Ritual magicians understood truth to be derived not from knowledge preserved in authoritative works but from experience, practice, or interrogation of spirits. They understood this knowledge to be cumulatively assembled by the practitioner rather than to inhere in a pre-existing set of authoritative pronouncements. They understood their relationship with their texts to be dynamic and susceptible to information by the spiritual encounter. And finally, although their ritual processes were in part designed to overcome the deficiencies of the natural senses, nevertheless they were almost entirely dependent upon the senses for knowledge acquisition.

These habits of mind may be witnessed in Gilbert's operations. Aside from some imagery which suggests an interest in alchemy, they display no interest in astrological image magic, other kinds of natural magic, or any of the scholastic theories and debates associated with them. They did not regard the received traditions of magic as authoritative but employed them in a dynamic and interactive manner. Their advice that "the master must also haue 1 or 2 good bookes to call by, as after you shall here fyende" makes clear that one had to be discerning about the texts one chose; however they also evidently regarded their base text as something which might need to be corrected or more substantially transformed. They did not hesitate to make modifications where they saw fit. Some of these modifications were more minor and motivated by their own religious sensibilities. Some were more considerable, involving the incorporation of new operations or equipment prepared under the direction of the spirits.

Perhaps more radically than their medieval forebears, the Gilberts understood their visions not only as a proof and tangible effect of the legitimacy of their operations, but as experiences which were potentially an important source of raw data. Their attention to the intimate and seemingly inconsequential details of the visions, and their efforts accurately to record them in an undigested form, witness their focus on experientially derived knowledge. The way they edited their texts, and their advice that the operator must work progressively, starting with lower demons and working upwards, demonstrate that they regarded knowledge of magic to be acquired cumulatively. In the end, they contributed to the on-going transformations of medieval ritual magic by assembling and collecting their information in a new magical text.

Magic and Science: Humphrey Gilbert's Academy

In a 1994 book review, Brian Vickers criticized the tendency to regard Ficino and Pico as the epitome of renaissance magic when the vast majority of contemporary learned magic did not look at all like their 'intellectualist' works.[46] While there may be other problems with Vickers' theoretical frame, he was quite right to emphasize that practitioners of learned magic in the sixteenth century rarely looked like what readers of Frances Yates' works might be led to believe. The overwhelming majority of sixteenth-century manuscripts of high magic contain medieval works of ritual magic or reformulations of them. At the same time, the major medieval tradition of natural magic often assumed to have been central to renaissance magic (that is, astrological image magic), appears to have been in decline.[47] Humphrey Gilbert's practices exemplify this situation and allow us to use his example to take up Vickers' challenge, although perhaps in a way he would not have anticipated.

As a magical practitioner, Gilbert has no place in the traditional accounts of the relationship between magic and science in the renaissance. Almost without exception, from the foundational work of Lynn Thorndike, through the chimeral edifice of Frances Yates, to more recent work by Charles Webster, Deborah Harkness, John Henry, Stephen McKnight, Brian Copenhaver and others, a focus upon natural philosophy and natural magic has precluded direct consideration of ritual magic. Most scholars continue to assume that the magical traditions that Thorndike referred to as 'superstitious' and which Yates derided as the 'old dirty' magic of the middle ages declined and were superseded in the sixteenth century by a purified renaissance magic, a form of magic emphasizing mathematics, focusing on the natural world and occult causation, or exhibiting 'science-friendly' mythic structures.[48] As a result, they have tended to focus almost entirely upon natural philosophy, natural magic, so-called hermetic traditions, astrological image magic, and cabalism, particularly where they emphasize number or geometry. If Humphrey cared about any of these things, they do not appear in his magical practices which are very much in the tradition of the 'old dirty magic.' In fact, his magical genealogy (which does not even include Hermes) makes clear that he and his companions understood renaissance magic, at least as represented by Cornelius Agrippa and themselves, to belong to a tradition extending back through medieval ritual magic to the Old Testament patriarchs. Like his magic, Gilbert's proposal for a new academy was by no means revolutionary, but as an expression of common attitudes and approaches crucial to the development of modern science, it suggests a number of ways in which we may reorient our approach. The striking commonalities between his scientific and magical projects suggest that he conceived of them and approached them in very similar terms.

[48] On the 'old dirty' magic see Frances Yates, Giordano Bruno and the Hermetic Tradition (Chicago: University of Chicago Press, 1964), 80-1. The many studies of Brian Copenhaver are exemplary. On the subject of magic and science see, Brian P. Copenhaver, "Natural Magic, Hermeticism, and Occultism in Early Modern Science," in Reappraisals of the Scientific Revolution, ed. David C. Lindberg and Robert S. Westman (Cambridge; New York: Cambridge University Press, 1990), Brian P. Copenhaver, "A Tale of Two Fishes: Magical Objects in Natural History from Antiquity through the Scientific Revolution," Journal of the History of Ideas 52, no. 3 (1991). Harkness' first rate study of Dee focuses connects Dee's angel magic with his natural philosophy but seeks to distinguish it from the ritual magic tradition in general. Surprisingly, she cites Additional 36674, but does not make any mention of the close affinities with the practices of John Dee. Deborah E. Harkness, John Dee's Conversations with Angels: Cabala, Alchemy, and the End of Nature (Cambridge, U.K.; New York: Cambridge University Press, 1999). Stephen McKnight seeks to demonstrate the influence of mythologies of 'pseudo-science' on science but concentrates entirely upon hermetic and neoplatonic mythologies. He seems to regard Solomonic myths as belonging to that tradition. "Science, the Prisci Theologia, and Modern Epochal Consciousness." In Science, Pseudo-Science, and Utopianism in Early Modern Thought, edited by Stephen A. McKnight, 88-117. Columbia: University of Missouri Press, 1992. Charles Webster seems to repeat the assumption that ritual magic was in decline where he notes "Magic as the performance

Elizabeth's new academy was to be dedicated to the education of young noblemen under the wardship of the crown, but was also be open to others. In many ways Gilbert's proposal simply reiterates standard humanist ideas (arguably elements in the development of modern science themselves); he emphasizes worldly skills, advocates training the whole person, and rejects scholasticism and scholastic pedagogy. In other ways it moves beyond them. The academy would fund investigation of the natural world for practical purposes and it would do so by combining theoretical and practical skills. One of its

of rituals aimed at controlling forces held responsible for the succession of events, slowly fell into abeyance among the intellectual elite...." In any event he does not consider it alongside natural magic. Charles Webster, From Paracelsus to Newton: Magic and the Making of Modern Science (Cambridge: Cambridge University Press, 1982), 11. John Henry argues that "Magic is not a monolithic subject and it is important to stress that major aspects of the history of magic seem to play no role in the rise of modern science, for example, demonic magic, chiromancy, and cabala. The crucial aspects of the magical tradition for the historian of science were those encompassed by the term Natural Magic which embraced all those arts which relied upon natural lore; for example, astrology and alchemy...." 'mathematicians' was to be essentially a cosmographer with a heavy emphasis on navigation and the other a military engineer with a large gunpowder budget for monthly practical demonstrations of ballistics.[49] Similarly the physician would be required to supplement his traditional theoretical training by acquiring and practicing the skills of the apothecary and surgeon. This destruction of the traditional boundaries of professional practice also would include experimental and collaborative work.

Far from the esoteric tendencies commonly attributed to enthusiasts of the occult, Gilbert does not appear sympathetic to the so called 'renaissance episteme' but rather proposes to strip natural magic and alchemy of their poetic and philosophical language and drop them in the cold light of practical experiment, close observation, and disinterested description.[51] Gilbert's proposal rejects traditional scholastic pedagogy, scholastic method, the old division of disciplines, and esoteric language; it promotes a critical dialogue with ancient sources; it sets experientially derived knowledge over authority as the standard for judging the received traditions; it sees the search for knowledge less as an engagement with a body of knowledge than the assembling of collection of known truths; it seeks to attain critical distance through careful observation and description of experimental processes; and it gives primacy to practical results. In all of these respects, he belongs firmly in the tradition of British thinkers leading up to Francis Bacon and reflects the shifts in thought which were crucial to the scientific revolution. Since he probably put it before Elizabeth in 1570, if Gilbert was not at work on his proposal when he was engaged in his magical operations, he certainly undertook it very soon afterwards.

The practices and intellectual traditions of medieval ritual magic and Gilbert's reformulations of them are very much in line with what we see in the proposal and with what makes it 'scientific.' Peter Dear has suggested that one of the crucial differences between scholastic natural philosophy and modern science was that the former considered itself a 'body of knowledge' to be learned while the latter considered itself to be more like a 'research enterprise.'[52] Clearly for Gilbert the "research enterprise" aspect of ritual magic links it to the attitude we find in his more "scientific" endeavors. Ritual magic was as constituted of an experientially focused methodology as much as a written tradition, was suspicious of received texts, and required knowledge to be established in a critical dialogue between received knowledge and experience, a dialogue in which the element of experience was primary. If the circumspect attitude towards received traditions by ritual magic operators was still accompanied by belief that men of the past, such as Adam and Solomon, had had privileged access to knowledge of the world, this was little different from Francis Bacon, who expressed similar ideas. Beyond this, ritual magic (again unlike many forms of natural magic) was not found in scholastic books, understood as a part of scholastic discourse, or promoted by writers using warmed over scholastic arguments, so it may well have been attractive to those with anti-scholastic sentiments. In short, medieval ritual magic texts had much to offer to the practical, experientially oriented, anti-scholastic, and independent-minded Humphrey Gilbert.

It almost goes without saying that in many other crucial respects Gilbert's magic was not like modern science and I don't wish to elide the differences between his demon conjuring and Boyle's air pump.[53] At the same time, the mechanistic models and systematic approaches of Bacon, Descartes, Boyle and others had not yet been formulated so it would be anachronistic to hold Gilbert's magical exercises to their standards. Insofar as Gilbert's proposal for a new academy may be taken as representative of important new intellectual and social currents which contributed to the rise of science, the medieval ritual magic he practiced may also be understood not only as amenable to them but even 'scientific' in its own right. At the very least Humphrey Gilbert's story illustrates that the almost universally held assumption that the 'old magic' was in decline, uniformly represented 'regressive' tendencies, or was incompatible with the new trends in science cannot be sustained. In fact, in many respects the forms of magic commonly granted a kind of associate status in accounts of the scientific revolution would have been wrested from their theoretical settings and dismembered in Gilbert's academy, while ritual magic as a practice and method survived more or less intact in his hands, arguably becoming more scientific through his increased emphasis on description. In this sense, the learned magic of Gilbert, and later of Dee, need not, and in fact, cannot, be squeezed into the narrow confines of natural magic or of a putatively purified 'renaissance magic' and it cannot be understood without reference to medieval traditions. In fact, in numerous ways ritual magic can be considered more 'scientific' than natural magic traditions such as astrological image magic, whose associations with the increasingly antiquated approaches of scholastic thought remained strong. When the day was over and the conjurations had drawn to a close, Gilbert may well have decided his magical operations were a blind alley. Had he lived to see them, he might well have preferred the approaches of Boyle and his associates. But we will know a good deal more about sixteenth-century magic and science if we can understand why Humphrey Gilbert was inclined to walk among the spirits with his crystals, conjurations, and pen.

Appendix: The Manuscript and the Question of Attribution

The manuscript falls into two parts, the first containing instructions for operations and the second the record of visions attained (ff. 47r-57v and 58r-62v respectively). In the second section, the master of the operation is identified as H.G. and the skryer as John Davis. Without question Davis was not one of the scribes and, despite a cataloguer's identification, neither was Simon Forman.[54] Gabriel Harvey's suggestion that the second might be the work of Thomas Smith seems very unlikely.[55] The manuscript does, [54] A note of the first folio of the first section notes that Mr McKray of the Bodleian Library in 1868 identified the hand of the first section that of Simon Forman, the well known late-sixteenth-century doctor, astrologer and magician. However, assuming the date is correct, he would only have been seventeen in 1576, and in any event, this is certainly not Forman's distinctive hand. See f. 47r. The manuscript is also not the work of John Caius as suggested by Benjamin Wooley The note identifying Caius as the owner refer only to the materials in ff. 23-46 not 47-62. These two sets of folios are also clearly distinct.

however, provide as solid a link with the Gilbert household as paleography can afford. Adrian Gilbert is a credible candidate for the scribe of the first section.[56] The hand of the second section cannot be positively identified as Humphrey Gilbert's but the possibility cannot be rejected either. That Gilbert's only surviving autograph is in an informal hand and the magical manuscript is in a semi-formal cursive makes identification difficult.[57] It seems more likely, however, that the manuscript was written by a secretary, something that would have been in keeping with Humphrey's habits. The vast majority of his surviving correspondence and works were not written in his own hand. Such a scenario is borne out by the corrections to the second portion, which were likely made by the scribe of the first section. In addition, many of the errors suggest the second section was copied, perhaps from more informal notes, in preparation for a final formal copy. Many of the errors are difficult to account for except as misreadings in copying. We find, for example, "shyll" expunged and "hill" written in (59v) and 'a loud streake of golde' corrected to 'a longe streake of gold' (60v). More tellingly, accidental duplication of words also recurs, such as the duplication of 'apereth' (60v) and 'help' (60r). In short, the paleographic evidence tends to favor attribution to the Gilbert household and certainly cannot be used to reject this thesis.

Circumstantial evidence for this attribution, however, is powerful. Humphrey Gilbert was in England at the time these operations are said to have taken place. His known brutality in arms matches the character of H.G. who takes great relish in cursing and abusing demons in the operations and whose engagements with them are presented entirely in military terms, something which is not typical in necromantic literature. He rides into armies of demons, cutting them down with his sword. As noted in the first paragraph, the operations took place at a time when Humphrey was undertaking important new directions in his life; the concern for the future reflected in the manuscript appears to bear this out.[58] The descriptions of the skryer also correspond well with the John Davis who would become the navigator. Davis, the son of a local family and protégé of the Gilbert household, would certainly have been familiar to the household and was of an age when he could have been expected to be living there for long periods of time. At seventeen John Davis would have been older than the boys traditionally used in medieval skrying, but the old requirement of virginity and sexual purity appears to have become less crucial in sixteenth century operations, perhaps under the influence of Protestantism, but also potentially due to a de-clericalization of ritual magic. The descriptions of the skryer in the visions suggest a youth rather than a pre-pubescent boy.[59] As we discuss below, both Davis and Adrian Gilbert were heavily involved in magical operations and Adrian with alchemy.[60] So each of the known figures corresponds well with what appears in the manuscript.

[58] On October 12, 1566, he was sent back from military service in Ireland with dispatches for Queen Elizabeth. As his biographer, William Gosling notes, "no clear purpose seems to have motivated Sir Henry Sidney to order his return to England. Neither the dispatches nor the news he carried were of such paramount importance as to require a messenger of his calibre; and we are therefore obliged to conclude that he had obtained leave of absence from the army to return to England for some private purposes of his own, and that Sidney merely took advantage of his departure to send dispatches to the Queen." Gosling goes on to suggest that he took leave to petition Elizabeth for assistance in an expedition to find the North-West Passage. This project dominated his energies over the ensuing decades. William Gilbert Gosling, The Life of Sir Humphrey Gilbert: England's First Empire Builder (London: Constable & Co., 1911), 39-40.

[59] For example, Solomon requires that the skryer be dressed like the master in a black coat and cloak. See f.60r. The visions refer to John as Gilbert's 'boy.' He plays an active role in the visions themselves, holding a magical book up to frighten the demons (ff. 59r-60r) and at on point going independently to retrieve and important book from the 'House of Solomon' (f. 62v).

[60] Adrian's 'chemical' interests were well known and he was supported by Mary Sidney as an instructor in the art. Margaret Hannay and Mary Ellen Lamb have speculated that Adrian worked with Mary Sidney Herbert producing medicines. See Mary Ellen Lamb, "The Countess of Pembroke's Patronage," (Ph.D. diss., Columbia University, 1976), 107. See also, Margaret Hannay, Philip's Phoenix; Mary Sidney, Countess of Pembroke (Oxford: Oxford University Press, 1990), 130-31.

Perhaps most convincing of all, Humphrey, Adrian, and John, were evidently part of a circle of practitioners associated with John Dee, whose magical operations and note taking greatly resemble theirs. Their interaction with Dee certainly involved questions of navigation, exploration, cartography, metallurgy, mining, and the associated business interests and nothing in the records of Humphrey's visits suggests the topics of discussion involved magic.[61] John and Adrian's dealings with Dee, however, had as much, if not more to do with magic. In his diary Dee notes that in 1583 he reconciled some difference he had with them occasioned by William Emery. He also notes Davis' dislike for the skryer. Adrian was also evidently familiar enough with Dee's household to have mediated a conflict between Dee's wife and his skryer, Edward Kelly, and was involved in some of Dee's early operations with Kelly.[62] Their evident familiarity with Dee's circle of magical practitioners appears to have been even more long standing than the diary suggests. A note by John Dee dated 1568 indicates that he had determined through magic and with the assistance of William Emery the date of John Davis' birth.[63] It would have been very unlikely that he came to know the Devon teenager unless through the Gilbert household, and the fact that he could not just ask for the information makes clear that Davis was not in the environs of Mortlake. That Dee inquired about Davis shortly after the operations recorded in Additional 36674 suggests that Dee was aware of them and of Davis' role. In fact, one wonders if the conflict between Davis and Emery was a matter of professional competition between two skryers.

[61] Humphrey visited Mortlake in November of 1577, Diary, p. 3. He corresponded with Dee through the early 80s and visited his home again in 1581. Calder. ch 5. p. 3. Adrian Gilbert and John Davis visited Dee along with a larger group of gentlemen and had discussions regarding the North West Passage several times in 1583. Diary, 18-20. On Gilbert and alchemy etc. see Brief Lives, ed. Powell, p. 53.
[62] Benjamin Wooley, The Queen's Conjurer, 200-201. In May 1583, Dee asked his spirits whether he should involve Adrian in his operations. London, British Library, Sloane 3188, f. 103.
[63] In the margin of a table of star positions, he scribbled a note, dated 22 May 1568, that he had learned the exact time and date of John Davies's birth 'by magic' at Mortlake with the help of William Emery. Although unclear what the form of their magic might have been, the fact that Emery later worked as Dee's skryer suggests it was probably a crystal-gazing operation. Wooley, 166-7. Wooley cites Oxford, Bodleian, Ashmole 423, f. 295.

In summary, although no individual piece of evidence incontrovertibly connects Additional 36674 with the Gilbert household, the overwhelming weight of circumstantial evidence leads me to attribute it to John Davis, Adrian Gilbert, and Humphrey Gilbert. That Humphrey does not appear to have been involved in Dee’s magical operations at the time of his first recorded visits to Mortlake may suggest that his interests in it had waned by that time. It is, nonetheless, interesting to note that Gilbert’s posthumous portrait which now hangs in his ancestral home at Compton includes a stylized combination of the astrological sigils for Mercury and Mars (remarkably suited to the martial and mercurial Humphrey) which looks a great deal like the hieroglyphic monad of John Dee. Even to the end of his life, he was evidently fashioning himself as a man with esoteric interests.

1686 Aprill 7th — Fornary

There appeared a white flame over the ston & somethinge in it & a star over the glass sollid receipt with white flamed rays issuing from them And in the ston is two vailes a whight vaile & a Riall vaile, on the white vaile is a lamplike thing with 9 lights or flames & there is 3 spirituns kneeling (imeadiatly) before them 9 lights & there is a font like thing or Censer out of which comes a white spirall flame or Ray & under it is two spirituns in white kneeling before it
And over the Riall vaile is 3 glorious Cherubs but the middlemost the most glorious And in the sollid glass receipt is white linen vailes & 7 lamps or a lamp with 7 lights over them & a spiritum or 2 in them all in white on their knees to them lights And in the hollow receipt in them is a spiritum in white on its knees looking directly to the ston & over them spirituns hand is 7 stars And there is a silver cloud before the ston & 3 spirits in it all in white & kneeling before the ston in great devotion & sometimes bowing forward And there came a great flash & they all rose up & did obedience and stood.
the 3 in the ston is Gabraah & And & Mahaage And the two in the ston is Esemeli & Allemesi And in the sollid glass receipt next one is Murifei & Ath & in the other is Maspama & ~~funiel~~ Semniel & in the hollow receipt is Jusamiah & Semariel And before the ston is Ga = za = vaa
And the whole show is very grand looking one on ye other and very pleasant & smiling And Za takes an obedience from Gabraah And Za said Thou blessed and those whom the highest receiveth into his grace & favor into mercy Blessed are you therefore who have presented your selves in the bonds of obedience unto Celestiall Customes & thrice blessed will be the end of this days beginning: Murmor ye not at visits descending from above opposing you to many wordsiall temptations & trialls through the falseness & perfidougness & other pernicious actions & persuasions having great strength into humaind, but the sorrows vexations & afflictions through superiour permission disturbing the state & welfaire of God his servants shall drop of even as water from the feathers of the downy swan and returne from whence they were projected & be come as utterly void as the smoake that issueth from the kindled fire & then shall your felicity shine forth in glory to the confusion of your enimies of which this day have record with sufficient authority of my testimony And Galwah smiled on me & spake to Ecmedi & Elomese & they then smiled on me & looked on a paper & as they commonly they oft looked on me smiled every ternarian day we must be in this habbit and we must meet 15th instant being thirsday all dayes of meeting will be appoynted

Aprill 29: 1686: Ternary: present 6 — 6 — 01 in the time of Prayer there appeared a star over my head & it shot downe a ray into my head & of each side ray stood a small spirituum, in white over my head untill the end of Prayer and over the stone is 3 solar bodies in a triangle & the upper most sendeth forth a ray upward like a cone feather of 3 collours, white, purple, & red, and it appeareth plainer & plainer and there is a wonder-=full glorious face appeareth between the 3 solar bodies over the stone And there came severall great flashes at severall times one after the other There is in the stone a good way in a glorious christall world with a fiery clouds on it

And before the ~~stone~~ christall world stands a font like thing & a myst comes out of it like a flame & about the font stands 4 spirituums one in each quarter viz in the East quarter is Michael & on ye west is Uriel on ye North is Raphael & on ye South Angle or quarter is Gabriel, in the solid glass receipt next me is a spirituum looking into a booke of wrighting & there is a spirituum in white over seeing it as if they were examining the writing & there is 3 spirituums on this side them (viz) Galwah Murifri & Alte and they all looke this way pleasantly and there is a glittering star hovers over ye receipt & shootes a ray downe into it and these 3 are crowned & each of them have a star in its brest And so it is in ye solid glass receipt on the North side and there is in it And Nalvage & Maspama And in the christall world is Suchiel & Zedekiel And in the hollow receipt to ye Northward is Surzaniah & and 4 spirituums in ordinary habbit 2 like males & 2 like females & abundance behind them And in the hollow receipt westward is Samariel & 4 spirituums in ordinary habbit beyond it & abundance beyond them And Surzaniah & Samariel have crownes on & little crosses in their hands And Samniel stands in a sylver cloud before the stone with a crowne on its head & it hath a flaming sword in its right hand & a flaming dart in its left hand & they seeme to be in communication one receipt with the other but all doe veneration to that face over ye stone And Galwah said to I:R: take notice & distroy night or else you shall see noe more Michael spake to Uriel & Uriel called & there came ~~like~~ Ecmedi & Elomese & El & Uriel said somthing to them & ~~flamese~~ Ecmedi tooke out of its bosome a cristall glass about an ℥ in bignesse & in it was like cleare water & it delivered it to Uriel & also a box with a little graine gold in it And Elemerse doth deliver a little viall of water with a little silver to Gabriel & he did the like to Raphael with a box of quicksilver & they held them in their hands & looked on them & they put the things in to the water & they were all dissolved into water viz the ☉ : ☾ : & ☿ : & they put them into this font like thing & there issued out flames of all colloures going up streight about a black Collour and they al lifted up there hands as if they gave thanks to God & now they smiled on us so then Elemele flemeste & he did great veneration & returned And all the 4 turned this way & smiled on us & this said Welcome be the servants of the highest into the sacred Pallace of Colosiriah where Justice & Righteousnesse sitteth Judges of truth & Equity Know ye therefore that now the blessed promise of your hopefull happinesse & true comfort is given forth & shortly cometh to the fulfilling thereof I know you must conclude with me that a true & perfectly Naturall dissolvent without unnaturall corrosion is the true Arcanu both of Moderne & Antient Sophiacks the which many Prodigall Proselits have & still doe so various prosecute & seeke after but found of very few & of them the use not truly knowne behold thee how it is made perfitt & bringeth all Mettals into Ens Primum by a due & true dissolution & thereby of course Naturally into Mortification Resurrection & Ascention to the Glory of the highest & the comfort of his servants the true Merodis & fellowship of Colosiriah the rest is left to Trahoah & Galuah looked on me & smiled & said I know you may be now comforted for I you are well assured of Happinesse & Redemption I heard you Sr but even now compare some late formar sayings with this present Touching your imployment or manuall occupation I pray you tell me how far they are extended since you have begun to set the same in operation at the same time the Promise of your felicity is given forth & therefore -ded of am commanded to informe you by superior Authority that as this is the first Ternarian day appoynted in this place wherein we also delight with you reckoned from hence one triple Ternarius & it reacheth to the last day of the 2d Month now next ensuing during which time you are also commanded to keepe into your Accustomary & wonted retiroirs that your joy may be full & your comforts accomplished your true happinesse crowned with Celestiall Colestrian & terrestiall Power & tranquillity & the troubles & fear & afflictions both bodily & ghostly may be vanquished & banished into utter silence & become forever voyde of any Power to rise up against you so you know the finall determination of your sorrowes & dispaires The transparent light of Celestiall grace comfort your soules with that joy that is the comfort of all things in the whole Creation & conduct you into all Temporall conduct & Attendance unto.

Eternity in the light of ye Countenance the blessed the whole Creation on both of heaven & Earth Amen

: May 6: 1686: : the first [illegible]

There appeared in the ston a Ball vaile a good way in it and there is a Silver vaile a good way of the side of the Ball vaile And there is 3 stars over the ston & they do goe from the one of them to the other & so make a perfect triangle and in the Center of that triangle is a very Glorious star & shootes a Ray out towards us And there came a small [illegible] & drew the Silver vaile & there appeared the font like thing & there stood Michael & Uriel & Gabriel about it in a triangle & they looked on the flame that ascended out of the font or Censer & the flame was of many Collours like the Rainbow being wrethed about so Michael made veneration & made a Cross & the white vaile drew againe & stood before them as before And before this vaile imediatly stood And & turned to the sollid glass toward on the [illegible] side of the ston & said something to it & presently came Ephraim into the ston to And & they conversed a little time & then Ephraim did veneration & departed & And turned to the other sollid glass toward & Flameso came to And & they continued togither & so Flameso went away now And looke wishfully on us & smiles & said Behold Sr this saith the Celestiall deputations of Celestial Let your Eyes be opened & your Senses Refined & your Ears instructed & your Apprehentions quickened & your understandings unlocked that you may see heare & know the Mystery of Nature in the secret storehouse of her treasury and all the terrestiall Arkanums both Original vegitable & Minerall & all sublunar Ellementall things of the Inferior part of the Creation & then I know you wilbe filled with Joy & the promissed hopes of your Comfort I will tell you Sr of two thinges the one wherein you only haue Labored & succeeded well with great cost & Charges that is touching a Certaine Contra= =tion of a vigetable fuse which with you is called Opium, & is a very excellent Drugg to be used in Medicen abetter way then you haue yet used or knowne

You shall take the liquor of Tartar & powre it on the opium & it will make dissolution of the Gum & let it digest in frigido & when it is glutted decant it of & poure on more as to doe intill all is dissolued of the gum & nothing remaines but feces and when you haue all the Gumous matter taken up in that liquor then ~~poure~~ poure into it fair water & the Majestery will all fall to the bottome then decant of the water & you haue the Majestery then Evaporate the water & you haue the salt of H againe I will illustrate this further unto you at an other meting The next Arkanum is a true Menstruum or dissoluent which of many are called a Mercurius Philosophorum hardly knowne of any marke well then

You shall take salt of tartar made pure without any Compound & put the same into a Retort that hath a little pipe on the top or head thereof as I will here= =after show you a true patterne of & haue in readines the spirit of Vittriol the white vittriol must be made only of Mars & not other compound & by one dram or two at a time to powre it on ye salt of tartar into ye Retort the quantities of each I also will show you here after & all will come over the helme in a white fume which will dissolue into a fair clear water which Naturally dissolueth all Mettalls without the least corrosion it brings all things into putrifaction & its the greatest arcanum you haue yet received

Verily Sr after this triple Arcanums great Mercies will descend to your comfort I need not Sr say unto you how the most high God hath Chastised his owne Elect or rather select people more then all other Nations of the Earth for their Disobedience & Rebellions refractory spirits notwithstanding they had a law given them with strict command to observe whereof the word of God doth aboundantly testify be not dismaid therefore at the great trialls & vexations yt hath befallen you & not as yet quite extinguished

May 13 : 1686: the 2^d present 1-00-00 There appeared like a flame over my head & ~~oth~~ a flaming Ray went round about my shoulders And there appeared And before the ston with a pleasant smiling countenance And said well S^r there is worke enough cut forth & laid out for you we shall now keepe you from idleness Take this booke & ingross it & bring it againe & then the other is ready for you you may mend any Error but keepe to the sence of the originall very we will illustrate all things to the sence of your understandings that you shalbe blessed in the promised felicity of Celestiall Wednesday next shalbe your dies Fornarius at 8 or 9 in the Morning keepe to the Forme of Offertory for it will produce great Events And so much for this time & wee meet againe the 6th day at 8 or 9 in the Morning —

May 19th: 1686: Fornary [illegible] — There appeared a Transcendent Glorious face over y^e ston encircled about with a Ray of fire from whence proceede 4 Rayes one goes upward & another down= =ward into the ston & one Ray goes on y^e one side & the other ~~Ray~~ Ray from y^e other side And there is a glorious Riall vaile in the ston & 3 fiery Cherubs over it & in y^e vaile is two perfumes & before y^e vaile is Uriel with a Crowne Mitrall on & arrayed all in Gold

And Uriel looke mighty pleasantly & smiling 31 ~~30~~ and the two in the vaile are Raphael & Gabriel & they be Gloriously Crowned & there is 3 perfume in one sollid glass vessel & 3 in a silver cloud before ye ston in the sollid vessel on ye North side is Ave Nalvage & Esemeli & in the other sollid vessel is Murifri, Maysema & Flemgth and before ye ston is Furseniah And Samariel & Sammiel in ye Midle of them And in the hollow vessel in one is 4 Gnomes 2 males & two females And Uriel had some converse with the Glorious face over the ston & then Uriel threw light from him to every of of the Apparances & then looked on me pleasantly And Uriel said Pater noster Qui es in Celo Santificetur Nomen tuum, fiat voluntas tua, sicut in Celo sic etiam in terra Amen Hallalujah Brethren in Celestiall Love (& turned to me) we are now on coming to come unto you, for as ye coming of the sacred spirit of the highest in ye unity of ye sacred Deity moved upon the chosen servants of the highest to testify his Name in the confirmation of ye Gospell And coming of the Messiah for ye Redemption of the world the Remembrance whereof now approacheth unto the Glory of the blessed Trinity, so likewise as well without Error as comparison, Grace & Mercy from above promised unto his servants faithfully trusting in the highest descendeth unto their comforts and great joy, Apprehend me then aright in the mysticall sound hereof & then conclude your selves not Rejected from above (although some afflictions doe visit you)
I tell you S^r to me it hath bin shewed forth unto you one peculiar Method of answering your desires

You have bin tould of a menstruum made of spirit of vittriol & salt of tarter Take to one pound of salt of tarter 2 lb of spirit of vittriol & put the 1 lb of salt of tarter into the bottome of a retort y^t hath a pipe above right against ye bottome then drop in about a dram at a time of the spt vittriol or about 60 drops to 100, & then stop the pipe close that noe fumes goe forth but what goes into the reciever & when the fumes are condensed in the reciever then drop in 100 drops more & stop y^e pipe againe & so doe untill all the oyle is spent & you will not have above 2 ℥ of this menstruum in the reciever this is don in frigido without fire the Mystery of this is great the medicine y^t may be made with this menstruum are endlesse doe not begin these 14 dayes

This day S^r is dies ternarius unto you And ye blessed Archamun hath bin shewed forth unto you which will doubtless prove a day of Joy or Jubilee unto you, you will S^r have little action on ye next weeke but you must commence on ye 7th day & doe your duty unto your god for whose sake I Earnestly Admonish you to be full fixt in your oppertunities during this triple ternarius & what more after words therof is not as yet given forth to revealed but now I have given you an Earnest of your hopes & a hopefull earnest of your happiness, I must also returne, to the glory of the highest & his service unne (?) Office rejoyce with heaven & let the Children of the Earth rejoyce in ~~30~~ voluptuous pleasures & for ye rest Gods will be don whose name be glorified for these & all other his 32 mercies unto his servants both now & for ever Amen Hallalujah

1686: May 26: the first after Ternary

There came a flash and then appeared a red ×

:1686: June: 2^d: the 2^d: after Ternary: — after Ternary There appeared over ye ston three stars in a triangle two uppermost & one below: & there is rayes that goe from the one into the other, & in the center of ye triangle is a star far brighter then any of them & a bright sparke in the center of that star of exceeding brightness and out of the this star in the center of the triangle goes 3 rayes to the stars that make the triangle about it in the ston is a heavenly beautifull place ^it goes^ a good way into the ston, at the further part of it is a place like an alter over which is 3 fiery flaming Cherubs, on the Horizone alter there is like a golden bason on ye midle & of each side stands a cup of gold, out of the bason comes up a reathed flame y^t of many collours & goes into the testimony that is in the top of the ston and there is flamed matter y^t ascends out of of the two cups but of 3 collours (viz) white yellow & red and before in the ston is a cristalline river & beyond y^t is a hedg & a gap in it & there is a bridg laid over ye river just against ye gap at the bridg foot before ye gap stands two spiritums with a fiery sword in each of their ~~han~~ hands and within the gap is 3 spiritums in Imperiall forme viz Uriel in the midle & Raphael on its right hand & Gabriel on its left hand & before the ston is 3 spiritums viz Ane in the midle & one of each side of it and ye Hollow Vessels is Susanniah & Semariel there appeared coming from a pleasant place a spirit all in glorious white and an other in white but not so glorious as the other and in humaine forme and them two went to the bridg & so went over it and then made a little stand & did some veneration to the two fiery spirits with the flaming swords in their hands & so passed betweene them & so went in through the gate and Uriel received them and after veneration don he conducted them to the Alter where where there is a glorious Imperiall spirit & he doth receive them we suppose it to be Michael for it hath a Golden Key before it & a scepter & on ye scepter is a bright thing like ye sun and Uriel stands by Michael & & the two spirits in white doe stand before the Basen & doe veneration to Michael & Uriel the humaine spirit is me and as my passage is free so I am freed from all vexations troubles &c and received into the state of happiness and Grace and after this came a like appearance & at the foote of the passage those last two bowed to the two flaming spirits & they did stop the Passage some time but afterwards they opened the Passage & they passed also along to the two spirits within the gate and they all went togeather to the Alter and Raphael & Gabriel have taken place at the Alter next to Uriel & Michaell & the ~~last two~~ two humaine spirits stands between the two Angellicall spirits that are in white I went with them And they stand in a posture of Joy & the 4 Archangels smiled on them & the 4 in white doe great veneration bowing ever now & then to the very Ground And the two humaine spirits came this way smiling & and about the Midle of the place they turned & kneeled downe & gave thanks to god, & the 4 Archangels turned to the alter did seeme to give thanks also And them spirits in the sollid Glass Vessels stood looking on ye son & in a kind of Joyfull Admiration and now the son is covered in a Riall Vaile And smiles very much And and said 34 33 Heere is the first part of Promise made good unto you as you are now received into the fellowshipp of Angellicall and Celestian Land for the which you must also be thankfull unto the highest & to his Messagers of Celestiall Grace as your friends & now even equally servants of our great Lord & Master & on the first day of the next Month shall be your day of thanksgiving but if I tell it againe I know the Father on the 30th or last day of this Month and then you will see what blessings will ensue & follow I hope Sr this ensuing Ternarius & last of the triplicite Ternary will be a Jubbily unto you or a time of Joy therefore is the last of this Month or first of the next ordered yet for thanksgiving & then through Grace shall you soon enter the Enjoyment of a Joyfull deliverance & future happiness, & remember the 7th day to be the first of the next Ternarius & Solstitiall ingress which is of great importance & therefore lett your offertories be more liberall then ordinarily for it is a Ternarius of Joy or Jubile unto you though the Vipperous mouth of envy will open & gnash its teeth at the sight & sence of your felicity & it shall fall before you as leaves from the tree in winter fear nothing but take Courage in the highest who mercifully prefers you to his honour & Glory

1686 Iune 9th Fornarius ~~[illegible]~~

There appeared 3 stars triangular with over the ston & a sun like appearance in the center of that triangle & fiery rayes issuing out of it and an Imperiall forme in it And in the sollid glass theresof in dare is a fiery ball in the two of it like the testimony & one spirtum a weighting and on other in weith with a crowne on over seeing it And Samuel was before the ston and the ston is incompassed with fiery rayes & filled with glory & spirituns in it in the ston is a font like lying and the lowermost star of the triangle over the ston darts downe a ray into ye font and there afrownd out out of the font a blewish breath that twists about that solar ray that comes from ye star above the ston; and there is 3 in Imperiall forme that stands before the font And there is two kneeling downe of each side the font And before the font is Michael & in the midle & Raphael & Gabriel of each side & on the south side of the font is Vriel & my selfe kneeling & on the north side is Lenanael & I R kneeling, and Michael & Raphael & Gabriel turned to the East & did some adoration and smiled upon they turned to the East and now Samuel smiles and it seemes as if they were conferring some blessings on the two humaine spirtums; And Samuel said we see that as the hunted buck upon over tired panteth after the water brooke so doth your soules not only having bin hunted both great Afflictions hath bin tired & over tired with hopes of a blessed Escape of such dangers & dangerous consequences attending the Malitious envie thereof even so I say doth your soules thirst after a happy deliverance and restoration from imminent fears into the enjoyment of peace & plenty which comforts are not denied you but with all know that as it is a comon saying amongst you, that Gods time is the best time which you may also understand from holy writ as may be traced all along unto you, untill we come unto the very Messiah it selfe who when much importuned to come to the visitt of dying Lasurus yea though dead yet he made not the more hast to save his life but still continued 4 dayes longer in the place where he was, by which time the dead was buried yet notwithstanding he said if they would yet beleive in the great mercies of the highest they should see the glory of their God but I have said enough And though I make noe Comparisons, yet you may reasonably beleive y^t y^e faith & obedience hath not made you less capable of mercy nor more hopefull then obtaining deliverance & restoration unto joy & comfort And I tell you S^r y^t your trubles shall drop away & become noe more but shall be changed into a new life as it were raised in Glory and a springing comfort of an happy plenitude of peace & joy unto you and it turned to me & smiled & said I would have you S^r to take notice of the last arthana that was showed forth unto you & wright it out in a sheet of paper & bring it with you to be illustrated you are now S^r through Celestiall grace blessed with hope of your desires, which now you will soone enjoy by the permission of divine grace & mercy more superiour in the highest & pleasure in the sacred deity of which may further showe forth on the 8th day at which time I shall meet you here againe with what divine pleas= sure shall emit unto its servants & so unto you I E R I charge you S^r not to extinguish the lights untill the sun be set, the greatness of this day hath brought deliverance with it

June 17th: 1686: the first

There appeared a Delicate spirit in white in the forepart of the ston[e], it is And, and it hath a golden rod in its hand & it looks pleasantly on us & And stands on a globe or ball of glass or cristall of many Collours & it poynts to the Collours with its golden rod & the Collours seemd to Change or alter but the Collours were not in the glass ball untill it poynted to it with its golden rod And now the ball yt And standes on is of a flaming Collour sparkling or shining And and looks on us & smiles And said it is generally concluded amongst the Children of the Earth that the fate & destiny of all mankind is Brittle and very uncertaine even as the humors Conditions Constitutions & quallityes thereof are different & various & subject to Change which Maxim holdeth Experimentally Credible as the diversities of a good or ill fate is usually observa= =ble amongst such as consider not more then the Infer= =iour part of Sensuallity, And Erring thinking that nothing is in any wise perpetually Certaine, but uncertainly, those I say Judg according to Ignorant Sensuallity not measuring the Power & effects of superiour Causes first appearing in Purity & Perfection & altered by the various dispositions & Indispositions of such Contrarieties as either sin spoile or Kind findeth in the bed of Conception or mistake in rightly apprehending the Cause & effects of Naturall Improvements, Alas as such Ignorance knowes not the begining of mercy so they can not reach to the end of grace nor knowing thereof in its benifits, it is affliction that makes mankind apprehensive of mercy but Pride & Plenty makes them Ignorant of truth how then is it with the servants of the highest that hath bin truly Educated in the Academy & trialls of afflictions & sent sent the Pilgrimage of Care sorrow trouble & tribulation Ah Sr behould them after many fould Changes desperation fears & jealosies the transparent light of Eternall grace brings the servants of the highest to the united end of all temporall & eternall happiness the comparison whereof Sr I shall manifest unto you 35

But god be thanked good friend fear not your Providence fit are not mortall god will yet bless thee, whom yet with life to be a comfort to thy selfe & progeny but thats the worst Relation you have in your occupation & Imployment because you may have the more time to mind other businesse — —

I will by divine grace & permission meet you againe on ye 6th day as it shall please god

The Angell ~~[illegible]~~ Belasim

1686 June 23th Thd 2d:

There appeared a fiery Rainbow or Arch of grace from one sollid glass Receipt Cleare over the ston to the other & under the midle of the Arch is a transcendent Star that poynts a Ray into the midle of the ston, And in ye ston is a Riall paile yt glitters much & round ye ston is short flams mixd Rays & there is white paile in the sollid glass Receipt And there is a sylverish Cloud before the ston and in it is a spectrum it is Samuell & it looks on us both & pleasantly smiles And saith

So Sr I salute this the your Convention in ye Name of Celestiall Love with good welcome; And I am comanded to bid you stand fast & keepe your ground, Relapse not neither fall back, but looke forwards, for the most pleasent prospect of true felicity standeth before you And the Gates of Peace are opened for Entrance And the Angellicall Earme of Celestiall grace is ready opened, to Receive, & imbrace you, And yet notwithstanding there is a great conflict arising which toucheth you not (speaking to me) but ye shaft is poynted at F R but the venome thereof shall not touch F R: for the host of heaven fighteth for you & shall certainely defend & preserve you from all infernall & diabollicall envies & evills, you are safe enough & well fortified against all malignities, therefore let not the sound of any malitious Rumors or Reports enter your Ears to the desturbance of your spirits, but stay stand fast & smile thereat for they shallbe confounded & brought into Nothing, And I hope you shall live to behould the utter distruction & finall dissolution thereof for ever, I know you were Informed to attend some the Comands yt shallbe severally Injoyned you on ye 9 or 16th day of July it is matter of Concernment to you both 36 if possibillities might or could be Imparted the full glory of the day should rather be dubled or tribled then in any wise lessened or Impared therefore I said unto you stand fast & fall not back but looke forward for by how much you glorify your entrance into promised happiness by so much are you glorified & united into Celestiall grace were you but sensible of what standeth before you or could behould as in a Mirrour the beauty & splendour of those promised Injoyments standing Ready to be conferred upon you, you would now strive against the most turbulent stormes & stormes to attaine the desired Peace there of,. well Sr though weake in the flesh yet let the action of this day comfort your spirits & be thankfull to the highest for his gratious & great mercies unto you in your Conservations by passed, & present hopes of future Deliverance on ye 7th day you must comeen at this Mystery but I know little of action willbe fit for your Inspecti =ion for yt cometh on ye next or 8th day therefore I think it befitteth you to make the 7th day your day of thanksgiving or day of Jubile giving thanks unto god for his mercy & Injoying your selves as becometh you with all sobriety & in such Manner with good Refreshments & good company as your discretion befitteth & guideth you likely & the presence of divine grace in the unity of the blessed Trenity with the Celestiall love of all his servants in the Angellicall Comunity of Celestiall fellowship associated with you in like Enjoyment to the glory & prayse of the highest & your happy deliverance from all Infernall Terrestiall & domestick Malignities & Calamities

Amen Hallelujah

1686 June 30 Ternary ~~present ...~~ a — — There appeared over the ston an Imperiall Portamus with a sword in one hand & a Scepter in the other and it is all over in wonderfull glory & entwisted in with stars & it looks pleasantly on us And before the ston is And & before the North sollid glass receipt is Murifri & before the southern sollid glass receipt is Nalvage And in the ston is a fountaine in Glory like fire & before it stands Michaell in Mighty Regall & Imper =iall forme And before Michaell stands Uriel Raphael & Gabriel And between Uriel & Raphael stand R O & between Raphael & Gabriel stands E R: And Murifri & Nalvage have communication with the Portamus in the two sollid glass receipts that they stand before And And looked on us & smiled Then R O & E R kneled downe & Michaell spake to them And Michaell doth take of the cleare white water of the fountaine & doth wash R O & E R heads & Eyes then Michaell tooke them by the hands & lifted them up & they stood up
And And said here is the entrance into the great mystery of your operation & it is considerable to you you are now entered the Admission of Celestiria & conducting onwards into Peace & happiness the end of hopes, & Glory of deliverance

July 1: 1686: 37 ~~38~~

There appeared a fire over the ston or rather a glory & out of it darted a Ray directly to me And over the sollid glass receipt next to me is Hachiel in Regall forme & over the other is Zedekiel in Regall forme & they looke on me & pleasantly & doth all the show In the Center of the ston Michaell & Raphael to ye Northward of it & next to Michaell to the Southward is R O & then Uriel & next to Raphael is E R & then Gabriel and round about y^m is a Circle of Imperiall Portamus and they are in a Joyfull posture and temper —— And there darted downe a Ray from a bright star above in ye top of the ston & that poynted downe between Michaell & Raphael And before the ston is And & Guaniah before the sollid glass receipt next me & Samariel before the other And they all looke on us & smile & Rejoyce And out of the Glory over the ston came a star & it fell on And, And And tooke out of its bosome a very diaphinous ston set in Gold & held it out to me ward & put it into its bosome againe And And said, The Transparent fire of Celestiall Love descending by divine grace & Admission into the blessed mereeds of Celestiriah enlightning the Children of Israel elect unto mercy dignifieth the corporall house with spirituall light to the highest Ascendant of hopefull Joy to the Heires of that promise as conforming the fulfilling the true Enjoyment of unspeakable felicity It is not the Children of the Earth nor the Mallice of the Infernall Collegies with all the batteries of their malitious rancors can or shall withstand the Power of Celestiall & Celestrian strength & safety protecting, garding, & conducting the Children of grace heires of divine Promise unto the full enjoyment of those promised mercies to me. Now Sr let me also you I behold your Artificiall Receptacle & it seemed to me to shew or be somewhat difficient & defective & not fit for your privat diversions then it were very excellent & surpassing fair at its first begining yet it is subject to perrishe for time to prey upon it and for the weaknesse of its radicall vigor to yeald to the extreemity of seasons when inordinate & exceeding the Naturall temperature of qualities therefore I would have you bring the same as it is prefixed for your use without alteration or taking from its frami or otherwise altering ough thereof to this Mystery & we shall dignify you with a more transplendent & transcendent fuel but with all sir under submission how doe you find the same to be, Ay Sr and those words will seem quite throw, well then Sr are you content here with, why then we shall befriend you in the highest the 21th day of this Month wilbe dies Tornarine I would have you also present your first preparatio of 1th of salt of tarter & 2th of oyle of vittriole now Sr you may be confident you are entred into the way of your hopes & into the hopes of your felicity for the which give thanks unto the highest & you may depart for I desire not more given me to say

July 7th: 1686 . ~~the~~ first

There appeared a Riall vaile in the ston & a fiery Cherub over it and before the vaile is Raphael & Mahabid and in the leather part of the ston is Anael & Ellemese And over the ston is a star that darts a Ray downe into the ston that gives a light into it; and they all come neer together. And Anael smiled on me & said well Sr we hear you complaine but we hope through Grace in the highest the Mouth of Complaint & the causes thereof wilbe stopped & removed ere it be long therefore we still say despaire not I have bin lately amongst some of your Adversaries & behold their thoughts, & inclinations; & find by some motives some persuations & some Advertisements arising from some Envious inventions that indeed are under a fear of hopes in future prosperities finding undertakings not fully to answere Ambitions expec-tations are consulting or would consult how or by what meanes to dissolve your house & imployment or to reduce & might it with some other interest & association the reasons whereof I could informe you but will suffer it to pass by us at this time And I withall Advise you if any Motion hereof should be offer to your superior power intrusting you and you should be consulted about it let the person intrusting you utterly deny any offere made for it will turne all wholly to great losse & damage & they wilbe cheated & wrapped up in great troubles in seeking Redresse therefore Advise to beware believe me Sr there are good provisions preparing for you which will shortly be presented shewed further

And made knowne unto you & therefore I Advise you to keepe your accustomary offertories untill further order Two things there are which hath bin promised the one hath not yet bin showed forth nor Attempted to any experience viz the Amendment of your Glass the other is a pritty thing or medicine, which you have Attempted, but failed in it Take 3 gallons of urine of those that drink the wine and set it in a wooden vessell 14 or 15 dayes to putrefy in a moderate place for heat and then put into it a pint & $\frac{1}{4}$ of brandy and let it stand till it gets over it a skin or head over it & mind well when that heads breakes then distill it & you will find salt enough it is good Medison for feavoridis & feavers beyound all other medicens

1686 July: 15: the 2d thursday There appeared a Glorious ~~Vail~~ Royall vail about the ston & there is a white Sylverish Ray poynting poynting downe into ye ston & just before the Midle of the ston is a bright sparke & it gave a great flash and there stood like a sunshiny Cloud before ye ston & a person in it & it looked wishfully on me & smiled And said Gods Peace be with his servants, the Name is Sabalani I of the midle part of the Order of Dominations, & said I am sent of my superiours in Order to your Motion, to let you know that now you are entred into Celestian frindshipp you need not contract any fear upon your spirits or dread any Corporall Euills more then what heaven it selfe sees not to restraine; for the wickednes of some Envious persons may seeme to appear & presume though it be to their utter distruction, & desperation; as being forsaken

And given to reprobate sensualities, & voluptuous delights, Alas they may vex you but they cannot touch you I say againe fear not what the Mallace of mankind can doe unto you since it cannot prevaile against you, wish, banish away your troubled & jelous thoughts, & give your soules the freedom of those Corporall Injoyments that are sealed upon your hopes, And confirmed in your faith, And keepe your Accustomary Orders & be Ready for action the 6th & 7th dayes Meet also on Monday Morning about 10 of the Clock

1686 July 19th Monday:
~~There~~ appeared Sabalani & Esmeli And Esmeli said to me I pray you Sr what value doe you set upon your late Weight about 4lb I am sent to tell you ye weddensday is dies Cornarius wherein you must observe your usuall Cornarian offertory and also one offertory of the full value hereof which is better then to withdraw this from you viz 4lb & 15d and then you shall have your Weight delivered into your hand & so as it shall please God sight may be given you according to the will & pleasure of the highest And Sabalani said, Mine Allyes present hath conferred a mercy unto you I must also show forth what I am commanded on ye like condition You must also besides the Cornarian offertory & what is commanded by the message of mine Ally there must be 3 Angels crowned in order to the 3 visions that must also be conferred on you at the will & pleasure of the highest
And the time shall come that you shall behold all the treasures of the Earth & by Mediums in office proper bring them thence which through divine grace permitting will supply your wants &c

and give you comfort in your Terrestiall beings the 3 visions are first the hidden treasures of the Earth secondly is the Mines of the Earth laid open & discovered the 3^d is the great worke of the Sophiarchs in a better manner and to greater purpose then any mortall yet had it

July 21th:1686:: Fornary present ~~the~~ [illegible]

There appeared a Spectrum over the ston in Imperiall forme in wonderfull Glory all over like fire And the ston is all full of Glory like a flame of fire there is also a Spectrum over each sollid glass receipt in white and in sollid glass receipts they set some books & papers by, as if they were to be delivered And in the hollow receipts are Suranial & Damariel & many Gnomes with them the Spectrum over the sollid glass receipt next me is Nalvage & that Spectrum over the other is Ave
And in the ston is 4 Glorious Spectrums in Imperiall forme And two humaine Spectrums in white with Laurell Crowns their heads like a King and the Leaves small but of a bright greene collour the 4 Glorious Spectrums are the 4 Arkangels and they stand a little distance from the font like a ring & they stand one East an other west one North & the other South from ye font and the two humaine Spectrums are on their knees before the font R O on ye South side of it & the other on the North side of it, And ~~Ave said~~ all the ~~the~~ Spectrums doe smile with pleasant Countenances Ave said Nothing is more pleasing or Acceptable then obedience nor Attracteth greater benifits of mercy of which it is truly hoped in the highest you will graciously partake to his glory & your comforts you may take your gift & esteem it as a good will the effects whereof will crowne you with Joy meet on Monday next about 9 a clock 40

July:26: 1686: Monday:

There is a transcendent Viall waile in the ston & a Raye goes upwards out of the ston ~~pint~~ poynting upwards & a little bright star at the top of it And Ave appeared before the ston all in white & it looked wishfully towards me & smiled to me, well dear brother in the highest, & neibour in Celestiall by Comunity & fraternety: you have Information of making a Liquor showed forth & revealed unto you which was said should be further Illustrated And Explained with the Improove =ment which will shortly be, you shall Intitle or call it Menstruum Magnum et Misticum It cannot S^r be unknowne unto you that a true dissolvent by a naturall humid fire must be the endeavour of what both Antient & Moderne Sophiarks have so carefully concealed from the Arrogancy of Profuse & presumtious posterety And other profane Ignorants It is true somewhat of the worke hath bin of them much treated off but hardly ever a due Confection either of Spetie or matter as a begining thereof, which shall all be made knowne & Revealed there will be no Action untill monday next I am also Recalled & must withdraw to order but prayse you the highest & be thankfull Returne thanks & cease

Augus^t: 2^d: 1686: Monday: the 2^d In the time of Prayer there appeared a Red Circle about my head & a Red Star poynting downe a Ray into my heade all of a transparent Red like a Ruby And the ston is incompassed with Glory all Red & a Ray goes upwards from the top of the ston as Red as a Ruby there is a little star over each sollid glass receipt of a Ruby rednesse also: and vailes in each of them mixt with transparent whitenesse & rednesse a good way in the ston is like a walk of Cristall addorned with Rubyes or red ston and a passage through it like a gateway but we see no gate to it & there is a glorious spiritum all in red, before in the ston and imperially crowned, it hath a wand in its hand transparent green

There is a royall spiritum before the ston clothed in scarlet & it looked to us ward & smiled & said more not nor speake a word untill the show be over — — there is the testimony in the top of the ston

The red spiritum in the ston after it had received us it went to the entrance or gateway & said or called you have two Morsdi whom I call for And Goetia } immediatly appeared a spiritum in the place of entrance in white but covered over with a red vaile & it came forth & after it came two humane spiritums & as they came forward we discerned them to be R:O & I R and then the red spiritum turned to R O & spake to him, And the red spirit did call to the sollid glass receipt on my side & Immediatly a spiritum brought in a Mortar glass with salt of tartar in it & there was a glass bottle with spt vittrioll in it set downe by it and there was set downe a pint retort with a glass stopple to a pipe in the top of it then I tooke the salt of tartar & put it into the pint retort at the neck of it & set it in a bed of sand to stand fast & put a receiver to it & luted it with bladders soaked in the whites of Egs & so to stand untill it was dry, then I put of some of the spirit of vitt into the pipe & so did more & more & ever stopped it close & fumes came over into the receiver & condensed into cleare white water & the red spiritum ordered that the manifesting of the way of practise should be delivered speedily

And: I R with the spiritum in white that was vailed over with red was in discourse & called & a spiritum brought a booke & they looked in it and tooke it away with them and now the ston is full of Rubie glory

And the spiritum before the ston is Lomiel & it said the appearance in action at this day Sirs showeth the neer approach of mercy unto you, it hath bin already sent unto you & your prayers hath ascended into the presence of divine grace therefore although it suffereth you to be incumbred with many vexations of spirit, It now presenteth the Answere of your humble supplications & petitions wonder not therefore when you behold the Action of this day exceedingly strange & contrary to former appearances, it is not of humaine apprehention, for it representeth the change of your troublesome estate so much complain ed of into a glorious redemption or exaltation of temporall & spirituall felicity so that we are not Sirs of any Naturall imagination to be judged of by appearance in Action by reason we are as mediums of superior grace & power Celestiall administrators of that soveraigne power & pleasure as by office is given to be administred wee are therefore sent & to correspond it is sent forth & appointed unto all the use of the Lordshall Mosdi ab are blessed with entrance into the ballance
&

And Community of Celestiall & Heavenly Enjoyment also of that Celestiall Friendship which the world knoweth not a true forerunner of Hight & Dignity to me, Now then S^r understand me what name will you call this Liquor by when you shall have the Stone either by your selfe or me you shall call it Menstruum Magnū & Mistitum there is such things preparing as will put period to all our Troubles to me I am commanded S^r that you take great care of the Stone Ston given you & prise it as a Jewell that Ned Hartum is the Celestiall dispossesser of all Ellementary Compositions & proportions of ellementary things who also is commanded by office to show forth & make known these things, the other Spirit was Gabriel who is to discover accidentall things or things hid or lost

I am commanded S^r & that more in perticular then ordinary that you have great & Considerable Regard unto your Next Ternarian day of Action which is of very great and Considerable Accompt also which I know to be on ye 11th Instant whereon your Ternarian Offertory must also they be Trebled that you might be graced & rewarded into this great & Gratious Celestiall Change S^r fear you not you have no Cause I know it will be Answered with answerable Recompence I meet you againe on friday next at 8th in y^e morne or 9 untill which time we must adjurne the Rest of this action by Reason I am forcebly Recalled

at to great Friendship & and stand thus long Temporally with you to comfort your spirits with Celestiall hopes of your Terrestiall happines wherewith the most high God endow & blesse you

August: 6 : 1686: Friday

The Ned Hartum & and so the Action before is now a good way in the Ston in Imperiall Fame & all over in Glory like fire and in the fore part of the Ston is due & Lowmiel And they discourse & now & then doe smile on one the other And Ned said to me, & smiled on Lowmael & then on me if it were a strange matter for you S^r as yet to be disturbed & vexed with Malitious lyes & inventions & other false Rumors & Reports, it might then be a Great trouble unto you, Therefore hath premonitions bin given to withstand & slite them what you now talke of is no more then what hath bin foretold, touching I R who because the wicked attender cannot effect, he then entertaines such wicked Intenderers as to act his evill purposes, you have bin told S^r first as touching your Employment since the separation of envious parties seeking to undermine & destroy your Interest every way ostentatiously given out such menaces as not only to Ruine the odious but they would also to a distrusting Levell, I pray you then what hath bin said I tell you then if see right that if those prodigall presumptions undertakers are once wearied though to your losse & fear of dispaire you will see them fall as leaves in Autumn which would be in about sixteen or 17 Months wrotten you then from ye Month of October last past & then Reach to March next & tell me an Attempt thereof; I know I Looked on the right place & beleived him not deceaved still I say fear nothing neither set a value on false rumors

And now let me further tell you that After the next Ternary which happens on the 11th Instant monday shalbe your day of action & thirsday shalbe your day of Reading over & Correcting the Calls being thirsday the 12th my troubles are past & I need not fear any thing, Lovanael saide to ER I tould you Sir that you should have some vexations by Reason of envious & wicked Divell Gonzaret hath entred into some wicked persons to scandalize & persecute thee with most Notorious lyes & falsehoods after december next neither of you will be troubled any more my thinks I heard you contend about the word Goetia it is the Name of a booke which was then called for and to satisfie you further I will call for the same againe; Euthesia pray you come hether And a little sweetrim came & brought a booke in lose papers, not bound - but it hath bin bound & is unbound I pray you for once goe & pay the booke binder & then ~~[illegible]~~ & after together & the little sweetrim saide I will if it pleaseth you, but I know you will then pay me wages, & then they smiled & Lovanael said good lack Child trust me I will pay the wages ~~therefore let thy~~ worke be plainely, well & sent don 44 Answer, yea & if it please you I goe & obay your Com= =mands said to Lovanael with your friends thanked me looking on us & smiled 43

Lovanael to me you need not Sir be so earnestly eager about your Report, for I am under examination with mine Allies Chamely & Elemoth of Composing a Method or forme of Operation by Comparing the manner thereof with others of the like kind Reserving only a distinction of their differently in their Naturall Contractures & so to bring you a president of that my selfe or otherwise by Order from mine allies, therefore at present doe what you please but use it not untill you heare further well Sir I hope when you see the likelyhood of a downe fall upon your Enimies then you may rejoyce & be comforted with an assured testimony & signe of a future & happy deliverance well Sir you may make a reasonable offertory at your owne voluntary dispensation & so Returne thanks to god for we must ~~Returne to~~ our orders & you also to your temporall affaires wherein the most high God blesse prosper & preserve you to his Glory & your owne Comforts Amen Hallelujah

August: 11th: 1686 - Ternary [illegible]

There Appeared in ye stone [illegible] is a Solar Appearance And a Ray goes up [illegible] from it of a Ruby Reddish and at the end of that Ray is a star of a Glittering Solar Collour of wonderfull Glory above ye stone There is 3 Spectrums before the stone There is the forme of An Imperiall Spectrum in the stone all in Red and there is a Spectrum of each side of it in white but have a Reddish cast And in the sollid Glass Receipts of each side the stone is Riall Spectrums in white Raiments and they all looke pleasantly
And this Red Spectrum hath a wand in its hand of two wands twisted together the one white the other Red & it holds it in its hand as a scepter And on the Right side of this Spectrum is a whitish Spectrum that hath a bowlhead in its hand & in it is a Red Mass & on the other hand is another Spectrum yt hath a bowlhead in its hand & hath a whitish water in it and Ezomeli is ye Spectrum yt had the bowlhead in its its hand with the Red Mass in it, And Ilemese had the white water

Nalvage Murifri & Mapsama are before the stone And Murifri saide Move not but be humble & obedient ye place is holy & Depart not untill licence given And Ilemese speake to that Spectrum in ye North sollid Receipt And Ezomeli speake to that Spectrum in the South sollid Glass Receipt but what they said we know not And they 3 before the stone conferred with them in the stone And ~~Ezomeli~~ Murifri said ye booke called Cochia is ny ye stone I may see it but not take it away without licence [illegible] Action And it shall be all fulfilled unto you & your felicity accomplished which ye most high God Give & grant unto you to the fulness of your Comfort

Amen Hallelujah 44
I must bring ye booke yt is not ~~not~~ without to examine it

August 12th: 1686: thirsday There Appeared in the stone And it smiled on us & also Nalvage & Mapsama, and they are in serious Conference together And Ane saide Well Sirs God hath saved you & our trust is that he will for ever save you & be a ~~[illegible]~~ Comfort unto you & all his servants verily Sirs our late Ternarian Action of yesterday had like to have bin overwhelmed & both it & our oratories violently surprised & also deminished or taken away by ye damnable & divillish assalt of a wicked offender of ye great Divill Gonzardt who breaking his Chaine after a limited expiration, hath broke [illegible] loose, and bin lurking in the harts of some of your envious Enimies stirring them up to wicked Conspiracies against your Innocency but God be thanked we were in place by divine permi ssion to defend the place & all things in action of the time concerned And Glorified be his holy Name we are become victors & conquered that Infernall Assalt which was Attemp =ted by 7 Infernall Agents, And all is cleared before you againe though the conflict was great & not Measurable of your knowledg for which glorifie God in ye fulness of spirit & zealous Ardor wearily Sr the Action of yesterday was [struck] for it showed forth unto you by that satied Appearance though seemingly contrary in show to naturall apprehension or humane conjecture the true & hopefull effect of what is & hath bin promised to the fulfilling of your desires in the great worke of Nature the destined effects whereof is ignorantly & improperly presumed to transmute or change baser Mettals into finer, No Sr not the worst of Mettalls bore the same species of Nature & kinde in its embrionated conceptions & radicated fermentations though converted into a baser product by a contrariety & inequallity of principles & elementary proportions & the temprature or intemprature of the womb receiving or rejecting celestiall influences upon terrestiall bodies as naturally inherent & consequently inseparable; No Sr I say this great Medicine expells baser things separating purity from impurity cleansing fowle dross from finer parts & so by uniting the true temperate fermented spirit of its first creation; then equally purifieth & so thereby converteth the baser part of any thing into as absolute & fine a being as the finest & best of things Naturall yea & better, by reason Nature is subject to infirmities, as being meerly & essentiall elementary only, but when a celestiall or divine quintessence is administred, maketh Nature then incorruptible & immortall; even as Medicine composed only of elementary ingredients essentiall healeth divers ordinary sicknesses & prolongeth health but when death cometh then Mortallity ceaseth & the quintessentiall robe of immortallity is put on & all afterwards together into immortall & incorruptible glory & so comparatively is the quallity & condition of mankind is unhappily reduced to great wants penuries & desperate dangers how uncomfortable & how Miserable is the state of that person when wishing for death it flyeth from him like as hunted 45 Hare from ravinous persutes, when divine grace & mercy shall yet shine forth & give deliverance to this contented discontent & by the light of that grace conduct it into a safe & happy state of peace & plenty, how great is this comfort is it not a terrestially divine glory & suitable to a celestiall enjoyment, truly Sr in our Rosicrucian observation we may truly compare terrestiall happinesse to celestiall blessednesse as to there different kinds

we then conclude thus you are in the present state of mortification as to wants & discontents being then of course will become immortall in your enjoyment of peace plenty & true happinesse both here & hereafter as I doe certainly assure if the most high God is pleased to give you life whilst our charge is in order to your conduct, wherein, we shall make as dexterous a progress as divine grace giveth admission

And wee will begin to examin the books on Monday Morning & thursday &c not meet on wednesday Morning on action I would have you Sr make a voluntary small offertory of your signall obedience when you come then here by reason of internall instinuations & intreatyments, you are not enjoyned to doe it of necessity nor to any expence but at pleasure as you please reserving only & excepting any offertory weekly & otherwise enjoyned on times of action both ternarian & annually quaternian & so we shall leave you at this time unto the care of the highest & his grace governing in your protection & preservation which we humbly with you beseech of him to his glory & your comfort Amen hallalujah it is not amiss to let blood in the Earne but it may doe very well 1686 August 18th — the first

There appeared 3 in the ston that semed to be very pleasa and they are in some consult or conferance There is one ~~in the~~ in the Midle & formost only Notte seeme Estomelt on my side, And shee had a paper booke in its hand a looking over it & they 3 smile one on the other very Mute as they confer about it very seriously And shee poynted to me & smiled & shut the book And shee said Yea Srs I have given me to show forth but that we must at this time Adjurne untill the Morrow when, deo volente, we shall meet againe we must therefore till then withdraw & so may you after you have returned thanks to the highest 1686 August 19 thirsday

There Appeared One in the ston & very pleasant, and sa well Srs I would not have you Contend on trifling supposition for folly & suspition, bringeth great disorders & inconveniences, I heard you question some doubtfull Imaginations about the Menstruum you had here let me tell you Srs though all Naturall things & supernaturall sciences came at first to the knowledge of man by Angeli =call Inspiration, yet some fragments may decay to Posteri =ty who are altogether Ignorant of the Mystery & true meaning of them, which at all touches not the estima =tion & true use of them in any science which tends as I could instance plentifully it hath bin shewed forth unto you that you shall certainly have the true use thereof, And I will also tell you further it shalbe delivered you only 15 or 22 or 23 dayes of the next month if not sooner by your labor therein & thereby find Redemption & so consequently one branch of your happy deliverance Come on then —

It is true Srs this is a Certaine Collection that hath bin shewed forth at divers times & occasions to some Persons but I tell you you have A forme of Prayer which is somewhat more Authentick & leave this prayer quite the name of the King Bataiva is a divine Name drawne from some Attribute commanding the whole Angels of the East

* do humbly Intreat Earnestly beseech Powerfully move and call you forth to (in the Call of the first 4 sett over

I am called away & can stay no longer with you only 7th day I meet you againe on wednesday & thirsday next weeke

1686 August 25: the 2d:

There appeared 3 spiritts in Conferance in the ston and beyond them is a place as Red as a Ruby the three are Loranael, And & Cothabiel And doth give Comand that the spirits of the water of the Earth of the Aire & of the fire be Ready for Comand by the Office of Suroemiah & Samariel And said I dare not Reveale nor show forth what is given me for the motive part of this action is in order to the fulfilling of your earnest supplications you humbly pray Referred & in order thereunto we are given in Charge the mean thereof Referred to particulars every of each one distinctly by a table appoynted for ye subject

And Lawnaell looked to ye sollid glass Kerept on the South side & Corhabiell to ye on the North side and the walls drew in them & there was in them those Ellementall spirits belonging to the 4 ellements and there was Samariel in the South Kerept & he was giveing Charge to them in ye Kerept & Furcaniah did so also in the other — And all the Ellementall spirits did reverence to Furcaniah & Samariel And every Ellement is devided in to 4 parts & every one of those parts in to 4 parts — — — and now all the Ellementall spirits doe rejoyce & doe reverence to those 2 viz Furcaniah & Samari and a veile came over them all And now Furcaniah & Samariel are in the ston in conference with the other 3 viz Lawnaell And and ~~An~~ Corhabiel, And Aue looked on me & smiled & said well Sr be comforted for you have through divine grace Mediums of Comfort redily assisting you as it shall please the highest of which my selfe is not of the meanest orders Nor of the highest but equally sufficient in place & office to serve my God & comfort his servants in the Administra -tion thereof at his pleasure & Comand therefore be not dismaid though you seeme comfortless & troubled in spirit but looke up & behold the salvation of the highest extended to his servants in the Midst of dispai to morrow in the Morni I meet you here againe about 9 & give thanks to the highest for the action of this day & so withdraw for I am also called to order

August: 26th: 1686: : thirsday: — 2d — — — There appeared Aue in a vaile & and he drew the vaile The first we say in ye ston a Glorious redness a good way in then came 3 spectrums with things ~~feathers~~ about like a Cords of 3 strands in their hands but the things like trumpits habbited like Harrolds but their coats went downe to their feet then came An Imperiall spectrum richly robed & crowned and five like pages held up the traine of the robe after it then came ye 6 seniors then came 16 & 16 more & a great number after them and they went round the ston a procession & so went into that red place againe And Aue said I could not Sr well dispence with informing you of examining your invocations untill a solemne Procession was Made in order to proofe thereof else I might have continued longer ye last day in order thereunto, but I must also observe & obay which thus far hath fulfilled mine & your obedience meet me therefore at 8 in the Morne & I shall ease you of that bestitled good Purpose for I must also goe Procession with my fellow servants of the highest: ~~remembr~~ friday in ~~~~ the weeke was your begining of ye promise made to you Now then Sr see how divine Providence hath favoured & overshaddowed you with a shield of mercy untill this time & doubtless through hope faith in the highest will continue your defender & Protector untill the end of time Amen. — — — —

1686 August 27th : ffriday : . 2d : . —

There appeared Aud, & it seemed very pleasant & it smiled on me & said you may Sr read over your Lesson in ye first servient of the East (to our comfort & benifit * And we also command Conjure & constraine you in by & through this great & Mighty name of your God Ardeza & by ye force vertue & power thereof to fulfill & accomplish all our demands & requests that we shall propose & make unto you as by Nature & office is given you of the highest, move therefore And ~~come away~~ Immediatly come away without any further Prolixity or delay open the Misteries of yr for his mercy endureth for ever. * O you spirituall servant or messager of mercy & Ellemental power of light ~~Celestially dignified~~ dignified (N)

4 And by the Mighty power vertue efficacy & force thereof

7 for the which we have moved & called you from your orders here before us and make these our Addresses unto you to show forth reveale & make knowne unto us by office given unto you of the highest the true knowlidg of Physick in all its part & the curing of all disseases, and so by these your Assistances herein fully to instruct us & make us ■ full partakers thereof whereunto we doe hereby powerfully demand of you wherein your obedience shall be a song of honour And the prayse of your God in your creation

Tuesday is Tornarian day being a coppy of the last Call & Constraint as it is Corrected Truly Sr I thinke now you precede out to be pritty well & having finished, what is given me, do now Returne to order

Tuesday

There Appeared a spectrum before the ston in a silverish Cloud it is Samuel, and in the hollow crests at the bottome of them is a darknes & like serpenting things crawling in and out like a heape of Eeles and seeme to be affrighted and at the top of the Crest there is like a flaming sword poynting downwards and Samuel observes the ston & sollid glass crest And in the Center of the ston is an Imperiall spectrum in a red Cloud and from it at ye 4 Angles or quarters stands Michael Uriel Raphael & Gabriel & between each archangle growes a tree that hath a boundance of delicate fruite like Gold silver &c and of all Collours as Green blew & transparent like pretious stone and the Leaves as delicate beyond all compare Michael is in the East & Uriel in the west & Raphael in ye North & Gabriel in ye South & Michael & Uriel doe looke pleasantly on me, And in the sollid glass crest next me is Samuel & it turned to ye East & south & seemed to ~~move~~ move somewhat that way And there came in to the crest from ye East the king of the East viz Bataiua: with there trumpeters before him & Banners & 5 princes following ye king & the seniors and an Innumerable company after them in their degrees & they marched & made procession round the glass crest doing adoration to the ston & so went away & so they did after the from the South And in ye North sollid glass crest was Fusoniah & it moved to ye west & North And the like appearance was there from ye west & after ye from ye North And then came a flash & And came in to ye sollid glass crest next me & communed with Samuel & Ezemael came into the other hands communed with Fusoniah and they all have correspondency with the ston & the Imperi all spectrum in the Center of ye ston doth cast red flashes from it; And Samuel said Trust me Sr this is great & of good to you best befitting ye hopes & fulling your ~~[illegible]~~ requests but stay awhile

And Samuiel bowed to the stone & turned & threw like a spa of fire to that hollow receipt & then the flaming sword fell down on those ugly things & set them all of a flame & burnt them to Ashes And said So god be thanked I have obediently quit my Charge as Commanded, I must returne to my Celestiall Order where mine Allies Samariel & Zusaniah & Ane & Lewanael are making ready for your Entertainment meet on Monday next then the rest of this action followeth

Sept 6th: 1686: Monday

There appeared in the stone Ane & Lewanael & they smile one on the other & Consers together about me; about Peter Fish it is nothing but some Malitious Knave hath set the ~~fole~~ foole a Madding and then they smiled on me And on Thursday I shall have Answere about John & his wife Ane said to Lewanael Trust me dear we must now see to the Amendment of his Glass metle; so much desired & wherein it may be so meliorated as to exceed common Improvements let not the Knaves triumph & Glory, in their malitious function to me Well Sr believe it as it shall please the highest & my superiors to omit grace & power unto me I will as freely & friendly shew forth & Comunicate the same unto you, be not dismaid therefore for I trust in the highest you will yet stand fast & free from dispaires & fears & keep your place with honour you shall heare more of it the next day of action stay a while and they came againe And Ane said All Glory honour & prayse with great thankefullness be returned unto the most high God for his Paternall mercies unto all things his servants as truly & stedfastly serve him & put their faith & trust in him, : That red spirtum is the Messager of the Promises and will discover to the great Secret opening all the books of the Sophiarts & stayes here to do it as it shall please god well Sr I do assure you this forme is a good forme but yet keep that paper here untill the next day of action being thursday next
well Sr you have bin made partakers of grace & mercy in the action of this & the last day for the which give thankes unto your god & be comforted herein, & that his mercy endureth for ever And the which we also humbly pray may never be withdrawn nor depart from you Amen Hallalujah

Sept 9th: 1686: the first after the present

There Appeared two spiritums before in the stone (viz) Ane & Lewanael and a third spiritum beyond them And Ane said, Come on then Sr to our Purpose the were inquiring of the state & being of your Kinsman he was growne fat & gross & corpulent in body I cannot be well informed of him with malice & also doubt his being in the land of the living not that was slaine or died a violent death but I have you will be more fully satisfied thereof within the time it ~~for~~ about 5 days of lesse more or less but I say as I am not informed so I may see to further & give you answere on the 6th day, but stay it must be the 7th day that we meet here on the weekly action Attend on Monday morning next & thursday next is the day of action And for your kindswoman she languisheth under an evill tongue not witchcraft or sorcery, but a most diabollicall and malitious tongue & apparitions & wicked woman of kin to them, it is not Medicen will help her but it will see for something in stead of send a clay our enimies have great loss & are dubious of their thrieving they use nitre & consse they find their glass will not do I would advise you Sr somewhat inlarg your selves & untill you have lowelled your Enimies

NOTE

This volume has a very tight binding and while every effort has been made to reproduce the centres, force would result in damage

1686: Sept: 13th : Monday:

There appeared Lexomael in the ston and Lexomael gave the prayer to one foller [illegible] & the call to the other & said

Thus far we have don well, so now proceed we to Confirmation you do well to present the whole forme of the Intended [illegible] shall and gentle Corrections as befitteth your Genius, you will have sure things as hath not bin knowne since the begining of time :: be content thine Enimies shall fall before thee well Sr your desires shalbe accomplished & fulfilled therefore give god thanks & praise — for I am sent for hastely

1686 thursday Sept 16 — — — the 2d

There appeared before the ston a dillicate spectrum in flexed haire having a Crowne on its head and its garments are red gold & purple mixt together and it looked pleasantly on us

My Name is Agriana I am of the order of dominations and of the first of the 2d part of it & equall in Power & office to the superiour part And am from thence Emitted at your Addresses therunto [illegible] Made by reason other Celestiall & Celesirian allians that should have Moved this day heather in order to promise of the last, are so disposed by Charge in office I hath [illegible] Intermitted but not denied frindship & love visibly present here

Considering in sooth that though absent yet not absent as they are in Charge by office still on your account & on the behalfe of your promised happiness which assuredly & shortly cometh to your assistance and Comfort, Good Lord, what could I say & shew forth if it were needfull to make repetitions, or to lay down strengthening Arguements in Confirmation of your hopes which I could do were it my Taske, but this I may say to your Comfort that unto whom the same is emitted & given in Charge will not only shew forth your Comforts & benifits but Conforme & fulfill them too, to the full accomplishment of your promised felicity to me I am Informed that you have somewhat to make Instance of to be advised with: by a good friend I overheard you well friend I understand you bee in some distress & greatly streighted now from your owne discourse let us reason of what hath bin the It is not firmed that ye need[?] could what malitious knaves [illegible] would foment & stirr up. some Mischievous & scandalous = conspiracies to depress you & sordly vex you, which from your owne discourse plainly makes way to augment that designe it hath bin also told you you must streine very hard even against the stress & streame of those evils untill you have & run weather their roughness of this dangerous & stormy poynt dangerous I call it by reason of those menaces & threats proceeding from a faylring & paradventure a falling ambiti=on; It is true they have cheerfully shot the Gulfe & now attended soudally Cheerfull to the Piramie of their presumpti=ous & Ambitious mallice, but Holas their vessell returnes seldom the expected benifits thereof by weeping Cross And it may be full in more dangerous & stormy surges then you have & by divine providence may have escaped So that from hence you may easely Construct, that although you are beset on every side with desparation either of doing or undoing And then be your owne Judg then it followeth that I must rationally answere you thus Let not your Laboration so much as seemingly in the sight or apprehention of any especially those that itch to heare the same for I great scandall & gross mistake may insue thereupon which may seeme Credulous in the thoughts of some & so prove Injurious both to your selfe & it take notice if you have goods or wares you cannot sell nor strike Nor Sr my advice unto you is to goe forwards persist on therein, for if you become stationary then you will be supposedly retrograde, which will be a meane of very great Injury, in boldening the Envious Enimes thereof to triumph & Glory in the hopes of your downefall & will seeke to Infuse the Credulity thereof in dispersing that wicked rumor & false report that it will be of many beleived therefore I say still, still, beare great Injuries therefrom to succeed now then I say againe be your owne sins & then you will Comply with me & be contented to do & not to undoe. So goe on with Courage you are neare deliverance then you are aware on

And so the love & friendship of the most high god & his Celestiall mediums of Grace bless you in the promised hopes of your happiness & deliverance from evill on the 7th day being the 23d Instant shall be your dies Fornarius if you have liberty you may Consecrate at 9 or 10 a clock ~~on~~ Monday morning

Sept 23: 1686: : Fornary:

There appeares a great fiery Rednesse in the ston And from the testimony this is in the top of the ston goes up a Comitt Tay a good way above the ston of a fiery Rednesse And there is appearance before the ston it is Zedekiel with a Crowne on its head & a reddish purple Robe on And it hath a Scepter in one hand & a sword in the other there is writ on the Sword in Red Letters Justicia writ on the Scepter Honour it said the Scepter is to preserve us it said the Sword is to defend us And it smiled And in the hollow Receipts are Suxaniah & Samariel in Purple Robes & Crownes on & like Hazell wands in their hands And they smile also and they stand upon a darke place & out of that Darke place doth now And then Arise an ugly thing that would Assault them but cannot & doe fall backwards as they advance their wands in the Sollid Glass Receipt ~~is Ma~~ that is on the North side of the ston is Maxsoma with 3 or 4 books and beyond them is a spectrum in weight and an other with a deske before it & paper & things as if it had bin a wrighting in the other Sollid Glass Receipt is And & hath my Papers in its hand & beyond And is an other in weight And a deske & books and one standing by the other in white

And And doth Commend them & say they are good Presidents There is a spectrum in the ston that is most Richly Robed & Crowned as if its Robe was all a flame and there is a spectrum on each side of it & it looked on me & smiled And that spectrum on that side next me is Uriel & Uriel hath in its hand a Glass that is Gallypot fashion & covered like a box very close And there is in it a Mass that is blood Red & it hath a small sparkling or glittering on it And on the other side of this glorious spectrum is Lowenael & it hath a Glass in its hand like a viall with a long neck & well closed ~~a~~ in the Mouth & it hath a white Cristalline water in it And a good way further in the ston is a very pleasant place in white is two humaine spectrums & a great many more of Angellicall spectrums white we cannot well discerne — And Maxsoma delivers up the books to the white spectrum & the clare like spectrum,
And Uriell looked much on me & so doth Lowenael also & Lowenael holds up the viall in its hand & saith, here is the begining of wisdom true knowlidg & all temporall felicity, And Uriell saith And Sr here is the end of that begining for here is the true Solar Seminall Quintessence And here Sr I give you promise & Assurance that you shall make this great secret now showed forth for I my selfe will stand by your Operations, that you shall yet become great Master of that wisdom, that the unworthynesse of man deserveth not, we dare not say more least we also offend, and you must also Cease action at this time & withdraw for the presence of Powers in appearance is great but you shall converse here againe on the 5th day and give you Attendance on divine pleasure by mediums of Paternall goodness Cease withdraw give thanks

Sept: 28:: 1686; tuesday: the first weeke after Ternary

There appeared before the ston Madimi & a red Ray came downe to a poynt & poynted into the ston and in the ston there is appearance a good way of and also nere but obscured And there is vailes in the sollid glass ~~[illegible]~~

Madimi said haue patience Moue not from place this last part of the preceding Action ~~welly~~ wholly is to us & Madimi said she goes away a litle while & returne againe for my Mother Calleth me ..

And through ye Comik Ray ye poynt downe into the ston came downe euer now & then a spark like a star and when it came into the ston it giues a flash & so it did seuerall times and by that meanes the mistiness ~~[illegible]~~ that was in the ston is Cleared up & vanished And now the ston is Adorned & made like an Arbour like place or place of Pleasure beyond all Compare

And in the midle of this dillicate Place is a table like ours but couered ouer with gold & on the midle of it stands a Cup & out of it issueth a transparent thine flamie fume and at each ~~[illegible]~~ side or square place of the table is like bookes stand only at the East square layes also 3 or 4 bookes and before the East & West side of the table is a great Angell & they both kneele & at the North & South side is a humaine Portraym at each kneeling

And the humaine Portraymes haue a Crowne of Laurell on their heads

And now those sparks or stars that come downe into ye ston giue a flash on the table & ascend againe

And Madimi came againe & looked on us & smiled & said here you may behold Sirs Mediums of diuine grace offered your oblations & therefrom humbly imploring with you Emission of Power to Accomplish what you haue so earnest=ly & humbly prayed for And awaiteth also with you diuine pleasure as now with you still implored for fulfilling the promise made And ~~[illegible]~~ thereby ~~[illegible]~~ your felicity

And Enjoyment of temporall & Eternall Peace by whereby you may ~~[illegible]~~ know that this ternarian Action now finished wholly concerneth your selues, & intereth by a due concepty by vertue of your obedience with your humble supplications and Petitions which concludeth with an happy determination And resulteth your deliuerance the 14th day of the next month with you is your dies ternarius fronted last except otherwise ordered, doe not dispaire nor let your hopes fayle;: .: action is ended of this last day;.

October: 4th: 1686:.:. the 2d weeke after Ternary:

There appeared a small Portraym with a fine Coronet on its head and in a Curious Purple Robe, & in a youthfull forme And said, (smiling) well frind what was showed forth unto you on friday last, is of verity, It saith ye I haue a burnt Collor ye floweth from ye ~~[illegible]~~ Gaull, this obstruction begits a disturban=ce on the spleene & begits wind there ye violently flow up into the head

I will tell you Sirs that due preparations of those which you call Rosmary Bettony Marjoram, Piony. Sage. amber Castor hartshorne or Ivory after due Purgations used now & then about once in 20 or 30 dayes & at other sometimes a dose of your Medicine when you feele any distresse one thing more I shall acquaint you with all you haue bin often Informed of Infernall assalts fomented & stirred up & so acted by those Mediums of inclination which leade them to Nothing but Malitious Rancor & bitternesse of spirit from which God his great mercy hath hitherto preserued you & I instance this much further that an euill demon lurking to harme you but cannot yet Attempted ~~[illegible]~~ touch you ~~but~~ could not ~~but touched~~ the crumbe as it passed into thy Mouth had not thy good angell stood by & prevented the intended mischiefe of that evill Demon, then it would have bin a great deale worse God be thanked that hath blessed you hether againe I would advise you to repaire & Make good your duty of the last weeke And to come here againe on ye 3 day or thirsday in order to this present weekly day of action This my frinde I can Assure you ye great thinges are short set forth unto your Comfort & as meanes of making you happy in the comforts & benifits of this life with through divine grace Endowing you may also be the Gate way to Eternall Happiness into which the most high God in his good time Bless all his servants with & bring them unto

October 7th :: 1686 :: Thd &

There appeared two persons before ye ston And like a fiery vaile or Appearance in the ston And there is a fiery Red star over ye stone ye darts a Ray downe into the ston, them two before the ston are Ammiel & Zedekiel and they are mighty pleasent & beautifull & they have fine Crownds on their heads And there came a flash & Zedekiel is gon & now Ammiel hath a bright star on its brest & it looks smilingly & pleasantly on me & seemeth to rejoyce much: and it pointed to the Behoulde the light of Celestiall Grace descended the gifts shortly followeth & the benifits there of surely & certainly some determineth; This Power & offerts signifieth you with a Comand, yea a full Constraining Power over all Elementall and Infernall things of what nature order or sire, Matter, Manner, both Superior Inferior in the Earth above the Earth or where above else about ye the Earth or parts Profitable for ye good benifits of mankind & for the perticular friend of that great Arcanum as is promised you in the true knowlidg thereof also with the Rest before you come here againe on ye 5th day being Tuesday next by Reason of the 7th day with Quilles dies Ternarius I know not what benifit may be given before but I am sure very benevolent afterwards neither doe I know how much or little of action will appeare untill those gifts & benifits come to your hands I feele noe more given me to shew forth let this be sufficient for which give god Thanks as I also doe with you

October 12 :: 1686 :: Tuesday ::

There appeared a Red star over ye ston and a solar star over ring of the sollid glass Receipts, and a person in surplish vestments & 10 faire shines like ~~Gould~~ the Moone ~~at day~~ adorning about the stone & Receipts, and now it stands before the ston & looks at us & smiles and saith pray you Sirs think me not any toy for this my wanton diversion, Children you know are accustomed to ye behaviour and I seeme to be noe less, nay Sirs my Mother hath more pritty baby Children which I know will one day make you smile & delight in their good Company, trust me Sirs you should love my mother because her Children Loveth you & much willing to visset you, my Mother also attendeth the high pleasure of the great lord & father of us all Trust me Sirs ~~and~~ you will bid us welcome for where we visit the place is blessed and the persons happy, where our feet bareth our presence for our entrance is a Testimony of grace and of an ~~end~~ Never fading felicity our plants are never Rooted up nor never perish in their beauty & our gifts and Momuments of Eternall Remembrance which I would not have your doubts nor dispaire of mercy Blemish or Eclips I will god tell my Mother that I have given you a visitt but then you must not tell her that she sent hether, I went a Messager, when she comes her selfe; for she may hap to Enquire of her Childrens behavior; but its noe Matter we are but Children & to be Rendered Excusable Especially having soe kind & so good a Mother so well it seemes you are expected here on thirsday Morning in which assured the Most high God bless you with his favor & grace in the Presence of his Celestiall & Celestiall Messages your fellow servants in the highest gind Gaza & Saase

October 14th:1686:: Fornary [struck out] —

There appeared before the ston Ga, Za, vaa, and they looked one on ye Other & smiled one on the other there was in the stone a body like the sun & on it stands a Red fiery spectrum ~~Red~~ in Regall forme Imperially Crowned with a scepter in its Right hand and out of the end of it issueth out Rayes upwards and in the other hand is a thing like a Round Trencher full of Caracters letters or figures and there darts downe a Ray from ye sun like body into ye ston & Ga, za, vaa, turned to the ston And in the ston is a table like our Table here & in the middle is a curious Cup that Ray that comes from the sun onely stone poynts downe into that cup And Uriel sits on ye East side of the table and is Instructing R:O: in a booke ye Uriel hath that is open & picks out letters out of ye booke that makes a word & shewes it which & R:O: takes it and R:O: is on ye South side of the table and Gabriel sits on ye west side and Gabriel Instructs : E R: and the ston is bedecked & adorned Round about to Admiration like a dillicate fine Arbor, And beyond this Arbor like place is an other Curious place where is Sachiel & Zedekiel, looking towards us & they have silver wands in their hands with which they poynt to many many places or things sometime one way some time an other over each glass folded receipt is a blasing star poynting into it & in the one ye North side is Ariel & Flemest and in the other is Leranael & Elemeli And before Ariel & Flemest is a desk & a booke open that they are a conferring about & beyond them is one in white & one in Purple Reddish, looking towards them & smiling one on the other and so it is also in the other folded glass receipt And in the hollow receipts are Suxamiel & Samariel with other more terrestiall spectrums with them And Gaza, vaa turned to us & smiled — And Za said Grace mercy & peace from above be multiplied upon you Amen Hallelujah — These blessings my friends hath bin promised & will be surely accomplished unto you we must confess we hear you make plaint of many Terrestiall Insertions infernally stirred up & fomented, but acted by those Malitious Incendaries as are indeed permitted to live on Earth as Agents of great Evills on the passive objects of humillity & innocency but what then, there will those matchless Injuries determine I will tell you Sirs it will proue the only meane of heaping up their owne distruction; you have bin informed, that if this stormey poynt be once weathered you have the surest Calme ushered with a gaile of Gentle hopes & undoubtedly passeth you safely to the port of your steadfast & unshaken faith where you will surely stand as fixt as ye most stable Rock against ye most stormey & surging billows the assurance whereof is Moued & shewed forth this day & will very shortly be fit for action & operation the lessons of white will be sone delivered on Monday Morning you shall have the Remainder of this action

:1686: :October:18th:monday:

There appeared before the Stone Damniel there is over the Stone a red fiery Appearance over the salid glass wherof on ye North side is Lavanael & over that on the South side is Ariel And Damniel said
It is conjectured altogether needless to make rehersall of those great mercies & benefits wherewith the most high God by the mouth of his sacred Spirit in the unity of the blessed trinity Endowed his servants in the beginning of time, and since, by the Inspiration also of his most holy Spirit, And so as hath bin said in all ages since both mediat & Immediat unto all his Chosen Messias of Grace and other his servants elect unto mercy, even as the first promised benefite whereof was delivered Immediat, & so by mediums of Grace through divine appointment both mediat & Immediat as by office given from superiour Power left Inherent to Posterity by Inspiration Revelation & visible Appearances as now at this day with you, wherein the wonderfull works of the Creator is shewed forth in the Creature & so as it hath bin said of all Creatures whatsoever in the Creation both Animall, vegetable & Minerall now then Srs to tell you how neare you are in receiving the benefits of temporall felicity the full Enjoyment of your hopes through faith in the highest & the Elapse of Celestiall[?], I may not Appoint nor shew forth but I will relate thus far unto you, that as we are not of time by reason time dwelleth not with us any other wise then as being moved into sublunar parts by divine Emission & in our Appearances unto the Children of Grace as before I have said; I trust on thirsday next at your next Convention here or in this presence Denarius at some of our usuall meetings &c something will be delivered of great importance the reasons Srs why I shew forth this my message thus rhetorically in ~~[illegible]~~ saying I conjectured thus much know yee Srs 57 that Celestiall Inspiration Revelation or otherwise by visible Appearance shewed forth unto the Celestiall Messias proceedeth from the light that noe Mortall Eye can see, tongue express, or thought conceive, but from the only ground of that God which is great Lord of all things his servants not daring otherwise then to attend that pleasure which undoubtedly makes them truly happy through faith humillity & obedience, I trow you must conveen here on thirsday next at your accustomary time & I trust in the highest you may paradve= =nture not lose your labour for as it hath bin said upon superiour Powers Attend Inferior Addresses & humble supplication know ye Celestiall mercy also moveth & descendeth therewith as divine pleasure shalbe Graciously mercifull in that appoyntment so emitted & sent forth whose holy name be for ever blessed, and whose Paternall consolations be given to his servants for their temporall & Eternall Comforts Amen Hallelujah & so we end this action

October 21th: 1686:

There appeared a fiery red appearance over the Stone in which is Imperiall Appearance as we suppose it to be Castor[?] and within the stone is the Testimony giving great light in it like the sun
And in the stone is Uriel Sachiel & Galvah, and they are all 3 Crowned only Uriells is Mitrall And before ye stone is a great many about 9 small spectrums in a sylverish Cloud
And Uriel & Galvah, looked on me And then looked one on ye other and smiled and Uriel said well Sr we now observe the saying of our fellow servant in the highest Damniel on ye Closure of the last dayes action declaring of your Addresses at this time in saying that paradventure you might not loose your

Labor neither shall you, for we will fulfill yt saying to your comfort in the action of this day

I remember it hath bin shewed forth unto you that all Mysterall sayings should in some time hereafter Cease & determine, and what should be declared or shewed forth for ye future should be easy & in such plaine Language as customarily passeth And is comonly used amongst even the most inferiour sorts of Comune persons

And now we will discover unto you the greatest of knowledge though from ye meanest of things, and the most vile subject matter thereof (scanning the whole Earth & all the most Learned Sophi) thereof with great difficulty & perturbation of thought & Apprehention therefore we may justly call The Misticall Equivocation, And the hieroglyphicall Enigmata, of the greatest both Antient & Moderne Sophia=ks, and is kept as a wonderous Arcanum to Amuse the sences And Imaginations of Ambitious & Aspiring Ignoramus (and then they all 3 smiled one on the other note well here

I pray you Sr what is man & what is his originall and how is he composed and how dignified, hath he not in him three principles & 4 Ellements and is it not so of the whole Creation Animall vegetable & Mineralls, come we then to the first worke of the Creation 2dly to Man, and 3dly to the understanding benefit & use of those gifts wherewith man was adorned & Accomplished first as to ye Earth (to me

I trow Sr you have bin heretofore at the begining or first of your Studies taught or it hath bin shewed forth unto you in these words (hast thou walked in the pleasant grounds of the Rosary & knowest not salt to be the first matter of all things then Consider from whence all things proceedeth I trow you will say from the salt of Nature wherewith the Earth is Impregnated and from whence by a fiery tincture issuing from ye Influence of the fiery & Airy Ellements & Mutually contracting a natural heat heat & Moysture upon the passive embrionated conceptions of water & Earth or Coldnesse & driness attended by an Aqueous humidity of Aire & water the one giving spirit & the other life by the Assistance also of the siderall Influences produceth the conception greate & production of all things & Creatures in their severall & different respective kinds as ye Genus & species are formed by like different seeds passing through Astrall Constellations in their signall Powers but of this subject more hereafter let us Returne to man

I pray you Sr of what was he made (of Earth) well then he hath all in him yt is contained in the Earth yea the heavens & other Ellements of which discourse also more hereafter

Let us Returne againe to man how was he adorned how was he dignified, was it not with Celestiall, Angellicall & divine beauty and accompanied with equall parts & participations of the greatest Glory, but when lost was then changed & Reduced to the most base & meanest of things the which subject hath bin already shewen forth unto you &

It hath bin also shewed forth in these words that the most high God dealeth to the patient he may make himselfe the strongest and also that he can Raise Moses out of the Earth to testify his Name marke these sayings — Conclude we then man to be made of the meanest subject of the Creation though Cloathed with Celestiall beauty & through disobedience become the vilest & the meanest of all Creatures except he struggle & wrestle much with the highest for grace & mercy for his present and future felicity from all which we will contract the Allegation & Equivocall determination of those Misticall sayings of the great Sophiarchi in their severall Results That the first matter of their great Arkanum is to be produced or taken from the meanest despicable things common to be had every where & in every thing we carry it with us we live not without it yet we despise it & sweep it out of Dores & make no other Regard then to set it at nought

I pray you Sir to be breefe with you what can you Imagine this to be; it is nought else but your owne Excrements & the soyle you make from your bodies from your worke & what beside else may be thought wholly uselesse other wise then to feede & harten up the Mother of Nature to live & bring forth fruits of her body for ye Norishment & Comfort of all things conteined & borne of her still Impregnating uphold =ing supporting & Maintaining Mother Earth in its primitive Ens producing thereby a Nitrall salt which by the Attractive Power of the Celestiall Influences sublimeth & giveth life to all Creatures both Animall vegetable & Minerall as they subsist one upon the other.

This Sir I have commented & preached unto you on this text & subject of salt to be the first matter of all things to strengthen your understanding

& all the Parrabollicall sayings are explained which grant 3 alike understand well then Sir to proceed, we say that nothing yealds among homo-genian and Congeniall salt to that of Nature then the Excrements or Urine of Man which though you pretend a fayling in the Understanding thereof we will yet further help your Judgment therein most unto which is that of Plants or that of the Vitall Plant, the wine,

now then since we have explained these Parrabollicall Enigmaes as to the Maine secret & Menstruum it selfe

You shall make or cause to be Made a very well Rectified spirit of wine that must be truly & exactly dephlegmated which reserved by its selfe then you shall Make a spirit of urine it matter it not whether it be of those that drinke wine paradventure Sir the urine might not be well Putrified paradventure it might not be dephlegmated & then your flame washeth away your salt but I will tell you how to know when the urine is well putrified or prepared for this worke

Take about halfe a spoonefull or ½ that & when the urine hath stood as before hath bin said 7, 9, 12 or 15 dayes more or lesse if you put some of this urine on the syrrup of violets which is of azure or blew collour & if the urine turneth it into a greene then is it fit Imediatly to be distilled & so prepared for worke

Then if you poure of this well prepared spirit of Urine on your well Rectified spirit of wine 1 ʒ to 3 it will be all converted into a body of salt from which you must draw a spirit or Menstruum of most wonderfull efficacy which I must also tell you how to doe or else I fear you cannot doe it it will Take of Clay such as with you is called tobacco pipe Clay gently Calcined or dried rather the Moysture thereof Exhaled away by a gentle cooling the which being mixed with your salt will then come over in a spirit or Menstruum of I say Most Admirable wonderfull & great efficacy preparing all bodies by dissolution for effecting the greatest effects and thus far have I fulfilled ~~that wee~~ the Adventured Promise of the last action at the end whereof your difficiency & disobedience of your wonted & customary offertories hath caused a great exception & gave entrance for wicked Insinuation intreatment was made & still Lurketh for opportunity but Sir let me tell you it layeth on your part as well as on our part to expiat this offence which Lmind had otherwise deprived of action this tenancy & it may be the next also by doubling the offertory of this day which of right should have bin tribled but that we have excused your oversight by your forgetfulnesse which otherwise might have proved of great lett & difficulty unto you & thus say you have Redi a Mercy in this dayes action & the favor of your oratory   And Caliel said having regard Sr to your weakness lest my Children to defend your innocenty which as this our Silly & high Servant of Grace Allodgeth hath excused but had you bin found Guilty of Disobedience you had bin at a great loss if not for ever lost pray take care it be so noe more I doe assure you I have bin your friend & am so & shall continue so And so long as you serve god & stand obedient to his law & Comandements I and mine Allies will also still serve you & be your friends

I with my brethren Ame & Lenanael have bin taking a view & comparing all the making of Glass truly Sr we cannot finde any Glass to exceed your owne saving only say you we want a whiteness or lunar luster and then you should be well but pray Sr doe you take notice of the Principles or Ingrediences of which other glassworks are composed & then I confess you may wright your owne the best in poynt of goodness I pray you Sr how much of your Mettall doe you spoyle or through away & then you will know the difference between your gaine & others loss when you better examine the Matter

But Sr I can tell you & I will tell you what can make your glass as fine & beautifull as silver & yet keepe its strength which others do not doe whereas others worke much in prepared saltes or bruse I confess the same to be good so far as it will flux but when it cometh to settle & seize to a kind of conglutination it will not worke, or works to that effect, which is expected & so is laid by, & what doe they get by that yet you may use some Borax according to your discretion well then Sr to prepare C for to whiten Glass to dissolve C in the Menstruum Furiel spirit of it Thus have we Sr kept promise with you & in doing your duty you keepe promise with us & we will fill you with Knowledg continue on Monday Morning

October 25: 1686 = verily Sr you have not said more then hath bin heard, the foresight whereof appoynted convention here at this time The actions & Motions of your envious Enimies at this time we may call, the blustring stormes & beating billows of Malignity, tossing & tumbling you on the raging surges of danger & desperation, we confess with you they are great Trials & great hassards, yet through Grace & mercy in the highest after ye great violence & Turbulence of this Adventure a Calme may follow & you may be a little happier hereafter, but then a gentle Gaile ariseth & ushereth you with safety into the Port of Board

This Sr I must needs say, that the Person in whom the Right & Power of the disposall of your Charge & Imploy ment lyeth much restraineth us, by reason we touch not the Earth so neerly, as to withstand the Proper & due Rights of Proprieties & Propriators

Believe it Sr those your envious enimies now in question are in some respects in greater streights then you are which is thus to be understood, they doe find themselves sinking, for the barke of their Ambitious hopes will not float or scarcely buoy above the tideme, which makes them in many different thoughts & Consultations & contracts many doubts & feares in their foresight as not Considering how the proceedings thereof will prove & determine for they proceed with great loss & conclude it impossible for them to stand except you fall & have not any way to persue that Result but to offer ye bait of Purchase for many which is generally thought will take the prize, well then Consider we that ye shall g to the place & persons concerned & discourse the matter which you may easily doe in laying down how prosperously this worke began & accordingly succeeded by carefull & honest Manadgment as then was well known & proved & at this day to be attested so Sr if you can with such good rectorick as you genuinely carry on this discourse & with what hazzard to your selfe you have managed while & carried on the credit of this worke & with what difficulty & exception to your selfe you have sought still to prevent the downfall & destruction thereof by those who now plainly appeare under the pretence of Purchase to take it out of their hands verily Sr if you consider well how to dispute & lay all those things gradually home before them & the ill consequences of ensuing effects of those Politick elusions & deceitfull offers they may easily perceive the finall determination thereof to be noe more nor otherwise to be a destruction to their interest therein & a totall subversion to the worke it selfe

Goe to Mr Browne & to mr Oliver & come againe on Thursday

There appeared before the ston a spectrum it is Zadechill And also an Appearance of a spectrum within the ston; it is Anne, And Anne lookes towards me & smiles And Zadekill lookes on us very gravely & seriously and not angerily,

And shee said Come on Sr to our Purpose, hearing of your scruples at somewhat lately delivered you of salts & the spirits thereof, especially & more in particular of Urine I will now take upon me to Anatomise & define thereof distinct then that spirit of wine & spirit of urine although never so highly & well rectified & truly dephlegmated, they are accounted of us & should also be of you kinds of sharpe spirits note then, that Urine before any thing of Putrifaction is called Recent Urine, to make the spirit & salt whereof it is to be thus made

℞ take of such Urine quantum vis, and in a moderate heat vapor off or exhale wth 2 pts thereof & the other part of third may be distilled 3 into good spirit with which the salt volatile will ascend as you may perceive by the sides of the glass Recipient & if any flembe remaineth behind after the spirit & salt is come over it is that which washeth away & dissolveth your salt the which spirit & salt may be after distillation a few times & then by sublimation brought all into a body of salt & then as aforesd if you take urine after due putrifaction according to the designes fore shewed & distill the same the spirit thereof cometh first over as you shall well perceive by bladder at the nose of the retort which willbe of all colours & when you see the salt come of adjunct to the sides of your glass representing ye similitude of many plants or vegitables, and if you see afterwards ye a water come over yt doth dissolve that salt then stop that worke and this spirit by often sublimation may be brought all into salt

Thus have I Sr remonded your doubts cleared your scruples & rectified your error, the use whereof shall as it may please the highest be shortly hereafter declared & showed forth unto you,

I question as little as I have don in those resolves but shortly as it may please the highest as great gifts & benifits may be given to your supply & comfort I doe assure you Sr the care & Charge in office in order thereunto is now in motion to that purpose it may be better [illegible] you may consider here on Tuesday morne if you can conveniently

Nouember 2d :: 1686 :: tuesday

There appeared before the stone Esmeli and it saide My Mother saith you must not dispaire but be comforted in the highest who forsaketh not his servants although you are now (as hath bin said) in great hassard of a dangerous & distructive storme, which may be thought to drive your hopes on a most difficult rock or strand you on some desperate Quicksands of feare even worse than the supposed dangers passing between Silla & Caribdis and though I can say noe more then what hath bin already shewed forth yet I give you this assurance that divine providence careth for you, & that Charge is gon forth by office given to Answerable Mediums for your supply succor support & comfort whensoever divine pleasure commandeth administration thereof which is not given me as yet to reveale; we touch not the Rights & proprieties of buying nor selling or dealings of persons upon Earth one with an other in their temporal Concernes, the Urim & Thumim are shewing forth & denomina =ting the particulars litterally thereof which then are to be verbally collected & conjoyned for the which predicteth your deliverance & fulfilleth your desires all that you can doe at present is to gaine time whilst your hopes floteth on the stormy surges of feare & desperation a calme paradventure may succeed notwithstanding the unruly & blustering billows of infernall Enmy beateth never so hard against you, incompass =ing you as a whirlepole to swallow up & devoure you wherein to if you should fall the bottome will brake you all to peeces, but through the strength of hopes & divine mercy supporting you may yet escape and arive to safety though battered with a little sinking & scurrilous Rumors as some Owners of vessels will threaten their careless Masters with charge of great loss not being sensible of his necessity in extremity of weather who yet notwithstanding hath bin buoyed up & soundly drived & so resisted their fury & withstood their menaces And at Length all restored againe to friendship And the loss either Answered or remitted, & afterwards in future viages regained & redubled you have I say by gentle repulse to gaine what time you possibly may or can And we trust that divine grace wilbe mercifull in gifts unto you & that by some ordances unknowne as yet to me you may finde assistance all which lyeth in the power & pleasure of the highest 1686: Nouember 4th ; Tornary :: there appeared in the stone a good way in a heavenly place and A glorious fiery red spectrum in Imperiall forme & Michael on the right side of it & Uriel on ye other next to me And Saluah a good way of this side of them and before the stone is Esmeli & Elemesi in a sylverish cloud And Saluah looks something grave & it seemeth to consider with them before the stone And now Saluah looke more pleasant and they seeme all to be in a conference together in all the heavens and now they are turned this way all of them & Saluah now Looks more pleasant & smiles And Saluah saith Trust me these two bugbares feare & folly afrighteth & driveth the hopes of all man kind into desperation which though blameless yet weakens the faith & zeale of mind causing the spirits to faile & the corporall as well as temporall

Condition of man to finish, without Considering the Allpowerfull Arme of divine power & providence is stretched forth to Assist = bee assistance, yea of the Most high Madzilodarz through the great & Paternall goodness of himselfe You plaints Sir are heard of us, & we know well the occasion and the necessity thereof, and all the mischeife is that we touch not the Corrupted parts of terrestiall things so nearly as to admit or Assist therein. But yet we consider with that respect of Promise made unto you that there must be some good & propitious effect thereof in order whereunto there preparations & provision are both made & Making by Answerable Mediums in Charge and office as will fulfill your desires & discharge youre Complaints a further attempt whereof may be shewed forth unto you on the 4 or 7th day Cease the rest comes on Monday

Nouember: 8th: 1686: Monday:: —

There appeared Lemanuel in a pleasant bower, very pleasant, and it said; Come on Sir, let us to our purpose first as to your Method in Menstruums & matters of the Laboration will shortly be delivered unto you to the sight sence of your understanding And also the Names of those Spirituall Creatures, as by orders & office shall be nominated to serve your Necessities with the treasuries of the Earth with prescript rules for the due performance thereof of And you will be called also shortly to revelation in order to your further & future satisfaction & felicity if it shall please the highest to Enlighten your Eyes & fortify your Animall spirits with Celestiall Power & Dignity for the which end a Celest. stone was here presented unto you, the benifit whereof will be further also shewed forth unto you 25 that day must pass over that is to say it is the 25th instant or your dies Creva wherein I find not the effect of what I shew forth to moue or desteme, 16 of desember is also dies Ianuarius with you the which likewise passeth over, but then when you shall arrive to the 6th day or the 13th day of Januarius then Sir will money begin to flow upon you as a flood untill it be a spring tide & so arrive to a fulness of Celestiall Grace for which reason it hath been shewed forth that after 4 months yet insuing you may weather this difficult & stormy poynt

And Sir I will tell you: if those fooles who are the occasion of Prosecuting the Attempts of your worke for I can Call them noe better then Incendiaries or busy pick-thanks & meere Ignorant Dunces to foment & stir up differences before a Relapse can be recovered considering under what Circumstances the Cause thereof appeareth & which very ouersight is the only meane of pulling downe & distroying the same Considering I say the Circumstances thereof for if those fooles did but consider & rightly understand how the worke is eclipsed by meane of an other & with what ambition the Pertakers thereof driues at its totall subuersion by either Ingrossing or other deceitfull project, I say if this was but rightly understood & the Rollery used to subvert it they would quickly lay aside this prosecution for there is nothing more in it then deceitfull crafts & subtill deuises to run downe & swell the future hopes & benifits that will Certainly proceed from it & indeed, if you can gaine so much time you will assuredly stand and they will accordingly fall

Sr I will tell you if you are Challenged with being indebted to your undertaking then you plead it could not otherwise be since the worke was eclipsed by an other means & you striving to uphold, support & keep the Glory of your worke in Credit, & have thereby very much engaged your selfe for the Repay therof by reason of the other worke well Sr have patience you may be supplyed with advice & paradventure with comfort too know you not that you are in a storme & know you not that I have Already said of mercy Ready moving & descending upon you, you must therefore with patience a little endure & by the strength & power of Perswation to strive a little against the streame as If you can gaine time as I much question it not to stand 4 months you may be served with supply sufficient & strong derived your enimies & stand ad usquam finem

And so for this I have shewed forth my message & it is of Comfort unto you

November 11th 1686 the first

There appeared Galvah & 5 spectrums more & they are in Converse together the one with the other, And Galvah said it is a comon Proverb amongst you that saith, threatned fowle live Long, And so may you, what though Invetterat Mallice would throw you headlong into a dungion of desperation & snplunge you in the pit of distruction

Sr Remember you are yet on this side the Grave, And that nothing shall burie you alive, untill the time of your mortall dissolution by Nature and order

62

Let me say what I came to comfort you in order to which I am this time moved rather I can declare noe more then what hath bin already shewed forth unto you And to that purpose also, I shall leave my Children here with me to Attend you & your motion untill the 30th day of the next Month were not you touched of being brought to Inspection & so to practise in such as shall be delivered unto you in order to your deliverance by such meanes as should be thereby appoynted therefore move not more in your sufferings least you dispaire of Comfort casueth its absence keepe you to your duty & wee shall keepe to our promise in the meane time prepare the 4 stirrs of Parchment made of the largest Calveskin & bring them hither & my Children shall make them usefull to you, well Sr I have given my Children their Charge who will also attend you & your motions beside your other friends in Celestiall Land & Celesticon Comunity & Contemporiety for I am called away & must at this present leave you to the mercies of the highest & the care of his servants over you & for you

November: 15: 1686:

There appeared above the stone a fiery sword poynting upwards and in the stone a delicate place like a bower richly adorned & mighty pleasant there is a great many spectrums move =ing some one way & some another passing & repassing too & fro, and there is a small spectrum before the stone And in the sollid glass stands in date of them are fiery vailes & Michael is in the one side & Uriell in the other; And the spectrum before the stone said behould the Light & finger of superior Celestiall Grace now in office & Charge given, to direct & conduct you unto peace and rest in your lives conditions & Concernes

And Indeed in all or most of your temporall affaires I must say with my Mother I can shew forth good since touching that subject then what hath bin already shewed forth only thus far I may add, that you stand in as good state & Condition in your present Imployment as ever my Mother hath sent also in lew of her promise of her retinue sufficient as we hope to your Assistance & help you to weather this boysterous storme, & Pilot you through the turbulent surges of threatned dangers & malitious Invectives
You have Sr in this last triple ternarius commencing on ye 7th Instant and extending unto the 6th day of January next which is partly adjourned untill the 13th day by reason of an Interposition of silence from ye 23d of December untill ye 30th of the same or rather from the 24th to the 31, yet on those dayes that is to you must doe your duty in this place my Mother hath receiv'd some Charge in office to shew forth & declare unto you touching this great triple ternar which is of great & considerable Importance touching you as in order to your future happiness, by whose command I am not only ordered here in Charge with the rest of my Alliance but here is also the light of [illegible] of superior And Grand to our & your Assistance & fulfilling your hopes I know it may seeme to be some what in Charge touching some [illegible] of the same triple terna for orders as issuing forth from superior Power to assigne the great spirituall Prince by name Ushill whose residence or Mansion is in the North-west Angle or part of the Aire with others of his Attending presid =ntiall Dukes & other Ministring spirits under them a further ~~account~~ ~~of~~ of whome together with the invocations moving & Calling them forth with all proper directions thereto depending in due Manner & order soon to your Assistance shall be given you the Nature & office of whom ~~and~~ ~~properly~~ not only to discover & make knowne all treasures ye be hid which are many & great but also to serve your Necessities therewith them of the day are good but them of the night are more evill

And others of the Inferior sort of ye 9 orders will also be given in
And if it pleaseth god you stand firme the weathering of this storme And shall enjoy a serene Calme & settlement in your Condition & Affaires the next Epoche will bring you to more superior Injoyments And then shall you neither be incumbered with future Molestations nor troubles of life give him noe trouble but rather keepe ~~faith~~ faire & friendly with him

nor I will not trouble you on your next day of action I know my Mother entreats you her selfe to give you further Informations in the more Important directions of this triple ternary well Sr if you cannot remember you are excusable in your conjecture its not materiall whether you can remember it or noe Sr be not ~~be~~ dismaid you shall find friendship to the last moment

Nouember 18:: 1686:..
There appeared that Blessed Angell Galuah & two small spectrums like little pretty Children with it & they smiled on one the other and on us Let your thoughts & minds be carried over inferior scrutinies & your soules & spirits exalted above any feares of dispaire or fear of sinking all though the vessell of your hopes is dangerously desperate, & fearfully overwhelmed, in thunder & stormy tempestuous gailes issuing from infernall vapors contracting malignant blights Ah the weaklings question not your deliverance & future enjoyment of peace & safety in a more calme & serene tranquillity; And know the that you have the Power of the highest to support & assist you divine grace & mercy comforts & given to comfort Celestiall Love imbracing you & all inferior powers giving forth & ready to serve you, therefore since you know the rock & foundation, whereon you stand keepe steadfast there And you certainly never fall should I make repetition of what I said before it is but needless; But stay a while Then Galuah spake to each of the little spectrums by it & they went away

And one spectrum came & brought two slips of parchment and Galuah looked on them & laid them by And then the other came in & brought a skin of parchment four square & it is written on & it layd it by Galuah looked on it & layed it by Them two slips of Parchment are two Girdles that are to be worne That square Parchment is to be layd downe to a table it is called Mensa Theurgica more wilbe spoake of it when it is delivered There is an other Table which is called Mensa — Pauliana of which more also hereafter A skin of Parchment of 28 inches over the narrowest way

And Galuah looked wishfully on me & smiled here are 4 which are the 4 Angles & the governing Powers here are the 16 that serveth for 16 points of the compasse here are 11 wandring Powers in new Orders here is the 9 superiour Orders that overruleth all those Powers of the Aire out of the 16 we will draw one (viz) Ufiel & 3 dukes under it with or 4 if there be occasion with the Ministring spirits under them Come on then Sr we shall mention 3 out of each of the 9 superior orders which commandeth all the more inferiour though all great in Power & to contract all into practise & service befitting any occasion whatsoever, & more especially the part or branch of operation or affaires that is of present use to supply our necessities Come we then to the purpose. reckon up 9 times 3 is 27 & one times 3 just so many crowned angels manifested offered [illegible] up as an oblation comprehe nding the full perfection of command of celestiall Subjects by such mediums as shalbe given & assigned to your service & I trow or the two next ensuing months shall expire you shall find rest & peace into your troubled soules & minde & so enjoy your attained felicity, & let this be done on the now next following dies Veneris which I trow is the 7th day for it seemeth your complaints requireth it the rigor of which girdeth you very sorely but we shall loosen you from the pinching hardship & bondage of all envious extreames from whence the most high God mercifully deliver you & graciously blesse you with ye promised happiness that shall make you for ever Joyfull both Temporally & eternally; you shall want nothing; be not dismaid Sr this oppertory will produce & purchase more wealth unto you in a manifold Measure then ever as yet hath bin offered at this mistery after you are dignified with that Power that giveth you Power as first was given to man over those Creatures

November: 22th: 1686: Monday:

There appeared a small spertum before the ston & motions in the ston but reald in, and the small spertum looked seriously on us & smiled & then looked to ye ston & then on us againe & smiled, and said

Be comforted Sr the splendor of Celestiall grace whose beams may Breake forth through the darke and stinking Mysts & fogs of Infernall & terrestiall envy as Poyssonous exhalations infect & corrupt the Aire & much offensive & many times disconteint to the hilth of mankind may one day shine gloriously forth & dissipate those noxious vapours, that you may walke with the comfort & happy Enjoyment of your hopes of promised grace, what the great & most high soveraine Power of heaven & Earth giveth we shall render & accordingly by like charge in office we shall in true love as faithfull friends administer to you at the will & pleasure of the highest while with you and also humbly attend for wh and obey; then in the ston were collecting what is promised.

November 25: 1686: Ternary 67

There appeared over the ston a sun & over that a blew glass the which is a star And in the ston is a fiery Red spertum in Transcendent Imperiall forme, And of one side of it is Zabidiel on the other side is Zedekiel & before in the ston is Galuah in great Beauty & splendor — And before the ston is a little spertum

And there is 2 little sperturns with Galuah & Galuah they doe looke first to one sollid glass thereof & then to the other — There is in the Northen thereof 3 garments like girdles & 2 square garments on with lines on it & the other with circles on it

And Galuah doth looke on ye two hollow therofs & holds some converse with them

And the little spertum before the ston doth converse with Galuah Galuah sayes to all the shew before it, doe not you heare how Necessity Pincheth them

And the small spertum said By Superior Permission my Mother hath ordered commands to give in Charge by office to appointed Mediums to redress all agrievances that Necessity thus pincheth you withall to me Beleive me Sr your Antagonist that Pincheth so ever long you & over rateth your Employment are as short winded as you are & gaspe for Breth as much as you doe And I assure you that provission is making for ye releife of there a fair prospect Layeth before you though you see it not neither can you Understand or apprehend the sight or sense thereof till some thing is delivered in order to the knowledg thereof & operations therein and as for those oppertoryes My Mother saith what is enjoyned must of Necessity be fulfilled & by reason of theire assignments whereunto every part diversly & joyntly are to be properly referred wherein there is noe Remission can be disputed of nor Alteration made untill the 6th day of January be expired for from on the 13th of the same Month you will be restored and in a faire Compliant way of Releasement from the present pains of Necessity & troublesome Cares and the next Annuall Ecclipse freed from all feares of futures troubles & evills   Sr my Mother saith you must endeavor to strive against the storme make the greatest hast therof that possibly you can the Mystery is greate also the benifits thereof which cannot I say be shewed forth or explained to your sence or apprehension — — My Mother hath given Charge that her Children shall come to you here every Monday & thirsday — — you are Advised

November; 29th: 1686: Monday

There appeared a Viall wail in the ston & vailes in the sollid glass Receipts of earthe & oil. And of
* a sylverish & Azure Collour And a litle spectrum before the ston; And over ye ston is a glittering star, It seemeth impossible to keepe you from discerning & repining Notwithstanding promised grace & Mercy in Celestiall friendship & love, Can Celestiall be a feast of pleasant; felicity when theire gilt alters the sincerity of the place, Let therefore the servants of divine favor beware least they purchase displeasure, & so likely to be dismissed service & acceptance I say noe more neither we nor you may determine of divine pleasure with through faith & hope in the highest is surely Certaine let not your weakness therefore eclipse the honour & Glory of mercy, least you lessen that blessing which many have lost through the trials of patience and perseverance with with greate commendations hath continued together in you firme & steedfast enough hath already bin said & shewed forth unto you; well, well Sr you were bid to make what expedition you can you have this tarnary to doe in — — well Sr your questions which were you aske on thursday shall be solved I am also under Comand of must obey And at this time I leave you in the hand of that grand & mercy whereunto we humbly beseech the highest to blesse you

December: 2d:: 1686:: the first :: —

There appeared a little glittering star over ye ston & a Viall wail in the ston; And a small spectrum before the ston, the first table is for the bowers of darkness or of darke places And also for the bowers of the third east the poynts of the compass which are more benevolent so get one frame & two boards or rowlers to slide on it at pleasure to naile these two vellums on — my Mother desireth your hast. let not your fear degrade your faith you stand yet firme enough, the Anker of your hope may yet preserve you the storme may cease as the winter fadeth the 7th day you may take away the parchments

December: 6th: 1686:

There appeared a small spertium before the ston it looked full direct upon me, to shew at Cristmas is lost it might come distressed offices said not my Mother that her Children should be with you untill her Charge in office come into place yet I shew you with Cheerefullness the offertory is to be offered by the 23th instant of 22 w God is mercifull in that he Admitteth his servants of mercy upon to comfort you I have don this for I must withdraw but we leave you not but in the protection of the Almighty who bless you with his grace & mercy Amen

December: 9th: 1686: the 2d

There appeared in the ston Galuah & two more And a star over the ston with a Conick Poynt coming down from it into the ston And Galuah is very glorious & shin And Galuah & them two with it have some Conference & Corresp ondency with the two Respects one of them of each side the ston And Galuah sent one of the little spertium away And it went & brought one in white with a paper booke of about 12 leaves or there about in quarto & Galuah too the booke & examined it and spoake to the copie spertium & gave it the booke againe & so did the other small spertium in like manner And then Galuah took up and read gave Charge to the two small spertiums & looked up as if it did give thanks & went away And left the two small spertiums who looked on us & smiled Those same Comands Sirs given us in Charge we give al unto you And as we are Comanded to keep ye Close to our Charge in Office so must you for this time enjoyned keep Close in Charge to your Duty for those manifest Reasons heretofore Asserted, & both mutually & Mistically 69 concerned in Reference to such Considerable effects as divine pleasure shall in mercy confer upon his servants Let not therefore your spirits droope nor sink in fear neither question what is, or what is to be, offered or don relating to any difference; but Cheerfully lift up & say Thy will be don O God on Earth as it is in heaven And enrich thy servants with thyne heavenly grace & mercy in the fulness of thy Paternall bounty that they may glorify thee on Earth as thou art glorified in heaven to whom only all honour & glory Celestiall & Terrestiall both of Angels & men is due & to be Ascribed where with we humbly beseech the highest to bless you

December 13: 1686: Monday

There appeared in the ston in ye top of it the testimony & that shined downe on a pleasant Orchard like garden with fruits & leaves on ye trees of various beautifull Colloures amongst which trees are some small beautifull spertiums walking or moving to & fro & sometimes they meet & Congratulate each other & smiled on each other & then they both looked towards us & smiled and there was 7 of them small spertiums & they met all together & saluted each other and they all smiled on us and then came a flash & all was vailed in & then stood a red Cross

December: 16th: 1686: Jornary

There appeared in the midle of the ston an Alter like thing ye is four square with 3 steps that goes round every every square and a Golden shallow dish with a narrow brime & flatt Bottomed and in it stands a Cup with a broard foote to it of Gould & out of ye Cup issueth out a flaming Ray that extends quite out of the ston from thence And to the Eastward of it stands a Glorious spertum of a fflaming colour which we Judged Raster on ye Right side of it stands the Sun & on the left side a figure like the full moone And in the Center of the Sun & also of the moone is a wonderfull bright sparke from whence issueth a little Ray on ye North side of this Alter stands Sachiel & on the South side stands Zedekiel And on ye west side is Galuah with a little spertum of each side of it And there is 3 little small spertums before ye ston And them 3 before the ston looke pleasantly on me especially the Midlemost & smile on ye North side in the Hollie Temple is two spertums in which one of them instructing ye other & that spertum ye is instructed had a little Paper booke in its hand 10 leaves in it And at begining of it is written Operation by ye Royall spirit Usiell a true experiment & great Arcanum —

And in the hollow Temple on ye North side is Juxaniak & two Imperiall spertums of the Aire and are called the Emperours of Anglos & there is Princes under them Emperours & Dukes under them Princes and others under the Dukes

And on ye South side is the like of the other two Angles of the 4 Angles
And the Midle Spertum before the ston looke on me & smiles And said This action Sr is for you Instruction & Satisfacti= =on as wille Manifest upon the practice & operation there wille given up unto you, Now it is so that the whole host of your Celestiall & Ellementally dignified friends and all the Celestian Alliances are offering up their humble supplications for divine grace in Charge by office to be Admitted into the Assistance of their friends & god his servants which continued & will continue in this forme the next first day of your action being the 23th Instant & so on ye 2d which will be on ye 30th Instant & so on ye 3d & last which will be on ye 6th of the next month which day you should not exceed your present great & Memorable offertory for a great & Mysticall Reason which I say not of at this time meet next monday then on thursday being ye 23d then on the 30th then on ye Monday following and on ye 6th of January being Ternarion day

December: 20th 1686: Monday
There Appeared a small Spertum before the ston in a Silver Cloud and the whole show as before although not so plaine to be seene; And now the small Spertu is turned to the ston & doth Reverence & after some time turned to us ward & smiled: and said; ay Sr you must expect such mishaps from wicked persons they come from Blackman street & Kent street Concerning Peter: if it were possible that he would be reclaimed & Reformed you should not dismiss him of which I see no Likelyhood for he is strongly possest with Infernall fury And Nothing of good Advice will prevail or worke Reformation on him yet you must be discreet and be very Prudent to take heed in the dismiss of him, I tell you Sr as to this Matter how desperate such infernall fury may become in heat of Revenge or Passion I cannot say more then you may Rationally Imagine or Judg of but dismiss not his soon — well Sr you have don well in doing your duty be comforted dispaire not you are not yet lost or given over as a Pray to Insulting Mallice for that Paternall goodness that hitherto hath preserved you will doubtless yet further & for ever support & defend you which we also with you humbly beseech for his owne great Name sake that is gratious & Merciful Amen Hallalujah

December: 23th: 1686: the first after Ternary And there came a flash of Light and then appeared the show in the ston but not very plaine but only two small Spertums and they are visible And they did converse with the Spertums in which in the sollid glass which And they looke on a small paper booke & seeme to reveiw it & examine it And the two small Spertums turned to the East & did great veneration & they turned this way & looked on us pleasantly & they Conversed one with the other

1686 December 30th the 2 after Ternary

The best way is to make your memorable offertory with the Ternarian offertory on ye 6th of Ternary And that day will be a great day of Rejoycing and being Comforted in the hopes of Happiness in the highest

1686/7 January 3: Monday

There appeared a small Spectrum & it looke on us & smiled & was very pleasant as if it was Rejoyced at some thing & it turned about & did Fox round to the East, And it turned this way & smiled & said

So, Sr what is it you have to say methinks I heard you make scruple touching somewhat forgotten, which I will separate from further mistake

Know ye then yt the 6th day Instant is your proper dies Ternarius & not ye 3 & 6 you ought to observe it both in the generall & particular appoynted offertories therefore were you commanded to pray earnestly & solace your selves with joyfull hopes of future felicity &c — it is a day of a duble Jubilee if you doe thus as ye 13th instant is the entrance of action & it toucheth at 3 principals & if you Jubile the single offertory of this day it is as much as can be Required of us, by the sayings of my Mother but not Jubiled as a Ternarian offertory only as a Jubile entrance into action as may be fully & wholly showed forth & discovered unto you in the two first in sing Ternaries & the 3d from thence proceeding into effects, that you may enjoy your selves in your fulfilled hopes & happiness well well Sr you have stopped my mouth I am gone but I leave the blessing unto you behind me

... with the highest professe your strength in your faith & hopes in him

1686/7 January 6th Ternary

There appeared over the Ston like a wheele of fire in the Center of it is a fair & round out of its sides doth come Rayes towards us & the ston & all the Receipts are full of flames And before the ston stands a spectrum able about the Mystery it is very Glorious in ... Countenance its eyes sparkle & it hath a curious Crownet on, and it turned to the ston ward & bowed downe and opened its Armes with great Reverence And there came flashes out of the ston & went as fire & they came to the spectrum and it turned this way and looked full on me & smiled, and it saide,

God be thanked that ye are safely arrived unto this day ... through trust in him may prove a hopefull Jubilie of deliverance unto you on Sunday morning set up your ston on your owne Table & make your prayers as here & earnestly pray for sight & dignity & to dignify your ston and then call on Michael & Uriel by the Abreviated call & the Angels of that Hierarchy you must begin at 6th in ye morning & so untill ½ an howre past nine And come hether on Monday Morning & call by the Abreviated call on Gabriel & Raphael & the hierarchy of angels withdraw & be joyfull & comforted in the highest

1686/7 January 10th monday

There appeared a glorious bright star over the stone and flamed appearances in all the Corners

And a Spectrum either first in the stone or first out of it, it is Lexanael & it looked on me & smiled & Cast a Ray towards me & said well Sr be content, although you see not your frinds when yesterday you moved them to appearance yet they did see you And hath appoynted good things for you as verry shortly shall be collected & granted forth, come againe on thirsday morninge

1686/7 January 13th the first after Ternary

There Appeared a great & Glorious [illegible] Rayes coming out of the stone & poynting [illegible] wards And there is two spectrums before the stone & other Corners

And in the stone is one in a fiery Roundle were we suppose to be Easter that is a good way to the Eastward & there is of this side of Easter before the Alter is Sachiel & Zeddekiel & before them is Galuah

And the two Spectrums y^t stand before the stone are in discourse with the spectrums in ye sollid Glass Corners;

And Galuah said Thanks be to the highest y^t ye are safely arrived to the begining of this day wherein the Mighty power of the highest protect, preserve & defend you, and also for ever

Know ye then, that this day is the entrance, & begining, of material & great Action the Method whereof my Children here Attendeth to show forth & deliver unto you by Order in Charge as they are made & delivered unto them for the which you shall Glorify & thanke your God And also his servants ministring unto you as in the Administration of your Duty & obedience Correspondly to the Glory of God & your Comforts you must on next Sunday morning to Pray & Call on Michaell & Uriel & sit one hower and also the next sunday following that; And when your Action is here ended stand you both before this Mystery 3 minits of time & and then withdraw unto your Temporall Endewments

And both the spectrums are turned to us wards & smile

And in the Northerne sollid Corner is that booke of Uriel & 5 thin Plates with Carecters of Gold on them

And in the South Corner is another little booke of Michaell And the Powers of the Aire of y^t order under Michaell that seems to be a doing as if it were half done and there are such plates but not finished as ye other are

And the Northerne spectrum is turned this way & smiles And said, here is the Talismam of Uriel made perfect & fitted for action unto you, we are only revising & examining the same from originall President & on weddensday next the 19th instant or thirsday the 20th it shall be here delivered up to lengthen your Girdle of each end a litle & make 3 Crosses of each part in Red now the Southern spectrum is turned this way & said this Talismam of Aeriall Powers subjected unto ye Order of Vertues is not as it seemeth yet finished or made perfit from ye Originall President but I trow wilbe fit for use & action on ye 3d of the next Month or 2 or first or thereabouts as in the Atempt [illegible] time with you & sone after you will have great & materiall action both Celestially superior & Ellementally inferior, that the highest may be glorified & your selves Comforted and Galuah said

I Charge you Sr be not dismaid that the greatness of action depended not here untill the 16 day of the next Month although yet if we rightly consider the Care by Charge in Office of Composing & perfecting of these Arcanums with others & so fitted for practice in Action I say though the actions of this time be more silently performed are more considerat then your Imaginations can easily comprehend, for as it hath bin shewed forth they may seeme easy by your thoughts by sight but hard for them by Collection And the Northen Spiritum said I know my Mother hath well pleased you & you are to blame if you thinke it not so & from her I am Charged to tell you that you must be as dilligent in the observance of that your obedience already injoyned, and to your great Commendation & hopefull blessing herein hetherto well & duly observed & what shall be further injoyned during ye time mentioned untill the 16th day of the next Month when we hope god will blesse you & mercifully from thence forwards Crowne your hopes with happy & safe deliverance in the Administration of your actions 1686/7 January 17th

There appeared a Spiritum before the Ston & it looked on us & smiled, and said your sayings are heard & my Mother wills me to tell you that your actings in your Temporall Concernements & Imployments are left wholly to your owne prudence we touch them not it sufficeth only you may proceed well therein by reason mercy attendeth you, you are also to make your appearance here on friday morning the 21th instant for my Mother attendeth divine Comands & moveth not untill then I speake noe more

1686/7 January: 21th: friday the 2d

There appeared a Star over the Ston that is very bright & glitters much & sendeth forth a short Ray to us ward There is in the Ston Galuah & two more & Galuah sent one of the small Spiritums to the Northward & it came againe & brought an other Spiritum in white & that Spiritum pulled out a paper booke out of its bosome & it was that Arcanum of Ziel finished & the Seales also are finished and the white Spiritum said that they were finished with some difficulty and Galua gave the booke to the little Spiritum & that is gone northward out of sight & the other little Spiritum brought in an other in white & Galuah it doth discharge that came from ye Southward & after some discourse that Spiritum is dismissed & Galuah went into the light or fiery part of the Ston & there came a flash & in it a small Spiritum before the Ston & it looked on me & smiled & said Come Sr be not dismaied feare not we hope your desires will be fulfilled this worke is well composed & the first that ever was con [this subject], there is wanting some words of Directions which shall not keep you so so you may cease & withdraw untill I meet you here on Monday morning as accustomarily Cease for Power is present

January 24th 1686/7 Monday

There appeared two spiritums in the stone viz Lexamael & an other

Lexamael hath a Chaplet or Garland on its head & it lookes very finely, And the other is in a whitish Gray vestment with a Round flat Cap on its head & that is very neat but plaine

And Lexamael said to the other spiritum show forth your Name, my name is Jesim and by Charge Prothonotor, by order in the office of my Mother, and a Custos of many Metaphysicall Arcanums that are & may be Admitted to the knowledge & benefit of God his servants & my Mothers friends which I could more at large discover & discourse of, but Order & time here must have its place, for these things by us are not otherwise to be had nor understood, And Lexamael said So I will Performe you have performed this matter in Charge & Jesim said yes and have desired the same here, Lexamael said And is it in full Jesim no its in full but not quite finished &c it may be finished ~~two~~ between two Actions peruse this booke at home & lett us know what objections you meet with all

1686/7 January 27th Ternary; [struck through] 75

There appeared a bright Star over the stone & all like flames within the stone and two spiritums before the stone and they looke pleasantly on us, and one of them said well met Sir I know you have received the Christ of an Arcanum branched out from others, & set forth for your use then which there are non being the like are described like unto those of this Order it is not imperfect although yet not quite finished but you shall have the rest take the seales of ~~the~~ two of the Diurnall Dukes and also of two of the Nocturnall Dukes & put them on Parchment or any thing 4 square like a Trencher on every Corner one seale lay this on the treasure you would keepe & give Charge by Invocation to those 4 dukes to keepe it untill you call for it and then noe Mortall can Meddle with it but yourselfe you must Sir doe on Sunday Morning as before well Brethren come on be of good Cheere although it be hard with you the sun of Celestiall love will breake through the Misty frozen Clouds of a sharpe afflicting winter time whose splendid rayes shall through open the hard icy bonds of your Afflictions & set you free to pass the Current of your Deliverance & future felicity, the 17th day of the next Month is your great & remarkable Ternarius & Mistically knowne to us but verbally delivered to you by the Name of Mystically very great & remarkable as I know will hereafter show forth & tend to the fulfilling of your expectations but you are commanded from superiors

There appeared two spirits in the stone viz Levanael & an other

Levanael hath a Chaplet or Garland on its head & it lookes very finely, And the other is in a whitish Gray vestment with a round flat Cap on its head & that is very neat but plaine

And Levanael said to the other spirit show forth your Name; my name is Elsim and by Charge Prothonotor, by order in the office of my Mother, and a Custos of many Metaphysicall Arcanums that are & may be Admitted to the knowledge & benefit of God his servants & my Mothers friends which I could more at large discover & discourse of, but Order & time here must have its place, for these things by us are not otherwise to be had nor understood, And Levanael said So I well perceive you have performed this matter in Charge & Elsim said yee and have desired the same here, Levanael said And is it in full Elsim noe its in full but not quite finished &c it may be finished ~~the~~ between two Actions peruse this booke at home & lett us know what objections you meet with all

1686/7 January 27th Ternary; ~~[struck]~~

There appeared a bright Star over the stone & all like flames within the stone and two spirits before the stone and they looke pleasantly on us, and one of them said well met Sir I know you have received the Script of an Arcanum branched out from others, & set forth for your use then which there are non bearing the like stile as Inscribed like unto those of this Order it is not Imperfect although yet not quite finished but you shall have the rest take the Seales of ~~the~~ two of the Diurnall Dukes and also of two of the Nocturnall Dukes & put them on Parchment or any thing 4 square like a Trencher on every Corner one Seale lay this on the treasure you would keepe & give Charge by Invocation to those 4 dukes to keepe it untill you call for it and then noe Mortall can Meddle with it but yourselfe you must Sr doe on Sunday Morning as before well Brethren come on be of good Cheere although it be hard with you the Sun of Celestiall love will brake through the Misty frozen Clouds of a sharpe afflicting winter tide whose splendid Rayes shall through open the hard Icy bonds of your Afflictions & set you free to pass the Current of your Deliverance & future felicity, the 17th day of the next Month is your great & remarkable Ternarius & Mistically knowne to us but verbally delivered to you by the Name of Mistically very great & remarkable as I know will some after show forth & appeare to the fulfilling of your expectations but you are commanded from superiors power that day in particular to fulfill your remain in obscurity which must be & you shall not want to accomplish it, for the highest will mercifully bless you even unexpectedly to be thought of you neither can we tell you by reason it is not given to us we know not what is hen forth given to our superiors but we know it is, else it had not been given us to show forth & concerned you we hear you S[r] complaine of weakness well S[r] we will see for helpe for you & if we thereby find any we shall meet you again god willing on Monday next ensuing in accustomary time & order, bring the booke when you are bidden to do bin weather next thursday. you glass receipt or ball there shall noe stumbling block lay in your way

Action must cease

1686/7 January 31th Monday

There appeared a little spectrum in the waild of the ston; and it said No action appeareth untill wednesday Morning then bring the ston with you something eclipseth the action of this day

1686/7 feb 2[d]: wednesday the first after January

There appeared the testimony in forme like the sun at the top of the ston out of which went a ray upwards at the top of which is a bright glittering star & out of that star comes flashes ever now & then And there is a spectrum in the ston that looks first to one sollid glass receipt & then to the other And Galuah turned round about & called And presently came two spectrums & brought with them two ugly things and Galuah said something angerly to them and then the two spectrums tumbled them downe into a hole

And Galuah said God be thanked that we have subdued this evill those Infernall spirits will still be fomenting & striving to act their wicked designations against the innocent, & stirring up the spirits of evill minded persons to storme their peace with most wicked and scandalous Batteries, but theise are false & will doe noe execution & God be thanked they are now vanquished and confined to a restraint & their Power wholly dimin= =ished & become void
If you be remembered S[r] there. Bring y[e] 3 presidents agai[n] well S[r] now we goe on with you & with all imaginable dexterity for your deliverance not only from y[e] fear but perill of danger & danger of Enemy I have returned the mallice of your Enimies upon y[m] selves, make hast with those papers that the rest may be delivered up to you with them I would faine see you happy that you may be in peace & imbrace the benifits of your quietness & Patience & reape the consolation of Celestiall to me you have S[r] the booke of invocation of the 4 Directi all Tables which you may also bring with the other papers I know you have not transcribed the same yet neither would I have you untill it be renewed & the new method thereof made truly & effectually perfect as all things that now comes to your hands shall assuredly be, we have great respect unto the 16, 17 & 18 dayes of this present month be ye therefore comforted & rest assured of that mercy that will fulfill your hopes & happiness which we humbly beseeche the highest to give & grant unto you that your peace in in the Promise may be accomplished

1686/7 feb: 7th monday

There Appeared a transplendent beautifull star over the ston poynting downe a Ray into it And there appeared a spiritum in the ston which we suppose to be Ane and two more spiritums in white came to Ane one from the North & one from the South And them two have two books in their hands And some papers, each of them have a booke & two or three sheets of Paper written also, And they are very earnest in discourse together & they smile & are very pleasant And the two spiritums in white did obedience to Ane & to us ward & went away againe one to the North & the other to the South And Ane looked on us And smiled And then the Star over over the ston gave a great flash & Ane is gon & there is a spiritum before the ston which we suppose to be Lexamall, Well Sr the you have don your Duty you may Cease and be present at your next customary time of appointed Action (viz) thursday next

1686/7 feb 10th: The 2d after Ternary

There Appeared 4 spiritums in the ston (viz) Ane & Galua and two more Attending them & beyond in the ston is a great Light & in it as we suppose to be Castor & the two Intelligences of the day And Ane & Galuah are a comparing the 3 Calls of the seniors and 4 Angels sett over & the 4 servient to the East with a paper in Lattine And Ane gave a booke & papers to on spiritum & it went away to the South ward & and it gave an other booke & papers to the other & then Galuah & Ane looked on us & smiled And Ane & Galuah did courtesy to us ward & smiled & the other spiritum with the booke & papers in its hands stood before & smiled & said meet on tuesday morning & take directions for your ternarian Action, bring a Coppy of the Invitations against the 21th day remember your sundayes action

:1686/7: feb: 15th Tuesday:

There appeared over the ston a body like the ~~sun~~ sun with a turbid Appearance in it There appeared in the ston a fountaine like thing & a spiritum standing one of each side and out of this fountaine issued out fiery Rayes like as water running out of pipes There appeared a small spiritum before the ston & it looked on us & smiled and so it seemed to be ready to speake & then turned to the ston & afterwards to us & smiled & then seemed to be ready to speake to us & so did severall times but now when we behould the mones & wailings of god his servants & the humble supplications & earnest petitions unto the highest for succor comfort & releife we certainely are moved with great pitty & compassion, but as we touch not the corruption of the earth so we reject to deale with defiled things, but Sr I am willed to show forth of this next Ternarius entring & the qualities thereof, on the 2d day you are to Come here as in order to the Ternary: and R:O must sit downe before the ston at and I cannot say what sight you will have but keepe to your forme with your booke & pen & ink on y Mystery, but when action here is ended then you shall repaire to the other Mystery & there among the spirit Uriel with the other spirits mentioned in y profered call you As touching your oratory & great mistery thereof upon y day you shall know y it is 3 fould first of a Certaine peace of Attonement 2dly of Power & 3dly of dignity of all being dignified therewith & the sight & sence of what conduceth to seeing hearing & understanding of spirituall misteries & apparitions, its also an oratory containing a more Inferior Mystery as first a conquest over & dispersing of your enimies & their malitious frustrations 2dly Producing thereby Redemption in the quallety & condition of your vocation & 3dly the fruits of your future peace — ffor this let me give you to understand That it is a Maxim in Philosophy as you call it That effects exceed not there Causes, so as your enimies neither had or have cause thus to disquiet you as they doe & have don, then Consequently [illegible] you the effects it will returne on their owne heads & prove their owne distruction — well Sr it is said before not long not the whole Earth nor the corrupt part thereof what cannot be don the one day may be in following dayes of action as they succeed of the Ternary be offered as it may be appointed & then I know the end thereof will be the end of your Sorrows & afflictions & the begining of your Comfort & Redemption your action is at this time ended you may give thanks & cease 1685/7 feb: 17 : Ternary:

There appeared a body over ye stone like a sun & a golden eye in the center of it from the center of ye eye came a bright Solar Ray towards me
And before the stone stood Michael on ye North side & Uriel on the South side & both of them looked stedfastly on me & between them appeared Lovanael in a silver cloud and after this shew continued some time Lovanael turned to the stone & did [illegible] & afterwards turned to us & looked on us & smiled

And Lovanael said, well Sr I heard your discourse even now of your morning vission them too were very good friends of yours, them too are conversant in both the element of Aire & Earth, they will prove very kind to you you shall know them & their offices it is time you moved to your other part of action I will make further report of it on monday morning about your sight — — —

There appeared a star in the Center of the stone & it open=ed & gave a flash & there appeared a spectrum then in the fore part of the stone & it is Lovanael & it stood to the North Ready in the name of the highest who are you, And a spectrum in white appeared by it & Lovanael said where is what should have bin here & the other said Bless me I left the papers of precedent & the rest of the last Autumn here but yesterday at noone together with the holy Pentagon of Power [illegible] the [illegible]; but where are the Papers Sure the envious Infernall Adversary hath made encroachment & plaid his theevish pranks but I will arraigne him & stifle his future attempts for trust me it must be that we were no sooner returned from home to orders but this hellhound entered & seased his prey & all this is to vex & try the very faith & hopes of our friends & render us if possible diffidence that we might thereby clamorously be scandalously tempted to anger, but with scorne I find hath so insinuated shall surely & imediatly receive their reward of a theefe & a robber & of god And Lovanael looked towards us & said why thus it is not [illegible] and things prepared for considerable action but those Malitious divels imediatly runs up & downe till they find Prey & so devour the hopes of many honest & carefull expectances & so rejoyceth at their damned designes of scattering the seeds of separation amongst the hopefull flocks of the faithfull but I know they will quickly be fast enough yea Sr there hath bin some private slanders cast upon the but in secret & truly hardly taken much notice of but because those you seeke of somewhat wondreth at the deadness of profit that should accrue from thence is such as produceth little effects I say not knowing the reasons thereof may be animated to seeke some further inquiry into the state & condition of your worke; they come to see fashions as much as ought else

1686/7 feb: 24th the 1 after Fornary

There appeared a sun like body over the stone & an Emperiall forme in it & a star over that sollid glass round — And in the stone is Galuah & Aude And Aude hath a booke in its hand like a table booke the boards are blew & the writing looks like gold And Galuah & Aude are very pleasant & smile one on the other And Galuah put its finger to its mouth pulled it from its mouth & between its fingers was a round ball like a small bullet & it looked fiery & Galuah put it to Audes mouth & Audes mouth did suck it in & Aude became more beautifull & its face shined then Galuah laid its hand on Audes ~~hand~~ forehead & so went away And Aude looked on us & smiled & turned over the booke in its hand & put it into its bosome & said yea Sr these are Golden Legends without which we receive not Power to act, move, or comminicate Celestiall favours through divine grace by reason

All is contentrated in the will & minde of the Allpow =erfull only, untill by divine pleasure given unto us I dare not shew forth the gifts & benifits which this contained the effects whereof are such as not only be Admired but to be made a perpetuall monument And remembrance of the greatest mercies, which are not only gon forth & now given & by us received but even ready to be comminicated & so converted out of Power into act which my deare Ally now returned to Attendance on superiours Charge & Comands with my selfe shall I trust manifest to your comforts & happy deliverances, your Infernall Adversaries are now fast enough confined from future Molestations And your Terrestiall enimies are under some fear whether they may flatter you or yet revile you that is a viall of Wrath & a Granade of vengeance that shall be executed on your enimies, which will suddainly be put in to Execution And then comes your deliveran ce — — — — — — — —

You must act on tuesday morning & saterday morning at home on Usiel for those are dayes prope The paper left here is of my owne Abridgment now Sr it hath bin heretofore declared & converted into your Mother Tongue for the more plaine & easy understanding thereof, this is one Abstract of the originall which you may convert into your owne language & then I will show you how little differenc standeth between the first & the last Coppyes for we must now make you perfect in all knowledg And understanding as it shall please God to give unto us to shew forth unto you You may bring the same translated hither at yr pleasure

I am also compelled & must returne but I charge & Comand you not to enter this place not till three howers after the sun be set 1686/7 feb: 28: Monday:

There appeared a star under the stone a royall vaile ~~in~~ in the stone & the star begins to flash in fine small flashes, And the star gave a great flash & in its place is a spectrum in a silver Cloud and it looked moroslly & sowerdly & had a fiery dart in its hand and there came a black smoake like matter & rouled it selfe round the ~~fair~~ white silver Clouds & the spectrum did Angerly take its dart & struck at it & out of the poynt of the dart came fire & that black smoake tooke fire like tinder & it quite consumed & the cloud became more diaphonous & Bright, it is Lexanael, And Lexanael said. Although Indignation beareth me not Company yet I must reprove you for that you enter not the presence of Celestiall friendship in this place but with a repining dispaire Lamenting your forlorne hopes; Alas we know & see how you are every way wrecked on the ruged surges of Clamorous menaces & tossed almost into a swallowing gulfe that would ~~will~~ suck you up & destroy you, if possible, the fury of its violent Eddy could prevaile; but still fear not the danger of this storme which thus overwhelmes your hopes but take a courage & resolve Chearfully to endure it, by reason it is but momentary & sone passeth away, least by murmoring at the hard usage of Infernall Enmity Eddyes, hath promised benefits which attendeth your felicity the most high God hath bin mercifull to you & will also be mercifull to you if you stand these trials with Patience which is a Triumphing vertue you will not only gaine a 80 glorious Conquest but find Assurance of future mercies to morrow enter on your 2d call to Usiel as before 1686/7 March 3d: the 2d: after Ternary:

There Appeared a solar body under the ston with an Imperiall Presence in it And there came a flash out of that solar body & it spred all over the whole Mystery there is [struck through] to eastward of the Center of the ston a wonderfull Glorious spectrum in a Celestiall Ruby redness whom we suppose to be Castor in the Center of the ston is a beautifull glittering font like thing with a Ruby flame ascending out of it and at each side Northward & southward of it is a spectre and to the westward of it is Saluah And Saluah said be silent & move not And the 3 spectrums about the font doe kneel downe but the fiery spectrum doth not And the fiery spectrum takes something from its brest & throwes it into the font which presently converted all the show in the ston of a Ruby redness very transparent And now they are all rose up & with a great deale of veneration, we could be move you not from your seat for your Action begineth And the solar body broake into a flash & became a star & sent downe a ray into the Center of the ston & there was a little sparke at the end of it and before in the ston is And & he said Come Sr let us goe on to our businesse in hand (and then looked earnestly on me & said) And now Sr for your instruc -tion & satisfaction in Terrestiall actions & operations on the 5th instant being saturday next you make the 3d & last part of your entrance wherein I know you may have great signes of appearance on the next day being Sunday & first day of the weeke you shall humbly & Earnestly Invocate and move by Supplication & Petition to Michaell & Uriel, as you did before with earnestnesse, Then Sr on Tuesday morning at 7 a clock make progress progresse being the first of action to Uriel & other their ministring servants as by degrees & office are accordingly placed & Invocated you may paradventure = ure find them somewhat rough or slow in their motion or appearance but be not dismaid for that is by reason they are Powers of the more resideing also the Earth & Sublunar & by Nature more grosse & naturally somewhat obstinate in serving or assisting mankind but they are by earnest Invocation moved & Constrained to do their duty & fulfill the requested Commandements of mankind so that in short processe of time the earth shall through the spirituall mediums as thereunto by nature & office being properly referred & appointed shall serve your necessities with the fulnesse of its treasuries &c — And Sr when you shall behould & see the Corporall appearance of those or any of those spirituall Creatures present before you, view it or them well & see if you can discerne or distinguish what degree in Orders you may conjecture or Imagine them to be of if you thinke it to be Kingly as by its Attendance &c may be thought or observed, then you must give it ye title of (Royall) if it be of Dukes or Peers then (the most Noble) if it be of the Inferior sort of the highest of them you may say (Honoured) but of the lower sort (benevolent) or friendly) at their first appearance say if it be Uriel (welcome be ~~ye~~ you Royall spirit, you are to me sincerely welcome I desire you to tell me your name, & show me your seale or Character unto which you give obedience if they be slow in answering say are you the Royall spirit Uriel or any that have mercy or any of them orders superiour or inferior under the Royall spirit Uriel or who are you otherwise that I may so note of you ~~[illegible] And when you are satisfied therein~~ if you see their seale take a Coppy of it which Caracter ~~[illegible]~~ that spirit bound to you to performe its office durante vita &c then calling it by its name & bid it welcome And now by the same Power you were Invocated & Moved to appeare in presence here at this time I doe also by the same Power & in the true and most especiall Name of your God & by the vertue of this your seale or Charactor or bond of Creation most firmely & sollidly binding you to the service of ye God & also his servants the sons of men living on Earth Earnestly request & Powerfully ~~[illegible]~~ Constrain you to stay with me here in Peace, meeknesse & serenity, untill you have fulfilled & Accomplished unto me all & sundry my request I shall now demand of you & ~~[illegible]~~ the which I now also doe in the truest name of your God Powerfully command you to serve & assist me in & not to depart unto your Orders or mansion or place of Residence untill you have fulfilled all my desires nor untill I give you licence to make your Departure being your office to make discovery of all hidden treasure I doe comand you to make discovery to me of all what is easy to come at & obtained

And since it was provided for the use of man to serve his necessities therewith I do comand you to make make discovery of all such hidden treasure as may easily be obtained and to bring it to me to this place

~~the first words Duke are called honored the rest are called benevolent~~

~~O you [illegible] spirit (N)~~

O you spirit (N) now since you have obeyed the name of your God the superiour powers & seales of your orders & your owne seale or Caracter & by your selfe here delivered unto me according to my desire & hath also obeyed my wayes & at my invocation moved & appeared here before me and accordingly served & assisted me by office given you, for the which I give hearty thanks unto god & your superiours & also unto you for this your kindly faith & kindness unto me which I desire may be for ever continued betwixt us & the peace of the highest confirme it unto us & remaine with us during my naturall life comanding you thereby to be alwaies ready to move at my call & to appeare unto me when & wheresoever necessity shall give occasion for your further friendship & assistance & so you may depart in peace unto your orders

If any evill power hath the keeping any hidden treasure those powers will discover it & their names & their seales And you may comand it to bring the treasure & say to them, depart to your orders thou art of darkness & the place of darkness, this was provided for the use of man therefore depart to your orders & say Feouah, Feovah, Feovascah

It mattereth not whether you doe put on your girdle untill tuesday & so likewise for your pentagon of power let it hang at your brest or lay before you on tuesday first your invocation to Ufiel 3 times, 5 minits betwixt or 6 or 7, then make a stop for 9 or 12 or 15 minits betwixt then ~~read~~ the invocation to Arnen, Poriel, Amandiel & Hissam, & doe the like by them (viz) ~~rea~~ repeat their invocation 3 times with like distance then stop againe as before then muse call againe to Ufiel & stop 3 minits & then the invocation to the 4 dukes then stop 5 or 6 or 7 minits and then call on Ufiel againe & so do 3 times ~~and~~ more & when you have don calling stay ½ an houre after now I will tell you Sr there is neither doubt nor question to be made of successe in the practise or use of this arcana I could say much as to the comendation incouridgment & benifit here of if I durst since I have said enough in reason its not befitting for mankind to know more thereof for that will seeme so marvellous as to be incredible & thereby subject to suffer abuse or Corruption, & then are they wholly deprived of the benifit thereof And you knowing enough herein need not more but humbly to supplicate grace & mercy from the highest wherewith I humbly beseech him also to bless you —

March 7th 1686 Monday

There appeared over the ston like a glorious face in a fiery Cloud And in the ston is Sephanael, & it saies smiling on me. yea Sir if we smile you may smile for I assure you that your enimies now stand upon a more uncertaine foundation then you doe or if you can sensibly imagin of which you will shortly heare of Know ye now it so happneth that the succeeding dies Ternarius & solstitial entry of the vernall equinox chanceth happneth of one & the same day which much befitteth you by reason of the Conjunct offertories know yee Sir that through divine grace Assisting the effects of your future actions as they shall orderly succeed a blessed & happy Catastrophe insueth both before & after your Annuall Epoche it is true It hath bin declared that noe such offertory as hath bin enjoyned this present Ternarius will ever be enjoyned more which I also avow & that only ye 4 Annuall Injunctions should be observed all which is of verity but then know ye it is ment only of those extreame Injunctions which could not untill now have bin possibly avoyded of dubling or trebling ye Duty is only now Ceased but your weekly dayes of action as comonly accustomary is not here included nor the dies Ternarius untill the day of Epoche which happneth on the 7th day of the next month and if divine grace & mercy maketh you so happy as you can reasonably request from the most sharpest of your Necessities, then shall you have noe Cause to question offertories of any kind, but I know there will be noe occasion or need to enjoyne you to ought that can Afflict you, if you cannot offer the whole offertory doe what you can untill you can do the remainder — And Sephanael did veneration to the face over the ston & then smiled upon us & said verily Sir there is noe fear of falling where Celestiall assistance supporteth & upholdeth which the highest in his mercy hath graciously given to his servants that humbly feare honour & obey him in faith & truth & wherewith we also humbly beseech him for you Amen on thursday at the usuall time.

March 10th Ternary:

There appeared a solar body over the ston and an Imperiall forme in it And at the East part of the ston or further part of it is a fiery Spectrum in Imperiall forme wonderfull beautifull & Regall & there is in the ston a sun like thing & a Dilliciate flame ascending out of it to the sun like body over the ston And there is a fiery beautifull star of each side of that Imperiall Spectrum in the ston on the north side of that flame is Galuah & on ye South side is Ard And before the ston is Susaniah & Samariel And the whole show doth now & then bow to the East as if they bowed to the great Imperiall Spectrum in ye ston

And Susaniah & Samariel turned this way & looked on me & smiled; And they turned to the ston & seemed to Confer with Galiah & And [illegible] & turned this way & smiled & then turned againe to Galiah & And & then turned this way & there came a flash on them & then were seen more plainly And Susaniah said smilingly, well what is it you make scruple of

I will tell you Sr that being of practise & operation by the Royall spirits Uriel & ministring spirits of that order is as positively true as truth it selfe in the great Mysterie of Science and the only Choysest Arthanum for support & releife in the sharpest necessities the spirits of this Order are by Nature friendly good and Constant when brought to appearance & Comunity as that may certainly be effected & will faithfully serve in their offices what they are Enjoyned & Lawfully requested to content & satisfaction, yet many times they move slow & remissly, by reason of bearing by nature a kind of humaine passion as being sublunar & of the Aire, They truly know of all hidden Treasures & make full discoveries there of & how to obtaine the same & also to assist mankind therein, but you must be very Earnest in spirit when you make Invocation to them by reason it must be effectuall & then will good effects succeed therein, you may Sr if you please make use of [illegible] dayes in the weeke on Saturday & Tuesday you may have action [illegible] the morning about 7 a clock & in the afternoones about one or two in the afternoone and also on mundayes & Thursdays in the afternoone by this meanes you may & will assuredly obtaine your desires

Now knowing Sr by office they can make a true 84 Report or discovery of treasures hid & other treasures of the Earth & not only to informe of the same but also to assist in the Obtaining of it we also have Charge in office with the strength & Power of Invocation whereby they may be brought the sooner to Comunity & your wants releeved well be contented yet dispaire not of mercy for we all hope with you for grace & mercy in the highest whom with we humbly beseeke him to blesse & Comfort you with all to his Glory & your Comfort of Redemption Amen Hallelujah

be not too hasty Sr in putting by your working tooles stay untill the 7th day peradventure you may have need there of

March 14: 1686/7 monday
There appeared an Azure Spheare over ye Stone & a bright sparke in the Center of it out of which issued out flashes And there is a royall scale in the ston & there is a great light behind it And there is a portrum before the ston; & its face doth shine & it doth looke pleasantly & directs its countenance towards me And saith Is not this the Month March with you so called; yea it is:
why then you will shortly hear newes as hath bin already shewed forth & said unto you, And to be hoped to your benifit & Comfort (to me) well Sr goe on as you are instructed doubt not of your success take Courage be not dismaid nothing shall assaile you, I confess that sight is yet wanting though signes did appeare in place & to you see them not; yet signes will appear & then true appearance sone Cometh well Sr be contented & thereby rayse up your spirits to a sublimity of hopes for your enimies will fall before you for this Hopes hath a triumphing Powre well Sr I cannot stay with you I am called by superiour Power we also pray ye Divine grace & mercy may not desert nor leave you in Adversity which the highest grant for his owne sake in the unity of the sacred Trinity Amen Hallelujah God blesse you Sr on thirsday morne at accustomary time

March 17th: 1686: The first after Tornary

There appeared 3 stars a pritty height above the 3 Temples the middlemost of them more glorious then the rest & more glittering & flashing out some times And there is a Cristall vaile in the ston & a light behind it & a spectrum before it in the ston A heavenly spirit my name is Ath, I am acquainted Sr with your Concernes & by the motion of superiour Emission am sent to give you this visit It seemes Sr you have received a Note from your superiour relating to your Imployment I pray you was it not to place one whom you call Edminston in the worke & it may be likewise all to speake with you & have you call there as you so will Sr use your discretion I will stand by you you shall not want friendship well Sr if you goe not this day send your appoynted time by some Messenger with them will be all as one & so use your discretion this I assure you those your Envious opposites will soon tumble headlong downe & be at great difference one with an other for it is even entred already which some ~~hereth~~ them appeare & for ye matter I have said, proceed with Cheardfullness you may thinke you see nothing but secretly though I cannot my selfe justify any present Corporall Apparition, there and lived signes foregoing the same, & you may not well as yet see or perceive them neither, but then you must 85 herein still proceede & persevere by action & invocation & you will thereby find motion & appearance & keepe your sundayes action too by any meanes ~~if not~~

I will seeke for a meanes to assist you in your sight I have little given me to say but Commanded in Charge to attend & take Care of what is just & needfull wherein rest assured so that you need but little advice further your Reason shallbe strengthened & your discretion. attended & so you may walke with satisfaction in your spirit & content to your minde I shallbe with you yet 14 if not more dayes & according to my Charge by office promote your peace & fulfill what is promised in order to the same as Power shall be given unto me a superiour, well, well, Sr I touch not the Corruptions of the Earth but know ye you must make your best Endeavours in your Imployment wherein beseech ye highest mercifully to blesse you with happy & good successes to his Glory & your Comfort Amen Hallelujah

March 21th 1686 Monday

There appeared a Cristall vaile in the ston & beyond it a great Light & a flame ascending up in a Conick forme to a poynt a foote above the ston & a star at the very poynt of it that flashes much every now & then And there is a spectrum before the ston in a Lunar Cloud And there is seven vailes in the other two Temples it is Loxanaell in a purple vesture mixt with silver & it lookes seriously & pleasantly on me & said God save our good friends which is the only best best heworthy of all mankinde, and well S[r] though your Enimies looke upon you with a malitious & frowning Eye euen to a desperate hatred yet not doubt they will fall before you as rotten Leaves in the winter season for the servant of God Ale is by office & power your Protector & in Charge ouer you I am Compelled to order so much for your present Comfort God blesse you

March 23: 1686/7 : the 2[d] after Cornary there appeared Coming out of the Sun a Conick Ray about a foote in hight & on the toppoynt of it is a flaming Star from whence as we suppose comes a great many flashes & they come bigger & bigger And before the Sun in a Sylver Cloud is a Glorious Spectrum Crowned with an Imperiall Crowne glory like, & Imperiall Robes on, in Gold & Red with glittering Gems And the star ouer the Sun breake out into a great flash & so disappeared & in the stead of it is the likenesse of a dove as white as burnished siluer & its Eyes Red like a Ruby flaming like fire & out out its Mouth Comes a Red Ruby streame poynting downe to the spectrum before the Sun And the Imperiall spectrum before the Sun doth smile on us pleasently & it turned to the Sun did great reverence towards it And it turned to us & looked on us more pleasently if possible & said The vestiture of appearance in Celestiall & Imperial Glory signifieth the Lords throne of the great & Extend the like benifit & happinesse unto thine of the Moradi as before when it extendeth present it is not [illegible]

86

Action of the day is more then usuall or as at other times, but the ocation differeth the quallety & forme thereof by Reason it so happeneth, being the time of Pascha which began on tuesday at sun rising with us what you may thinke of it is not Materiall, we touch not but the Earth indeed ought to touch at us if all the host of heaven Rejoyceth at the returne of one sinner to grace what then be you there of the Redemption of all mankind who should thereby returne from sin to grace if the great & mighty gifts & heavenly benifits there =of were duly Considered I say how stupped sence =les sensitings & Luxurious delights I touch not as being wrapped up in wandry & blindnesse we of the Celestiall host of God his servants incessantly Glorify him & with whom the like prayses & thanksgivings of the Moradi should be conjoyned & united that the Glory of the highest might not only be consubstentiated but also extended to the benifit of all man kind by that great and inestimable offertory & Attonement of the ever blessed sacrifice of the Messiah Jesus Christ the only & true son of y[e] highest & 2[d] person of the God =head in the unity of sacred trinity Action floweth not during this present Cornary as in the honour of time in Celestiall observances follow you like example in piety & sobriety but rejoyce & be thankfull & make merry with your selves & friends as in accustomary nabourly & good friendly society remembring with all to consecrate how & at your duty to your God as accustomarily remember to keep your selves heedfull & some your god & be comforted whoe will certainly blesse you with considerable successe in your desired proceedings & supplications thereupon for surely That almighty Power that redeemed the worlde thereby restored mankinde to an happy estate of spirituall felicity can redeeme his servants from the wicked bondage of all Terrestiall evils & Malignant surprisalls

Marth 31th: 1687: Ternary present 6–10–03

There is a Solar body over the stone and an Imperiall Crowne over it And a flaming sword before it and there comes a short ray out of the top of the crowne and at the poynt of it is a wonderfull bright star And the stone is in great glory red as a Ruby and there is a glorious spectrum before the stone crowned with an Imperiall Crowne & on the top of the crowne is a jewill like thing of a diamond collour that shines and the spectrume looks pleasently on us and it turned to the stone & did reverence wi[th] towards it, And now it turned to us & smiled very pleasantly and said Thanked be the highest that we have met together this day for which his name be for ever glorified this Month is now expired & determined with the last Annuall Ternary our Annuall Æ[ra] the now Imediatly succeeding the same & so here is your victory which is now call by your Obedience of Attonement & Absolution unto you whose reward in effect is Peace obtained by the celestiall vertues of Charity Patience & Perseverance which also hath strongly Armed us with Powerfull weapons on your behalfe for because a great Combat ensueth & is nigh at hand but thanked be the highest through whose divine grace we have taken up your quarrell & will encounter the Ambitious & infernall fury of your worst Enimies And certainely obtaine a victorious & a Triumphant Conquest & thereby redeeming & redressing your Terrestiall Aggrevances & setting you in our Celestiall Peace & Tranquillity, the Power of Redemtion in the Action & determination of this day is great & its effects will show forth happinesse unto you you must consider read againe in your living vestments which will become you in perticular appoynted Actions on Tuesday morning next at usuall time for our materiall conflict will engage us on the day before, And then on thirsday as y[e] 7th from hence is your Annuall Epoche: I am your freind Za and am now come to receive Power to obtaine this victory of which I hope you shall shortly hear more now then S[ir] here I have laid downe or rather delivered up this crowne before you which is a semblance of an offertory of Epoche els I leave it in place as bearing the office of Power to prevent any Malignant encroachments & have a greater Power upon one in the defence of ought that can or may Attempt to Annoy you And then stretched out its hand & tooke the flaming sword y[t] was before the semlike body out it's hand understand me Sr well here I am comanded to give you notice of the offertory of your Epoche which should be Answerable to the office of action of the day & ensuing effects of your deliverance

Lay before ~~me~~ me as in the Place where I stand (viz) before this shew ston one Angell Crowned & there on place a diadem or diamond ston consisting as it should Rightfully be of 5, 7, or 9 graines by dimention & on each side of this first or midle part an Angell uncrowned And so shall you fulfill the injunction of your comanded obedience

1687 Aprill: 5:th Tuesday There appeared on or the ston a body like the sun with an Imperiall forme in it And an Imperiall Crowne over it And a top of it where there should stand a Cross is like a Diamond very beautifull And shining :: And before the ston is a delicate beautifull creature with a crowne on its head & it smiled I am Sr ex filijs filiorum I am nere Allied to Ath I am also a servant of Celestiall Grace & Amicus Mortali & Celosiriana Lucis, I am sent Sr hither by Superiour order who are in place & office above this place & Charge in Office to be delivered here by reason of Ordaining Power in Charge (then looked it hard on me) to dignifie with sight & Power to Comand thing or those More Inferiour Elemen-tall sublunar Powers, who are & may be given for service in the supply of your Necessities a Relation whereof is not given me to shew forth well Sr what hinder you from your late disposed ~~Inquiries~~ Inquiries I know not how divine grace may bless you with assistance in your present greatest Charge Injoyned, Now Sr I will tell you the Mistery hereof is not of mans Apprehention because it is a meane of Enjoying Celestiall dignity with another =all soule exalting the spirit to the same likeness & quallity of spirituall light carrying with it an Inherent Unity then which nothing is more blessed in Grace & perfection touching then any thing of [illegible] of your now late disposed Coronall offertory as it cannot be to great nor too high nor too splended nor too glorious so yet neither can we confine you to Impossibil ities for ought I know assistance may come to your supply with a few howers, if not then your day of Epoche & also of action now ensuing may declare further unto you, I cannot serve you, what may be Erronious or otherwise compliant herein that is left unto the Power & Prudence of that days action I only give you to understand what is plaine & Easy to your sence I say tis not of me to confine you or determin further by reason of the Improbabilities that may possibly eclipse the greatness of that action but I have don for fear I shall digress & exceed my Charge I must god for I am under comand & so must also report my Charge but I shall leave the Power given me to comand in Place during superiour determination

1687 Aprill 7th Exorted

There appeared over the ston a Solar body with an Imperiall Crowne on it glittering & out of the top of the Crowne comes a Ray upwards; and in this Solar body is 7 Imperiall Portrums in a Rednesse wonderfull shining; in the Midle of the ston is a font like thing & the brim of it is set with precious stone with every one of them cast a Ray out ward & there is Portrums standing ~~behind~~ about it two Rowes one behind the other and there is two Portrums like shaddows before the ston or ye Mystery the 7 in the Solar body are the 7 Superiour Intelligences they seeme to be pleasant and about this font like thing is the 7 Intelligences & the 7 subintelligences & without the subintelligences is 3 or 4 at each Angle And they are all very pleasant in Countenance & all Crowned in the sollid glasse kept next me is Saluah Ath & Aur very pleasant & very glorious & in the North sollid ~~kept~~ is Nalvage Murifri & Maxsama & they are pleasant & Glorious And the two Portrums before the ston doe smile & the Crowne layes betwene them on a ~~[illegible]~~ purple Cushion and they are Themeli & Illemese And in the hollow ~~[illegible]~~ are in the top of them a Luna light but in the Midle of them is like Clay or Earth & some ugly things like vipers doe come out of it & suddainly goe in againe; ——

And Themeli saide The Magnificent Appearance in the Action of this day as your present Annuall Epoke showeth the Paternall Mercies of the highest towards you, as your God promising through divine grace thereby Peace & happinesse shortly to the Comfort of your soules & Redemption of your Corporall Cares in your temporall Concernements what is it Sr nay Beholden as I may call you that seemeth uneasy or difficult to your Apprehension or understanding in the oblation of this day I know not but I find nothing of difficulties that have bin shewed forth unto you; so that here seemeth not else but impertinent Mistake in your Judgement the dedication of the ston or diamond ston of 5 graines may be dispensed with all this 21 dayes if it cannot be had sooner & then make this present also that it may be compleat it shall not hinder the promised mercies, Sr that sight & Power cometh in Course to you you will have releife by them Aireall Powers you must cease Give thanks on monday Morning

1687 Aprill 11th :monday: ~~[illegible]~~

There appeared; a star over the ston & there is an eye in the Center of it as red as a Rubey casting a Ray from it towards me and in the ston it seemes to be all like a flame; And the Ray of that Eye in the star continues to cast its Ray still towards me And also there seemes to a bright transcendent face in the stone and ~~[illegible]~~ it casts forth a light from it like the sun & it is very pleasant

And there appears a fine small Portrum in the ston with a Ring of Gold on its ~~[illegible]~~ head with studs on it & it smiles & it looked on the eye about the ston & turned to me & looked full on me & smiled & it said; your desires Sr will be fulfilled observe the prescript orders & Rules given dispute not further of the effects the rest followeth in Course of Promised; I trust you will be setled er long in Peace & freedome

I feele not more descend nor given me to shew forth give thanks to god & beseech him for mercy that you may possess the benifite of the grace & peace from above which gives all Temporall felicity and hereafter with the most high God bless you Amen

:1687: Aprill 14th the 2 after Ternary

There appeared a sparkling star over the ston & in the Center of it is like a birds eye & it casts its Aspect directly to=wards me And there is a Royall vaile in the ston & a small spertum I seeme either in it or before it it hath a crowne on its head & it looks very pleasant And & smiles on mee And it said My Mother saith your desires shalbe suddainly or very shortly fulfilled as before hath been said & your promised hopes Accomplished bless the highest for his grace & Mercy for he is gracious & merci-=full And will give blessing to his servants that humbly beseech him: nihill plus desiderat hodie I am called away but my love resteth behind with you

1687 Aprill 18th Monday

There Appeared over the ston a Glorious star that sent forth a streame downe into the ston, that gave a light into the ston, and there is a great brightness in the Center of that star & it is like a blasing star And there is a Transcendent Royall vaile in the ston so glorious like flames There is a Curious spertum Crowned in the forepart of the ston and there is also a spertum in the solid glass [illegible] and they have a ring of gold on their heads & and they are very pleasant and smile in the ston is Lenamael and in the forepart next one is Fusaniah And in the other is Samariel and they converse together very friendly.

and Fusaniah & Samariel both looks on me & smile 90 And Fusaniah looks on me & then on its hand & then confers with Semariel those dates and the seales of Diurnall Powers & degrees were to compliance then the other 4 were, they are so Naturally, use those 4 dates in the Roome of the other 4 be carefull of Good deportment at the time of next Ternary afternoon Questions, nor make noe Enquiries therefore make noe further question what you doe not is noe Error make a Ternarian oratory You may act at home any day non excepted but Sundayes & that is bee continued by order of vertues God blesse you

1687 Aprill 21 Ternary present 06—10—03

There Appeared flashes that came towards me And like a body of fire over my head, as if it was just upon it, There is over the ston a Glorious solar body shining out rayes all round upon it And some thing in it And the ston is all full of Glory And there is something before the ston in a silver vaile And there is Appearances in all the corners but all vailed in with fiery vailes or vailes of Glory And the spertum in the silver vaile seemes very pleasa=nt & it casts its Aspect to me it is Semiel & it hath a bright star on the brest of it, and it saids, move not without permission the presence of Power in Appearance is great in grace & mercy & the place thereby holy confirming your hopes of Admission And Entrance into promised Enjoyments, And the light of true Celestial felicity

And desires Deliverance from Terrestiall threaldom in the fore part of the ston is Uriel Galvah & Schemeli= =el Galvah hath a golden rod in its hand & there is a small sparke or star at the end of it & out of it doth shoot now & then a small sperke to R:O: And Uriel hath in its hand like a viol of fire & there comes out of the mouth of it a ray or beame upwards And Schemeliel hath in its hand A scepter like thing with a thing like a small bird on it & out of it issues like the Attomes in the sune beames in the sun like body over the ston is the Governour of Hylick and Metheratton

And in the midle of the ston is a font like thing covered with a crowne & Michael on the one side of it & Gabriel on the other the rest of Intelligences on the East side of it, And Charge is given to all to performe the promises & to show forth the same in following actions in course, And Samniel hath converse with the spectrums in the sollid Glass receipts
And in the sollid glass receipts are the other 6 subintelligences 3 in each receipt & behind them is six or 7 & behind them is a great many in each receipt neer the ston — And Samniel said to me goe forward with your actions as ordered And call on the Order of Vertues on Sunday, this action ceaseth not of untill the 7th day not more can be given untill the 7th day

1687 Aprill 25th monday
There appeared a spectrum like a young child standing before me with a crowne on its head & a bright flame issuing out of the top of it And before the ston is a delicate beautifull spectru crowned it is Levanael & it looked full towards me & it had a star in its forehead & it cast a ray towards me & it smiles and is exceeding pleasant, fiat voluntas Dei, fear not neither dispare si Deus nobiscum, quis contra nos, there are good friends in Charge & care of you, but my message doth not permit to sayer thereon Rayse up your spirits even to the 4th heaven where the light of grace dwelleth & you will quickly find the light of your hopes comfort you with a happy prospect of your deliverance & peace & rest wherein very like you may receive further knowledg then is given to me at this time to show forth but I must returne to the service of the highest whom we all humbly beseech for you and whom with to endow & bless you

1687: Aprill: 28th: the first after Fornary: There appeared a silver Cloud before the ston in the midle of the ston is the font like thing & a flame burning in it & that ascends about 2 foot above the ston & a bright star at the end of it & About this font like thing are 4 on their knees in each quarter one & they are at prayer and in the Center of the star over the ston is a small eye out of which comes a bright ray toward R:O: And the four Archangels that was on their knees about the font like thing are rose up and seeme to looke upe & give thankes, And Galvah is in the silver Cloud before the ston and is in discourse with Susaniak & Samariel in the two sollid Glass receipts & they two doe great veneration to Galvah & the ston & Galvah went away in a flash, And Susaniak & Samariel doe seem to goe to the Northwest point & flashes come from them to them, and two spectrums come to each sollid glass receipt in humaine forme & Susaniak & Samariel doth talke to them 4 spectrums & they seeme to be humble & sometimes to trimble and then 4 went away in flashes & [illegible] Vermariel doth looke on ye Spectrum before the Ston & doth say some what to it, it is Seminiel, And Seminiel Looked on us Eried curtesly & smiled and then looked full on me And said, God save you what is it I pray that   troubleth you if ought disturbeth your understanding we shall Arbitrate ye mistakes; stay awhile I come againe And it came againe & looked pleasantly; And said Well Sr I will settle your thoughts in peace this day is a Charge gon forth, which you will hear more of on Monday next but in the meane time proceed in your action at home   observe then Sr you shall have one day of action in the weeke at this Mystery & I appoynt it thus; on Monday next shall begin your first day, And the first day of your weekly actions & so consecutively, (viz) on Monday the next weeke & tuesday ye weeke following & wednesday ye weeke following & so on in course successively — And for your offertori they must be thus one crowned angel and ye quantity of 1/3 part thereof more as a band or continuety of our correspondent friendships is the weekly offertory of the day of action & for dies Ternarius there will be non after this triple ternaries ending June 23d but untill this triple ternary be ended the offertories thereof is mitigated (viz) only tribled as thus 3 crowned angel with one third part of the quantity thereof   And there is all the trouble you will under have in this poynt

But one thing I must needs offer to you if you are able to offer up ye ~~diamon~~ diamond ston of 5 graines or more with ye Angel crowned of gold & two angells of silver in ye time or between this & the 23 of June next ensuing it will doe well being a conformation ~~of sight~~ or consubstantiation of sight & power well Sr I have said what sufficeth so I bid you fare well in ye highest

May 2d: 1684: the 2d after Ternary

There appeared in the midle of the ston a great flame and that ascends up in a conick forme above the ston to a poynt on which is a very bright star and in the two sollid glass vessels is a Lunar brightness There is a Spectrum before the ston in a silver Cloud it is Lovaniel & Lovaniel looks pleasantly on me And said (looking more seriously & gravely) ha good friend I have heard you lamenting your unfortunate state of present being in your Imployment, the guilt of your Collapse & declining hopes of future certainty & success therein seemeth to strike you in fear & terror of minde more then the danger that attends you you may nay you must appear to them partyes or else it will be worse through mercy in the highest you may shortly find deliverance to your great & unexpected comfort Mr Millet) some stuck thoughts hath bin contrived amongst some persons who are every way wholly unconcerned in those affaires but by imaginary flashings & [illegible]ings of persons unconcerned as they thereby order together rumors whereof spreading abroad may also incite others to think so differently thereof untill it soundeth in the Eares [illegible] wherof those that are concerned though there be not reality therein nor foundation therefore, I confess what you say that even as sinking persons will lay hold of a straw to buoy them up though in vaine so Necessity will take hold of what benifit opportunely may offer, but this report is yet nothing though there may be Contrivance of some to create a Conception of setting such a designe on foote but still it is Nothing for it cannot be dayly Consulted nor determined so I still it proceeds to nothing

I say question not your sight for It will be given you & your Instructions are sufficient to make use of upon any Appearance presents it selfe well my good friend you may withdraw into your Conformity ever from the most high God Protect, & Bless you.

May 10th, 1687: Tomary [illegible]

There appeared a sun like body over ye ston and in it a thing like an Eagle & cast a Ray towards me like a streame of light,

And Fusaniah in the sollid Glass = kept on ye Northside and Tomariel on the other & some all postures more with them And Fusaniah & Tomariel doe looke to ye East wards & then to the ston & then on us & smile —

And in the ston in the front like thing is a flame & Michael is on the North side of it & Uriel is on ye South side of and Madimiel & And are of the west side of it & on ye East side of it is a Spectrum in Imperiall forme in a fiery Appearance

And Michall & Uriel looke directly on me & they have each of them a star on their brest out of which comes a Ray pointing to me from there both : .

And Madimiel & And doe looke the Eastward & then one on another & then on us & smile

And Madamiel said, God save our Good friends & brethren verily Sirs by this time you may thinke me more a stranger by reason of my late not presence in appearance upon action here Not Sir our absence is mostly or many times the same as presents because we are at all times & every where present by service & comand from our great Master I have often seene you & served you at Comand & by Charge in office Imitted unto me though you see me not nor know me not for the Most high & Great Jehovah even ye Almighty Madrilodary when he made the Earth & the Glory there of And looked downe from heaven upon that his most admirable & vast Framed out worke & viewing the greatnesse & Glory variety of all things as the Idea & Image of himselfe & then framing the more Nobler Creature of all Man as the Image thereof, I say beholding this wonderful & even Incomprehensible worke as to the apprehen-sion of man in all succeeding Ages untill this day. the great & most high God I say; did declare all this to be good & made man the sole Imperator & governour under himselfe of all ye he had so created & made, & withall made perticular promises unto man not only to Enjoy but to comand the great benifits & comforts there of; if he would become humble & obedient & observe his comandement which if he so kept & observed should be inherent to all posterity even to all Eternity but foolish man falling from his duty into a relapse of disobedience & Incurring divine Justice as a punishment due to his disobedience was degraded of his Angellicall & Immortall beatit =ude & cast forth into dishonour & so became in sight & subject to death & corporall dissolution intailing thereby the like on all his posterity But yet my Brethren let us also reflect here withall, the goodness of the highest that although he severely punished that great offence & sin of man yet he compassionately beheld his weakness & lost his grace & mercy paternally to continue with him that he should yet stand in a state of Glory & Retain an Imperiall power of all God his good creatures both Celestiall & Elementall & to make the Infernals & powers of darkness as his vassalls & to command ~~at~~ them as vile slaves although by Nature evill, yet in their places & offices to be not only serviceable but also humbly & submissively bound to obey his commandement when called or moved thereunto from whence my brethren you deeply infer & conclude with me what the Members of Grace shall possess especially where Celestiall promise dwelleth & the light thereof is as I may say always or continuall present — the rest is given to Understand — And she said This truth now said & shewed forth must warrantably be confessed of all & undeniably assented unto (& looked on me) if so then sir I tell you the great works of the hermetick sophiarts will be truly given declared & shewed forth unto you & that you shall by your industrious performance in what is delivered you partake of those great earthly benefits, which shall not only be revealed but delivered unto you as a continuall supply to serve your necessities that you may live in a magnificent comfort & enjoyment of promised felicity; but stay was not the 23d day of the next month with you poynted at & mentioned well then be contented for I have not given me to say there of now, and they looked to the East & then spake to the two ~~glass~~ sollid glass receipts you may give thanks & cease but at your utmost perrils let not a foot enter into this Island till the sun is set

May 18th:1687: the first after Ternary — wednesday —

There appeared in the stone Uriel & before it Cothabiel & over the stone like a wheele of fire & in the center of it is an Eye I looked directly on me And Uriel did confer much with Cothabiel & Uriel did sometimes & also Cothabiel looke on the two sollid glass receipts and now & then Uriel did cast a smile on me And Cothabiel turned this way & smiled & said smiling much I heard you Sirs but even now reviewing the action of the last day of your convention how the with I have conferred in yet for the whole thereof I say that the Power & Providence of the highest is past the reach of humaine apprehension & imagination what though you are incompassed with terrestiall desperation & battered furiously with the most malicious inventions that can be uttered or pursued by infernall inventions dangerous enough his true in portent & effect but what then thinke you not that yet remaines not an ~~awfull~~ overrulin Power yea Sirs most assuredly & that to your comforts too as that I could manifest in many sounds examples & in all ages of time I doe not find that you are greater sinners then many that haue bin wonderfully deliuered & preserued from more greater & apparent relapses then you now suffer & are at present wracked in to me I confess Sr what you but euen now offered as to be advised touching those present difficulties now laying incumbent upon you are very considerable & indeed as necessary for you to be advised in, but it is not of myne office at this time Receiue answer at 9 of the clocke on Monday morning & then you will be resolued by Lewmael

- A saying that I shall haue sight & dignity &c — — Behould the sacred servant of the highest Ariel, cometh to your comfort & assistance unto whom it is & will be giuen mercifull to the confirmation of your hopes in him unto whom all honour glory & thankes giuen be ascribed for euer & euer Amen —

May: 23th: 1687: Monday:

There appeared Lewmael in the ston very pleasant & friendly yet seriously, & it looked on me and said smiling this said Sr you want counsell in order whereunto I am present here at this time, And doe find that you would gladly understand what will be the fate & event of the state & condition of the place & employment of your present being, & of the good or ill success thereof, as it now standeth in the midst of a storme of uncertainty wracked euen to the utmost despi= =ration, and how you shall steere a course therein for a generall preservation, both of it, & of all whatsoeuer is therein concerned, you say you know not neither know you how to advise your selfe herein, which I know to be the reason of the address of this day what say you Sr is this the somm of your desire well then I perceiue I haue summoned up the principles in ye sence of your present address, and there came a flash & it turned to the eastward & then turned to us againe & looked more pleasant then before if possible & said Now then upon a view of this whole matter as I haue taken & thereby observe, I finde severall persons concerned there in whose proper claime thereof or who will lay right or claime thereunto, is at this time wholly unknowne & not to be understood but many layeth out baits angling to here the profits & benifits that layeth ready to be made thereof & those who are or may be properly said to lay claime thereunto are subject to giue ear & listen to severall contrary & malitious informations, undervalluing deriding & setting the same at nought thereby making so much of strange disorder & confusion so eclipsing the truth that the splendor of its glory will not very easily shine forth in the luster of right understanding there most horred & turbulent lyes like whirlewind stormes will be infernally dispersed, that the innocency of the naked truth will be cloathed with a scandalous and unseemely garment gladly seeking to shroud it selfe behind a rock till a more sereen calme appeareth & the storme ceaseth & the sun of righteousness giue a benevolent ray & wholly disperse it these false and malitious impertinces & then will all appear in a joyfull safety & blessed hopes of happy determinations I must needs tell you Sr that your interest hath the most & just right & will surely hould the same from the dutchesses claime by reason it is to be understood yt the obligations must first be paid And herein they may be both strangely perswaded into great mistakes by strong flatteries & other manyfould delusions by severall envious & ravenous villaines who like hellhounds will seeke to hunt the very truth it selfe to slaughter & distruction if possible yt nothing should hinder them like ravenous wolves to tare & rend all in peices these are the intentions of such as sish for disturbtion But through divine grace with is fortitude enough to defend the innocent these roring Lions shall miss there aime & loose their prey notwithstanding the rigorous fury of their upholders & watchfull fark-rals

I now will shew forth & declare unto you that if ye dutches should claime the same as doubtless some sycophants thereof will appear animated on by nothing but meere envy & ignorance as knowing nothing of differences then will Mrs Elizabeth Browne be partly enforced to seeke defence for her owne interest & preservation of right, then cometh what I have said to pass And verily Sr I am in great hopes that you masst or them, ~~beate~~ of purchasing ye same your selfe & so beat them all out

Now Sr take notice & be carefull of what I shall advise thee I find it willbe to little purpose for you to make adress unto your patronesse But I tell the what there are some persons who should be related to the law who either hath or may have her ear And also may discorse her & whosoever maybe intrusted by her unto whom you may adresse your selfe by first contracting in a bruiate both the good & evill effects of all these concernes & the good or evill consequenses ye may ensue, & the meanes of preserving her interest or the disturbtion thereof & for her to take some care therein & then will she be willing to consult with you being so animated to seeke ye safety of her interest for this I certainly assure ye if these two gentlewomen should fall at variance & thereby walke into trubles by your laws or other dissentions they willbe both surely cheated & the reputation of there worse even almost lost Although ye enimies thereof gets nothing by it verily Sr this matter requireth a little dexterity in your adresse

Verilie pag nos debt

Sr I tell you a greater nor more true Arthanii experiment or operation in ye part of true science is hardly to be found & therefore persevere in it & through grace in the highest you will find good effects thereof with you may persue at your discression since you are under noe limitt of time

May 26: 1687: thirsday: 2: after .

There appeared a delicate lovely creature in ye stone in a purple vestment mixt with gold & golden haire And looking very ~~very~~ pleasently My friends for so I call you although as yet you know me not by reason I am allyed unto good friends of yours that have ben so & are so & willbe so to the glory of the highest & I trust unto your comforts & benifits I am also de filys filiorio by name Phaviel & stand in place of absence ready to serve by office & present charge given the servants of the highest in their adresses & to you in perticular as present here in place attending celestiall grace for a support unto your hopes under doubtfull & dispairing difficulties, It not only sufficeth that I have heard partly of your discorse give me then more fully to consult then reasonable answere for you I will tell you Sr good to consider first & then to Mrs Browne Verily Sr I will tell you although it is not for me to justify an evill person nor ye ill action of any person yet not withstanding these things must be adjudged at reasonable conveniency doe not discharg him but give him 10 or weeks & speake him faire

The Lander will not stirr Ay marry Sr if you take of wickednesse there is enough of ye & wretchednesse too make a fair parting with him

Conserning them Yea Sr I have seen it in very good and very ill Chance it is considering the ill flesh he hath to be wounded it must be well searched & opened — — — — god on with your Callis frigend of dear netting.

May 30: 1687: monday instead of Conquer, make us our works faill & by ye mean utterly destroy the future prosperity & good successe thereof instead of I am informed say it is Credibly reported by good Information

June 3d: 1687: Fornary friday prof—

There is a sun like body over ye sun & some thing in it And in the sun is Glory
And in the solid Glass receptacle on ye North side is Michael and on the South side is Uriel And Michael is in Regall forme Crowned And a golding Key in its hand And Uriel is in a High Priests habbit with a golden rod in its hand & out of the top of it a flame issueth out like a Candle of Torch And we suppose the Governour of Hylick is in the sun like body over the sun. And Methratton is before in ye sun with the Caduce in its hand And Methratton looks on Michael & then on Uriel & points with its Caduse to me & looks on me with pleasant Countenance & so doth Michael & Uriel, and in the sun beyound Methatton is in Great Glory, Dagall & before Dagael is Anall & Galuah & before the sun is Nogall as we suppose — & in the two hollow receptacle is Jusaniah in one & Samariel in the other and Numberless of Fortunes with them of divers formes And ye Fortune before the sun said Ego sum Nogall and Nogall hath a witch wand like thing in its hand & with a bright sparkle at the end of it & it looks pleasantly on me & so doth all the whole show And Nogall said The Glory of Appearance in action surpasses terrestiall Conformments as it is a particular Gift of Grace unto you therefore no reports mention untill Monday 7 or 8 in the Morning untill then you may Cease —

June 6: 1687: Monday

There appeared lights in all the receptacles [illegible] in And a Fortune before the sun & it smiled & we suppose it to be Gonael & it went away and after a little time Phariel came in its place & it looked on us & smiled on us & it hath fine Golden haire Braided, and it turned to me & looked very pleasantly on me And it said
The appearance in action on ye last day of ye Congregation here signally showed forth the mercies of your God in his Paternall grace & favor towards you,
There appeared the Governour of Hylick & its disposer to give order for ye disposing of the Great Medicine of the medicinall thing, and there was Michael & Uriel to give power And Light to R O, and Jusaniah had with it the Knomi And Samariel the Sylphs, who will be subjected to Obedience Now then let us to our purpose in hand, to me, you are highly commended for addressing your selfe to Carmbell with what you had occasion for its assistance And showing forth the state & Condition of your Consignments, verily it was well don of you & now you may use your owne discretion in your other Intentions having only to morrow god not on any materiall Ettlequiss, not to speake with any body to morrow but any day else

I tell you Sr the Duchess will seeme to be animated on by some very Ignorant fooles as hath bin already showed forth which will nerely breake forth into folly tending to make …

fraction or difference in the Claime but it will turne to nothing, for the dutches will take advise of the Learned And when she will be given to understand the difficulties Attending her Claime or Property there she will then desist And acquiesce but yet some disturbance will hardly rest there for some other folish Attempts will seeme strangly to Arise from unknowne principles striving to make more miss understanding And through many Mistakes Animosities will Arise & in the midst of the storme all Malitious Batteries & Attempts will dissolve & wast & become nothing & so the world stand in a perpetuate unity & peace & succeeding Prosperity.   you need not be further Concerned at this time you may have further information on saturday next

June 11th 1687 the first [illegible]

There appeared beyound in the Ston a Great Imperiall Fortune & two more with it, Zophiel Boel Zabathiel and in the midle of the ston there ascended a flame in the forme of a spire & it ascended out of the ston a pretty way above it & as we sing Michaell stands on the North side side of it & Uriel on ye South side of it And in the solid glass except in the North side of ye ston is One And in the other is Jaliah & they seeme to sit & Contemplate out very pleasant & smiling And before the ston is Chariel And Michael tooke of the flame yt ascended & threw it into me & so did Uriel & then they looked on me & smiled And Chariel said, Come, Come, Sr let not hope fail you nor your faith sinke into delays, all is well & will be better unto you for behould the finger of Celestiall Grace guideth Power to dignify, defend, & Redeeme you, from fear & danger And ye Divine Light of Celoshirah giveing safe guide

And happy Conduct unto Enjoyment of true felicity, 98 besides these many Celestiall servants of Grace ready to minister all promised gifts even ready to be Administred & shewen forth unto you, which needs Approacheth & is even at hand; Monday next in order is of Right a day of action as appoynted in the Ensuing weeke your Ternary falleth on ye 29th Instant but you must Commend the 23th also but of ye Matter you will be Informed the 21th day as it falleth out to be an Appoynted day of action meet next monday & the weeke followin on Tuesday & then ye the weeke following on wednesday so all will Correspond very well togethe sure I am that Grace & mercy is here shewed forth unto you and will shortly be delivered to you well Sr be not dismaied, for I trust you may very shortly see the deliverance of the highest lead you from thraldom into a most happy & Glorious freedom in your Temporall Estate Condition & enjoyments which we all humbly beseeke of the highest for his owne blessed Names sake for you to the Comfortable Enjoyment of your hopes & so rest you satisfied untill we meet againe   on Monday next 1687 June 13th Monday

There appeared Chariel before ye ston & in the ston is Michael & Uriel & they are a speaking to severall spirits in the ston & over the ston is a fine like body looking of a Ruby Redness; And Chariel doth looke very pleasantly on us and hath some thing in each hand that it lookes on like little stons & it strikes them together & they strike fire —

And it looked on me & said It would be attempted great vanity or at least a great oversight for us to declare of the extent of the Infernall Machinations & other malitious Inventions & most wicked Conspiracies dayly Invented fomented & acted upon ye Earth Amongst the Children of mankind but only to Comfort you thus for with a satisfaction unto your disturbed spirits Considering you then with us, which we may also Conclude without sensible Error as ye sacred word of the highest hath it and hath declared it, that such great & Cross Injuries may be permissively premeditated & acted by wicked persons — but then what followeth wo be to them from whom they Come And are perpetrated Certainly it were better such had never bin borne then live to suffer the Reward of their — wickednesse for it is to be observed that if all things must Returne ye Returne from whence they came then pray judg you the Rationall Construction thereof & of those direfull effects which Returneth upon the heads of those from whence such materiall Injuries most perfidiously shall proceed which undoubtedly you may live to find [illegible] verified, O then on the Contrary how great is the Reward of truth in its hoped faith & Obedience be not therefore troubled nor so much disquieted in spirit or mind, at feared or threatned dangers or Malitious Contro= =versies for they will Returne from whence they Came with shame Enough to the Conspirators & promoters thereof, And so dissolve, Then will victory triumphantly stand in a Glorious & firme stabillity before the servants of the highest & continue in their defence against all worldly assassinations stirred up by any Infernall motive whatsoever To be breif with you Srs that I must also be; many servants of Celestiall Grace are by office appoynted for your Comfort & great things will be shewed forth unto you that will be means of your happy deliverance & such happinesse as will be shewed forth the 8th day to me know you Sr or have you not heard of ye which is called Lapis Lyrites the which hath wonderfull & occult vertues 99 & great secrets which will in good time be declared unto you for power is gon forth & permission given to declare & shew forth unto you the mercies of the highest unto your peace And Comfort but I must also Returne & Condition which therefore you may give thanks unto the highest & wee also on Tuesday the next weeke — — — — — —

1687 June 21 the 2d after Ternary

There appeared over the ston a body like the sun and in it is like an Eagle & on that Eagle is a Glorious Imperiall person And before the ston is two fine spectums ye seem to be at play one with the other And there came a third spectum before the ston & now they leave of playing And now they be serious together & very pleasant the first 2 spectums before the ston is Esemeli & Elemese & Ath was the 3 spectum that came to them And in the ston, is Galuah, Mapsama, & Murifri & behind them is a flame ascending up & of the one side of it is Ane & on ye other side is Nalvage And beyond it is An Imperiall Presence in a Red flaminesse & one spectum of each side of it which we suppose to be Samael & Madimiell And in the folded glass [illegible] on ye North side of the ston is hog in white And Susamah behind them & 4 attending on Susamah & many attending on them 4 &c — in the fold glass [illegible] on ye South side is the Like them with Samariel — — And Ath looked on me & smiled And said The Righteous shall be justified & be victoriously defended not= =withstanding the desperate & destructive poyson of Infernall mallice, And shall Triumphantly Rejoyce in happy deliverance Blessed are ye then in your faith Obedience Patience & Perse= =verance the superiour vertues supporting the hopes & hopefull Enjoyments of the Morodi & Elect through divine grace into mercy, This day Srs is appoyntment of action the which manifesteth it selfe in Glorious Appearance, the effects whereof will be accordingly Answerable

Then I will tell you Sr this day in the Action thereof is of service to you, which I am willed to show forth for it is of great concernment, understand me then I on thursday ye 23d instant you shall meet at this Mystery in the morning at 7 a clock & make Earnest prayer & supplication unto your God for grace & mercy to dignify you with sight & happy success in all your future proceedings, for the same shall be a day of humiliation or of humble Addresses unto your God as before I said eating nothing yt hath lost life untill 6 in the after noone the offertory of that day shall be only two Angels Crownes the which toucheth not the offertory of this day for the 27th day is a day of preparation as well as continuall oblation as hereby is injoyned proceeding the next day of action which is dies Ternarius Magnus And indeed as I may say likely to be the greatest day of action that hath preceeded it ~~being on the~~ on that day stay an hower in all from 7 to eight & then withdraw but be very Circumspect in your doings yt day that you offend not, nor are tempted to ~~any~~ any offence untill after six of the clock now Sr observe with fear & reverence unto superiour Power on the 8th day you shall meet at this Mystery by 8th in the morning for as it is the greatest day we trust of mercy unto you as may succeed the Glorious & happy Effects thereof & by reason it may be that many future Extreames in extraordinary offertories may be mitigated & the burden thereof eased & so very reasonable offertories for the future enjoyned as bin showed forth already which on yt day I trow will be settled to your good liking now then although it hath bin said that ternaries will cease after the expiration of this present Ternarius Magnus & which I show not forth at this present that is partly referred to the Action of that day

I am Comanded to show forth unto you what you are to observe 100 & to do on that great day, the offertory of the action singly only as dies Ternarius, the which standeth singly & of it selfe but then considering the magnitude & greatness of the day & time as it must of necessity be, if with us, then consequently also with you that single offertory of the ternary must be trebled & presented at the foot of this holy stone which I trow will be a period to all extraordinaries & an entrance into a future & happy estate both as to your deliverance & the benifit of mercies therein for the more your enimies hateth you the more & greater will Celestiall love & grace be with you; be not therefore dismaied Sr you shall have not trebled I ... otherwise perceive but you shall injoy all your desires — — — — — — — —

I have now showed forth & delivered what I was comanded desiring you in Gods name to observe & take heed unto it by reason it neerly concerneth you whereas the most high God graciously endow you with happy & heavenly success to the Glory of his great name & the comfort of a lasting peace unto you

1687 June 23: Humiliation ~~...~~ ~~...~~ there appeared the stone Crowne of Purplish Red Collour and there seemed to be something before the stone like a small Scepter and it is in a deep Redish purple Collored vestment Ego sum Affeliah I am also of the family of Friendship, And am Comanded by superiour Power to greet your humble Addresses before the presence of Divine grace in the Admission & we trust your Entry to the sacred Pallace of Celestiah on wednesdays action I must also sit before ye stone & we must be serious & not to entertaine any other discourse then belongeth to the action, take heed of passion injustice Anger & superfluous discourse   The sacred spirit of the highest direct & receive you into grace & mercifully defend you from the snares & illusions of infernall & wicked temptations Amen Hallaluja

There appeared Ga, za, vaa, and they bid us come agane here on Monday Morning at 8th of the Clocke and then the Action will be showne forth. It is written that god giveth grace to the ~~meeke &~~ Humble and the meeke in spirit through faith & obedience shall obtaine mercy
It was said before & it is this day confirmed that you shall enjoy your desires, be not dismaid but comforted in the highest who careth for you

July 4: 1687: Monday

There appeared a solar body over the stone and in it the 7 before the throne & before the stone is Ga, za, vaa, And in the stone is Galvas & also in the fore part of it
And in the Center of the stone is 3 persons in a flame & about them are the 7 Intelligences & about them are the 7 subintelligences & about them a great many incompassing them & so a great many more incompassing &c — being many circles of them one about the other
And in the North solid glass Vessel is Nalvage And Mapsama & with them is Hemeli & there is more Appearance but we cannot discerne it And in the South Vessel is Murifri & Ath & with them is Ylemese & more Appearance there also but we cannot discerne it And za said: Amongst the Hierarchyes of Celestiall superiours And amongst the many Legions of the Elementall & also dignified spirits even to the most inferiour parts as those of Darkness, we are now severally to discerne of Know ye then that Manifold is the show of appearance in action into the sight of a well seeing eye unto whom severally & respectively by degrees orders & office Charge is given, for Power is given a superiour & so emitted to inferiour accordingly to some such respectively in particular as by name given with the Seal shall be invocated Moved & so called forth to service in humane Charge temporally; I meane Sir to your Assistance in your worldly Concernments, the which although it is not yet given to us to give a limmet of particular unto you, yet this I may shew forth that you must observe it is ternary as a ternary begining as on Wednesday last with you next thirsday is the first part of it then the 15 is the 2d pt and the 23 is the last day of the ternary and the 25th day is a day of Jubile of which you shall heare more; mean while I protect you in your Charge &c.

As Instructions given as accustomarily, I know not the Reason of their not Appearing or your not seeing them, But sure I am they must & will serve & obey I pray not to Neglect the time that Reasonably affords opportunity to move therein, of which I know you May be further given to understand on your next day of Action this not being befitting that purpose we have not more given to say but to will you to goe on in your progressions And God speed you in them

:1687: July 7th thirsday the first

There Appeared A Solar body over the Ston & an Imperiall Professe in it in Great Glory
And in the ston is 3 spiritums viz Michael, Galvah & Sachiel And a great light beyound in the ston
And in the sollid glass Receipt is Azure vailes And in the hollow Receipt is like duskish Clouds flying And Michaell hath a bright star on its brest that poynts with a [illegible] directly to me And the spiritum before the stone is Zadkiel And Zadkiel said Move not & so disappeared And there appeared a little spiritum before the ston that looks very pleasantly it is Phariel And a flash came from the East to Michaell & Imediatly the star in Michaell Brest shot out it Ray like a shaft to me & Imediately I was incompassed with a light round about me & those by in ye light itself stood, then Michaell & Sachiel went away but Galvah staid & looked on me & smiled & so did Phariel, then Phariel commenced with Galvah And Phariel said to me, It is understood that you have not seen effect by Appearance answerable to your Invocations in the prescript Operations delivered you, Notwithstanding which I am to show forth and declare unto you, that you may not be deterred nor withdrawn from those Actions or operations. For Assuredly believe that good Effects shall succeed hereafter, I must proceed to my calling [illegible] And shall have sight Meet here on Monday next [illegible] proceed in your Affaires & care shall be taken that you shall have the Effects of your Indeavours verily my good friends I am called away Give thanks to god & take Care of your Charge &c

July 11th

There appeared A spiritum before in the ston And he said that All things was ready prepared to be deliv[ered] to us.
Let you hopes my brethren be confirmed through faith in the hiest & that your humble supplications are assented before the presence of [illegible] who entitle mortall there to fulfill & performe promised mercies, even in the very narrowest limits of Confinements & greatest streights of desparations given the freedome & raiseth us up from y^e greatest depth of forced distruction Come Come you are not forsaken nor yet lost to mens vile Mallice for Although you seem eclipsed by black envious nebulosities & spurned at by infamous & scandalous Machi-nations, yet it is not to be at all feared but that the sun of Celestiall grace will mercifully shine forth in Glory & disperse the Infernall bostings of black mouthed envy & shine forth sprendidly upon your Comforts And you shall behold the sight & sorrow of your delinquents; let your hopes therefore I say againe & again be exalted through faith & obedience to the Glorious Intention of your happiness thus much I have said the Efforts whereof is even entring upon you & so to continue & stand with you as shall please the hiest whose eternall mercies never departeth from the comfort of his servants with we also I humbly beseech unto you for his his sinnes sake that is Almighty & mercifull keepe your duty in prayer unto the hiest the may keepe a mercifull God unto you a mercifull God unto you

July 15 : 1687:

Assziah said 'tis g[ood] ^action on Monday last Purge to ... your heart with a colour Credulity of being blessed with peace & mercy from above & receive the good benefits & comforts thereof. It is naturall Sir for all men & mankind to be troubled with various & manifold disabilities & depressions of health in Corporall constitution in very your selfe my good friend you are not totally surrounded by any acute distemper I verily declare besides what hath already showed forth that extreme griefe & trouble & of spirit accumulated through great discontents & hath merely overwhelmed you which is the only & great cause of the malancholick Adustion of your blood and indisposition of health it may be also conjectured that outward person might imprudently represent to intrude & might give a hasty tuch by you but I am very sure it was quickly vanquished & cast forth into confinement but you have received any sensibly fully from thence but from those extremities & disturbances of the spirits hath much weakened the elementall virtues of the bodies strength orderly of naturally & sundry trouble which forceth it selfe in a paralelle in thy thoughts

Rosemary & flowers Bettony & flowers Sage & flowers Piony flower Margeram and flowers Rosemary [illegible] tops of Sage & Marjoram make these into a conserve ... take the quantity of a little walnut first & last & drinke a dram of your spirits after it this will deliver you from any paulsy or ... that it partly inclines to

July 18th : 1687 : monday

There appeared Charriell & it saith to needless repetitions this appointment is for your comfort & preservation it seemeth when you are appointed to bleed againe as on wednesday next where suffer to bee done in the morn by reason I would have you purge and the next day or the next day save one, purge with salt rolls & when the moone doth entre into the signe of Gemini then shall you bleed under the tongue then shall you take flowers of Rosemary Bettony & Sage & ... one ʒ the flowers of Cammomill & Piony of each halfe an ounce Amber ½ a dram a leafe or 2 of best tobacco stripped from the stalke one dram or ½ or two drams of black hellebore ½ a dram the white hellebore all which must be reduced into a very fine impalpable powder & use it as snuff.

Saturday July 23th Tamary ...

hoc est tornarius magnus peace be unto you Sir and which is the other saith because we firmly trust through grace in the highest that mercy from above newly descendeth and as readily entring your cottage fullfilling your request answering your supplications & putting a period to your feares & jealousies it seemeth Sir that the action of this day was referred till munday but ... you Sir wee now have pitty for your weakness which we do now upon you for the which I counsell you to eat & drink well on good diet & drinke shortly when it I would not have you remain here untill after 3 dayes or untill the 4 day tire not your heart

July 27: 1687

The Appearer an eye over the stone that is fiery with 5 rayes out of it one raye upward one downward one to ~~[illegible]~~ on one S: & one between us ~~and out of one room of it proceeds~~ in the midle of the ston stands a fountaine & out of it it comes like fire & falls on all the spectrums rounds about it that stands in severall Circles ~~or rings~~ Rings but they are more Glorious that stand near the fountaine, and they all rejoycing there are many spectrums in the concaves on the side like the ston, in the north side the stone the concave hath great many spectrums in it but not so beautifull as the other and in the hollow concave next me is severall spectrums coming & going but on the other is a great many ugly ones coming & going Za said of you beloved sir that the most high God created all things for the use & ~~benefit~~ benefit of man kind and that by the ministry of all creatures therein he should be assisted & directed in into the true knowledge benifit & use thereof as being ordained to the glory of the highest and through the eternall grace given as aforesaid 104 all things administring according to their ~~respective~~ offices & spirituall kinds, great comfort both physically & metaphysically unto the sons & ~~daugh~~ daughters of the earth, if I say you doe believe this, which must certainly is true which is shown forth unto you in the appearance of this Action The ston represents all the ~~continall~~ Celestiall Hierarchy orders in there orbis; that concave on the S side represents all the sublunary dignified spirits and are directed accordingly to administer Those one Nth side are the powers of are more inferior by orders both good and bad of light and darkness; those in south side in the hollow concave are the Gnomes of the Earth, and those on the North side are the Infernall orders I would have you to set up the secret table as enjoyned by monday next if possible by reason it is an appoynted day of Action when this preparation is set up you shall then place on every corner thereof an Angell Crowned and on the Center thereof round the concave 3 crowned Angells; and then you shall pray to the highest to subject those powers and to appeare accordingly this tenary ends 17 August which must be observed ~~[illegible]~~

it is very well. I mean y you have well observed your injoyned obedience & see you served table for so you must call it (it is prepared e, set in place & trust it will doe very well Fesaliah fram your friend although unknow unto you as to this present time you have thus to doe your weekly day of action, you must ... as to day, e, when you with draw from this mistory you repaire unto the other were you first shall make your injoyned offertory e then make prayer unto the most high God even the all powerful and all Conquering ... to blesse e dignifie you and my noble Calmeck is very friendly unto you so indeed is all the servants of the ... in place ... e office Cheere up therefore you should be ... spirits for feare god e be contented whose grace e mercy is sufficient for you wherewith we humbly beseech him to inrich e dignifie you to his honour e Glory e your Comfort e felicity

1687 August 12

Ego sum: Bezarian god save you friends what would you understand see Sr y substance ... of spirits of the ... of the ... are composed of more ... formes then then the Celestialls e the reason is that as they inhabitt in the Grosse e ... Elloments making them naturally the same thereunto e though immortall yet equally grosse by nature with y

Inferiour Ellements which is the cause of there being slow remiss and averse in there suddaine Appearance & ~~appes~~ but there are also Ellement powers of spirits more here way were dignified with Celestiall light who are differ ent in nature & office then those we speake of & that you moved by Invocation know then Sr that you are ever heard to call forth such by name & office who inhabit in the more grosse & Inferiour part of the Aire & which also conspicuely symbolize with the other Ellements of Earth & water and you say you see them not in there motions will dispaire not believe me first there are signall Appearances though Invisible to your sight for Indeed to say sooth although the diurnall powers or spirits are by nature good yet considering there affinity to the Earth & Earthly treasurys and the corrupted things thereof and they being delighted therewith & in such matters as appertaine thereunto are made thereby more obstinent & more disobedient by nature then was appoynted or given them by office or pre ordinately decreed in the begining of time therefore Judg not Amiss of your proceedings, but therefore it is requisite you were accompanied with an other eye or person in that perticular of operation because it requires sharpeness & quickness of sight which may happen to prove the better for you in the ~~figuring~~ trying yet of observance

August 15 : 1688

The Appeared a small spectrum & it looked hard on mr [illegible] & it smiled & then it looked on me & smiled & said So So Sr I see you have bin in action upon your sublunar operations which indeed you have well performed I must give you zeale & exact Attention therein a worthy Commendation, you must understand that the property of all sublunar spirits of the Inferiour orders And that tought neerely to the Earth & the Earthy Consernments both of it & the members thereof are by nature altogether [illegible] delighted with the treasures & terrestriall that in any wise either appertaine unto it or that is concealed by it And doe therein simbolize with other spirits both of terrestiall & Infernall natures which makes them by a naturall Averseness unwilling to become visible in their motions & Appearances but by the Constraining power & force of Invocation but when once brought thereunto & thereby to subjection or then may be imployed & made for [illegible] serviceable now Sr it is to be understood y wednesday will be a great Tornary and as we hope in the highest a blessed day for you for that Celestiall Grace & mercy may by divine permission descend & dignify you with sight & power to Effect and Accomplish your desires in those your Terrestiall opperations now then [illegible] Nature that as you may not act ~~all~~ any thing in those opera opperations on that day. I cannot well informe you what day you may enter thereon untill the 1, 2 or 3 dayes following of which peradventure you may have more on your Ternarian Action my Mother Sirth commanded me to shew forth & tell you that it is fervently hoped for & wished that you you get stand firme & stabile in your being a conformmenti & that of right the oratory of that day should be kibled but then I informe further by that besides the usuall ternarian oratory there must be on crowned Angell paved at the foote of these Receipts So Sir you are herein under degrees of extraordinary by a meane of an Act of stable obedience & in order of a conformation of right & power upon you in your terrestiall operations wherewith the most high god blesse you with happy successe to his glory & your comfort and gratiously deliver you from the dangerous snares of malitious murderers & infernall stormes

1687: 17: August Ternary there appeared Ga, Za, Ma, before the son and they kneeled to the son Michael & Uriel doe respect me & coynt to me & Rafael & Gabriel doe give charge to the two sollid glass Receipts in sollid glass receipts are in our one sportu & 3 vial forme and then abundance of superior & inferior spirits Aza said thanks be the great Madrilodary among most high god & lord & host who hath heard the humble supplications of his servants daly beseeching 107 him by earnest addresses for y^t he hath appeared in among unto comfort and as we have a full deliverance from desperation & affliction & to restoration to true felicity, now let the all powerfull Arme of the hiest curb the insolent presumtion of hell bred mallice & uphould the glory of soveraignty in a happy deliverance from the devouring jaws of distructive invasions Amen

the 4 great servants of the hiest are showed forth in mercy unto you who barely shewed with them Michaell & Uriell are over the sublunar powers of the dire are Celestially dignified & Raphaell & Gabriell over the more inferior now the sollid glass receipts are the two Angles of West & South the soveraigne spirits is the Emperor & the 3 are the 3 Kings as Uriel is the 3^d King now Sr understands what I shall say unto you this day is of our charge by superior grace & per =mission to morrow in the forenone pray to god for light & dignity and the assistance of his servant Uriel and to call on the 14 one friday to call on Uriell saturday to call on the 14 one Sunday morning to call on uriel Mounday Morning come to that mistery

1687 August 22 Monday

There appeared A body over ye Stone like ye Sun And in it an Eye & a Ray come from it that poynted to me: Jedaliah God save our good friends & fellow servants in the Lord I am willed to informe you Sr that what I hath bin promised shall be also performed unto you and that you have done well in your late And present Proceedings & you are willed there in to persevere

1687 August 25: first After: [illegible]

In the Stone is Markiell & Uriel & Zadobiell & before [illegible] the Stone is Yet Sr be comforted for the Paternall Care of the Lord & the love of his Celestiall Servants is with you, & forsakes you not, your Confinements now are not more here at this mistery as at the other or terrestiall mistery wherunto you must repaire & Adresse unto those orders what although they are thus terrible & a little obstinate in visible appearance before you and to be attracted Adresse to the Adresses of men yet they are by nature benevolent & being earnestly moved by due perseverance notwithstanding they may seeme hereby unwilling in readily Answering to the [illegible] of Invocation yet they suddenly make their Appearance and as [illegible] agreeably fulfill & Accomplish the Command of the Servant Relieving the necessities of temporall Conditions when deserted & dispairing of Comfort with such of Natures benefits as the most high God himselfe hath provided for the use of mankind but one being Constrained which Certainly will be by a due perseverance through the strength & Power of your Invocations; all this hardly a remiss Person to us the wilfull rashness of man are like to the wildness of a tiger whose fury Nothing Appeaseth but [illegible] which Sense of terrestiall Malignitie we long not more than to destroy those Infernall Devills Attending to make entrance into those passages making dissention & disturbtion & what to Advise you I cannot tell

August 29: 1687 Monday

there Appeared Lunanaell & he said Well Sr be ye comforted for your prayers are Assisted by the humble Supplications & Adresses also with you unto divine grace for you [illegible] you will be eased of the trouble that so much disturbeth your spirits of which I have not to say single of my selfe but may be showed forth on your next day of Convention the the 4 day from hence, I know a time of note & of good unto you & [illegible] in Course as due Tonarius [illegible] me Sr great things moveth upon this [illegible] in strong [illegible] & Cardinall [illegible] of the Quaterne Annuall proceedings in all your operations mean while and as at this present Call Aue

1687 Sept 2d the 2d after Tornare there appeared a stream & it said [illegible] strange & many fowls are the meanes by the most high God makes use of whereby to shew & send forth Grace & mercy unto his servants, the greatness of such benefits and Comforts, Attending with as concomitant thereto are very hardly apprehensive of us much less of mankind who are altogether [illegible] ignorant of theire divine Apprehensions &c yet Sr you may take a small quantitie thereof at pleasure and there Afterwards take of you Masslett medicine still at youre Destraction shall not your operation in hand, untill ÿ 13 day of this month bee expired untill which time you must doe your duty & your deliverance comes

1687 ~~Aug~~ Sept 5

The appeared over the Stone A blew Globe & a spectrum in it with a sword in his hand & a Sell in its brest & a bright sparke in it that cast a Ray towards us and there is a spectrum in a Cloud before the Stone and it doth talke with it above the stone & doth Reppeat tweice !
Ha Sr be ye still undaunted of of good Couradge & pursue your operations, goe on & stay with vigor of spirit Cease not, let not your hopes weaken nor fall but beleive it that your perseverance will Certainly Receive Constraining power to bring to an due Obedience whereof in the most high God blesse & prosper you with an happy & sure effect of deliverance that You may live to his prayse & Glory & your present & future Comforts

1687 Sept 10th Ternary

Za said Sr make wee noe questions now further Repeat nor inquiries into the Actions of this day for it is of divine Grace in the highest unto his servants but meet here Againe on the 2d day at 9 in the morning, & then you shall be told, Returne our thanks to god & with deare Stato your temporall Affaires

1687 Sept 12th: ~~[illegible]~~ patience

Sept 13

Michaell & Uriell doe speake to Cu, Za, Vaa, & now & then Uriell doth Looke smilingly on mee Come Come Sirs be comforted in the highest ~~your friend~~ Servant of Celestiall Grace have humbly besought mercy from Superior power to blesse your proceedings & Crowne your expectation, from thence with a glorious & happy success: well Sr goe to: although your spirits be depressed, yet be cheerefull, it is not good to over charge your weakness to proceed hither in 2 places distant therefore tis advised that you att this day at your inferior secret mistory at your owne home for ÿ we say it the place Appoynted for success wherewith we hope you are blessed for above & Receive Power on ÿ inferior Actions and operations heare below yet not withstanding you should conforme this Removall by a returning any Intrusions or interruptions that may also mou[nt] note present Power given to hinder your postulati[on] in your operations; this Sr for better security in your operation should also be attended by the presence of frindship & assistance in a small offering as on Angell placed on this Mistery & Crowned on the other mistery and then you are safe & well and I also affirme in the Information of what hath bin lately showed forth unto you that oth[er] and things of Great Consequence are now approaching unto your deliverance.

Sept 23: 1687:

there appeared a spectrum with with a face one and it is very plaine & it hath a bone in its hand; it is altogether needless to [illegible] who I am by reason you may assuredly beleive me to be a friend else I had not bin heare in I trouble so a season; but you cannot [illegible] the place to be us yt office belongeth unto me my name is ye Carleah I am sent to prepare the way for ye future felicity, but you must ~~[illegible]~~ meet one Wednesday morning

Sept 28: 1687.

There appeared before in the ~~ston~~ Ana [illegible] & Elomose: there appeared ~~him~~ before the Ston Gaza, paa, Come let us fall downe & pray unto our God for he is Gratious and merciful to all those that keep his Commandements, dutifully fearing him with all humillity and meekness of ~~the~~ spirit you must also stand or kneele before the mystery whilest we pray & Joyne your harts with us therein now we prayed. and them in the ston is mighty glorious and Gaza showed forth something well Sr rest your selves contented and Comforted for through grate mercy in the hiest your happy deliverance nearly Approacheth and already entered this is the time of Consolation since first you came nere before us, & indeed well don of you to amend and Purifie this place & we also have swept forth all the infernall Rubish that Lurked in every Corner the 7th of the next month is your Ternary I was commanded Sr to insist upon this poynt by reason it is great & extraordinary following what was formerly said of late the great Action will Appear & works of considerable estime thereby whose effects will accomplish your felicity you were heard to [illegible] on future Ternarys saying yt ye were [illegible] they should cease now I am I commanded to show forth the truth thereof unto you now then after this ~~[illegible]~~ present Ternary is ~~[illegible]~~ truly endeth on the 6th day of the next month with you as I find it after which day I do say your Ternaryes will Cease as to the offertorie theire of which will be reduced only to the offering of one Crowned Angell but this dies ternarias you have the ternarian offertory to make good by reason of the entrance of the revolution of time wherein your deliverance approacheth which was then one poynted at you must observe a two foulde offertory or dubling there & then you have noe more but your weekly conventions & your Quaternary Annual observances to humbly you besides that I have now said and fear but you shall find releife god will blesse you and all those that put theire trust in him

1687 October 3d monday in the name of the Highest whose name be for ever Glorified Amen Hallelujah

Come come Sr yet let not dispaire assayle you & fear not the wrath of your enimies for believe it they dread more then you or then you can conceive notwithstanding the looking at your downfall they looke I say at you, but see not where they are themselves, mallitious whatever may framing & much false reports & idle suggestions every one ignorantly giveing out theire owne wicked wishes & machinations or as they would have it if report could order away reason trust me Sr I say they are more neere there owne downfall then you imagin for they begin to repine at theire losses for they cannot bring both ends together & were it not for one able support which is humbly merely by the strength & power of preservation they had fallen ere this which every thing being thought of you as being supposedly disabled they only hold up in the hopes of your fall though they disable them selves it now I say be comforted for through grace & mercie in the highest you may find a happy & supposed deliverance

October 5th 1687: Ternary

There appeared ... before the stone in a white cloud inquire not into the action of this day for it is above only report that I may show forth or give those of A mercy is greater then a miracle for a miracle though admirable yet may be attempted as philosophicall but a mercy is an immediate bene of Divine grace &c now Sr I will tell you as touching the other mistery & here you say that you see not the appearance of those powers you move for & call forth helas Sr be not dismaid thereat, for they are naturally perverse, which is noe wonder for they are disobedient & rebellious to the commands of God him selfe & so contrary only by nature I say somewhat obstinate to the immediate ons & motions of man & indeed to say both the absolute reason is, because they are fearfull, for they owne kindred at the touching of your invocations shrowding themselves in darke shaddows or vailes unwilling to be seene visibly in there corporall forme because they are alse unwilling to serve untill constrained thereunto which is don by the forse & power of invocation being duly & truly expresed & performed therein & you will find they will be sone brought to an obedience & you will be assisted the appeared Caluah and And in the ston and Lenanaell before the ston and all lookt stedfast by on mostsmile And Lenaniell said God save our good friends in Celestiall love I have heard you in all you have said this day and belive it there passeth not a word from you at sume times that is not taken great heed too I will now unvaile & show forth unto you some what of that purpose we see you indigent in hast & I pray what thinke you is the Cause of your weaknes nothing else but your drooping in dispaire which hath brought great truble & depression on your spirits which seemeth to be a darkned vaile somewhat ecclipsing the Glory of your just effect for know that you are assuredly dignified with Celestiall Power, that Inferior Ellementall Power such as within the Eath Earth cometh feare you & shrouds them selves from the sight of you as well as hidden from us for they stand in great fear of all Power that appeareth above them for you never call forth or or move them to vissible appearance before you but your gardian Angell standeth by you bearing your Seale of Creation I before which they fear and trimble where they behould it by reason they dread confinement unto which they are also brought by due performance you must there fore Sr banish all thoughts of dispaire for though you thinke you selfe even just now sinking into a difficult or stormy Course yet you shall have a suddaine wonderfull & even unexpected deliverance on friday

1687 October 14 the first there appeared a bright cloud before the ston & there is a big brightness in the ston & 2 glorious spirits in it them 2 in the ston are Anael & Nogael & Nogael said more not & went away, And there came a flesh and And came into the ston And And called Susaniah & Samariell & they both appeared in the ston And said see you not the sharp tribulations of our friend how is it that their operations are not answered or fulfilled pray you see to it and Consider submition for I find by you fear & obstinary rebellious stubbornes goe ye then & make all passive that Actions may take place & the Accomplishment of desired Effects may happily succeed, you know by orders & what you have in Charge in the name of the hiest then fulfill your office and And speake to both the sollid glass ~~sound~~

I heard you Sr moving for some Answere I will tell you although you operation worke good Sr I will tell you & your necessities thereby relieved are be fulfilled & your necessities thereby relieved consider the stubbornes of some things supernaturally & the wilfull Ignorant & weaknes of others naturally driven thereto by necessity then I say although your desires be some accomplished yet notwithstanding I doe Advise you by all meanes to make the present state of you Condition as it now standeth in your

Amplyment know it will be the better And lay down before them both the good & the evill Consequences

Octo.. 17: 1687: monday:

The appeared a spirit afore the stone & said nomen est meum Baxafflaf of the order of Angels Interior & simbolized with heavenly Goodness in the Superior degree & to take Care & Charge of these things, it hath a bright star on its brest & a Crowne on its heads & it looks on me & smiles well Sir I find you have fulfilled what you desired the last time we met here And have bin as you said you would applying your selfe, where I stood by & heard your proceedings & indeed I found you even like as a tired Pilot, in more dispairing Condition then those under your under your Command at which you could not but Relent Indeed I must blame you for dispairing in the spirit which proceeds the weakness of the flesh to passion, & synods discontinuance, when as you have bin Exhorted & Advised to nothing more then to thankfull =ness of spirit raising up you selfe by the hopes of faith & Comfort in the highest; it was well your deare Daughter stood by & put her hand to the helme fearing you had bin weakned by the turbulence of the Raising surges that mought have stretched or opposed your well being and hard Endeavors, but thanked be the mercies of your God who hath hitherto blessed you through this Insolent and Raging storme of Infernall Mallice which now is somewhat Ceased & we hope will yet grow gradually more & more Calmer untill you find a pleasant & direct passage I advise you then first be Advised by your daughter & let her Assist you in the steering & Conduct of your thought & affaires.

who will Assuredly consult for the best 2ly imbrace & make use of any offered Assistance and Refuse it not though it may seeme to offer at some little losse thereby, therefore whereas it when you are seene Cheerfully to raise up your selfe & put forwards as if you were saling before the wind your friends will Rejoyce in the hopes & beleife of your deliverance & your cursed Enimies be discouraged discomfited & disgraced & be termed of every one great lyars and the most scandalous and abusers of all persons & then say what they will non will believe or give Credit to their scurrilous Reports & then when you are seene in all liklyhood to stand then will your Enimies also be seen in liklyhood to fall and as for other Concernes or feares of particular Troubles there may Chancely be some little but noe Action or perpetuation therein for it is formerly believed you shall have a full & positive deliverance before trouble befalleth: therefore steere on your Course and Advance forwards if you find you shifts come so hard buoy you up till you can Repaire & amend the breaches of your weather beaten vessell & then through Grace in the highest you will perfectly get the weather gage of your Enimies I have said what is given me at this time to show forth I know saterday meane to be you most day of weekly action

October 22 : 1687 : the 2d

There Appeared 3 Royall Spectrums in the Ston sitting on a bright Cloude And a Appeared one before the Ston with a Crowned on its heade and it said to me, come Sr comfort up your drooping spiritt you shall not sinke in Dispaire for thanked be the Most Hie stormes that cometh your feeble blowes over & is well nere spent & ye tyme will shortly Cease and you will have good times to amend the breaches the wreck of your tottered vessell hath suffered Come Come Sr there is a fair prospect through mercy from above of a happy reparation of your sufferings for that speedy releife & thereby An happy Deliverance is nearly approaching you, well Sr all is well there fear not good Sr certo for although Celestiall Powers of light touch them not by nature yet they are thereby subjected to the sonns of men, and by Office to them service in like terrestiall Affaires &c now then Sr to Answere the objection you made the last day of being here touching Offertories know you yt as there is a Coherent Connexion simbolizing union between Superior & Inferior parts & participations soe as inferiours are passing to the superiours so are your Offertories a line & perfect meane or Chaine of unity I say from ye Inferiour to the superiour untill it reacheth the supreame of all for it is a sweet smelling savour of Obedience conducting your earnest supplications to the throne of Celestiall grace it is comon amongst men on Earth to make Offerings & Offertories According to there degree and quallety to the Priesthood and Ceremonially to the Church 114 Contrarie there of which showeth there obedience there unto as they offer it in the name of God and his Church which though a Ceremony in vertue & practice of its Devotion &c it is then I pray you what is it with us &c now then Srs I tell you your weekly offertories are well know & must be dueley observed and for your ternarian Dayes the Ceremony there of and as for the offertories I will tell you they will Cease by degrees also and the Dayes as they succede ternarianly shall be observed as ternarian Dayes yet for a whilst observe ye that the 9th day from this times is the next succeding Ternary on your offertory there of shall be 3 Crowned Angell which shall be accepted notwithstanding the abatement of what was before you must meet here on monday next may the most high Madrilodary blesse in your Actions & operations & Comfort your soules with a light & sence of his grace mercy & peace Amen Hallaluya God bless you Srs untill we meet againe & for ever

October 24 : 1687 : monday there Appeared a Spectrum, & it saith the Action of this mystery & this present time must be Adjourned untill friday morning all is well enough with you be yee Comforted

Fryday 28 ~~Sept~~ October: 1687;

There appeared the figure of ye Sun over the ston And Dagall in it in Imperiall Glory and the ston is Galvah Flamosa & Esemeli And beyound them is Nogaell & 2 [illegible] like us going Eastwards in a pleasant place like parradice &c and Galvah & Esemeli & Flamosa so all 3 looke on us & smile And Galvah said The God of Grace ~~peace~~ and mercy blesse & preserve you both now & for ever the Appearance in action this day is two fould first in my ~~selfe~~ a superiore 2 unto your selves, beyond of our Children not yet present in Appearance first from my selfe unto you emitted through divin grace and permission the blustring storme of your sorrows now wasteth and is much abated & behould your selves, walking in safety with Celestiall [illegible] & happy & blessed estate in which all those are whose weathe entrance into the Glorious Elizium & Pallace of Celestiall into the light whereof you I say are now walking & were yet very neere admission to A most happy & assured rest & lasting peace which also declareth your spirituall sight to be also neere at hand were you but sensible of the wonder appearing wound for ever banish all thoughts of feare or dispaire, here I doe solemnly say by my selfe though grace & power in the [illegible] as a luminous ray or beame there of that ere the month of march be called with you [illegible] shall you be the most happy of any [illegible] wight of your quallety or condition and shall stand in as great Glory and renowne before the face of your Enimies & shall so continue untill the time of your mortall period I am sent therefore a superiore: behoulde I am Comanded and I also faithfully comand you to heed well it is observed that the 3 day hath bin reported to be dies cornatius you & I say & also declare to be dies Cornarius Magnus and of greater [illegible] & power then I may shew forth the observance where in your duty of oblatory was said to be 3 crowned Angells but I must alter the property & [illegible] there of by reason it is the last Great Cornary & of your entran into a blessed happyness make [illegible] the action of the day is two foulde & I strictly charge you & Comand you to observe me by reason it is very considerable unto you, the quantity of the foregoing Cornaryan oblatories must on that day or on the fore second day subsequent before this holy ston I say the oblation of that day must be tribled before the ston as to the dies cornarius & 2dly as it is a day of action in [illegible] the single offering of the day must be [illegible] ented before that yet on thing I will hear withall [illegible] I very well remember I [illegible] hath showed forth or said unto you that your disburs ments offered of of your obligory oblatories shall be made good & profitablly returned the say now yet further unto you shall be assuredly of truth & I [illegible] [illegible] in the [illegible] is [illegible] unto a due performance then I may at present shew forth & now I declare that you have a [illegible] passage to your deliverance and ease the small spirit appeared before the stone well Sr you are disturbed in your bodily constitution the maine cause whereof is trouble of mind & expatio of spirit which very much disturbs your spleene forcing windy vapours to ascend & disturb your head well then a for a drinke for you let be infused in new ale the simple vegitable of sage, rosemary, betony marjoram & rubarb this is an Essay Assured to you

Then if you take the oyle of spirit of Amber distilled wherewith is incorporated its owne salts which dropped into betony water or into your Ale is a marvelous Remedy and then againe if you take halfe an sheepes suet

Clarified ounce of pich melt them togeather then take 2 or 3 heads of garlicks peel them & stamp them to a mass or yolk [illegible] put them into the suet & pitch & stir them well to incorporate togeather of cominseed pulverised 02 or 3 ʒ white wine with the rest take also of Cloves & mace finely beaten of each ʒ 3/4 incorporate all well togeather to be a salve and lay it to the hoolow of the foot & it will quit the head of all vapours that offend

There appeared a sun like thing over the stone & there is an Imperiall forme in it & it casts a light downe into the stone & there comes small flashes out of the stone it is Orphiniel in the sun like thing a good way in the stone is Gabriel & Galuah

& in the lower part is Levanael & Aiel

And there is a little spirit before the stone and it smiled

And said to make rehearsall of Celestiall Gifts and favours though divine grace ommitted & promised to your Comfort and Assistance being alltogether needless is not therefore given me only in proofe I make this report you have painfully sought & you shall find you have humbly

Asked and you shall receive, you have knocked and the entrance of mercy is opened to you, where you shall Ascend the pallace of Celestria & be made partakers of promised & Continued benefits and Comforts of a sure & lasting happiness I Gaharah make affirmation here of, for I also was present here on friday the last day of action stay a little, so, god be thanked, the fury of this storme is now blowne over & spent & now the fear of any further Danger is mitigated and tending into a more serene & calmer season, Now then trim up the sayles of your hopes for they are fast linked unto yards & masts of your faith & trust in that God who never faileth in mercy to his servants nor breaketh promise with the faithfull whom we humbly beseech to inlighten your sides & strengthen your spirits that you may see his mercy in his Celestiall & Elementall Messengers & be blessed with the happy Comforts of the ben efits & fellowshipp thereof, wedensday come againe

November 2: 1687 wednesday

The appeared Gahazah in a Cloud before the ston & there set out of the fur over the ston a sparke & it fell on Gahazah & it looked toward the ston, and now it is turned to us wards and said, Now Sr, you may behold your selves nearly arrived to the end of your troubles and as neerly entring into the Pallace of a glorious and happy tranquillity of a lasting peace both of Body & minde and also condition settled aforeable there unto, Sr I heard you yesterday very earnestly supplycate for a plainer & more visible sight in your terrestiall Operations, & assistance from Elementall powers properly by office therunto deputed: concerning Glass metle say a little well well Sr I doe assure you make the best sort of what you call glass only say you that we might have an higher or better [illegible] there of well it is said you may have it And it is also further said that you shall have it; but then it must also be considered that the goodness and diafanity there of be not lessned you are advised for the present to make addition of that white you call Ashes when I come againe you will be better satisfied

November 4th: 1687:

There appeared a fine Spectrum before the ston [illegible] Gahazah it looks fully on me & it said ha ha hola what in a [illegible] come, come, be not amused you may chanceably meet with bad Comodities, which Naturally as all compounds must produce like effects I heard you Sr Lament your fear of this matter & being in the Sudds no, no, Sr instead of deserting you the

the Sudds may cleanse you with a little assistance the [illegible] is not of this [illegible] of the next white of sight should be to morrow but must be adjourned till wednesday but thus far I advise the to make use of [illegible] in the Composition of your mettall you shall yet doe very well, persite on for it will come to a good issue; besure me there is good appearance to finde it will come to sight

November 9th 1687:

there is a sun like forme over the ston & in it is like there is in the further pt of the ston Raphall & Galuah in Royall forme & in the fore pt of the ston is Corabiell and before the ston in a silver Cloud is Gahazah and it stands smiling on us God save you Srs and God be thanked we are mett againe according to promise and appoyntment, I finde our last visit was of your occupation when you said you feared you were in the Sudds: now, Sr let that be the least of your Care or fear, your Complaint hath bin made knowne before us my superiours hath given me in Charge to take full [illegible] thereof which I certainly assure you I shall as obediently observe to doe as divine permission giveth me in attendance of that Charge: meane while let me Certify you that your Compound white you call ashes are good but you admitted of too much of that Compound which you call the white indeed causeth that which you call your Metle to be too hard you may therefore lessen the quantitie thereof & indeed you may well admit of it of [illegible] in a pot you need not feare any ill adventures but of this matter more on the 7th day

Sr I tell you sight thereof nerely approaches you I may say at every minute it is so nerely Admitting into the Power & Administration of your Good Angell there fore I say againe what I can say, and what you can doe is to persevere for we know not the houre that mercy enters & passes unto your [illegible] [illegible] well Sr I have said the full time of App[illegible] Admission —

November 14: 1687:

there appeared Eahazah And it looked on me & smiled & said: ha: are not you sick yet expended to behould promised mercy I doe assure you the Power there of is your forte & Certainly cannot be far nor long absent from you, all things are at hand for a full deliverance. all things promised shall assuredly be fulfilled the determination of time with you I account not by Reson it is not given me to reveale but it will be given to me or some others to reveale it so that you may now beleive that you will know the end of your sorrows & a joyfull begining of your Comforts while the most h[igh] give & conferre unto you to his ~~[illegible]~~ Glory & your felicitie with a never failing stability, the witnesse of Assondum non obstante well Sr be not too eager you will have your desire in the fulfilling of the promise be ye comforted within me Sr that you returned to your other [illegible] or operation for you cannot [illegible] here and at hand it therefore you must goe home

November 16: 1687: the 2d

There appeared in the stone a Comett forme poynting downwards into the stone and at the end of it is a star poynting to a silver cloude out of the stone, in the stone beyond the star is 2 Emperiall formes & beyound them is 3 and 2 like humaine formes and in the sollid glass receipt next me is like the figure of the sun & in the other the figure of the full mone and Cashabiel is in the Cloud before the stone the two Emperiall formes in the stone are Raphaell & Gabriel and Cashabiel put his hands into his bosome & tooke out a white paper spreading white & writting with blew & it moved to the glasse sollid receipts to East & to the stone & hollow receipts and to us, and all & it turned to me & looked withfully & pleasantly on me & held out the paper to be read

1 to make glass lunar white Christall like diaphinous

2 to make the great solar & lunar medicines ascribed to the knowledg of the Antient Sophiarbs in the Hermettic or Spagiricall science & as there

3 secreet meditinall & effectuall remedies answerable [illegible] for curing all distempers or disseases attending humane and bodies where the radicall vigor is not extinct so it put it up againe

If you be remembred Sr at that you may be it hath bin shewed forth unto you that great Action should come forward and great secreet should be revealed which accordingly will be truly fulfilled unto you either by my selfe or some other Messenger of Celestiall grace of the same Orders or hierarchy whereof I also am a servant of the first but it cannot as yet be that either of you is fitted to receive the same or untill the 14 day of the next month be come to pass reason for which I could instance but some terrestiall evills as yet interposing between your Capacities & the sence of perceiving it but we must hasten lest action shortly to come

I now are you to fight and also the fight & sonne of an happy Deliverance

needfully observe then your orders the eight day it doth terminate as yet in being after which Ternarian days will gradually cease for I trow there above 2 more or 3 at the utmost and for that I have truly resolved you by which time also all terrestiall & infernall Evils will vanish even as dew before the vigorous heat of the sun and become as nothing & your estate settled in the Celestirian Pallace of a stable rest to your soules where no storme ever more approacheth & so I say have I revealed the truth of what shall need be ever here after questioned and so I say observe of what in your duty you ought to observe without alterations untill the 14 day of the next month passeth away and so afterwards beginneth the entrance of Promise as before was said which the most hie god of his infinight goodness & mercy omit to your lasting peace & comforts I perceive your time calleth you ~~hence~~

Novem: 21: 1687: you have done well here you should be ~~repaire to the other Exercise~~ if those spirits dare not appeare you must command them to open & extent into humaine formes

November: 24: 1687: Ternary ~~[illegible]~~ 119 there appeared in the ston Gabriel & one and the same to be pleasant and to respect the solid glass reverse, ~~[illegible]~~ there appeared a little spectrum before the ston well, well, Sr I heard what you said even now before your entrance here yet notwithstanding I say all is well with you, well, well, I say let not that be truble upon your spirits beloved me you are blessed in it in that you are spiritually attended with the hopefull comforts of Deliverance and peace I am to bid you persevere and desist not from your operations I make no question of your sight & I not of your constancy I command when you withdraw from hence seale up the dore & set not your foot onto the plate untill one hower after the sun goe doune with you

November: 28: 1687: Monday stay a while (be silent) & observe the action till I returne there came flash of light in to the ston & the walls disappea a brightish ray pointed downe into the ston & cast a shining light into the ston, to the top of it that was a sight of appearance in action with without the help & assistance of which Celestiall and Celestirian light you could not have seen it, then there came from the further pt of the ston the appearance of four with a star shining [illegible] a top of the ston giving light, two of the spectrums were more Glorious & Celestiall the other two were humaine & terrestiall, the Celestiall were Ituriel & Samaeli and the two humaine were our selves represented by our Gardian Angels

And Fuxaniah made some call to the last word, and after appeared a mighty Emperiall forme having some to hould up his Trayne & made obedience to them to & passed away swiftly and imediatly after came 3 in Kingly Royall formes with 3 divisions following them which likewise made great veneration to them & wheele wheeled about and went away and Fuxaniah was saying somthing & there came a flash and they turned about & such Mr R and so Samariel did to the West & then Fuxaniah did to the North & the Samariel did to the South and they all disappeared in one & the same forme

well Sr I know you not well what exercise & operation you are otherwise upon & the expected successe to accrue from thence whereof I informe you first appeared in presence one after the other the 4 great Emperors or imperiall superiour Powers of the Ayre of the 4 angles thereof representing also the like order parts as being also by Nature & office referred thereunto the principall parts of each angle being 3, the Kings governing each of them distinctly with other other many servient & subservient subjects & Attendants both superiour & Inferiour likewise in orderly appe rance moving by Comand with a greate obedience and so after the Power of Celestiall Comand with an humble submission craving liberty yet a very little by Reason of some other present charge where unto some small matter of confinement yet remaineth which is one materially cause of our late making mention of the present observations the of the 3 pri [illegible] whereof the one is [illegible] as, also the 14 day of the next month which although it is now come in day for that falleth to be on the 19 day ... whereon dependeth a great Mystery having ocinate 120 dependance on the 12 day of the next month and also the said 19 day in order to the entrance and accomplish ment of 3 proposalls lately shewed forth & then it truly you will be comforted in the Confirmation of your hopes & the succeeding effects thereof, friday next is your time of action here when also you shall be informed of what ought to be carefully observ ed & so through divine grace we shall press on to happy effects time is elapsed here & we must withdraw to order & so must you home to your exercise if you can with convenienty Reach unto it

Friday December 2d: 1677: the first there appeared 3 before the son, Catza, Zaa, and in the son to the North East ie Vriel and Nogael & I between them with a star in my forehead and another on my Brest and on the S E in the R two between Lewanael & Corthabiel with a light in his forehe ad, And Vriel tooke of the star of my Breast & made a Cross there & put it to the font like thing & it became light and descended up and became one with the star at the end of the Cone, and then Vriel tooke of the star off of my forehead and put it to the font & it tooke light & he rubbed both my sides with it & then he put it to the font and it was very bright and he wiped my sides with it & put it to my forehead and it flamed there, & Zaa looked earnestly on me and smiled, and it said, Good God, how great is the least beame of Celestiall Glory to the beauty of ye Earth and the least sparke of light to the Glory of the day or the least graine of mercy to the treasuries of the world, & the deliverance from its incumbent

-rardes into all the pleasures & delights it can afford O how great is that Peace that gives fulness of all Terrestiall Comforts & influenceth the soule of man with a true Celestial tranquillity both of body & spirit & furnishing the whole man with all divine gifts & graces, and investing him in all parts with a true enjoyment of Elesyian felicity in this life and a Crowne of Eternall Glory in ye which is to come which the most high God of his infinite Grace mercy bless you with all for his owne sake who is Paternally Gratious and mercifull to his Mosdi who unfeinedly love and obey him Amen Hallelujah the effects of this days action is very Considerable as will appear shortly hereafter in its effects the mistery at present is not given us to show forth we are only given in charge to inform and remaind you strictly to observe the duty of your elections of the present times for the observance thereof is Consequence very materiall unto you in the same order and time as at the first hath bin showed forth & injoyned and that you may not trouble your spirits with any thought or fear of such for that Greater Comforts are at hand conducting you unto an happy and safe deliverance and withall cease not in your operation & proceedings whereunto you may believe for I find the time elapsed here for we must return remember the 10 instant and ye 12 & the 14 are dayes of action and the 19 day being dies Venarius suplice & magnus which remember and so god bless with the light of his Grace and mercy amen

December 5th: 1687: Monday:

There Appeared. Ga, Za, vaa, & Za said Se Sir we find you are in your spirits disturbed I tell you Sr your great & earnestness of speculation is like one that too hastily runneth & aptly stumbleth at the least oversight or by over hastiness may be brought into a mistake I pray you Sr unto whom did I direct my selfe on the last day of action, then you may adjudg to whom I spake &c. I pray mistake me not now what I showed forth was thus that some informations would come unto you Crizbm of a threatned trouble formerly mentioned might shortly befall, but not violent arrest or offences untill the 15 day instant the matter in Complaint Sr proceedeth from the same Tynworth Crossby and is somewhat earnest in the pursute thereof I fear in order Sr unto your request be not dismaid but cheere up your spirits for if you loose your Courage & faint in this Charge you will doe your selfe more wrong then you can easily if at all recover your selfe therefore be carefull that your spirits fails you not least the faintness of your faith cast you into a dispaire which will prove the greatest loss of all I see you have a security unto your selfe now then I will advise you goe unto your Attorney and informe him of the whole matter come come Sr we hope to see you in happy Condition sooner then we may show forth unto you on Saturday next is your next day of action . you will hear further on your next day of action be of good comfort & you shall stand upright fear nothing you shall not fall

Saturday There appeared Ga, Za, [illegible]

And Za looked on me and smiled and said that I may be plainly understood I declare unto you well remember it was once shewed forth upon the approach of a Gentlewoman to you signified a threatning trouble now then if we consider the evils of this world and how the people thereof continually studdieth and striveth nothing more then to weed out roote & destroy one the other then it is noe wonder to hear the Callamities & severities there of the which in this present conspiration of your selfe hearing your plaint hath bin of us defended from rigor untill the 15th day of this instant and may likely be yet defended untill 15 days yet to come provided that by a Naturall meanes you make unto some officer that may herein be concerned by a letter bribery to suspend the rigor of severity for it surely [illegible] as hath bin said that you will yet be blessed with a sudden and happy deliverance from the dread of future evils in order whereunto it hath bin already intimated unto you of your Conventions on the 12 & 14 instant as well as on this present day and then againe on the nineteenth day which is a double great tornary where you are well [illegible] in your [illegible] of that kind & then on the 20th day at being the day of your weekly convention and I hope in the sight of your promised deliverance be very merely here unto for we are commanded in Charge & care take of you & some particulars of your Conferments. and Furzaniah & Zimmariel & Gahorah and others stay a while

Come on Sr Cast not your spirit downe be of good Couradg let not your vallor sinke nor yeald to mony Trubles stand on thy deffence yet for 20 dayes and the mercies of the highest may discend to your great Comfort while we all as your frinds in the highest shall humbly beseche with you gratiously to you withall for his owne sake that is Almighty Amen Halelujah I also desire you Sr to persist in the persuance of your domestick operations as y conveniency will admit if thou wouldst refresh thy trubled spirit with less Care & thought of care wherewith you so exceedingly overcharge & incomber them thou wilt make thy good thoughtfullness much more easy unto thee thou canst not expect remidy for thy body untill thou hast freed the burden of thy soule & spirits the naturall Cause that most greivth thee are thy flatuous Passions proceed from winde contracted of emptiness it is not of my office but you shall know a true remidy for it I shall no more 1687 Desember 12 Monday

There appeared a spectrum with a Ring of gold on it head beset with flowers & on a surplise without belt with spangles, like a Child of 8 or 9 yeares of age and it saith you have not further to proceed here untill the 2d dayes as was showed forth unto you I will meet you the 2d day & tell you who I am from a servant of the highest & wish you for yr Comfort

there appeared in the stone in ye 4 quarters of it in ye East Michael in the West Uriel in the North Gabriel & in the South Raphael in there is 4 to the Estward of them downe on their knees, and it was I & Mr R & the two Celestiall spirits rose & [illegible] of the fire flame from the [illegible] sprinkled on my head & [illegible] by my eies & saw these with & it seemed to be very bright & my eies doe sparkle and they doe only sprinkle on Mr R head and so they marched away to the Eastward and now before the stone [illegible] a spectrum and it turned to the [illegible] & did [illegible] that way and it is turned this way and its face is become so bright as burnished silver [illegible] look on it and it [illegible] the [illegible] & it is passionatly Earnest and it doth say your offerings are accepted & ye are Blessed it seemeth you have not as yet received sight nor benifit of your [illegible] & [illegible] operations & actions of [illegible] offerings & your invocati ons are heard & obedience given though invissible yet signall & [illegible] obstructed only by an obstinate & perverse wilfullness, which are naturall unto those powers who partake of Grosse Ellementary composition as Aire & Earth &c but I know after 6 or 7 dayes they will be constrained to your Comands & so in effect to the full accomplishment of your expectance you are under important action & be carefull to your appointments the 5 & 6 dayes monday & tuesday

Desember: 19th: 1687: Ternary Duplex [illegible]

There appeared Orphaniel over the Stin with a flaming Sword in each hand looking downe on the offertory on the mistery and there appeared Za, Pae, before the ston. And a fiery sworde Attended to Orphaniel & Orphaniel gave it a fire & it imediatly went to Furaniah & gave it the & spake something to Furaniah in the Northernd in [illegible] againe & it was Lewanael & it went to Orphaniel againe & Orphaniel gave it the oth sword & it came into the other Rooff of the Sank & gave it to Samariel & spake something to Sama & went away. Afuraniah & Samariel did seem to Call & in the hollow [illegible] there came first Kin very Submissively then Dukes then Lords then minister of [illegible] Angels ~ Za [illegible] his sword over his heads 3 times & Ca his dart & Pae his [illegible] and Za spake attempt not further operations this day Remember your Convention to morrow your God will have mercy on you

There appeared a little spirit & it said Be ye [illegible] & comfortable & move not from place both your Action are sanctified unto you all is well let not your Courage nor majesty of spirit [illegible] or fall into a Relapse least desperation attempt the entrance & triumpheth in your visitation for divine Grace is with you, which will not want for enimies to pervert or Transplant some infernall mischife to accompany or overwhelme it but stand ye stedfast in your hopes & constant in your faith and you shall soon partake of Grace & mercy from [illegible] mouth [illegible] And the appeared the [illegible] thing And a fume came out of it and after it againe the star over ye ston And on the brime of it is nine lights and Michael stands on the East & Uriel W.
& Gabriel N. [illegible] Raphael S. [illegible] stands between Michael & Raphael, & [illegible] stands between Mathae & Gabriel & Uriel Looks on me, and my face doth shine. And Acimay is in Imperial forme in the ston to the Eastward & doth mind & observe this Appearance, and Madimiel & Lewanael are both without in a silverish Cloud and Madamiel & Lewaniel seem to be glad & Rejoyce and there is two that stand before the [illegible] Glass [illegible] that are in a venerable postur And they are not visible to us And madamiel is gon & left Lewaniell in a Joyfull postour & there comes [illegible] from ye font to the 4 Archangles And Uriel takes the key that comes to him through it to R O his brest it enters, and to his mouth it goes in c to his fore c there it enters and there it a sparke on his b c a sparke on his mouth c a fire flash on his forehead; And Lonanael said that Power c permission is given to our deliverance our Gardian Angells doe constantly looke to the effecting our deliverance come come for notwithstanding all those blustring stormes of thy past infernall mallice c wicked stratagems vexing and tormenting your peace honest endeavours Laboring for deliverance in the troubled seas of your hopes which I trust as I said before are by past and that you are now driven to a desired and happy harbor of peace and rest to the blessed restoration of your Comforts therefore it was ordered now shewed forth that you should still be cheerfull c take fresh courage that you may become triumphant victores in the midst of the greatest dangers and trials of feare under the sorest trials and visitations To morrow as in the forenoone a day of humill and in the afternoon a day of thanksgiving and on the stay morning present I penny of c here before the stone neither more nor less I will surely meet you at 9 of the clock presisely whereunto we adjourne the rest tember: 22: 1687: [illegible]

There appeared Lonanael c one other with a ... of Compass in its hand, and is very pleasant c smiles on Lonanael The Paternall goodness of all creations God hath set a limit c put a restriction on all malitious machinations ; Internall sweatings so if wee trust in the hiest your Comforts are Confirmed, c your peace embraced by your patience, c both walking to an happy enjoyment of a lasting rest proceed on in your Course of operation at home with a zealous inclination for the effects thereof doubtless brought well it is only an obstinate unwillin gness that delayeth there open appearance unto your sight by reason they are I say unwillingly to an obedience and assistance unto the service of men, because they as unwillingly part with what they delight in, being by nature much affected with the wealth and treasures of the Earth and all sorts of terrestiall riches c when brought or Constrained to an obedience and visible appearance Corporally they are the best c most servicea ble friends to mankind of all the Ellementary Powers I see you have done well in your duties yesterday which hath attracted Celestiall grace unto you, yet set you forward in your endeavours with undaunted Courage wherein the Power of the hiest blesse uphold c assist you to the full enjoyment of your soules desires Amen Hallalujah make some small acknowledgment by offertory you are to meet here againe on ye 7th day for I believe it layeth in the way of mine office to instruct or serve you I will so doe it

December: 29: 1687: thirsday there is two spirits downe on their knees before the stone and there came a small spirit said stay a while the act is immediate, There came a great flash and a flame ascended out of the stone up to the cealing and a starr a the cealing & it extended it selfe to the diameter of a foot & ~~that~~ closed it selfe againe & so did often and the Curtaints were all in flames. And a fiery spirit was before the stone and there is a spirit with purplish garment on and on his head a wreath of Lawrell & a scepter in its hand and it points to us And its ~~faire~~ smiles & is very pleasant & it doth say. Beholde the immediat presence of celesti glory appearing in the action of this day as a conf =mation of your hopes in the injoyment of terre felicity which through the strength & force of your humble supplications, & the prevailing power of yo faith & obedience ascending hath entred the presence of grace & so appeared this day immediat from ye superiour power of immediat descending mercy answering your petitions by a newly approaching deliverance of terrestiall tribulation & from the evill effects of such desperations as attend the chaps ticalls [illegible] the oblations of the two last foreg ternarys are now ascended & the entrance of this 3 ternary is glorified & more magnificent than any yet before it as being more high & superior ending on the 12 day of the next month with you and is I suppose the last ternary to be observed as I ha hath bin formarly of late shewed forth I say the glory of this present ternarius is more high & gre than the rest must prove so both in its end & effects & must be therefore as greatly to be observed

~~[illegible]~~ & oblation ~~[illegible]~~ the ~~124~~ of the greatest and also by [illegible] fore goodly the entrance of a most happy & glorious expected 125 jubile of joy unto you as will appeare both in sight & sence unto you, therefore I give you to under stand from superior command that I say as on the 12th day of the next month with you is the end of this glorious & great triple ternarius. even so must the ternarian offertory or oblation of that day be trebled as it is the last for it is consequently very considerable I say both in its ends & effects & behoulde your Guardian Angels included & also received into the glory of celestiall grace will become also thereby united as on witnesses in celestiall grace and dignification & so you may proceed in your terrestiall operations but observe me now what I say unto you ~~upon~~ on friday next call on Uriel at sun rising & stay and hower & on munday next hour you ought to glorify God & returne him thankes for the action of this day I assure you Sir it is more than an ordinary mercy; my name is Zeddkiel I am called away the Lord Blesse you preserve you & deliver you to his Glory & your comfort Hallelujah

January: 2d: 1687/8: monday

There appeared a spirit & said the oblations of your obedient perseverance is in force by returnes of mercy into inferiour mediums by order & office. differently there unto appoynted this very day is the first entrance of great & glorious effects, now humbly beseeching both of us & you the highest to confer and conferme unto & upon you the superiour & other celestial & celestially dignified powers of light hath received the Grace & mercy of the highest [illegible] unto [illegible] and Blesse his true faithfull & obedien servants withall, but those of the inferiour Elem especially those of the Elementall regions, of Aire & Earth &c are by reson thereof become where in ly the more obstinate and Adverse to serve and assist the servants of Grace from above or indeed to yeald obedience unto Celestiall superiors or othe dignified Powers of light and may yet have pow a little resist & withstand their motions and Comands though Powerfull & Imediat by reason they are strong afected & much indeered to the Earth & all earthly thi and the benifits thereof & ofttimes very unwilling to p with such benifits as the Earth plentiously affordeth as by permission & suffrance they have Power by ma & other given them to possesse & injoy especially unto the Morodi of whom they stand in dread by reason they ma be thereby Constrained & forceable brought to that obed for one time or at once only but allwaies and at all times &c. which by Nature they unwillingly comply un because I say Power is given them in y^e Elementall Regio and treasuries thereof & whatsoever else under dep =rancie thereunto, But how fouer this is not in the und =standing or knowledg of Terrestiall Ignorance. now then to the purpose I say & as I said before the influe of your offertories are in operation and as also I say hath obtained Celestiall favour through faith & obedience the which accordingly is gon forth & emitted to answer as for and on your behalfe in reference to your humble supplications and Addresses, therefore is this day & the 4 day instant and the 9th day your Perticular day of attending here of our motions unto you for y^t they are of us & superior but keepe you close to your domestick operations as your Convenience gives you permission 126 127 though they shall seeme to be invisible & fly from the sight of you yet be not troubled there at at then also againe on the 14 day which is the greatest most Considerable of al the rest by reason it comprehend =other three and also its selfe which againe likewise hath againe likewise doubles them and as at it is a Ternary agnas Triplex and a limit of time by measure & compass your troubles & afflictions which now by reason of ac notive Action of Celestiall Grace and mercy may Chanc stir up some Infernall Evills suddenly to besiege & beset you with sharp trialls but a shield of Celestiall mercy will defend you from the day of Terestiall desperation & destruction, remember therefore your Convention here on the 4th & the 9 & the 12 dayes instant the 4 is your weekly day of action so also is the 12 as well as a great Ternarius Triplex and in the intermitting times proceed you in your domesticke operation at your Convenient it is not questioned but the Glorious effects of these times or of the time now in yor present being [illegible] times &c will bring forth the Comforts of an happy deliverance from the gulfe & storme of most dangerous Hazards & bring you on shore the lands of lasting peace & rest which the most high God grant and give unto you as to his faithfull & obedient servants to his owne glory and your comfort Amen Halelujah

January 4: 1687/8:

There Appeared Ga-za-vaa and the two Gardian Angell trembling and Za spake to them & they did not tremble so much and Ga-za-vaa smiled on them and they fell downe on their knees to them & Za held out his sword & scepter & took them up then there came a great flash & tooke them away and Za said to me I heard what you have said & I know what you would

January 12th: 1687/8: Ternary [illegible]

There appeared A fiery Cloud before the stone the is 5 in it there be 3 of them Armed with swords in their hands and the two in white stands betwe them, the two are crowned & have wands in their and they are all of them very pleasant and the first in white next me doth much looke on me and so doth the Armed spectrum next me and the white spectrum doth hould out his wand to me & out of the end of it come a sparke of light & it doth fly to me but returns again & enters the poynt of the wand out of which it came and came a little spectrum in a silverish Cloud & stood upon the heather part of the table, and now they are all lose up, and the midle most of them directs his aspect to the spectrum on ye forepart of the table and it said to me & smiled on me The action of this great Ternarius is above huma reath neither endeth it but continueth 3 dayes and 4th day you must convene here againe I adventure S^r you may then receive the mortyficomfit of spirituall sight for it nearly appoacheth attended with such gifts in true friendship & passion as hath not ben amongst men or knowne of the wo for many by passed yeares you must withdrawe

7/8 January 16[illegible]
And Michael & Uriel were before the and they did Confer about me and they went away. And there appeared an other spectrum before the [illegible] and it is very pleasant and it said divine grace is mouch and is with you whereby a condolence of Celestiall friendship attendeth you as directed by the finger and light of mercy from above your Action in the other operation whereunto you must repair friday is your day of action use it 3 days together & the blessing of the lord will appeare I question not your success, would I had liberty to touch the matter more neerly & I humbly beseech the hiest to blesse your operations unto you

1687/8: January: 14:

A Gabriah said looking striously on me, I find Sr that the arrogant ambition of your Enimies hath bin fore showed unto you to have its finall Period & there with the downfall of them & their great words they so much have bosted & still boast of as in the next month with you or very sone after for I hope in the hart you have an Assurance of a blessed Appearing Epoche for thus myne Allies informeth me saying, they have sorely burned their fingers & wish they could pull them forth of the fire they have kindled to distroy the & thy labors for they are aweary, of losing their mony to fetch their Adventures nay further, notwithstanding this Complaint malitiously ever that they have the better of you while they seeme to be satisfied with only the Conceite of but they ly greatly for you are arrived even almost to the very sight of harbour & a reasonable indifferent breeze of assistance would quietly speed thee safely thereunto, wherein I know not what to Advise the I feele it not given to me at this present, come sir be comforted you shall stand and I trust bid defiance both to the envy of thy enimies & the troublesom Cares of your incumbrances good god how neere is thy deliverance of thy servants from the bondage of Terrestiall & Infernall slavery O let thy mercy be showed that thy servants also may triumph in the strength of thy salvation by their happy deliverance Amen you have the light of divine grace you shall need to fear the effects thereof I would not have you Cease but as your strength & ability will bare to proceed I assure you sir the ship is within 6 weeks sale of England however forsake it you not keepe in your fire by all meanes monday you shall know more

Monday feb 20: 1687/8

There appeared Michael & uriel & a son like lying over them and they are conferring some mercy or grace on some that are before them and they went away Lenasael appeared and called and two more came to it well goe so to & secure the poynt for it is of entrance for it seemeth to foresee that threatning foule weather tossing the surges & the billows beating our heads even to a Port, so weake is our faith & so strong are the triall thereof, well goe to I say secure this poynt for it is the ultimate poynt and passage of danger that a serene entrance may possesse the Port of an happy Arrivall that the shore may be the blessed Entertainment of continued rest & Lasting peace, I now Sr the last words showed forth unto you the foregoing day of Action were that you should stand the white Sheets to be remembred in Letters of gold it seemeth by the Charge now given in Command are hieroglifically discovered the ill & dangerous Consequence of desperation & great fears were nerely seasing & distroying your hopes of promised happiness, well good Sr I beseech you let not your harts faile you nor your soules sink in dispaire lest all become a Port to the fury of merciless tirany & irreparable distruction, but I tell you God is angry with such usurpations & oppressions in shuning his servants with too severe a bondage & although he giveth permission to such evill things by reason of that justice should be amongst men relating to their dealings & doings one with an other in terrestiall affaires and because he cannot ~~pro~~ prove unjust he therefore suffereth the evill natures of mankinde to be troublesome to one another yet still mercy taketh place, and though unexpected & wonderfull to humane imagination delivereth and bringeth forth his servants from the very midst of the most ~~dang~~ dangerous & distructive difficulties which being also now foreseen do premediately tell you againe that you shall stand & bid defiance to all terrestiall & infernall mallice come on then Sir that I may yet come nearer & close in with you as my Office at this day giveth me I will sum up your sayings as even now I heard you relate and first how that you were depressed by your offertories it is true you may think so but if you understood or did know the great benifits that will accrue thereby without which could ~~not~~ be you would then be silent & not make further repitition thereof, indeed we have sorrowed for the loss of your last ternarius by reason it was the last and because it succeeded the greatest that went before it and a mean of uniting them to promised successes of which before I proceed to the next resolve I will speake to the Comand given me in Char one ternarius truly of right ought to be observed not more which happeneth to be on the first day of the next month with you & then have you not more ternarius offertories with you neither have you more ~~the~~ now other offertories to observe then your 4 quaternian Sig Ingresses as here tofore hath bin shewed forth and one Angell Crowned one day of your weekly action if you have two dayes of action in the week there is but one offertory I mention then unto you thus if you make this day as being monday which is at your pleasure either at this or the other mystery you make not offertory excepting at this mystery and that also to be a very small matter at your free will whether any thing or nothing so that now is not else to be observed otherwise then upon the 4 quaternian Engresses & the weekly dayes of action come one to the next we heard you say when will such things be relating to the other terrestiall operations first then as to this 2d poynt a blessed Epoche nearly approacheth, before which on the first of march is the last ternarian day and also then succedeth & also then succedeth the rest of the same month with you at which time, will your Epoche be appoynted & then trust me also the utmost limett of your ~~tr~~ trubles will be determined & future feares thereof extinguished and all your sorrowes put to a finall period. feare not to obtaine that blessing is sure unto you therefore feare ~~not~~ not weddensday is ye action I will meet you here on the 1st day god willing 1687/8 feb 22 1—blesst me how am I streightned, and my fredom limited in present writing with your desires because myne office is nerely towards not those your afaires in question at whose retorne you may be answered the 1 day of March & 9 day of March are successively appointed dayes of action the first day being dies Lunaris ultimus the 10th day is the vernall quaternion which must be observed for great resons thereon depending on the 12 day of march Lunaneel with other servants of the hiest answereth your desires I like your motion well in moving to take a friend to your assistance in your affaires I find he may may doe you kindness by reason he underst andeth somewhat the mind of contrary parties which may conduce to your benifit & advantage upon discoursing thereof pursue what you can with discretion for to beholde me a change is nere at hand and deliverance approacheth nere the shore of a settled comfort unto you well, well, now is the time and venture of your hopes and doubtless God will be mercifull if you can be cheerfull persist on therefore as your inclination dictates with discretion & as you reason directs whereas in the mercies of the hiest conduct, I blesst you heaven forsakes you not

feb 25: 1678 1—

There appeared a glorious spectrum & it looked to the East and then looked on us wishfully & pleasantly & then it went into the stone & into the candles & the candle was all in a flame & now it is become a light at the further end of the stone and there appeared Lunaneel in the stone and it smiled on me, it hath a bright star on the brest of it & it said, well be it with you sir come on my Brother & friend I see how it is with you & trust me thanked be the highest there is noe danger of your helth nor of your fall into relaps either I say of helth or in estate of condition, for first, your weakness or distemper of consti =tution proceedeth from the splene & Hypocondries with an obstruction of black collour comonly said with you to be mellencolly passions and causeth of mere wind from whence also proceedeth scurvey but above all an evill demon hath strook at thee but missed thee you only received the blast of his shaft driving at thee but could not touch thee, there is naturally a coldness of those parts in most parts of stomach & digestive faculties but the good angell & servant of gods chariot of the order of virtues and a sone of tribe through divine grace unto you mercifully in the hiest hath comand in charge over you & by office appointed for the part of deliverance which is more then naturall & for the rest I shall come both advise & fulfill my promise unto you I pray you neglect not the continuance of what you now a administer unto your selfe one simple thing I will advise you Eat of your Candi ginger you call it green Ginger with you eat it in a morning or when you find your selfe ~~opp~~ oprest with winds; in verity Sr there is noe question that I find against your welfaire I finde you must meet if god permit on thursday morning if I mistake not Sr it was showed forth unto you that comand was given in charge unto appoynted mediums in order to cleare the passage of Entrance &c wherby you may understand the hopes of your deliverance meet here on thursday keep a faire Correspondency with the baliffes noe writt yet taken out

March 5: 1687/8

there appeared a fiery vission over the ston & in it a fiery spectrum with a flaming sword in its hand & in the ston is Mithael & Uriel & they looke toward the Recepts of East side of the ston & before the ston is Ohe And in the Recepts of east side the ston is a spectrum in white & two writing on it & aboundance of papers and books & things by them And Ohe doth looke on the hollow Recepts ~~[illegible]~~ earnestly & moves to them Earnestly calling some thing in the hollow Recept on the North side there is a Majestick spectrum with a great brest full Armd A lions face & about his head is like ye skine of a hedghog & woolly bushy hare & long of a brickish coulor that in the South Recept is fairer and hath like a womans face & about it is a blewish vestment ~~[illegible]~~ plated round & sits Close hath long black hare like a ~~[illegible]~~ horses tayle & Majestick to but more Compleant

Mithael & Uriel looke on the Recepts of East side the ston & then on me & they in the Recepts doe great veneration towards Mithael & Uriel & Uriel doth often looke on me & they are very pleasant The Appearance in action this day is very Considerable, Ohe saith consernets you in all your Agitations & operations which Imediatly cannot be showed forth nor discovered to you untill the 4th day from this at what time you must to come done here & then it shall be unveiled unto you Sr you have not more at present here but returne thanks to the highest & Cast sealers up the dores Carefully suffering noe entrance untill the sin god ~~[illegible]~~ with you

March 5: 1687/8 monday

There appeared Galuah & Lenanael & they went away And there came Ohe in there place Through Grace in the light I am moved in order to my promised presence in Appearance here on ye last day of Fernary to show forth the Appearance of action of that day & the mistery there of being very great and Considerable altogether accruing as hopes in the highest to your benefit & Comfort the 3 stars, signifie ~~[illegible]~~ Celestiall presence, that over the ston was paster Mithael & Uriel signifie the sign & finger of the highest & were on ye Examinations with urim & thumim about Thug Artanum as are to be showed forth in the hollow Recepts was Amenadiel & Usiel & they were obstinate but will be brought to Obedience & indeed very Sr if it were if you offered but one Crowned angell on your weekly Sunday day of action for lost cannot be if at all & that you failed on the last ternaryus which is the last in Corse I pray you Sr mistake me not here for I shew forth nothing but what is in Charg Comanded me by office from superior Powre it is not Sr in our naturs to be Angry oftimes troubled and sorrow for you by reason as your offertories are obliged distinctly appoynted unto you as more solert mossdi then in thousands that have attempted the entrance into the pallace of true freedome or the Rule of Celestia which thus chiefly obligeth the appearance of presence in Action or Admittance of malitious or false Intentions which may prove injurious unto you but herewith let this Comfort you that neither divine grace nor Celestiall friendship in a true Correspondent love and Assistance will ever desert or forsake you and I may advise you as comanded to respect the next offertory the which I trow I heard you not long since consult know ye that this Ingresse preceeds your great Epocha which offertory must not be as of the last Ingress of the last quarter but as ye first or as they were before by reason it is Considerable & beareth weight there it cannot be to great I dare not shew forth more then I am Admitted of superiours verely tis brought my retorne I said before we touched not the Earth as to your Abillities at this present nor untill the 26 instant be expired which also will be a day of great action and of good unto you as it symbolizeth with a ternary respecting the last ternary it is said this solar offertory should Containe (Circum valley 6 Crowned Angells but not less then 5 although it hath not bin soe before it is not for me as being not given me to shew forth unto you the reason there of at Rete present some other Conveniences will prove that on munday is the day of action & ingress

Marth 9: 1687/8 137

There appeared Phariel

well Sr although noe present Action moueth or defending yet thanked be the highest we are well Mett and through his Grace I also greet you well, well, Sr I have your sayings here for which I sorrow but yet take Courage & move Cheerfully in your Conformen I am Comanded to Advise you that on Sunday next either between 6 or 7 in the morning or between one & two after none will one Ariel and one Munday come to the now is the vernall ingress of this Annuall quaternial offertory which I am Also comanded in Charg to shew forth what you must observe therein which I tell you must be 6 angell Crowned as before hath bin advised for a perticular reason that I could shew forth if it were needfull so to doe but I said noe Action defended yet you may know if Curious After dedication of the same well, well, Sr more will yet shew it selfe peradventure more perfectly to your Comfort wherewith the most high Gratiously bless you to his Glory Amen Hallalujah monday March 12: 1687/8 ~~[illegible]~~ oo

There appeared ~~[illegible]~~ over the ston in a fiery forme and in a bright silverish Glory is [illegible]

And in the ston is Uriel in an Ecclesiasticall Imperiall forme, And Uriel turned to the ~~[illegible] of the [illegible]~~ & a spectrum in white pulled out of it before a booke & turned over the booke & in it was tables of letters & figures & he put his finger of a letter & a sparke flew from it ~~[illegible]~~ And so it did to a great many letters & figures throughout the booke & so many sparks flew from them & Uriel marked it downe on his hand And then a vale drew over the white spectrum & Uriel turned to the other [illegible] glass ~~[illegible]~~ and there a spectrum in white tooke downe a viall & there was in it a cleare water and set it by & then it tooke downe 3 more vialls and there was liquid matter in them one of a ~~whitish~~ whitish Coulor & one of a greenish & one of a yellowish coulor & put them all together into one of the fashion of an egg & there they seemed to be greenish & it seemed to be luted halfe way up the body of the bolt head & the matter seemed to be a little above it

Uriel said that it is to be remembred that I once tould you that you should make the great medison or as call it the ston of the Hermeticke Sophiarbes

I know Sr you cannot be insensible that the first or thereof or [illegible] as they call it is not other wise but sweet dissolvent naturally reduceing ☉, ☽, ♀, & mettells into permanent water & gradually one hath bin showed forth heretofore which of some persons on earth who make noe othe[r] thereof but reduceing of Goulds into liquor which they call potable & sell the same for potable Gould to be medicinally administred to sick & Indigent ~~[illegible]~~ people in health, the which I confess to be a most excellent medison & very usefull & Alterations in [illegible] most diseases, distempers and other things like agreevances which render incident to, and afflicting the bodily strength & vigor of man kinde though it be the ignorance of many pretendedly learned in that science that they know not better use nor benifit thereof, but I charge you not to slite it

But now I will reveale & show forth unto you that which the world knoweth not & for the easiness & meane thought of it, as I may call it a miracle by reason it is Collected & Carefully gathered up together discovered & showed forth by the keepers of all secrets etc yet it may be also truly said be Childrens play & woomens labour as your Sophisters of ould termed it, from whome we may determine that the waies of truth are plaine and Esy

You shall take then of good aqua fortis so called & put thereinto of simels of Copper by little & little untill it be clearly dissolved & when all is only dissolved that will dissolve therein. then put the same into a retort affixing thereunto a receiver & in sand or ashes according to the Art or Custome thereof write a soft or [illegible] heat distill over the phlegm which [illegible] about 3 houres [illegible] may be done. then Change the receiver [illegible] the same with the vessell distill over the remainder [illegible] fire by degrees to the hight & that all be come over [illegible] remaine as I have not seene it this is a true dissolvent ☿ or menstruum as you will & observe that noe glass vessell will keepe the same above 12 or betweene 12 & 18 howers it is so penetrating therefore it should be shifted out of one into an other loe there you have the greatest arthanum on Earth & could not be revealed by nothing but my selfe & though the world should seeme to forsake you yet the mercies of the highest will assuredly hereby never forsake you but keepe you beyond us in Celestiall Glory & preserve you in safety maugre notwithstanding the greatest of Infernall & Terrestiall mallice that can attempt to oppose you but I find I must withdraw I suppose satterday next to be the day of action but monday may serve the turne one thing I must give you in charge that you may not comeen here at this mistery without some offertory though but as one sing Crowne to the Glory & dignity of your actions wch should of rite be one angell crowned

87/8 March: 19: Monday: I sent [redacted] there is in the son Uriel, Gabriell, & in the North sollid Glass (except) is Raphiel & in ye of the Courte is Li and before the son is Anie, And then stands plea & saide Beloved in the highest greeting unto you Celestiall peace & friendshipe, which endeth in the all Epoche and Blessedly beginneth in the Ne as hoped in the highest willbe thrice happy I have not much given me to show fourth for not in charge untill dies Epocheii which ordered to be on the 2d day of the next m but then altered to the 4th day of the same but after further examination found it best befitting to be yet also deferred and now determined to be on the ninth day of the next month by: Reason first that the 7th day from this day is Ternazing although not of force but as included in the preceeding Epoche & the 2 day of next month as successe in Action the 4th of next month of preparation as fore going the great Epoche & this day as hoped in the highest of blessed effects unto you & as for your offertories herein is consulted favorable unto you considering our pretence & profession of Celestiall love & friend shipp unto you first on this day 2ly on ye 26 day instant 3ly on the 2d of next month on these 3 dayes is on eache day only on Crowned Angell on the 4th day of the next nothing or any small voluntary matter what you will & on the ninth day or dies Epocheii 3 Angels Crowned & so we shall pass on in such good order as shall not burden you with any extreeme but in order I say rather unto your deliverance And further futoure judgment of you hopes & trust in the highest therefore I would on thursday to move to the usuall orders and on sunday move to Uriel & so the next day you comeen here againe wc Sr there is no danger of losing life it hath got a greate could & hath chilled the spirits I have not more untill I come againe untill the 7th day

Monday March 26: 1688: Present

There appeared before the Hon Aud e Lounamael And Lounamael tooke his Leave is gon e And said Sr. God & them bee not have thus far Continued and now hopefully driving in this Ultimate Ternary into the habour of a blessed deliverance where shortly you will land safely on shore e see your Enimies shipwracked or foundered in the ocian of dispaire sinking without hope or helpe of safety by them or labour by them as meting with helpe or by labouring buoying them selves up to keepe there sinking vessel on float above water I doe Certainly Assure you they are come into as bad if not worse Condition than your selfe for you have neerly passed over those di… that thay are but entring into wherinto thay will fa…
and be thereby separated e consequently quite exter… ted, but thou shalt yet stand though at present or as yet under some truble e vexation afflicting thy spirits but the outstretched Arme of divine Grace will support thee e blesse thy Labours even beyond thought to his glory e your own Comfort blessed be this day and thanked be the Highest that we have heerunto arived being the last terna… and entrance to a blessed Æpoche e dedicated to the Glory e service of the highest so that present action must Cease I tell you not why for it is reserved only this Sr I am willed to advise you to act twice this weeke in your Terrestiall operations and againe on Sunday to Ursel and so come on againe here on the 7th day e so one the 9th day from this present which you must observe as a day of humilliation or devotion not confining you to fast only from that while hath lost life from six in the morning till three in the afternoone then you may Refresh your selves by such in divine grace e mercy beleiving the highest will blesse you wherein we also humbly beseech him for his owne sake of is gratious e mercifull Cease

Aprill: 2d: 1688:

There was a Spectrum appeared before the Glass e went away 3 times and came againe and it looked on me and smiled e was very pleasant e said I trust you may be nearly arived at the port of good hopes of your long sought for happiness for I see Morangeall hath set all the other soules opposing your happiness e so carefully indeavouring your over= =throw at Great variance and Strife quarelling one with the other in words blows and throttling lates in law strainge things and to be Admired, but I stopp & say noe more thereof as yet, but there is great force e likely to turne to an ill effect, so, so, Sr what not sight yet in your Endeavours of terrestiall operation I trow I heard you say soe, it seemeth you acted therein twice only last weeke well come on then you must Endeavour action herein also this week thrice and on Sunday to Mithael e Ursel for the seaventh day is your Epoche, but herewith remember that the 2d day from this shalbe a holy humilliation and of pious devotion unto you before the hiest from 6 in the morning till 3 after noone convening at this place distinctly at 9 in the morning or there abouts sitting untill 10 to attend motion of action e then to withdraw e after at 3 a clock Rejoyce e make merry with thanksgiving the dutie I meane in your prayers to god as usually & what voluntary offertory you please I confess I must tell you it would be exceeding well if it be as it was on the 7 d[redacted] first or as this day but you are left at libertie unconfined therefore I shall not show forth the necessity or valluable reasons for what I say there of April 4th: 1688: Weddensday ~~pst~~ [redacted] blessed be the most high God whose mercies descendeth by messengers of his grace to the weale & comfort of his servants humbly prostrate before him & beseeching him in the spirituall comfor & faith of the soule wherein we also his servants greet you well in celestiall love fear you mortallity because you se our action sably over shadowed it signifies nothing of that but the office of Day I should in stance a charge given unto me touching this gr entrance of your Annuall Apoche I am commanded to info you Sr that beside you offertory allready injoyned there should be a little fine Gold interthreed & conjunct therto or about 2 penny weight wch we sorrow to charge you as y but it is a band of mistical union or consubstantiate knitting togeather the solem efforts of superiour action & conformation on inferiour ordinations making like pts & participations it should have bin 4 d weight but we ha humbly mitigation I say 4 d weight because you are two I must confess it were better in two parts then one but then you must be charged therewith which we sorrow for but may not avoyd to informe you, but what we say beseech mitigation by superior permission else it is left wholly unto you at your discrestion wherein the God of all comfort & mercy strengthen you both in corporall and Animall vigour & joy of life Amen Halalujah

I will leave it for you to medicen to restore youthfullness a cure my youngest daughter

Aprill 9: 1688: Apoche [redacted]

Phaliah sum: e ex filiis filiorum, and am sent in stead of my Mother & other my Allies who even now were present here but are withdrawne by superiour command to the Glory of the highest & the comfort of his servants respecting this present time and appointment of succeeding actions, indeed it is very well done of you what was last promised is redy for you & somewhat more of considerable attempt it is to be remembered yt it was once showed forth unto you the name of a certaine ston & of it vertues but noe more whereupon you were heard to say that such a thing was showed forth but noe resolution further touching the use & practice there of you have the name of it in your records it hath bin litely spoken of of some hermettick cabollicall sophisters who untill this day knoweth not the full & true vertues & operation thereof which are great & incomparable & the which shall be revealed & showed forth unto you you have it in these words amongst you a stone is founde of price that is not dear from whence the sophists draw a flying fire it is a ston & yet said not a ston where of there great & famous words & to say soothe even of it selfe alone &c I say the name you have but I must also withdraw for this day of action is of Epocha unto you & of superiour order which we also attend as to be given in charge & so accordingly to be administred as it shall please the hiest and I will advise you to esteeme and also make the remaining pt of this day as a Jubile & Joy in sersine hopes of your happiness and happy deliverance from your sorrows & afflictions here below but you must be removed here on thursday morning then is the time of rending this action being your of action with your so ordinary oratory as your weekly observation for this day is of superiour Power & mediately and not of you to be otherwise Enjoined, but the 3 day after you must withdraw & injoy your selfe for the heavens smiles and the Earth must submit: pils of Storax is good for a Cough 10 gr or 12

Aprill: 12: 1688: present in the ston is Michael & Uriel & great brightness beyond them, above the ston is Castor Zadkiel & Zadd before the ston is One Galwah & Maluadg and in the Hollow woods there is two in one in a brewish Mist, and the Galwah & Malwadg went away & a Italian stood in place & said Come Come Sr Cheare up and be comforted my mother saith & also willed me to show forth & declare unto you as you are truly beloved in Colestial friendship & comunity, that all your temporall & terrestiall trialls attended with those many sharp & sorrowfull menacing much fear and danger of trouble both in spirits & condition are now of us supposed beloneds and Conceived to be at a period & now is the boat or Eminent puting forth to receive you & bring you on shore the land of Good hope and a resting Boate to the true Enjoyment of plenary Comfort and felicity the ston lately spoaken of & standing on you towards is called Lapis Lyrites it may be heard of at a Certaine place where vitriol is made by art some 4 or 5 miles distant from you Eastward by the River side the use & benifit whereof it is not yet fully given to me but you shall have it very shortly likewise the promised medicon for restoring health & vigor to weake & decaying Nature is not yet fully Compleated 143 Take of Angellica roots 2 lb one Hafe weight of Rosmary flowers 4 lb or more sage flowers bettony flowers and Boradge flowers of each halfe a pound of liverwort ½ a lb of the fresh leaves or flowers of Colombine and Baume of each ¼ of lb or better all these must be shread & stampt then put into a glass body or earthen vessel well Glased and mix or put therewith 7 or 8 lb weight of Good sugar of 4d a lb full & fat white then shall be stoped up very secure from aire & then set in fimo as you call it or such like kind of heat for 90 dayes & it will be mostly converted into liquor then open the vessell & straine the liquor out & that liquor must be circulated in the former fim or such like degre of heat 60 dayes then may the liquor & devide the same into 40 equall parts or portions serving for the 40 dayes taking every morning fasting one part or dose useing some brisk gentell Exercise after it, forbearing salt or the grosse heavy meate during the time of the taking lamb, veale, mutton, pullet it may be renewed once in 7 yeares or 8 or 9 & keepe the body to an extreame old age herewith all it is also to be understood that if at the same time you take 2 lb of broome flowers & imbibe them in 6 lb of Good oulde well cleansed oyle of olive & keep the same in fimo or such like heat for the space of 90 dayes in a Glass vessell closed up tight then straine or presse it forth and ad to this oyle ½ lb of spurge & so keepe the same for use ✱ but here is a silence for 7 dayes & on the eight day which is the 20th instant then you must convene here againe on Sunday moue Michael & Uriel for sight in the morning S^r doe you persevere & persist on your course and as it was said you may expect it every minut

1688: Aprill: 20th

There appeared a [illegible] cum and it looked smilingly on me with a Crowne on its head, & it showed forth somthing welcome welcome be the convention of this day and thanks be the highest we are thus met well together as being the opening of this annuall Except after a 7 days silence and observance of the blessed redemption of mankind from the severity of the Law & divine Justice for the breach thereof & other rebellious Crimes greatly offending a Lenative & Longsuffering God as manifested & showed in the Gospell of the great & ever blessed Messiah especially unto ye selves & Church of the Moradi as true & faith-full beleivers elect by divine appointment and grace unto mercy blessed be this Apertio Portarum the entrance whereof also willbe the 5th or 6th day I can not well tell you which but you must Convene here on the 5th day ye is wednesday next if action descendeth not by appearance that day, then you must convene againe on the next for the knowlidg thereof is not given untill the 5th day well come on then

* now then after the aforesd medicine is taken 40 dayes 144 that the next day or two afterwards the body shallbe annoynt-=ed with this oyle for the space of 9 dayes all over 144 and the 10th day to sweat with spirits or wash the body all over with spirits as spirits of wine and thus may the body of man be kept renovated & restored by the use thereof of once in 7, 8, or 9 yeares in a full vigor youthfullness & helth to an extreem Age

I hope in the highest with you that his paternall mercies will succeedingly extend bountifully unto your Comfort & releife by such meanes as thereunto are appointed which in his great and abundant mercy give & grant unto you for his owne sake that is almighty if you can dispence with it one weeke it will doe well, I meet you in favour on the 5th day to your Comfort 1688: Aprill: 25:

There Appeared Chariah this is an Example of the Lapis Pyrites whose nature is to be dissolved & to dissolve, & it looked towards me & said after the action we may take it away moving the ston, we are now seeking to promote your Assistance as nere as we can come the Earth, and those Inferior Ellementary Mediums appointed for terrestiall operations at 7 a clock & at 2 a clock to move the Terrestiall orders and forgit not Sundays action & convene here to action on Munday Morning so you have done well, we trust God will give you sight for Certaine I am, you have had & will have appearence God will enable you, and we humbly pray therewithall to bless and prosper you with Comfort, Amen Cease

Aprill: 30th 1688:

There appeared Ezuanael before the son and there is Michael Uriell and Gabriel in the ston and it is Orphanael over the ston what is it that so much unsatisfieth you stay a little & let me also examine with you, the word is Catapulia halas fear not that you are entred in to the hopes of your desires and even first setting your foot on shore for I doe aver through Grace & mercy in the most wherein lyeth the hopes and trust of the whole Creation that you shall obtaine (though so much feminishness dismayeth you, it may well be for those to resist you that setteth heaven itselfe at defiance) but Conquest is obtained and triump =heth by patience well then come on I will you to proceed what you can in your operations untill the 3 days & then you shall operate here
I tell you Sr what you may doe first you take the Angellica rootes and the Rosemary buds and tops and beat them together into a Conserve with sugar and take the quant -ity of a walnut first in the morning & last at night a a little less then a walnut you shall have the amendment of your words & other promised contentments as superiour Power shall please to give place & permission Question not that or ought else that shall be a meane to make you happy I well know what hath bin prom ised and I also as well know it will be as surely accomplished although we touch not the doings nor deal ings of the Earth for the count whereof there many different & troublesome evills & most grevious vexations are frequent amongs mankind, & because the evill powers of darkness & those others, of the more inferiour & grosser pts of the Ellementall Regions partaking of the terrestial nature & office with the powers thereof have permission to vex people with severall Temptations generally or indeed rather Continuingly persuading them to Credulity of wrong though upon their own frailties which is the Cause of feminishness & slowness naturally of their feedings or willingness to be or doe good for mankind in their respective offices though appointed of the highest as mediums in their places to doe that good office when moved and called thereunto as the necessity of Cause require stand ye therefore stedfast and be constant in your hopes and faith in the highest who without doubt will give you the victory, mercifully defend you & graciously serve you in your Conduct to the desired ends of those enjoyments that shall make you truly happy which the most high God grant & bless you with all for his owne sake that is bountifull in all his mercies Amen Halalujah if you come here at 8 a clock your opinion is well of that matter on thursday

May: 3d: 1688:

your sayings are heard & I say as you say that what you say is true & what then I pray you, & were it given to me to Controvert with you I could soe convince you that our sayings are also of truth & shall prove undeniable Sr the point of feminishness and forwardness in that nature hath bin already discharged, I still justify the promise of your good success in your Terrestiall operations therefore Cease not desist by reason of any discouragement I stay not to give you the reasons thereof for whereas the effects are swift though Causes slow in their progresse & proceeding but commeth in a moment and as soone fulfilleth its office when you have done here proceed at home and trust to mercy for your successe he is a false busy fellow but shall doe thee noe hurt the Cause of mans sorrow doth alter the world so much that we cannot behould it without trembling let your trust be in your God who never forsaketh them that trust in him

May: 10th: 1688: Prest only yeare be to you verily Sr your sayings and speeches are heard even at the time of your speaking signifying that your wracked hopes wanteth a Pilot to guide & set you on shore what noe medium to lend a lift on shore great oppresse well supply must & shall be found for your arrivall since Divine providence hath delivered you thus far in a perilous viage to an hopefull Port doubtlesse he will mercifully admit of an happy Expectation, be not yet dismaid I will now speake parabollically unto you A certaine man zealous in Religious piety & Charity gave liberally to the priesthood the Church & the poor expecting the Reward of a 3 fould increase by divine providence in lieu thereof as by the doctrine of the Preisthood was preached and evinced as the showed forth by God his owne word dayly in their Sinogoges, he being a bountifull Benefactor liberally gave all he had away saveing only two shickles of silver which he kept for a supply in time of necessity or such needfull occasions & finding not returne answerable to expectation answerable to the ministry as the Preisthood Taught fell into despair blaming them exceedingly railing much at the word of God saying whosoever shall take God his word or providence or 140 promise for mercy thereing a pledg for his estate might 146 surely perish or come to naught for any helpe that he could find or hope thereof at length being enraged through great great fear of poverty passionately resolves to goe up to the holy Citty and make his his complaint to the high Preist that by the ministry of the Preisthood preaching the promise of God revealed that who so ever gave liberally to such good & pious uses as thereby should be commanded or set forth, should have returne from God in his abundant mercy of a 3 fould reward he had observed & fully performed according to the prescript rules of their Ministry untill he had given all away that the had saveing only two shickles of silver which now served him to goe this journey fearing he should want therein which he thought he might doe if he had not wherewith all to supply the Charge of his journey, notwithstanding the word or promise of God well taking up his two shekles of silver resolveth his Pilgrimage and at some little distance ere he arrived at the holy Citty met on the way two men at much difference in great Contention earnestly quarrelling one with the other the our Traveller seriously beholding, demands the occasion of their quarrell who replied to him saying they had found a Jewell or Precious ston which as they knew not the vallew or the worth thereof so they knew not how to devide the same neither could they breake it, whereby they might partake or give each the other an equall share thereof then saith our traveller what is the Jewell or this precious ston worth,

- ~~[struck]~~ which they produced and he seing the same thought he could not lose much thereby if he bought it said unto them see you here Sirs here are two shillds of silver one for each of you which I trow may be good purchis unto you for this ston and a meane of dividing the same equall =y between you & so put a period to your difference at which they were contented & so parted going each others on there way Now behould when our traviller cometh into the Citty goeth to a jeweler's shop asking the master thereof if he knew that ston and the vallew thereof who answered ye but saied he could not purchase it for it was worth more then he had to by it & and withall tould him that if he went up unto the high Preist he might certainly purchas or by the same of him at his full vallew for that he had heard that such a ston was lost out of his ephod, who then accordingly his former resolution being hereby exceedingly strengthened and as it were redoubled, goes with undaunt =ed Courage to the high Preist and appearing in his presence maketh first his Complaint against the ministry of the Preist =hood exclaiming against their docking the word & Promise of God which they preached & how his Great beleife therein and his bountifull liberallity had bin his downfall whereby he was reduced to great Poverty & therefore beleived that the word and Promise of God was not true and that he could noe longer put faith or trust therein wishing he had not bin so liberall in lending to the Lord or his word or intrustin to his promises for that he did see no fruits come thereof nor any thing like to turne to his benifit thereby and more to the like purpose of great dispaire whereat the high Preist being marvelous astonished to heare his desperate blasfemy & standing mute thereat, in which meane ~~wit~~ while our traviller shewed him this precious ston asking him to buy the same 147 whereby he might supply & releive his wants as a meane to his future livelyhood, the high Preist seing the same and well knowing it to be the same ston that was missing in the ephod, said he would buy the same and the high Preist also well knowing the fellow knew not the vallew thereof very wisely & worthily answered the vallew thereof according to the word of God in Greater measure by far then could be expected, the which he did one this wise first our high Preist demands what he had liberally lent to the lord on his word and promise who tould him 3£ the which sume our high Preist tribled according to the word as our traviller aledged and asked him if that would satisfie him, who ~~[struck]~~ answered ye ~~[struck]~~ very well but knowing it amounted not to the vallew of the ston gave him againe the like sume which the high Preist finding not to reach the full vallew of the ston gave him a like third sume as before at which our traviller being transported fell on his knes pretending great thanks to God and the high Preist for so great and miraculous a mercy, where at the high Preist behoulding the same gave him a good box on the ear even almost fellen him to the Earth and also delivered him to his servants to be stripped & whipped saying afterwards unto him behould thou blasfemour thou hast receved the full ~~[struck]~~ vallew of thy ston and thrice more ye 3 times thrice more then the single vallue of thy estate tribled which punishment now inflicted on the is justly due unto the for erring or daring to dispaire of gods mercy goe to the temple & make your attonement with God & beware you dispaire noe more & pray god to strengthen your faith & uphould your hopes in him which only keepeth you from sinking into desperation &c.

there appeared

To Mr Rha. Sr such an other Attempt may possibly set thee on shore I perceive the streame runnes hard downe the Currant of the harbour, Well though it be painfull swimming against the streame yet through mercy, and Good assistance, a gaul will make its way up, feare it not, neither faint in your Attempts, but what shall I say, since I perceive not Error, nor neglect, in place persevere & persist on I speake to you both with undaunted and unbiased Resolution I the Name of the highest Raise up your spirits for god is with you & his mercies preserve you on monday morning got to the inferior mistery

There appeared one with a Turbit on & it looked full on me & smiled it hath short locks & curled it hath a scale on its turbet before & it hath a brest plate that is square and hath in it stones & meddals & figures, and now it looks wishfully about it; it begins to looke angerly & frowned and it showed out something I am not severe with you Sr Nomen est meus affaliah and your friend I am one of the dignified spirits of the dire under Raagiod under the banner of Gaiol, though what still adverse and obstinate move not from place till I warne you question not your sight Sir ~~and~~ I am caring for you Sr I would advise you to stay and withdraw for I am ingaged with a Rebellious Crew that must be Reduced in which conflict may Chancely happen some turbulence or malitious blight which humane weakness already withstandeth not

~~May~~ May 21th 1688: ~~[illegible]~~

There appeared in the ston Levanaell & Saffaliah & there appeared before them a Great many in straing shapes and they are in great awe before them, and now they are all gon Levanaell said move not and they were in a great light in the ston

And there appeared something before the ston and it smiled very much; and looked on Mr R: and said feare not here meaning his last action, And it looked on me and smiled very much. So, So. Sr I see your thoughts, disturb not your spirits least you long your Constitution too much I see thou hast two Daughters, the Eldest whereof is perverse & obstinate of temper accompanied with a disdainfull pride but the young is much ~~better~~ more lenitive & serene of temper but flexible & easy of persuation, is of dangerous consequence to our purpose to me: if the pleasure of the highest with another that benifit of sight be comforted he hath not lost ye: neither will you be lost in distress: you have 3 dayes now insuing wherein make what good use of action you can with conveniente and on ye 4th day at 9 in the morning or sone after you shall convern here againe, on friday I hope you will have some Comfortable success the blessing & peace of the highest fill your hopes with glorious success

May 25: 1688: ~~[illegible]~~

There appeared 3 before the ston Ga, za, vaa, in the sollid ~~crept~~ next me is Uriel and hath a splendid star on its ~~[illegible]~~ crest and a shadow like lying by it

And in the other sollid-glass crept is Levanaell and and an other shadow like lying

And A great way in the ston is a golden vaile and on it a fiery Cherrub with a great light behind it

And before it is, 9 Royall formes or hirarchies

And the ston is in mighty Glory

And Uriel looked pleasantly on me and then looked on the ston

And there is severall flyes semes to pass & repass from ye hollow crepts

And za semes to show forth somewhat and za hath in its hands an equilaterall triangle in it is a + in the midle with a dash cross it & in the upper Corner a 3 & in the other two Crorners a 4 & a 5:

It is said in the invocation referred unto this day that our Great Lord and Master even ye most high & only God made all Animall Creatures moving upon the Earth and also man as on this day so then it followeth that all things were Created for ye use & preservation of man kind and man for the service honour & Glory of his God, which principle let us stand fast by, I find it hath bin said the last time of your terrestiall invocation & operation here and also at the other terrestiall mistery that in the appearance of that time there of Saffaliah, that you were then advised on a suddaine to seace action or any further proceeding in that operation then present, the reason whereof was that as it hath bin heretofore showed forth signifing that Aeriall & Terrestiall spirits & spirituall Powers who are conjuntly by Nature bothe good & euill mostly willing to serve & obey & yet often at other times are againe very Averse & obstinate to the welfare & good of man kind the which indeed is but Naturall to the mediof those Elements well then Sr Come on

I find it hath bin showed forth unto you that you are laborin hard Attempting safe Arivall into your expected harbor of peace rest & restoration to Glorify your God in your happy deliverance from those many foule & dangerous difficulties with great hassard you have hether to passed through and I find by what medium had Charge of your Conduct have also strove against the streame which infested the same earnestly to move saying what is there yet no meane to land us holy with a lift on shore, from which earnest ejaculation penetrating divine Clemency hath now moved mercy unto your Assistance as appeareth at this day understand ye then what by office I am Comanded to shew forth it doth desipher its figure the one is of the Godhead and is Independent in itselfe not more of that, now to the 3 this is the number of the trinity and is conformed in all things by vertue whereof the devine power of the sacred spirit is every where present, to the 4: it hath an epitaune on the 3 this Compass and the Creation where in all thing live & move & have there being both phisically and Metaphisically in the Elemen-ry sence of all things the figure of 5 is the number of mala of which they are all composed or made even from the pur elementated hylick and so unto Mortification, from whence proceedeth the end of tribulation and entrance into blessed happiness both temporall & eternall

3, 4, 5. math 12 and 12 dayes heareth the 8th day of the next month with you in which time just so many 150 147 Crowned Angells should of right be offered at the mister as the Consummate end or finall period of all your loward triall troubles and the first day of the next month with you shall be a day of humiliation from 6 of the Clock in the morning untill 3 after none and to refresh your selves with thanksgiving on the 10th day shall be a day wholly of thanksgiving for the 11th day is the Tropicall solstice and a Glorious entrance into a blessed a happy deliverance keepe your Constant motives to Michael & Uriel as at custom and Action when at lasure wedensday the 30th instant at usuall time

The blessing of the most high God in the unity of the most sacred trinity Comfort your soules in his peace & give you temporall rest in your spirits and All terrestial happiness in the helth of your Corporall Constitution and give you the mercyfull Enjoyment of all Comforts
Amen Hallalujah

There appeared A fiery Appearance over the ston there is the testimony in the top of the ston there is a bright star in the Center of this ston & from that star Ascende a Ray of Light up into the Solar body or testimony & of each side of the star is Uriel & Raphiel & beyound them is A Riall vaile with a fiery Chaurus on it which seemeth to be a great way off this is a portrait before the ston it is Lenanell & it smileth your proceedings, they will, they must comply, do not conceive nor Apprehend the vigor of your spirits to lessen or impare through faintnesse or seeming weakness of the body but take Courage unto you & implore the grace & mercy of the highest for successe I speake Sr as I may say unto you both and accordingly your indeavours & observances answerable to received instructions There is a time of silence at this mystery which beginneth the 2d day at 3 a clock in the afternoone & endeth on tuesday sun setting and then you may comeon here againe on wedeensday I would have you goe to the other mystery & make on Call to date for I trow Saffaliah to be present & your intentions but let it be 4 a Clock ~~fist~~ first at the inferiour mystery There appeared Saffaliah & it smiles Good Sr some present attempts of Proceedings here is a present Conflict fear not what Power can be against you

June 6th: 1688: ~~[illegible]~~ Sm

Harmadiah of the order of Archangells sapient of the midle Order, It seemeth Sr you have relapsed in not fulfilling what of Right you should have observed causing Consterna & Perplexity in present Actions the 2d day from hence is died Aperio ze or opening of Action & then mercifull [illegible] there of 4th day is a Day of thanks-given 5th day is the tropicall solstice whence Cardinall Actions Commenceth if you relaps of Injoyned dutie depriveth you not of promised mercy, I come not hither at this time as to action of the time as the last of a solemne but only as sent by superiour Power to informe you as to what the necessity of these present times for the advancement & benifit of future Actions requireth and then I trow not more extreames will trouble you untill you have full deliverance of all troubles I have stayed to Long I have delivered what I was commanded for honour & glory of your God, be cheerfull in spirit & be not dismaid although the evils of the earth thus nearly hath surrounded you for his providence can Lead you through a sea of trouble & deliver you from the bonds of sorrows & cares which we humbly beg & beseech of him for his owne sake who is gratious & mercifull the day from this time it is 4 Crowned Angells I heare your necessity Lett me advise you Sr I 2 of the former mentioned offertory might be first presented well Sr Be of good Cheare as I said before god will not forsake ye nor suffer thee to sink in dispaire therefore say be there full for you will have deliverance through the ineffable grace & mercy of your God if occasion requireth or opportunity serveth you may comeon here on the 2d day

June .11. 1688: ~~[illegible]~~

There is a spectre before in the stone it is Lovanaell thanked be god who in his great mercy hath preserved you to the begining of this day; and we pray to defend you in the same from all evils that you fall into noe sinn or happen into any danger but support you in Righteousnesse before him evermore Amen Hallelujah this is a Cardinall Quaderannall Day. so action is to morrow therefore withdraw & glorifie god & Cheerfull & glorifie your God who is will be mercifull to all his servants that trust in him

June 12: 1688

There appeared Madimiell before the ston & madimiell Berther & Calles and Samuill & Saffaliah came to it and And ~~&c~~ 3 more in the Noth Temple & Faleak & 4 more in the South Temple that is 3 4 & 5. & madimi said some thing to Samuell & Saffaliah & they went away & Michael & Uriel did obedience every way & went into the Viall vale & there came a great flash from the Cherub that is over the Viall vaile & it filled the ston with brightness, and two flashes come out of the ston & filled the 2 Temple of each side the ston of a lunar brightness & Madimiell is a speaking to the spirituns in the hollow Temple, and they did Curtesy to Madimiell & they were covered over with brightness, & Madimiell said
All honour & Glory be unto the highest & his Grace & mercy unto his servants on Earth Good brethren in Celestiall Love I now say unto you as in the Appearance of action this day doth ~~sound~~ evidently Ever for behould first the finger directing & Conducting & Celestiall Light Illuminating and ~~oping~~ opening the Eyes of tenebrosity to the visibly testimony of promised mercy, unto whom the first ~~act~~ of this offertory is omitted & by office disposed unto your Comforts & benifits of promised mercy thing not seen or Commune with your selves that your God hath forsaken you, no Sr as the stable Rock of your faith hath bin fixed on him & the servants of your hopes wholy in him he will yet Assuredly lift you you up from amidst your Captivities & break your bonds a sunder & Cast them from you, & free you from the violence of blustering stormes of infesting Aroyance & plant you safely in the blessed Port & state of Celestiall, beloved me Sr that we or some of us, as mediums of Celestiall friendship and as by office given are many & oftentimes more nere unto you then you Conceive or can know & therefore it is given nextly unto the first order of this action first. 3. as in order to terrestiall operations by Assistance nextly 4 as unto the ~~...~~ in proceeding 3ly 5 as to the end obtaining the fruition & benifits thereof the mistery whereof I heare declare by reson you so much Admired these numbers were shewed forth in the action of the late commanded ~~....~~ in the meditation whereof you may affirme untill the 20 or 21 days to this month by reason we heare of your Complaint but God will Provide for you & I show forth so much the Father unto you by reson the 24 day beginning your entrance into the light of mercy wherein you will make good progress untill the 15 day of the next month is 21 dayes though but 12 is mentioned unto you the other 9 on triple time are superior & commanding & the 12 passive & obaying I have shewed forth the mistery of this Action, this day seaven night or next Tusday

1688: June: 19th

There appeared in the ston Michaell & Uriel & before them is Taluah & before the ston is Madimiel there in the hollow people hoo like humaine spertus and there is two in Angelicall formes with them & great number of spertuums semingly to attend them And the Angelicall spertuum next me is Sanniell A that of the other side is Saffaliah but what that other are as yet we know not if the most high god looketh downe upon ye earth & visiteth his servants with many sharpe trialls let them not therefore Consider or fear much less conclude yt god hath forsaken them or deserted them in the midest of Adversity — least such blassfemy should greatly offend & obstruct mercy when Elisha dispaired & complained unto Elias, when he beheld the Enimies of Gods Chosen people were much more numerous then they whereby in humaine Imagination the lesser number must be overcome & distroyed by the greater whereat holy Elias lifted up his spirit unto heaven and prayed that God would be pleased to open the eies of Elisha see as he might see & behould the salvation of his god & when he had blessed him the Elisha looked up & behild themselves & their people Encompassed with legions of Angels, who then with great zeale glorified god & behild the distruction of his enimies what then is Impossible to the great god, who is it then that offereth to dispaire of his and be giltless of manifest offence therefore beware for deliverance cometh in a moment unto all his servants the Morodi, who may be under the trials of tribulation & opressed in spirit by triumphing malkate—hales a mere bubill a sone falling as rising you two shall convene here at 8 a Clock the 2d day in the morning come hether to this mistery & say the first part of your prayers here, and then goe to the other & pray to God that he would dignify us with sight to see those sublunar Ellementall Power & have the benifit of [illegible] in those operations keepe your duties to your god you love to his servants and obay the Comands injoyned you, and ye also shall behould the salvation of your God which we humbly beseech him for his owne Glory who only is to be worshipped in the unity of the blessed trenity Amen thursday June 21th 1688:

Passion A me how Greatly doe I sorrow to hear your moanes and see the breach of Comand likely to be especially in this so very Considerable interim of time as from the 18th day of this instant month untill the 25 of the same, now I yet further informe you I see you have performed an Orison on purpose for your ~~~~ operation, you shall repaire to the old Mistery in your vestments it is now such atime for the part of of those operations which commenced as I said the 18 instant and houldeth in ffree effect & so untill the 20th of the next month with you, you must carry your vestment home with you I say and also afferme unto you that such a hopefull time of deliverance answerable to your freeseeing operations is not of any mortall man to be contained and there was the numeration of time & order collected and the offertory thereof Commanded was afterwards Remissine unto the 2/3 pts thereof and now from your Allegation it is very likely quite to fall which I tell you Sirs may not be as the necessity thereof at this time required: my Mother saith from superiour powers that there may be Remission ptly of that also but that there must be last Number of the 3 & one of the 2 which is 5 & and one made the Number 6 and many Crowned Angels must of necessity be offered and of right as on this present day but you are favoured untill the 25 day by reason it was said that your god had not forsaken you for he sendeth mediums accordingly correspondent unto your assistance and therefore doe you enter this day at the other mistery in order to a formall proceedings in that your operation whose effects we humbly beseech our God & you God to blesse you with that happy success as may give you ease of your labours settle you in Peace and Rejoyce in your happyness Amen fear not for Heaven is your friend & the Earth is your ~~fr~~ servant at the Exterior Mistory

Smariel saith So, Srs now you looke like brethren of the Elementall orders, I god, but not to orders, only pass away untill you have moved this your operation not very Sr I see you to be elaborate paines & those orders fear & tremble before you when they behold the Zeales of your Creations by reason there is a Ray or beame shining forth on the presence of the Mediate power dignifying your soules & spirits being inherent therein as you are said to be the temple of your God you have don very well Sr though you did behold not the sight of a willing unwillingness yet there is manifest Assurance testimonially of an opening & extending thereof unto visible personall & Corporall formes I am Commanded Sr to Advise & tell you let your process herein be on the 22 day instant as it was on the 20th and on the 23 day as on the 22 and at night from 11 to 2 and on the 24th day in the morning from 4 to 7 and I beseech you both that offertory Commanded at the supream mistery as its now stated unto 6 Crowned angells only may be observed within the time fixed for I well observe the great Mistery thereof which is not neither can be knowne of you or any one verily Sr you will have great Labour but Comfort you selfe with hopes of mercy whereunto I humbly beseech the hiest to blesse you

June: 25: 1688: off ~~[illegible]~~ 1: 0: 0 the 4th day in the morning

June 29: 1688: friday ~~[illegible]~~ there appeared two in the ston Mathaell & Uriel & two in each sollid glass Temple & two before ~~in the~~ the ston & there ascended up a Curious flame out of the Center into the testimony, and Saffaliah & Samaliel were before the ~~[illegible]~~ and Galiah was in the sollid glass Temple next me & one more & ~~[illegible]~~ was in the other the success the London the prudent Mary all in Company but with a vexatious viage & a troublesome & Cross passage they have not im lately offered since the expired time of the former motion made herein of but further a account will be had in 17 or 18 dayes or I may show forth more in 8 dayes

I am comanded to keepe my action on sunday morn Repaire to the other mistery & make invocation out there is yet left a litle assumed power to withstand you which verily is but litle and finding Confident to Comply Causeth obstinacy & be so much the more let not that in any wise dismay you, no, no, persevere & persist for through Grace and mercy in the hiest, upon those your operations unto you. your happy sucess I trow is not to be feared. Tuesday next is day of action well, well, I trust Good sight is at hand wherewith I beseech the hiest to favor you

July 3d: 1688: ~~[struck out]~~ there appeared there in the ston Michaell Uriel & Faluah they are very pleasant and smiles on upon each other, and Madimiel is before the ston and looked on me & smiled even to a laughter and then turned to the ston and there is white sailes to the Roeyst of each side the ston & madimiel hath respect to them concerning the Ship there was some difference with the mariners & she went to persia about the 18 or 20 of this month you may here somwhat they are put to some streights but I am willed to advise you to persevere in your other operations, our offices at this mistery being at present without yet through grace & mercy in the hiest extendeth to your assistance otherwise then is here to be declared Repaire to the other place fitted for that purpose and proceed as before on the last day of action and then you have other two dayes alsso wherein to succeed to the whole earnestly desire and the 3d day I meet you here againe for you must be restored unto youre by an happy deliverance for the ~~malitious~~ bondage of your Malitious Enimies at the interiour mistery

I verely say Sr unto thee unto you that not mortall weight living on Earth can or doth invocate or move in spirituall operations so vigerusly & so powerfully both in spirit & utterance so naturally simbolising with this subject like as unto your selfe which not only speaketh but also approves it you to be naturally indowed & learned herein & yet it seemeth as you declare you apprehention reacheth not the sight & understanding of spirituall appearances by the outward signes only & swiftness in passing away It is true it is variously to be constructed of those who can not Judge of it as through great ~~doubt~~ doubts seated in the minde and opinion of Ignorance and unaquainted here with

July: 6: 1688:

the appeared Salwah in the ston & Madimiel out of it & before the ston and madimi called Samariel & he came into the follow Glass Roeyst in the North side of the ston & then called Samniel & it came into the South side of the ston Be ye blessed in the hiest & confirmed in his Grace & mercy Amen Halelujah
my mother visits you and hath brought her name with her the quantum whereof is also at hand but Sr To Mr R: it was showed forth unto you the Methods of dealing with externall appearances or signes only of true & personall appearance of which I trow as mine Allies informeth me you have many & various of sundry formes & not sone appearing but as switly passing away with great Celerity I informed you to gather up togethen the sense of your invocations from the Imperiall Power of the west unto the King of the North West mantion thereof unto unto the rest successively and to Charge comand & Constraigne them to open & extend and also to turne & Convert those Mistical signes in reale, true, personall & Corporall bodies in such forme & shape as you shall thereby mettly appoynt it is admirable that sight is yet wanting with you considering many of the like signes manie times showeth before you but then if we Consult the swiftness of their motion & the want of a Constant sight & swiftly also passing away may be some oversight, my mother is friendly unto you herein

To J R

Thou hast a good Gift in the Judiciall pt of this proceed-ing, and in Sooth, Orator sufficient enough

It is very well Srs though divine Grace with you in the action of this day it is now time to goe to the other operation after the same Methood as before

Monday here on tuesday morning

July: 10th: 1688: xxxiii

There appeared Madimi, & it seemed to call on some body & there came 2 more so there is 3 on the ston it seemeth Sr you press ernestly on in your operations wherein you are commendable those orders seemed putteth you unto the extremity well well Sr be of good couradge & persist on you have two happfull days now ensuing in those your intende=d operations there is some since gon before you ready to Comand according to success Assined Conveyance according to prescription, yea I say according to success by reason their stubbornesse unwillingly partake what they so dearly affect as hath bin said and so likewise are as unwillingly brought to Compliance notwithstanding your soe forceable Constraints but proceed, & supply your selfe with good refreshment to support your spirits for you live to sparingly which is the only reason that so depresseth in hotte when wested on any extreame goe the on thy Course & fear not the rest in thee & effect I could say more unto you but cannot dispense with time for I am recalled be of good Cheere I will meet you againe on the 3 day I will see if I can help for you, I have heard you Complaine some time since but now care shall Consulted for you, your troubles are surveyed & redress therein Considered be of good comfort wherewith the mercies of the hiest blesse & conforme you amen

July 13:1688:

there appeared Saffaliah and it smiled on us both and it spoake to Mr R you have moved Constrained and much disturbed those Airey Power in the Action of Invocation of the Ellemental Apparations, Sr I have heard you Resolved & in the name of hiest pursue them, there is neither of you forsaken I trow you will have success according to your hopes — appeare here on monday morning

July:16:1688

I seem not otherwise then what I am for I am moved with sorrow & also with pitty for your weakness and dispaire yet not withstanding, I must greet you in fraternall spirit & Celestiall love I touch not the Action of this day not being Comitted to my office & my sister Madimiel is of other power in Charge Comitted and Commanded by Superiour Order but mine other Allies mought hither to supply assistance touching your Operations & affaires now in a full Charge of Progression & Profitution move not: and two [illegible] stay a while and they went away & left a star in the place

& there appeared Saffaliah and Samariel your present Comand in Charge also with us is to proceed & persevere in the Actions of ye Ellementall operation in verity our brother Emanuel was much to heare your distress & were it the nature of Celestial Powers to be froward might have Retained much Anger thereby with you but thanked be the hiest

Celestiall Natures differeth: that terrestiall Passion dwelleth not with us therefore submit not your thoughts to misapplying what you may be only mistaken in 157 for want of better judgment or of a right understanding I declare unto you Sr, that those elemental Powers doe follow you much dorant, the Power of your Invocations are Dredal and much moveth them but their adverse obstinaty to the service of mankind as yet a little withouldeth there obedience to sight of appearance but yet let not that dismaie you to me Come on Sr I am willed to goe & continue with you and you are to proceed on in your operations as you can you have 3 dayes which in verity wee also hope with you will effect your labors & set you safe on shore, while the mercies of the highest blesse & conferme unto you & on the 4th day repare hither againe that is on friday Sr you are promised help for your Rupture

July 20:1688:

There appeared a [illegible] it is Saffaliah

I stood by you Sr on Weddensday I told you Sr your Invocations as you rehearse them are forceably & powerfully Constraining, which vigorusly moveth them & causeth them be so Rigorus and Rushing in in there appearance with turbulence & boystrus fury but they tender not harme, but only being disturbed as they are Constrained to appearance by reason they are naturally unwilling to be forceably moved thereunto but I comand & charge you to persevere & proceed

I will tell you Sir that you are dignified in the sacred Spirit of the highest as being inherent in you I prove it thus, the word of god every where Affirmeth, that his servant Moses and all the Prophets mentioned in the old Testament & the Apostles in the New, besides the Patriarchs in the ould time before them as peculiar vessels of God his honor and Glory were immediatly inspired by divine Inspiration from the sacred spirit of the highest in the unity of the blessed Trinity which you must grant and allow of, well then they preached the truth of God his word as they were inspired & comanded of which I shall give you on instance, Paull a servant of God and Administrator of the Gospell of the great Messiah Christ Jesus saith unto all the Mosodi, true & faithfull beleivers elect through divine grace unto mercy of which you also truly are expressly in this text, ye are the Temple of God now then from hence is drawne this instrument of undoubted veritie & undeniable truth that the spirit of God is not only inherent but alwaies present in his temple where his Glory dwelleth in the sanctu sanctorum of the imortall soules & spirits of his Elect & true Mosodi thereby Confirming them in the dignification of that Power which through faith Patience & Perseverance overcometh Conquereth & Comand-=eth all things I say unto you againe that you shall yet stand though I heard you talke of many and these many great Impossibillities which indeed is confessed to be greatly feared but my Charge is to informe you that you are to proceed in your operations for there is noe Action desendeth untill tuesday

July 24:1688: — [symbol]

There appeared Madimiel and it smiled on me and then came Saffaliah to it, and they discoursed together I know Sir you have orders to proceed in your Terrestiall operations, which although we come not here yet considering my Charge there with Attend you I will better Advise you then you have taken in your owne Apprehention you have now two ensuing dayes of notable observance and Great Action there the first where of is from 9 to eleaven to looke in the Afternoon from one to act to 4 and so on thursday if I can I must needs tell you Sir being willed so to doe that you are a little to remiss & short by 1/3 part of your weekly orisons & make invocation as Accustomarily if you hear any Noyse take noe notice of it for that is a signe of good unto you and now I tell you truly Sir I'le trust that the one of them will Answere to your expected Comfort this one of the 3 dayes wednesday thursday or Saterday make Action at home

July 27: 1688: — [symbol] — there appeared a fine spectrum & it said, stay a while and Saffaliah came & said So Sir ye were hastily driving on to your journeys end, but it seemeth you were way laid by some evill theives & robbers who Attempted to strip the of health for some time but I Chanced espying them being in reddiness thereof interposed by stepping in betweene the rigor of their furious surprisall but God be thanked that you are now here make entrance on your operation at 3 afternoone I will meet you there be Cheerefull Sr I assure you nothing wanting unto your assistance so more as by Nature order & office we can moue to tonye at terrestiall operations & if you can with conveniency make present hast to operation at your owne place that if possible that you may haue ended by 3d a Clock or to be then in it, you haue two hopefull days to morrow & monday

July 31 : 1688 : xxx

There appeared Madimiel & Saffaliah, they looke both towards us and smild very much upon us Madimi, said they a while and Saffaliah said God saue you Sr & be you greeted well in the Highest, by his servants I haue not much giuen me to reueale sinse by office I haue charge other wise of you, where by you are defended from all evills the which although non can be truly fenced that non can attaque or intreath upon you in your other operations to harme or hinder you yet you may be turbulently assaulted by suddaine violent rushings in upon you to surprise the animall spirits or senses with amasement but fear not you proceed well and accordingly persist on keepe to your orders as you know to me yearly Sr I am intrusted to declare your spirituall sight now at home, that are many apparitions to you in place but so singular & unknowne in those forme they as that you cannot be sensible thereof but they must transforme by ... as soone as the signe of it appeares here that is ; as soone as they stand answere to him, they open to me,

August 7 : 1688 : xxx and Madimiel said my Brother Saffaliah informeth me that he trusteth such an other ingagement in attiring sublunar operation with like appearance by constraint moued there unto more proue a mean of admission not a Mitigation only of other Charges in Comand by Reason it is not giuen by any Superiour power Celestiall but from there owne as residing in their Ellementall orders the which haue Power which they only assume by there affinity the Earth & delights in Terrestiall things but they must conveye notwithstan ding their seeming resistance & stubborne withstan nding which is naturall for them so to doe, but I pray you desist not nor be troubled thereat for that worke will be effected in a moment therefore let not your proceedings be slited nor slackened for they must yeald unto you I will tell you Sr an easy remedy to restore you to your helth & to preserue you therein notwithstanding what was deliuered before you shall take the rootes of Comfry & cleanse them & boyle them in spring water and preserue the liquor the which you may dulcefy with surrup of the same herb or with fine sugar then take the rootes & beat them up with fine sugar into an electuary like methridate or treacle drinke a wine glass full of the liquor first & last euery day and take the quantity of a small walnut of the electuary euery day first & last euery day and you may take the drinke ~~the~~ one in a day besides then Sr let me tell you bring the Vioil of your medicine for the head and I will Magnify it to make it usefull for you I have more in store that are exceeding effectuall on friday

I assure you Sr your supplications have prevailed and as it shall please the highest through his divine gifts and grace by appointment to his servants as mediums of mercy in charg Comanded will not suffer you to sinke so neere the shore as in great likelihood of a happy deliverance and restoration appear on friday for the rest

August 10th : 1688 :

There appeared Galuah in the stone in Great Glory and there appeared a spectacle so stay a while move not The appeared Saffaliah before the ston, so so Sr I perceive you know me not in my Earthly & Celestiall Attire but I know you both very well therein, tho I likewise appear in my Ellementall raiments as being many times Conversant by appointed office therein though Celestially dignified & ranked amongst the number of the blessed therefore is our appearance many times not according to what we are but according to the office of those actions & opperations whereof we are Administrators I have Sr made my ~~offi~~ earnist Acoste unto consulted my dearest mother a Celestiall Matron & Regent of divine grace through like permission into the Mosodi, of Celestiall

And Certaine heires of mercy into like Celestiall Grace ~~157~~ 160 though visited with many trialls & troubles in their Passage & Arivall to the blessed and effect of an happy deliverance and hoped Restoration I doe verily assure you Sr I perceive the end of your operation As far as I can reach those mediums of action And have therefore humbly besought my dearest Mother who only by office is competent Judg of all supernaturall & spirituall Events & of Adjusting the final period of all Actions & operations Controverted Parties & sought for in expectation of those benifits as thereby are to be obtained, And I doe assure you that my mother is your friend & hath as Motherly Advized me & lent me her Assist ~~ance~~ who looketh into and knoweth the end of those beginnings, & guideth you to conclusions and ~~Al~~ Also willeth you to persevere & perfist on with a full and undaunted Resolution neither fearing nor Doubting the mercies of the highest extending unto an happy issue of your hopes wherewith we beseeche his almighty Grace to blesse you on Tuesday morning

August 14 : 1688 :

The Appeared Macimiel with a Greene branch in its hand and waved it over its head, like Triumph, and it looked at us and was very pleasant and it stuck downe the Green branch & saith stay a while & went away Macimi, saith to them, ~~what~~ sow say you is it withered Answere, not verily it hath bin taken up Above 3 dayes it withereth not, Possibly it may revive & florish my Mother chargeth me to plant the same here I trust in 3 dayes more it may take roote & improve well the one sayeth it is a lovely branch, the other asketh what it is, it is of the tree of Faith & good hope it groweth plentifully in Celestiall, & seemeth strange you aske me what it is as if you knew it not

Ye now doe know it looking thereon againe, but slited it, as being hard; it is a branch of my Mothers office & placed here as a Mistery thereof who also will preserve its greate and Improvement to the Glory of the place where it standeth & the Comfort of those who shall eat the fruite of it by reason they are also members and Inhabitants admitted into this holy place stay a while move not; the madiniel appeared before the son say not Sr that you strive against the streame My Mother will then be angry for she also loveth the servants of her great Masters may happily take you up or give you entertainement and so perhaps receive you very kindly at the Cape of Good hope I am well Informed of you Sr you are also Charged still to persevere & proceed on in that your elaborat operation the benifits whereof will Certainly recompence your great labores therein as it shall please the highest to support & strenghen you nay Sr fear not for nothing shall overcome nor assalt you for I find you are dismaied but indeed the greatness of your spirit being fixed on a stable resolution though little supported in the strength of you hopes will bare & carry you through all those operations to the end and injoyment of those benifits of for ever will be a Comfort unto you wherein the Most high God in his paternall grace and mercy blesse & prosper you with happy successe

August: 17 : 1688:

It is true the Earth appeareth variously in her Customary & severall seasons but the Glory of Celestiall where the Divine power & Grace of the highest alwaies continueth in Glory as the verdure of the pleasant spring and florisheth as the beauty of the summer & Cherisheth as the plentifull sweetnesse of the harvest of frutefull vintages for Nourrishment even so doth the great mercies of the highest extent to the Comfort of his darling Merodi who yet in the severe depth of sorrowfull winter yet florrisheth as well in the Antartick as the Artick sun mounting his Declinations to the replenishing of terrestriall Greate, Beholde then the Glorious Image of that sunshine issuing from the light of Celestiall Grace giving yet more splendor to despairing hopes beaten by the stormy pressures of Contrary formes even as boysterous weather beateth the Goodly Graine & grass with the Earth, but then as the Comfortable rayes of sour Influence shall breake forth & give a Comfortable heate thereunto the Passive blades ariseth & standeth upright fit for the sithe & sickle of the Painfull husbandman to the Joy & happiness of the farmer whose Care is then freed by the Happy deliverance of his dispairing hopes from the fear of a future dearth and scarcity and by that means reduced to great want & penury by the totall losse of his former Labors, it is evident then that if the mercy of the highest shall appear even in the most desperate & unexpected season when yet in humaine Imagination when noe hopes of succer can be in thought discerned then, then, even then, doth the Glory of Celestiall Grace appear as a Rising sun in the sedmenss of the pleasant spring and thereby raise up the spirits and languishing Condition of his true & faithfull servants even to Admiration & by such mediums as by Celestiall Grace Exempto Assisting as by the preordinate decrees of the highest hath from the begin ing of time bin Constituted & appoynted & accordingly by office & place given thereunto & given unto man the knowledg use & benifit thereof observe you then Srs to persevere & persist on in those your inferiour operations which is all given me to say or show forth my most endeared Ally Madimiel meteth you even the 4th day & so god blesse your labours & happy successe my message is of truth & willbe found to be so for I am of him that liveth for ever

August 21th: 1688: ~~[illegible]~~ [illegible] there appeared A Curious tree with Blossomes on it some some white like sylver some yallow like Gould and some Red as a Rubey, The spirit in the stone is Galsrah & it turned to the East & it said so let thy mercies of God florish as ye most beautifull Celestirian Verdures of the pleasant and Glorious spring that the blessed frutes of true faith may also bring forth increase & blessed issue to the effect & fulfilled hopes, and Comfortable Plenitudes of all terrestiall felicitie wherein let thy servants rejoyce & therewith be ever blessed to thyne owne Glory and the benifit of thy servants who hath long time wintered a sorrowfull pilgrimage &c Amen stay awhile move not then there came Madimiel well Srs I am verily as good as my word I have brought you one thing, but verily the proof of it was not in the same place or I had brought the same and Also I

I was commanded in Charge of two Allies in the hierarchy of Potestates, commanded to the Assistance of my Brethren who also hath taken names in present office only 162
I had collected the knowledg of this glasse unto you but I will tell you, take about ½ a spoonefull or as much as will doe the buisnesse and annoynt the Crowne of the head and Rub it in & the temples & chafe it in and the mould of the head & dip your finger into it & put a little up the Nostrills or put a drop or two into your hand and Rub the other upon it & hould it to the Nostrill & snuff up the sent of it move not from place & it calleth two there came two in worlike habbit, there names are Potestia, the other is fortitia those names are according to the Charge and Madimiel called againe And there appeared Saffaliah & Samariel and they Embrace and Kiss one an other and they are in discourse with one ant other so dearly Beloved and blessed in the highest repaire to Charge by office Comand you and unto place as the occasion requireth let not terrestiall obstinacy thus withstand the Power above them &c and they went away & Madimiel said we trust in the highest Srs that an Happy Catastrophe, attends this present revolution commencing on the 25 day instant, so that the 25, 26 & 27th are all 3 dayes of Joy unto you, and we have 3 dayes therefore it is possible there may be some Conflict or turbulent Appearances in Action of your terrestiall actions the two next insuing dayes but on the 3d day my mother appeareth here with the rest and Qualifieth all thing fit for the Deliverance & restoration in verity Srs the offertory of this day & the 3 day insuing should of right be one immortall angell each day for my mother cometh in Glory & unto your hopefull

Comforts, I pray you S^r. let your thoughts and Mind as well as your spirits be exalted & Carried over terrestiall dispaire & fear to the pleasure of Celesirah where my dear blessed Mother now resideth for the estimative time of tenn dayes that your hopes & Comforts may likewise with your Animall spirits & Corporall senses may be also exalted & blessed with all temporall happiness which the most high God of abundant mercies transmits & give unto you for his owne sake that is gratio =us and mercifull Amen Halalujah ~~August~~ August: 24: 1688: ~~[illegible]~~

The Appeared Galvah and Midimi, with many more come on S^r. be cheerfull and let your Animall spirits be raysed up and elevated above thought of dispaire, your God hath not forsaken you neither will he suffer his ser vants to fall into desperate Extremes and Especially the members of Celesiriah as you have of dayes of Jubile now entring, perfume the roome of Frankincense & Rosemary before you forgit not to implore the high in the morning to to blesse you the first thing and Call on Uriell one Sunday morne & perfume the roome.

You are not left alone now shall be for the Celestiall love & friendship dwelleth with you and you are blessed in your hopes through faith with the pleasant & delightfull fruites of Celesirian Plenty & future felicity wherein I also am present as the end I hope in the highest and at his pleasure of your happyness Cease with our no ~~[illegible]~~

~~August 28: 1688:~~ ~~[illegible]~~ 163 ~~[illegible]~~

There appeared A lovely Bower made of a tree full of leaves and fruits and An Imperiall Majesty setting therein in a Great light, and many small spectrum at play ~~under~~ it

And Madimi appeared in a silver Cloud before the stone you have done very well S^r in observing & fulfilling the commands in Charge injoyned you the 3 last by passed dayes the which indeed is not ~~as~~ only Considerable unto you but also commendable as to the performance of that duty which though Commanded you by us as the servants of the same God with you though different only in Immortallity & Celestiall mediums of ~~divine light~~ of whose will & plea= sure we are only Administrators for my mother saith well unto you when she declared her selfe the end of our of our happinesse, the office of my Mother is the finisher the will of the most high Donator & distributing the gifts that goe forth unto us her indeared Children as we are administrators & so accordingly to be administered, it is not therefore that any may dare to say that the superior Powers of Celestiall Angells or any others, that we should be supposed to pry into the secret will & unsearchable wisdom of the Great & most high donor of grace & mercy in the dispensation of his Paternall bounty & extended benefits unto his servants therefore the office of my Mother is not to put a period but to fulfill the Charge thereof not obst rutting but freely communicating the benefits by grace issuing forth descending & emitted unto her therefore say not she is the end of any happinesse to the servants of God, for as she is a beame of that wisdom which is the end of mans excellency so she is a Ray or light also of the Grace which giveth the Comforts of mans felicity in verity S^r you disturbed me with dispaire the which notwithstanding we know the secret will of the highest in his unsearchable dispensations, yet we may give the hopes of that Comfort unto his servants as by the light of his grace shineth forth & emitteth into our ~~we~~ understanding so that it is truly said, man is like to Angells in understanding and Angells like to God in Immortall-ity. Sr you have your Commands which observe in the perseverance and perseverance in yr operations, and Murmur not but persist therein with like vigor & Corrage as will obtaine the victory & support thy animall spirits as you may that your Corporall senses also may thereby be rendred able to withstand any suddaine superficiall rushing hastely or fiercely upon you which though nothing can harme you by reason of that Power that supports you, yet suddaine or turbulent Assaults may Chancely daunte or dismay you

August: 31: 1688

there appeared Galvah in the ston in Great Glory & very pleasant and looked wishfully on me and there appeared two before the ston like young men or youthes about 9 or 10 yeares of age, and are in Converse with Galvah their names are Potestia & ffortisia move not from hence stay a while and there appeared Madimiell in a pleasant forme, this is not of me to have bin here at this time but my Mother being detained by superior power, willed me to supply what action was given to this day (and it smiled) and verily I as yet know it not but I will goe a little aside into the ~~West~~ North East and beholde the prospect of the west stay a while move not & Madimi came againe & said verily Sr impudent obstinate Rebellious mediat Powers though Superior it being the Nature of terrestiall Evills to withstand Celestiall goodness but what then it availeth not a whit for heaven smileth at such folly this indeed raiseth disturbance and Causeth great Conflict producing much trouble in those inferiour operations of terrestiall Consernments thereby shewing forth much difficulty & despaire in your proceedings and perseverance to the depression of your hope by unsettled Imagination converting the Animall thoughts into many various & dispairing Conjectures the humaine state of man being over borne thereby whose fraylety betweene hope & feare may stagger but not stumble if he looketh upwards, but verely I commend thee Sr and may Call the Champion of Magicall Resolution in this thy, persistance without intermission, or selfe persuation, by thought of Ceasing or desisting here from by reason of your incessant & ellaborate progression, but desist not, & persevere

Sept 4th: 1688:

Madimi why truly Sr if heaven loveth not you bothe it were not for mee or any other Celestiall medium of mercy to be seen of you thus frequently familiar or conversant as here with you and though we touch not the Earth nor the more Gross & Inferiour Powers thereof as to the Ellementary and subterranean Parts inhabited by Relaps Powers but you are assisted in dealing with those Spirituall Consernments very Sr I say unto you that here at this day in the dominion & place I you inhabit hath the like Mastery with you, in the sence & Power, of Invocation nor Endowed with a more commendable Resolution of Patience & Perseverance ~~being~~ having triumphant and Powerfull constraining vertues wherein persist ad usque finem in truth it Rejoyceth me that I know well of you and to finde you so true & lively in your faith & so firmely strong in your hopes and so warlike against dispaire that I verily Assure you that it will purchase great mercy unto you & contract the Inestimable benifits of Peace and happiness after so many trialls of malicious warfares by Infernall trubles & vexations so often assailing & surprising you with desperate fears & Jealosies but yet be comforted & keepe Close unto your God in Prayer and all Dutifull obedience and he will surely blesse you and Crowne your actions with eternal Joy both here and hereafter in light and Presence of his owne Glory which we also humbly beseek though the only merrets & Intercession of your Redeem =er it I would have you S^rs to keep this place perfum'd with good odors & more especially with male Incense Myrh & Rosmary and keep by you some benzoin and other two more excellent perfumes

Sept 7th 1688 [illegible]

There appeared many things but all ended in a red Cross

Sept:11:1688:

There appeared Galwak & 2 more & Galwak seemed passionately earnest with them two, and then 2 went away & Galwak looked on us and smiled & said more not. and Galwak is gon out of sight and there is a Green vaile enterwov en with Goulds and there appeared a spectrum in the vaile dawning, it is Madimiel & it looked pleasantly on us & it looked seriously on me & then seriously on him, and it said, how doe you S^rs I speake thus unto you only as it an Accustomary Greeting amongst you, which I need not offer since I well know how you doe & alse how it is with you but the storehouse of divine grace & Celestial Love, where mercy is intended still 165 Remaineth undeminished, doe you thinke S^r that you have withstood a great Assault by violent Rushing in upon you which verily might have surprised your Animall Spirit And bodily senses with a suddaine Astonishment by its fury had not superior power over Ruled but thanked be the highest for his unspeakable mercies to all his serva =nts; holah fear not nothing can Assale or harme you the poore vassells fear and tremble before you which is the Reason of that obstinacy and unwillingness to a speedy Complianc, but Cease not, persevere & persist on, and be not dismaied, at any Assault or furious offer thereunto as may Chanceby seeme before you &c

these were the true Ingredience of what you had before imbibed in spirit of wine; then which nothing scarcely exceedeth in the vegitable Kingdom both internall & externall or on or both waies Administred at pleasure or Discretion for the Increase support & preservation of head, braine, memory and many other benifits for the health & strength of all the sensitive faculties you must convene here on fridays to pray & doe your duties to the highest that you may obtaine his mercies Cease I must withdraw I could not more

Take the Tops & flowers of Rosmary & also of sage Tops of Marjorome, flowers of Lavender Lily of the valley the herb Lunary or moonwort, Peony roots seed or flower bittony nutmegs cloves, Amber

October 12: 1688: present only hoo.

There appeared Da, Za, Vaa, and Za said it is high time for us to move hether you might have bin foyled under a Mistake in the appearance & action of this Day yet I well know that your Discreshion & Great Judment here in would have done very well both in the sense, & Judition notwithstanding thereof having knowlidg enough in this science and I assure you though Contrary Appearance of the more Inferior Powers or Tenebrass parts of Aire appeared here seeking to deceive you by their Insinuating Entrance occasioned by Reason of your Inconstant & vigorus motions in your other actions and operations & yet although they entred to attempt a crafty Adventure to try your skill as not expecting such a sight here they are not of so evill an Nature as to have as to attend any evill towards you — — — — you are safe from evills you understand here is a troublesome world whereon you sojurne nothing florishing mongst men but the tidings & Rumors of wars & under & also occasioned Choifely by the deceit & Crafty delutions & many subtill inventions of contrary Powers to the Practise of Government establisshed by your Nationall Lawes to Create things that are not whereby to bring good people into Antichristian bondage but God be thanked your temptations Layes not there yours are only Domestick in your Actions & operations which are conquered without Armies or bloodshed we engage Closer and with sharper weapons yet more severe and Powerfull in Conquest so now I see we may Returne there is noe Evills about us October: 16: 1688: ~~present~~ only those

There appeared in the ston a Cristilling Piller Over the ston is a fiery Cherrub, incompassed about with a Seale of Severall leaues, of a Glorious Greene and in the ston is 4 spectrus and before the ston is one spectrum And there is a perfect ☉ worthy Christaline piller & that ☉ is worshiped also and there is a Glorious spectrum in it that seemes to haue a coronet about the head of it and the 4 Archangles stand about the Piller & between every one of those 4 stands a beautifull tree having severall sorts of leaues and ~~fruit~~ severall sorts of fruits on them as Cheries of some of all sorts of Collers, and there are 3 before the ston Ea, za, waa, all the spectrus in the ston doe smile on us & the Glorious presence in the Collome doth smile on me

And in the sollid glasse Temples is railes like silver interwouen with many Coullers & there is a light in them in that west me is Madimi and Lotostia, & in the other is Louanael & Ffortesiah and they doe moue them in the hollow Temples as we suppose Amenadiel in the North Temple and Uriel in the South hollow Temple with many more & madimi & Louanael said to the other two see to your Charge & Secure all & they went away and now Madi-mi, and Louanaell looks toward the ston

And za said Behould Sr here is sticed forth in the appearance of this day, the Monument of a Glorious Conquest over all your Troubles & vexatious Cares thus Pinching you with sharpe Afflictions, but the obsequious Monument of that Glory showing forth ye state of a Triumphant Enimy it is true seemes Great and Memorable but it must perrish & fall & so become as dust as of no regard when troden under foot but the fame of Celestiall Power united to Angellicall Glory Continueth & florisheth untill the end of time and shall know of noe decay, I doe verily assure you (to me) that heauen loueth you and therefore not to be feared but that diuine Grace & mercy will descend by answerable mediums into your absolute & happy deliverance from the bondage of terrestiall Trubles verily Sr you are greatly to be commended for your unwea--ried labours in the Prosecution of your Actions & operations ~~and~~ pursue them yet a while that you also may receiue power by Diuine Assistance obtaine the happinesse of a triumphant Conquest & so inioy the happinesse of a lasting peace & tranquillity amidst the terrestiall stormes of the greatest difficulties for thou hast but one evill ~~that~~ threatned thee against which earnest beseek the highest to defend & deliuer thee and so shalt thou be for ever in peace

I am commanded to tell you Srs that in the perfomance of this days action notwithstanding the greatnesse of your disabillities that either on the 3d day or one the 7 day there must be two Crowned angells offered at this mistery that Power may descend into your assistance & glory in your Actions attended with

The effects of grace & mercy from above

October 19: 1688: present onlye two there appeared a Cherrub in closed in a Wreath round about it of Lawrell and other things mixt with it

There is a dillicate fine spirit appeared before the ston with a Garland about its head I am a servant of the highest in the order of Principallities at the instant Charge & on the behalfe of myne endeared Allies make you visitt and am exceeding well pleased to find you ~~heare~~ here; but verrily I have nothing given me to reveale or show forth then to comfort you hereby in the mercies mercies of the great God who is paternally gratious to his servants amongst whom I am Assured you are not omitted & therefore consequently blessed

I am willed to tell you must not omit you Action to trial the first day of the weeke

October 23:1688: present ~~onlye~~ ...

There appeared over the ston A fiery Cherrub with an Imperia=ll Crowne on its head, and just under its feet is a Glorious star. in the ston is a Glorious Pillar with a body like the sune out it & there be 4 & they are the 4 Archangells & they have a Glorious tree Growing between each of them and they have brestplates on and a star in the Center of it and there is a star over each of the sollid Corners of each side the ston in the North Corner is a Tomb with with figure one covered over with snakes & vipers crawling upon it in the other Corners like 4 or 5 that looke spitefully like a trubled Malitious Countenance the next band to them there Cloaks of Cloaks of a browne collour there is snakes and vipers Crawling under them and there came on spirits to the North Corner and kicked the tomb all to peeces & threw it away and to the Corner of the South side came another and laid hould of the spirits & tore them a peeces and threw them away & looked joyfull=y as if they had got some great victory

And there appeared Madanel before the ston in great Glory and Madini looke full on me & smiles & saith I have heard you Sr pray unto the highest for the restoration of your healthe as for your deliverance from the sharpe severities of terrestiall trubles & vexations in order whereunto I have yesterday sent a paper by your friend and myne Allies the servant of God Lenanael who hath only as yet made a numerall Collection thereof which may not peradventure be so readily ingrafted into your understandings or untill it be further & more planely illustrated with a full & true discovery of its use & vertues which are extraordinary in the the 2d degree of Comparison the which shall be faith=fully delivered & comunicated unto you it Certainly & effectually wrights generally the most distempers difficult of mans body, for it is a mighty Antidote expelling the greatest poysons & poysonus distempers, clearing the whole mas of blood restoring the vigor to Admiration preserving the helth even to the greater yeares of time by this medicon which is not only riall but it is Imperially riall for there is but one exceedeth it by this famous remedy you may not only preserve & keepe your owne selfes in helth but your friends also and likewise make benifit & great Profit thereof and when once made will keepe radicall good many yeares keeping the same in a temperate state this will make you as vigorous in helth as youthfull you shall have had it the next Convention here

The Action of this day Sr blesseth you with the undoubted hopes first in the recovery of your helth & nextly the restorati on of your temporall felicity from the Chaines of Infernall bondage & affliction & a delivery from the Complaints of your great wants to the injoyment of true peace & rest

October 26: 1688: present ~ only two

There appeared a fine spectrum before the ston it hath a fine Crowne on its head & looks on me and smiles & it saith verily Sr what is promised shall be truly performed unto you & you shall injoy your helth as well as ever with the assistance of happiness therein therefore be not dismai for you have good frinds who will not admit of your longer sufferings of weakness in Constitution & hope of discontents also, and trouble of mind therefore I find you have taken what you were advised, the fore pills I pray you Sr keepe to your Sundays action the next day of action will be great & Glorious Octo 30 the third day present only two

November 2d 1688: present 5

There appeared A royall vaile in the ston a little spectru appeared before the ston & said smiling on me here is a paper Sr left for your Instructions informing you wh to help your selfe & others for restoring of lost helth & renewing the Elementall vigor of nature to its former strength & heat, I doe assure 188 you Sr it hath bin a hard taske for my deare Alloy 189 to number & Compose together though it may seeme very Esy unto you, you may take the same & make vewe thereof and to transcribe the same and keepe it for your use but you must be sure to bring back & returne the same at this place by reason it must be revised fearing least my over sight or mistake fouls probably pass the number of some letter

November: 6: 1688: present [illegible] dies memorabilis

There appeared Arimay with a helmet on his head and a sword in his hand in the ston is Samael in his right hand is a flaming sword it is all in Armor in his Left hand is a buckler & Raphael is on one side of it and Gabriel on the other side of it Gabriel hath a rod in it right hand and a Coat of male on with scollops of gould & silver it hath A Crowne on & so hath raphiel most incomparable for for beauty and a septer in its hand with a bird on it in the North receipt is Galwah & In the South receipt is Uriel & Madimiel is before the ston in the hollow receipts is Potestiass fortesiah Galwah and Uriel doth looke on me now & then And Samael saith God to show forth & make report here of as in the will pleasure of Superiour Dispensation And Madimi turned this way & said move not and Madimi is very earnest with them in the two hollow receipts,
And Madimi doth smile on me said behould thus saith Superiour Power must the Celest Morodi in Celestiall Choyse & Charge be still kept in bondage under the heavy presshures of usurping infernall envy ill willing them obstinately contemning and setting them lightly by that Power that comandeth the whole Creation & maketh all the hosts of spirituall Powers both ellementall and infernall from ye superiour to the inferiour to fear tremble and fall downe before him cast them forth & drive them into the lake of eternall forgitfullness Judge & bind them, in the Chaine of Perpetuall subjection never more to rise up before his face nor to usurpe rebellious Contempt against the glory of his name wherewith his servants glorifieth him & whereby they receive Celestiall Power to Comand what soever he hath preordinatly appoynted unto the service of his will & pleasure and by divine dispensation dignifying & impowring his elect melodi by his inherent spirit of grace invested in them with sufficient Power & Comand in his name to bring all sublunar spirituall Powers unto a due service homidg and obedience whereunto by nature & office they are placed & appoynted by reason the most high God in his just & righteous disposing Power suffereth the Evills of this world to perfect his very Elect and to be thereby assalted & afflicted with many sharpe trialls & desperate relapses with see great severity that many times, the most Constant and faithfull of his servants nerely falleth into dispare so that when his servants are even rendred unsapable either of helping them selves or of assisting on an other then are of those sublunar spirituall Powers by nature & office accordingly placed and appoynted unto the service & assistance of God his servants with such of nature benifits as was created for their use & Comforts & with such advice as may Conduct his better knowledg in the true judgment of all whereby you may now understand that you are now in a good & faire method of dealing with such therefore allthough you may suffer a little hardship in your Corporal Constitution to the detriment of your health yet feare not here but proceed as you may with a resonable reservation to the safety of your helth for we are not only informed by our allies Charged unto your assistance herein, but we see the rebellious obstinacy and resistance standing in Contempt against the Glory & Power of the great God and his holy name &c but beleive me Sr it neither doth nor shall stand them in steed & make your proceeding with Couradg & Prowess which surely against you the Conquest & Considerable victory for the which you pray for when shall we find this promised Comfort verily Sr I have said unto you that I treat not the Earth so merely as these inferiour subjects there are other offices thereunto appoynted as before was said I understand you direct your proceedings in these terrestiall operations unto the west Angle of the sublunar element of the Aire with affinity & reference as also hath to the like part or Angle of the Earth where resideth the Imperial spirit Amenadiel, & in the north west division there of whereallso resideth Asiel a spirituall King with other spiritual Presidents with many other servient and subservient spirits, I am comanded to tell you then that there should be offered at that mistery in the name of Potestia, unto Amenadiel one Crowned Angell & unto unto which one more & 1/3 pt of a Crowned Angell unto the diurnall superiors & 1/3 pt more unto the Nocturnall superiours whereby the Power of Constraint may take place & prevaill for behould that a greater power shall stand in place to the assistance of your assistance

November 9th 1688 present [illegible]—

There appeared Samariel and it smiled & looked wishfully on me, and said to bobe the hand in these & such preparation as is in the mistery of the Apotecarys things are diversly & differently prepared some times they are dried in the heat of the sun, dried enough enough to pulverize the best way is to drown them in ~~[illegible]~~ strong vinigar let the be in it a day & night if the vinigar be foule cast it away & put on more till it will stand the like time & not be foule then put it into an earthen pot with a Couer to it & let it in with a batch of bread all the time & it they be not enough calcined so as to be beat to powder then let the stand in the oven an other time the bones ought to be taken out of the vipers but if they be not it is not hurtfull ~~[illegible]~~ one word of the Apotecarys art will tell you use houendupois weight both ℥ & ℔

November 13: 1688 present [illegible]

There appeared a white vision over ye ston like as if it was stuck with stars it hath like as a dart in his hand there is like as two spectrums in the ston & they appeare plainer & plainer they be Tusaniah & Samariel and there be two in the glass sollid Receptis of each side the ston one & Tusaniah hath Conference with that spectrum on the North & Samariell with that spectrum on the South side & Tusaniah said Neither Madimiel nor Samael or others of the orders of Potestates serving before Uromas mouth in Appearance or Action this day or else weare by Reason they are otherwise disposed and dispensed in Charge at superiour Comands, for behould divine Justice is gon forth to visit ye Earth whose Abominations have sorely vexed the spirit of Eternall Providence, who desireth nothing more then its preservation whereby for the honour & glory of himselfe where he is only delighted, if the whole Cronol=igy of holy writt be duly examined and Considered ~~[illegible]~~ nothing appeares therein more lothsome and hatefull in the sight and presence of the highest then the Rebellio=us backslidings of his owne people from the Comands of his Law as for a meet Comparison whereof unto the present Age of this sublunar world is a fit & evident parrellel when Superiours Rebell Inferiours goe astray but this matter now standeth in plea whether gilty or not before the high Judg of all truth and ~~[illegible]~~ Righteousn-ess, but my mouth is stopped I say noe more you may assume to Judg the Rest even by what hath formarly bin showed forth & shortly you will heare newes but looke you the peace of your god now Sr to your owne affaires what have you to say but I thin--ke I had best to note that unto you my selfe by Reason I heard your discourse him whom you call by the Name of Millet is a pevish Ignorant person in any thing besides his owne profession & truly not very wise in that neither the white truly being wouen with some terrestiall disturbances much prouoketh to Passion but let him rest slumbering in his owne opinion untill the 7th day he will be reduced to a better and more Considerate Result, kepe the mony you receiue, it is neare the further of

Nouember 16::1688: present Only two

There appeared Amariah in the stone and said verily Sr Appearance in the action of this day is the Right of Celestiah, sauing only it is otherwise disposed in Charge for you by Superiour Comand, who as yet standeth in great Conflict with some obstinat & stubborn Powers of Inferiour Parts of the Element of Aire, & also both by nature & office Terrestiall of which you Cannot be sensible nor indeed be made Apprehensiue by reason its spirituall & the Celestiall seruant of Grace Celestiah wrestleth hard in Contending with most refractory spirits much aduerse to the Comfort of God his seruants on Earth which indeed Powerfully opposeth it by reason it standeth single, when of Right it should haue Acquired the Assistance of its Ally fortisiah, you may not enter the other Rome till after 6 a Clock at night but I tell you Srs thus I am giuen to understand & also to shew forth, that if the like offertory as before was administred there shall be dedicated in the name of fortesiah then I trow will a considerable Conquest be obtained as may Answere your desires the 3 or 4th day in the name of the highest be ye comforted will not suffer his seruants to fall before his Enimies nor giue his Glory to Infernall blasfemers yo Sr I heard you what you said & in sooth although it may be requisite & well for you to goe & speake with him yet it will be ill for him to see & trouble your spirits indeed he is a good & friendly person, and may after a few words be pacified and declaring your earnest Indeauors to fulfill his desires and demands whereof you may giue better Attempt after some little time then at this present the next time we unseen here we may know the time you shall be informed next time about all it is gon with a prayre for us and smiled

Nouember 20th 1688

There appeared Galuch & it said I trow you know me Sr I am finis & show my selfe present to the purposed end of desire and the begining of blessed hopes and for 40 howers expire with you a Glorious entrance of those hopes will be assured, and become Answerable comforts I must goe but moue not you from place; there appeared Madimiel come on Srs we must be briefe for I haue other Charge under Comand, to me smiling it looked & so and Called somewhat & Celestiah came to it and it said Grace be to you my mother informeth me that some Cause is wanting to these our friends as the Words in Celestiall friendshipp & there is but on Answere to be giuen to what soeuer may interrogated, that is a supply of things temporall & terrestiall assistance as superiour Power hath appoynted by Nature for the use & benifite of his seruants man kind Liuing on Earth &c which you know it is not of my Charge any otherwise then to Assist you with Power if withstood by wilfull Resistance or Rebellious obstenacy as are in the Nature of those e Sheth inferiour Powers as are delited in ye treasures e pleasures of the Earth: this being of your Charge I marvell at delayes it is true I touch not these things though I well know the many foules Conflicts e other difficulties in those inferiour e tenebras operations in sooth It is also as well knowne unto you e all superiour Power the assumed usurpation of a permitted libertie given to Inferiour spirits of the more tenebrous and lower parts of the Aire e so nerly related to the Earth which they more frequent and visit both externally e Internally Superficiall so as that they are not called Divills or Shutz as dwell in the darkest e deepest parts of the Earth e seldome or never appearing in the light or brightness of the serrene Aire in sooth my dearest Ally I tell you I have had a great Conflict alate with those inferiour Powers by reason of those many motions made by these our friends made unto them or some of them, strongly moving them to appearance in order to there supply et this I have also accordingly urged Constraint by a late Dedication made in order thereunto either by force or Compliance but you see I stand single e have great opposing Power unwilling to yeald Compliance for which reason the Company e assistance of my Bother ~~[illegible]~~ fortesiah is herewith also fitly to be required and in sooth I desire you to move it hereunto . and fortesiah came at Madimiels Beckning for it .

Madimiel said to fortesiah I have moved you hither to take part with your Brother in the Charge by office committed unto you —— I am in Charge of myne other elsewere —— yea I well know that we will other wise dispence therewith well enough you must continue in place from the 12 hower of this present day untill the 3d day be expired at night, and I comand you Sir be deligent in your motions and action

Come on then, goe to, now it Sorts them e the blessings of the highest enter into you and his Power be present with you in Action so they both went away my mother said unto you that 40 hower Attempted with you should be esteemed as pretious the mistory is in it selfe I give you Charge Sir to be present in action at your other operations this present Night at usuall time and also not to faile therein one in the day the two next insuing dayes and tomorrow here againe as accustomary the 3d day weel have you to say either the 3d day or 7th day

November 23, 1688. present Ally two

There appeared a spectrum with a Crowne on e a staffe in its hand or cushion e a [illegible] upon it e a dillicate vestment of many Collours interwoven it is very pleasant e smiling my name is Ahasazi e of the order of Principall =ities and sent to give you visit at your Earnest intreaty in the appoynted action of this day, I know Sir the servant of god Galvah whose words I heard you say you under= stood not, when it shewed forth the saying of 40 howers I will tell you Sir the mystery you made 2d offertory at the Inferiour Mistory of Sublunar operations which united An Assisting Power to the first by reason those inferiour spirits having bin so powerfully moved by Constraining Invocations & also by reason of their obstina-cy unto good offices as ought to be of them observ'd & effected are become vexed and furiously violent filling the Aire with turbulent stormes because they are limmited & restrained in Power from entring & furiously rushing in upon you under which conflict which continued 40 howres they have stirred up a troublesome Aire seeking thereby to revenge their willfull obstinacy for this Conquest which they could not withstand by reason the restraint was superiour wee reckon that those 40 howers expired at 4 a clock on thursday morning but there shalbe noe Amends for it

November 27th: 1688: present only hee there appeareth Madimiel & it sayes it is in a vestment as if it was guilt & hath a fiery sword in its hand and a Crownett on his head it laughs on us & turns to the East, there is an Appearance of one in the sollid people of that side the [illegible], in the hollow people are like wormes with great heads but they stand upright they are darkish like moonshine and there came a light & darted downe upon them & they are plainer & Madimiel is a speaking to them, those things in the hollow people tremble And Madimiel tooke hould of the top of its sword & cast a light in to both the people & it became a sword and [illegible] tooke one & [illegible] tooke the other and went away and all the show disappeared

I finde Sir you zealously pursue your Charge & also here by give you Charge to observe the Instructions therewith as you know & well understand let not adverse obstinacy perswade you in to a fear of resistance neither let noe sutter dispaire to possess your thoughts your operations will succeed to your Comforts the time or times whereof I know not because I could not the reasons I shew forth amon but I will tell you Sr some times & hope thereof which I likewise will you dilligently to observe December 17 January 8 & 15 & February 15 March 15 and 29 Aprill 10 & day of & another & day of great happiness as I will show forth hereafter & 17 so that now it appeares that from this present time of Action & the 17 of Aprill so called with you will your desired deliverance happily succeed I know Sirs you heare by this time of great troubles & Callamities like to insue there on and much effusion of Blood thereby which are the prodigious Callamities attending the succession of Antichristian Monarchies & Soveraine powers those times Sirs hath bin shewed forth unto you heretofore and yet amidst all the most prodigious menaces the highest [illegible] of [illegible] Elect more [illegible] & will Preserve the under the Covert of his owne Protection you have bin told Sirs of late that divine Justice was sent forth to visit the Earth & to execute the will of the highest & who also now are present affrighting & forcing herewith such spirits & spirituall Powers as are guilty of Apostacy & fallen into the lowermost parts hindring the Seekers from the ~~[illegible]~~ wrath of the highest who therefore will neither be seen of us for deeds of Judgment & in sackcloth at this present search your operations, therefore now Sr I wishe you Charge ye with Care so I have given you the reason of that Adverse obstinacy that disobeyeth you in operation and also that hindereth me of given you any other assurance more in perticuler then I have showed from this day unto the 17th day of April

Nouember: 30: 1688: present only hoo

There appeared a Collamne before the ston and there Appeared a shaddow in it its is a fine figure it hath like Barrons Coronett on its head

I se you very sorrowfull Sr which in deed causeth me also to sorrow for you, good God now let thy saving helthe be seene on Earth helpe therefore o God & deliver thy servants from the perrill & danger of ill disposed people and the evill demons that kindleth & stirreth up Malicio =s inventions & intentions against them driving furiou =ly to destruction, but we trust our God will prevent these evills, well my good friend I heard your discourse & see the truble of your spirit therefore you are both attended with on & the same evil & threttned truble I find Sr your evill is not so great as threttned the evill already acted is purposely intended to drive you into an necessity of making all meanes imaginable to fulfill usurping Cruelty, & I hope so will your sorrows move away with as much swiftness I assure you Sr a Colestiall care attendeth you more espec I trust in the highest will as surely preserve & defend you from threttned evils untill the approach & appearan of your deliverance be yet of good Comfort keepe to your first days action

December 14: 1688;

There appeared in the ston Gabriell & it said move not & smile and a little sperrit came into the, ston, & was pleasant & said so god be thanked we have met againe, trust me Sr some good frends have bin to give you wissett & finding you not in place might conclude you were moved out of the worlde but our blessed mother hearing you & carefully behould all places & not readyly seeing you before sent to looke after you & finding you to be here commanded me forth to survay & take a view of what may be disposed for the best conveniency, and accordingly, your actions a to be converted like as in place before and also to further profitable purposes in order whereunto be yet ready at meeting here on the 1st day in the morning at accustomary time of about 9 or 10 in the morning not omitting your moving in your other & inferiour actions & operations on the day before & of sunday my action here is somewhat doth not well please but I may not Judg till I have told my mother of it let not those lights be extinguished untill you have order and after the sun be set with you about halfe an houre come your selfe unaccompanied heather and give Attendance halfe an houer speake not nor move not for it is a mystery commanding only your Attendance singly and bare well in mind what you shall be given to se or understand it is good unto you both as it may please god who appeareth in mercy in the midst of the severist trialls be yet there of good Comfort

I will request my Mother to see if any can be found ready for use that you may have an Immediat supply to give you ease & help for I know it hath bin in use among some Choyce Mercurii in former times who by the use of such medicines preserved there helth & vigor & lived therein for many yeares. it will be both a president & a good remedy for you god blesse you &c. now & ever

December: 18th 1688:

There appeared 2 glorious spirituns in the ston one is Galuah & the other is Samael & there is a little spiritum in a whitish Cloud before the ston & it said move not from place and then came Madimiel & it said thanked be the highest that we are well met in safety Although this place seemeth not fit for superiour dignified actions for neither my Mother nor other superiour Powers delighteth at all here in, but it is very good & well befitt. place for other inferiour operations yet not withstand ing wee shall not desert nor forsake you neither leave you frindlesse in what shall please ye highest to permit but howsoever wee shall seeke a better Conformety by reason of the present necessity that Compells the occas =on therefore observe with Carefull deligence the Charge given me to show forth unto you to w.ch the place from whence you came being accordingly dignified was most expedient this is as yet not so, I pray you Sr give me leave to Interrogat you, have you not found the sight & sence of visions manifestly before you, very well, then Sr I give you to understand though I well know the necessity of your removall hath that very occasion hath commited great alteration in the property of place & remisnesse in superiour action, now then Sr bring this together as well as we can if you select this for place of action then you must have in perticular as well as generall and with as efficient accesse hether at all times as usually hath bin accustomary unto you before your moving hether for you have bin looked for accordingly here as before and have bin missing which is not well but I confesse I commend this place above all for your Inferiour operations both by Day and by Night I tell you Sr in answere to what you say wee concur with you as much in the darknesse of the night season as in the want of your Corporall Sight which god be thanked is made good unto you in Celestiall speculations It is not as yet good for you the reason Sr why this place of me is commended to be very good for those Inferiour Operations here is good store of treasures lay here abouts but well garded

[illegible]

The most Incomprehensible & Abundant God, hath framed two Images Like Unto himselfe, & they are the world & man, that in one of these he might be Delighted, to behould all these his Greatly Various, Manifold, Admirable & wonderfull workes of the Creation & operations; & in the other be glorifyed, who seeing he is one, he hath created the World One, seeing his Infinite, hath Created the world Round, seeing he is Eternall, hath Created the world Immoveable, seeing he is Immense, hath Created the world the Greatest of all things, seeing he is the Cheifest Life, he hath Adorned the world with Vitall Seeds, begetting all things out of himselfe, & seeing he is Omnipotent, By his will alone (not by any Necessity of Nature) hath Created the world (not out of any foregoing Matter, but out of Nothing, & seeing he is the Cheife Goodness, Embracing his word, which is the Idea of all things (ab Origine) with his choicest & Essentiall love, he hath fabricated this Eternall world, After the example of the Internall, or Ideall World, sending forth nothing of the Essence of the Idea, but Created of Nothing that which he had from the eternity of the Idea.

[illegible] Also after his owne Image, for as the world is the Image of God, So man is the Image of the world.

It [illegible] this of the way, that man is not Created simply the Image of God, But after the Image of the Image, therefore he is Called Microcosmos or the lesser world.

[illegible] true Image of God is his word, the Wisdome, light, life & truth Existing by himselfe, of which Image Mans soul is the Image; Therefore we are said to be made after the Image of God, not after ye Image of the ~~Image~~ world, or of the Creatures, For as God Cannot be touched nor perceived by the ears, nor seen wth the Eyes, so the soul of man can be neither seen heard nor touched, And as God him selfe is Infinite & Cannot be Compelled by any, [illegible]

So also the mind of man is free, & Cannot be Enforced or bounded; As God Comprehendeth all this whole world, & whatsoever is in it, in his mind alone; so the mind of man Comprehendeth it even in thought,

And as God moveth & Governeth all this world by his Beck alone, So mans Mind Ruleth & Governeth his Body; Therefore man is Called the Other world, & the Other Image of God, because he hath in him selfe all that is Contained in the greater World; So yt there Remaineth nothing which is not found Even truly & Really in man, himselfe performing ye same Offices in him as in the greater World.

[illegible] the four Elements, with the most true properties of their Natures, And also an Etheriall Body, likewise the Chariot of the soul in proportion Corresponding to the Heaven. [illegible] the Vegetative life of plants, the senses of Animals, Angelical Reason, Divine understanding, & the true Conjunction & Divine possession of all these things, flowing together into one, Wherefore we may truly say, That man is Called every Creature, Creature, not onely as being made another World, ~~that~~ he Comprehends all ye parts thereof in himselfe; but also doth Receive & Containe even God him selfe, As Saint paul Clearly Expresseth, Saying ye are the temple of God.

[illegible] it is no absurd unjust, or Atheisticall tenet, nor any ways unbeseeming a Christian to Confirme this tenet, and say, that man is the most Expresse Image of God, seeing he Containeth in himselfe, all things which are in God.

But Yet, that God by a Certaine Eminency Containeth all things by his power (simply as the beginning of all things) And he hath given this power to man, That he should in Like manner Containe All things, but it is by a Certaine Act & Composition, as the Bond, tye and Knot of all things; Therefore man onely Rejoyceth in this honour, that he hath a similitude with all, operation with all, & Conversation wth all, [illegible] with the matter in a proper subject, with the Elements in a fourfold body, with plants in a four fold vertue, with Animalls in a sensitive faculty, with the Heavens in an Ethereall spirit, [illegible] of the superiour parts in the [illegible], with the Angels in wisdome & understanding, with God in Containing all things.

[illegible] with God and the Intelligences by faith & wisdome, with the Heavens & Heavenly things, by Reason & [illegible], with all Inferiour things, by sense & dominion, [illegible] even on God himselfe, by knowing & loving him.

[illegible] so man also Can know all things Intelligible, seeing he hath for an Adequate object [illegible] in Generall, [illegible] Truth it selfe; neither Is there any Disposition nor thing found in man in which something of Divinity may not shine forth; Neither is there any thing in ~~which~~ God which may not also be Represented in man.

[illegible] therefore shall know him selfe, shall know all things in him selfe, And more Especially he shall know God, according to whose Image he was made, he shall know the world the Resemblance of which he Beareth, And he shall know all Creatures wth which he Symbolizeth, & obtaine all the secret & true Understanding that Can be had from Angels, spirits, Heavens, Elements, Animals, plants, stones, & whatsoever Els, & how all things may be fitted for all & Every purpose or purposes, in and According to their time, place, order, Measure, proportion & Hormony.

[illegible] the more Every one shall know him selfe, so much he obtaineth the greater power of attracting the Like Qualityes & Vertues, & Likewise Operateth greater & more Wonderfull things, & so by Consequence & Course Gradually attends to so Great perfection, that he is made the son of God, & is transformed into that Image which is God, & is United wth him, A Guift that is not Granted to Angels, ye world, or any Creature, but to man Onely

Th[illegible] to be made the son of God, & to be [illegible] to God, all things which are in man are united also, & Especially his mind, then his spirit, then his Animall powers, & then his [illegible]getative faculty &c: [illegible] of the Divine Image, is the proper & peculier Guift to man, & Common to no other Creature.

The[illegible] three things placed in man, thus distinguished according to their respective Division parts & Qualityes.

The { Supream, Lowest, Middle,

The Supream, is that Divine thing which is Called the mind, or superiour portion, or illuminated Intellect, Moses Calleth it the breath of Life (that is) Breath from God, or his spirit inspired into us.

[illegible] is the sensitive Soul, which is also Called an Image, Saint paul nameth it the Animall Man:

The Middle is the Rationall spirit, knitting & tying togather, both Extreams; (that is) the Animall Soul with the mind, savoring of the Nature of Both Extreams, yet it Differeth from the Illuminated Intellect, the mind light & Supream portion, it Differeth also from the Animall Soul, from the which the apostle teacheth us, that we ought to seperate it by the power of the word of God, saying the word of God is Lively & powerfull, more penetrating than a two Edged sword, piercing even to the Dividing of the Soul & spirit

As the supreame portion, never sinneth, nor Consenteth to Evill, but always resisteth Errour, & Exorteth to the best things; so the inferiour portion & Animall soul is always drowned in Evill, in sin & Concupiscence & draweth to the worst things, of which Saint Paul saith, I see another Law in my Members, leading me Captive to the Law of Sin

The [illegible] Illuminated Intellect is never Damned, but [illegible] (its [illegible] are to be punished) goeth away unhurt into its originall; But the spirit, the [illegible] soul [illegible] by nature free, & can according to its [illegible], adhere to either of ym of them, if it Cleave together to the Superiour portion, it is at Length, United & Beautifyed with it, till it be transmuted into God; And if it Cleave unto the Inferiour or Animall man, it is Depraved & becomes Vitious, Untill it be made a wicked spirit

The Soul of Man, Being a Certaine Divine Light, Created after the Image of the word, the Cause of Causes, & first Example & Substance of God, Let us now treat somewhat thereof in particular, & through what meanes it is joyned to the body &c:

It is a Certaine Divine Substance, Individuall & wholly present in every part of the body, So produced by an incorporall Author, that it Depends by the power of the Agent onely -

The Soul is a Substantiall number, Uniforme, Rationall & Comprehensive in it selfe, far Exceeding all bodyes and Materiall things, the partition whereof is not according to the matter, nor proceeding from lesser or greater things, but from the Efficient Cause: Which is not a Quantitative Number, but removed from all Corporeall Lawes, whence it is not Divided nor Multiplyed by parts;

Therefore the Soul of man is a Certaine Divine Substance, flowing from a Divine fountaine, carrying along with it selfe Number, not that by which the Creator hath Disposed all things, but a Rationall number, by which having a proportion to all things, it Can understand all things,

Now Mans Soul immediately proceeding from God the Efficient Cause, is joyned by Competent Meanes to the grosser body, Whence first of all In its Descent, it is Involved in a Celestiall and Ayeriall body, Called the Celestiall Vehicle or Chariot of the Soul

Through this Middle thing, by the Command of God, who is the Centre of the World, it is first Infused into the Middle point of the Heart, Which is the Centre of Mans body, & from thence it Diffuseth through all the parts and Members thereof, when it joyneth his Chariot to the Naturall heat, being a Spirit Generated to the heart by heat, by this it plungeth it selfe into the Humors, whereby it inhereth in all the members, & to all these is made Equally the Neighest, although it be Diffused through one to another, And thus it is manifest how the immortall Soul by an Immortall Body (that is to Say) an Ethereall Vehicle, is included in a gross and Mortall Body

But When these Middle things doe Disolve or fail, by any Disease or Some Accidentall Mischiefe, then doth the Soul, by these Middle things, Recollect it selfe, and floweth back into the heart, which was the first Receptacle of the Soul

But the Spirit of the heart failing and heat being Extinct, it leaveth him, & man Dyeth, and the Soul flyeth away with this Celestiall Vehicle &c

Every Noble Soul is said to have a fourfold operation, And that is thus

The first Divine, By the Image of the Divine propriety

The Second Intellectuall, by formality of participation [illegible]

The Third Rationall, by the perfection of [illegible] proper [illegible]

The fourth Animall or Naturall, by Communion with the body & those Inferiour things. ——————

That there is no Work in the whole world, so admirable, So Excellent, so wonderfull, which the Soul of man (being Associated to his Image of Divinity) standing & not falling, cannot Accomplish by its owne power, without any externall help.

Now we have in breif treated of the Celestiall propertyes of ye Soul of man, and the Dignityes thereof, & its Conjunction to ye body; we will now show forth the Dignityes of the body, & how through each degree of Dependency, his Mind ascends into the intelligible World, & becomes more Sublime, like unto the Intelligences &c:

The Omnipotent God, in the admirable Creation & Composure of the World, with ye Diversity & Distinction of all the Creatures therein, and the severall formes, shapes, [illegible] thereof; Allthough the part of [illegible] with Wonder and Astonishment [illegible] yet [illegible] & [illegible] they were [illegible]; for he spake but the word, & they were made, according to [illegible] order & Degree ——————

But when [illegible] was to be [illegible] there was a [illegible] of the Trinity [illegible] about the production of so Excellent a Creature, [illegible] make man according to our Image, & indued him with Soul & body, (a capacity & Reason

Reason, giving him Dominion over the Fowles of the Ayr, the fishes of the Sea, & all the Creatures of the Earth/ saith the text word &c:

Therefore man that Deliberately made, thus highly honoured, Induced with a forme so Angellicall, prerogatives So Royall, a Stature of body so Ascendant, & lifted up towards heaven, a minde so Delate and Ample, able to Comprehend the hight & Depthes of Mysteryes, measuring the world in a moment (yet not Contained in the world) ——————

The Contemplation Whereof, made the Kingly prophet and psalmist David (being stirred up with the wonder and love of such a Workman) to Break forth into this passion, psal: 138: I will Magnifie thy name Lord, how wonderfully am I made, all the works of thy hands are wonderfull,

Still my Soul hath tasted, and knoweth right well, my Mouth was not hid from thee, being made in Darkenesse, How wonderfully was I fashioned in the wombe of my Mother, Thine eyes [illegible] a Rude & indigested Heape, [illegible] not [illegible] (A)

Besides [illegible] for the Soul [illegible] made [illegible] of God, that it [illegible] Divinity, so the body [illegible] of the Soul, According to the [illegible] faculty [illegible] stedfastly Resolved with hope, [illegible] ornaments of Love & Chastity, it passeth into the nature of God, whereby he becomes God. He

He knows the Rise of Demons, & himselfe to have his Originall with them, Dispising the part of humane Nature, in himselfe, having a sure Confidence of the Divinity of the Soul, by which he Obtaines whatsoever he Asketh at the hands of God, by the help of Angelicall Ministery, & Conversing with those ~~blessed~~ Creatures, &c.

[illegible] therefore being Drawn from the Archetype himselfe, according to the Harmony of the Microcosm, being the Image of the Divine Idea, powerfully attracts the Correspondency & attendance of the Gods Angels to our Assistance, Compells all Evill spirits to our Comands & subjection, submits all the powers of the world unto our service, yea all Creatures both Necessarily Obey us, & all the Quire of heaven doth follow us, whose office it is to Execute his Comands, who then according to Gods Decree & their Duty, Doth Manage our affairs and petitions according to our Desires.

[illegible] place, Before we enter to treat on the proper subject which we intend, Let us take [illegible] of some Necessary [illegible] as Certain paths to lead us the next way unto the truth, [illegible] which there [illegible] three Guides namely [illegible]

[illegible] of the soul [illegible] faculties the most Excellent, Descending from the Intelligencies above, to the most Inferiour things & [illegible] & [illegible] our minds into the Divine Beauty [illegible] us in all our Workes [illegible] according to our Wishes and Administreth [illegible] power to our [illegible] hanging [illegible] things it Desireth, whence is [illegible] & bringeth it to perfection.

[illegible] Vertue of all, not grounded on humane fictions, but Divine Revelations, wholly pierceth all things through the whole world, for seeing it Descends from above, from the first Light, & remaines nearest to it, is far more Noble and Excellent, then all the art Sciences, & beliefs arising from Inferiour things; By faith is man Made somewhat the same wth ye Superiour powers, and Enjoyeth the same power wth them, Faith is the Root of all miracles, by which alone we approach to God, from whome we Obtaine Divine power & perfection; where ~~[illegible]~~ fore all things are to be beleeved, because all things are easie to God; and Nothing is impossible to him, therefore nothing is incredible, & he who shall fail In his faith, shall Do nothing worthy Admiration, but Rather Incur punishment & sustaine Loss therefore.

[illegible] being Divine & ~~pure~~ pure, inflamed wth a Religious Love, Adorned wth hope, Directed by faith, placed in the Highth & top of the humane Soul, Doth suddainely Attract & comprehend the Very truth, & beholdeth all the Stations, Grounds, Causes & [illegible] of things, both naturall & immortall, in the Divine truth [illegible] the [illegible] (as [illegible]) in a Certaine Glass of Eternity.

[illegible] That we, (though naturall) Know those things that are above [illegible] & understand things that are below; And it is not in Sciences and Arts only that the Understanding [illegible] to it selfe [illegible] but also [illegible] this miraculous power [illegible] things [illegible] to be ~~[illegible]~~ changed

[illegible] are framed [illegible] body [illegible] predominate [illegible] & [illegible] wonderfull, [illegible] Difficult Operations, [illegible] that Angels & spirits Obey us, the stars are Disordered, the Heavenly

Heavenly powers Compelled, the Elements made Obedient &c: ——

[illegible] therefore, if it would work any admirable thing, Experiment, operation or Effect in these inferiours, must have a Respect to its Begining, that it may be strengthened & illustrated thereby, & receive power of acting through each Degree, from the first Author ——

For it is a Certaine Maxime, and an Observable Rule, that whosoever doth ye more Exactly imitate the Cœlestiall Bodyes, Either in Nature, Study, Action, Motion, Gesture, Countenance, passions of the mind, and Opertunity of Season, is so much the more Like unto them, and shall receive the Larger Guifts & Benefits from y^m; the Reason is apparent, for the body doth not resist a most powerfull Soul, and perfect mind doth not Change its Councell ——

—— Further Observations Worthy of Note

The [illegible] Sufficient [illegible] having Created all things, ruling & disposing y^m, holy & gratious Will, then doth he distribute the putting thereof in and setled his heavenly Decrees, according to his Divine [illegible], ye Care of [illegible] & [illegible] ministers, [illegible] Calls a [illegible] and [illegible] Angels. →

And [illegible] god doth by Angels (as by Ministers) the same he doth by ye Stars (as it were by Instruments) who accordingly [illegible] to this Service World, that after this [illegible] all things might make together to [illegible]. So y^t it is [illegible] should apply the [illegible] of the [illegible] to their Respective parts, according as they are Referred to y^m, both in Respect of their Offices and Significations &c.

[illegible] may aptly be reduced, from these inferiours to ye Stars, from ye Stars to their Intelligences, from thence to ye first Cause it selfe, from ye Series and Order whereof all hidden philosophy flowes, for every day, Some Naturall thing is drawn by art, & some Divine thing is drawn by Nature, in the attracting like by like, and of Suitable things by Suitable, and by such Kinds of Attractions, there is a mutuall Correspondency of things amongst y^m selves, of Superiours wth inferiours; for every Inferiour thing in its Kind, should Answer its Superiour, and through this the Supream it selfe, whereby it receives from heaven that Cœlestiall power, which is Called the Quintessence, and from ye Intellectuall World a Spirituall & Enlivening Vertue, transcending all Qualityes w^tsoever; & Lastly from ye Exemplary or Originall world, through the mediation of the Other, According to their Degree, receive the Originall power of the whole perfection. Know [illegible], that every Superiour moves its next inferiour, in its Degree and Order, not onely in Bodyes but also in Spirits. ——

[illegible] Universall Soul moves the particular Soul, and the Rationall Acts upon y^e [illegible] and the [illegible] upon the Vegetable: for every part of this Superiour World, Suffers from ye Heavens, according to their Nature & Aptitude, Even as one part of the [illegible] Body, Suffers from another, and the Superiour [illegible] moves all things [illegible] (after a manner) Containes all the same Beings from ye first to ye last, [illegible] in the inferiour World.

[illegible] moves the Bodyes of the Elementary World, Compounded, [illegible] and [illegible] from y^e [illegible] perpetuall and Spirituall [illegible], depending on the primary [illegible] (or Divine power) and the Second from God (the first Author) from whom all all things are produced, & upon Whome all things Depend, and through whose Comand, Every One acts in its office, accordingly from the will of the Creature, according to ye will of the Creator; in & by which we attaine, not onely to ye Knowledge of things Naturally, But Come to the perfection of more Rare & Sublime things Celestially &c:— as may be instanced in many presidents, both Ancient & modern — But [illegible] is the image of God, the Acting intellect is the image of ye word, the Soul is the image of this intellect, & our word ye image of the Soul, by which It acts upon Naturall things Naturally; Nature being the work thereof, And Every one of these perfects his Subsequent, & none of the Latter Exists wthout ye former; for they Depend amongst themselves, by a kind of Ordinate Dependency, So yt when the Latter is Corrupted, it is returned into yt wch was next before it, untill it Come to the Heavens, then to ye Universall Soul, & Lastly unto ye acting intellect by which all Creatures Exist, & then by Degrees in ye principall Author, ye first & Last, by whose heavenly will all things at Length are Returned,

This is the [illegible] and Continuity of Nature, that all Superiour [illegible] flow through Every inferiour, wth a Long and Continued Series (or Succession) Dispersing its Rays, Even to ye very Last things. And inferiours through those Superiours, come to ye Supream of all.

[illegible] of God is the world; of the world, [illegible] Man [illegible] of Beasts, plants, of plants, Metals, of Metals, Stones

[illegible]
Herbs, Herbs wth Animals, Animals wth the Heavens, the Heavens wth ye Intelligences, the Intelligences wth Divine properties, [illegible] Consequently wth God him selfe, according to whose Image & similitude man and all things in [illegible] were Created [illegible] spiritual, the plant agrees wth a bruit in Vegetation; a bruit with A man in Sense; Man wth an Angell in understanding, an Angell wth God in immortality.

[illegible] to the mind, the mind to ye intellect, the intellect to ye intention, the intention to ye imagination, the imagination, to ye Senses, & the Senses at Last to things. &c:—

[illegible] conclude, thus: inferiours are so Successively joyned to their Superiours, that there proceeds An Influence from their Head (the first Cause) like as a Certaine String Stretched out to ye Lowermost things of all, of ye which String, if one End be touched, the whole doth presently shake & soundeth to ye other End; Even so, at the motion of the Inferiour the Superiour is also moved, to which the Other doth answer, like as Strings of a well tuned instrument; so yt wt soever is must of necessity imitate the motions & influences of the Superiours; moved, Caused or produced in these inferiours, to which as to its Roots, Causes & Signes, it is Reduced (D)

It is very Difficult, if not impossible, to Convince or perswade a Knowing & Intelligent man, by Reason, into a Credulity of Such things, that Reacheth a Little for the [illegible] Spirits [illegible] the influences of the Celestialls, & ye Co-operations of ye mind [illegible] formally [illegible] all Dispositions are produced and brought to passe, by [illegible] of the Celestiall Authority Managed according to ye [illegible] & Expert Sophical [illegible] he is not a Stranger to the Heavens &c:

[illegible] we have Breifly treated of the Celestiall & Terrestiall Harmonyes, and the Mutuall Correspondencyes of those inferiours with their Superiours, whereby we become Capable of Receiving Certaine Celestiall guifts from above: &c:— wee shall now Lay down Some beneficiall Aphorismes, Worthy of Remark.

Beneficiall Aphorismes.

~~Beneficiall Aphorismes~~ 1st: Wee ought to Labor, nothing more in this Life, then that we degenerate not from the Excellency of the mind, by which we Come nearest to God, and put on the Divine Nature, least at any time our Mind waxing dull, through a stupid Vanity should decline & yeild to ye frailty of our Earthly Body ~~becomeing~~ fleshly Vitious:— Wherefore we ought so to order our minds, that it by it selfe, being mindfull of its own Dignity & Excellency should always both think, doe & operate something worthy of it selfe. But the Knowledge of the Celestiall & Divine Science [illegible] perfectly performe this [illegible] the [illegible] Majesty [illegible] Divine [illegible] Every [illegible] things [illegible] And by all the degrees of the [illegible] ascending [illegible] God [illegible] the [illegible] Vertues of all things [illegible] trusting only to worldly & Naturall things [illegible] the [illegible] Deceived by fallacyes, &c: But the understanding of Celestiall things purgeth the mind from Errours [illegible] that Divine [illegible] power power to our works, and drives Clearly away the deceits and delusions of all Evill Spirits, and yet subjects them to our Comands too.

2: [illegible], and the muses, avoyd the friendship of the multytude, be cautious of time, Beneficiall to all men, use the Angels & spirits given & attributed unto these ministers, without Rashness & presumption as the messengers of God, be Vigilent in thy Calling—

3: Be obedient to good Admonitions, avoyd all procrastination, accustome thy selfe to Constancy and Gravity both in thy words & deeds, fly from Earthly things, Looke after Heavenly things, put no Confidence in thy own wisdome, but Look unto God in things.

4: What doest thou Learnest, fix it in thy mind, Learn much but not many things, because a Humane Understanding can not be alike Capable in all things, Unlesse it be Divinely Regenerated, & unto him nothing is so difficult, which he may not be able to attaine to.

[illegible] to shew that [illegible] things [illegible] Superiours, [illegible] causes: Therefore [illegible] that [illegible] his words & deeds, prudent in all his actions [illegible] of nothing but [illegible] in all his [illegible] selfe [illegible] pray to God for Constancy in faith, & he shall bring to passe all things [illegible]

6 [illegible] properly call that a Secret in Magick, which no man Can Attaine unto by humane industry, without Revelation: the Knowledge whereof Lyeth Obscured, hidden by God in the Creation, yet notwithstanding he doth permit to be revealed by spirits & Angels, to a due use of the thing it selfe, And these secrets are either Concerning things Divine, Naturall or humane; & if wee do but Rightly Consider & Examine a few, we shall Comend the whole wth the most Select

7 [illegible] humane Understanding be Divinely or Angellically Inspired, by Conjunction or Revelation, it is the onely Effector of all wonderfull operations, and produceth what thing soever it Indulgently Conceiveth: Let a Magician therefore Carefully shroude himselfe under the wings of Divine Assistance, Least he fall into ye Snares of temptations ———

8: [illegible] ye mix no Experiments that are of Contrary Qualityes or offices, but Let every one be simple & severall; for God & nature hath appointed all things, to a Certaine [illegible] End & purpose, [illegible] Considerations [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] according [illegible] [illegible] Celestiall [illegible] [illegible] Divine Super Celestiall, [illegible] Terrestiall, Subterrestiall [illegible] & infernall, Visible and invisible, [illegible] Readiness & submission unto us [illegible]

9: [illegible] so much becometh a Magician as Soundness in faith, Constancy in action, & minde immoveable in hope, patience in perseverance, and when the like Rejoyceth in its like, there is (I say) none more happy then such because the holy Angels are Conversant about them, possesse the Custody of ym, they will familiarly Converse wth them, and willingly give attendance to ym, & Communicate unto ym whatsoever shall be Desired, they will Successfully & Successively supply them in all things, according to their Severall & Respective Ord[illegible] & Offices, & faithfully instruct them in all wisdome & Knowledge, by the Doctrine of Angelicall Ministery; and Inconstancy, & Dispair, bring all to Confusion & losse, & nothing to Effect.

10 He who would know secrets, [illegible] first Learne to know how to Keep secrets secretly, & to Reveall those things yt are to be revealed, & to seal those things yt are to be sealed. Observe this Rule, & the Eyes of thy Understanding shall be opened, to Understand secret things; and thou mayst have [illegible] thy mind Desireth, to be Divinely Revealed [illegible] thou mayst have also the Angels of God [illegible] [illegible] prompt & ready [illegible] [illegible] humane mind, [illegible] thou shalt be [illegible] Replenished with all Divine Celestiall & good Gifts [illegible]

11 [illegible] sufficient for receiving ye Influence [illegible] [illegible] send forth their [illegible] they [illegible] Destitute of their [illegible] [illegible] is not [illegible] to receive the Celestiall Influence

12) [illegible] minde doth effect Divers things by faith (that is) A firm Adhesion, a fixt intention, and Vehement Application of the worker or Receiver, to him yt Co-operates in any thing, & gives power to ye worke which we intend to doe, so that their is Composed in us, (as it were) the very image of the Vertue to be Received:

we must therefore in all things affect Vehemently, imagine, hope & beleeve Strongly, for that is the greatest helpe, & Conduceth wholy to the Assistance of the Operator; it is a Verified Maxime amongst physitians, that a strong beleife, And an undoubted hope & love, towards the physitian and Medicine, doth conduce much to health, yea sometimes more than the Medicine it selfe; for the same that ye Efficacy & Vertue of the Medicine works, the same Doth the strong imagination of the Physitian work, being able to change the Qualityes in the Bodyes of the sick; Especially when the patient placeth much Confidence in him.

13. [illegible] shall [illegible] invocate any Celestiall Angel [illegible] or [illegible] them [illegible] [illegible] what [illegible] shall [illegible] you [illegible] nor any successfull Effect from you. ——

14 [illegible] things [illegible] so [illegible] that good spirits obey us willingly, & Communicate their Vertue and power to us, Daily Illuminating & inspiring us wth all wisdome, by Daily working & acting upon our Intellect, framing & making us by their Influences, like Images most like to them selves.

Even so far, as that we at some times have the appearance of Good Angels unto us, and familiar Converse with them, Whereby we both Contemplate Divine things, & work wonderfull operations, to gods glory and the use of man: faith assisting and the Capacity Comprehending: &c: ——

15) All Evill Spirits are overcome by us, through the Assistance of the Good, being invocated by Divine and Supernaturall powers, & miracles & Sacred Misteryes, and by breathing forth Venerable names and words, wth a Devout Speech: Now by the power and Efficacy of such Conjurations they are Subjected, bound and Allayed, for they Cannot Endure them; whereby they are Enforced presently to yeild unto us, and forthwith to Depart out of those bodyes or places, which they possesse or inhabit: ——

16 Vertue is no Vertue, unlesse it have some like in Ruling whereof it may shew and Exercise its power; for as Victory Cannot Stand without Enemies, so neither can Vertue subsist without an Enemy, wth Vertue no sooner had the Almighty Endowed Man withall, but he forthwith Added unto him an Enemy [illegible] that Vertue might [illegible] its Nature being stupified with Idleness; so that a man cannot attaine to those great materiall perfections of things, unless he meet with many resistances; And likewise that he shall Establish, and build up his salvation with continuall sorrows & contention &c: ——

17 The p[illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] them [illegible] [illegible] him, and being opposed by the [illegible]

To the Superiour intellect, is alwayes tending to Good; the which intellect doth indeed, alwayes shew a pathway to ye will, as a Candel to the Eye; But it moves not it selfe, but is the Mistris of her own operation; from Whence it is Called free will: And though it alwayes tends to Good, as an Object suitable to it selfe, yet some times being blinded with Errour, the Animall power forceing it, it chose the Evill, beleeving it to be Good: Therefore will is Defined to be a facultye of the Intellect, whereby Good is Chosen by the help of Grace, But Grace not assisting, then is Evill Chosen, Therefore faith, hope, Charity, Love & all infused Vertues, is in the Will, as the first mover, which being absent the whole Consent falls into Dissonancey.

101 Those who onely trust on the Course of nature onely, and the power and Labour of Inferiour things, thinking thereby to attaine Divine things, and there who [illegible] to [illegible] a foot in the Heavens, Doe [illegible] to receive those things from ye [illegible] of the Heavens, which ought to be Received from God alone; doe Erre in there judgment, and Labour in Vaine: for these inferiour [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] have their power [illegible] [illegible] the Heavens, the Heavens from Intelligences, and the Intelligences from God, in whome all things preexist in the greatest perfection; in the little world Man, there is not a member which hath not Correspondence with some Intelligence, Element, plant, &c: and in some Measure [illegible] in the Archetype &c. —

19) [illegible] Soul hath a fourfold operation: first Divine, by the Image of the Divine propriety, the Second Intellectuall, by formality of participation With the Intelligences, the third Rationall, by the perfection of its proper Essentiall Essence, the fourth Animall or naturall, by Communion to the body and those inferiour things; So yt there is no work in this whole world so Admirable, Excellent & wonderfull, which the Soul of Man being Associated to the Image of Divinity, Cannot accomplish by its one power, without any Externall help: Therefore the form of all Magicall power, is from ye Soul of man, Standing & not falling. — (C)

[illegible] further to be observed, that

There is nothing of such transcending Vertues, which being Distitute of Divine Assistance, is Content with the Nature of it selfe, therefore all things are full of God, for that all inferiour bodyes are Exemplifyed by the superiour Ideas.

[illegible] Souls & Minds, [illegible] simple, pure, [illegible], [illegible] [illegible] Nor the Nature of all [illegible] the same [illegible] of Causes, [illegible] amongst [illegible] [illegible] Consideration [illegible] What [illegible] in the world should [illegible] things without any [illegible] they [illegible] Essence, [illegible] be a Compound Substance.

very

Very intelligible it selfe (that is) in the Soul of the world, Differing ye one from the other by absolute formes: But not that all the Ideas in God are but one form, but in the Soul of the world they are many.

[illegible] placed in the minds of all other things, whether they be joyned to ye body, or Seperated from the body; by a Certaine participation, & by Degrees are Distinguished more & more.

[illegible] in Nature, as Certaine small seeds of formes, infused by the Ideas ——— [illegible], they are placed in matter, as Shadowes.

[illegible] say, that their are many Seminall formes of things, in the Soul of the world, as Ideas in the mind of God, by which formes, shee Did in the Heavens above the stars, frame to herselfe Shapes also, and stamped upon all these same properties.

[illegible] Shapes and properties, for the Vertues & properties of all inferiour species Depend, soe that every species hath its Celestiall shape or figure, that is suitable to it, [illegible] proceeds a wonderfull power of operating, which property it receives from its own Idea, through the seminall formes of the Soul of the world. ——

[illegible] of Ideas, of species [illegible] ye [illegible] Vertues [illegible] species, for the properties [illegible] the nature of things are infused by Certaine ~~[illegible]~~ Vertues (viz) are the operations of the Ideas (viz) such as have a Certaine & sure foundation foundation, not fortuitous, or Casuall, but efficatious, powerfull & Sufficient Doing nothing in Vain ——

[illegible] in their actings, but by accident (viz) by reason of the impurity or inequality of the Matter; So yt upon this account, there are found things of the Same Species, more or Lesse powerfull according to ye purity or indisposition of the matter (for all Celestiall Influences may be hindred by the indisposition & insufficiency of the matter) whence the proverb, yt Celestiall Vertues were infused according to the Desert of ye matter. —

[illegible] things [illegible] there is Lesse of the Idea of the matter (viz) Such things which have a greater Resemblance of things Seperated, have more powerfull Vertues in operation, being like to ye operation of a — Seperated Idea

[illegible] that the Scituation of Celestials is the Cause of all those excellent Vertues that are in inferiour species —— [illegible] (viz) are Strange and marvelous Disposer of all things [illegible] the Soul of the Ideas to his Servants, the blessed Intelligences, whose faithfull officers signe all things entrusted to them, in an Ideall Vertue, the Heavens & Stars as Instruments) Desposing the matter in the meanwhile for Receiving those formes which Reside in Divine Majesty, & to be conveyed by stars, And the giver of formes Distributes them by the ministry of his Intelligences, which he has set as Rulers & Controllers over his worke, to whome such power is entrusted in things committed to them, that so the Vertues & operations of all things all things, as hearbs Mettals Stones &c: may come from the governing Intellig= =ences immediately from the first Idea, & next from ye Configurations of the Heavens, Disposing, & Lastly from ye tempers of the Elements Disposed; Answering to the Celestiall Influences, by which the Elements them selves are disposed & ordered.

[illegible] [illegible] [illegible] operations are performed in those inferiour things, by Expresse forms, in the Heavens by Disposing Vertues, in the Intelli= =gences by mediating Rules, and in the Originall Cause by Ideas & Exemplary formes.

[illegible] [illegible] must of Necessity agree, in the Execution of the Effect & Vertue of Every thing.

[illegible] [illegible] [illegible] there is a wonderfull Vertue, operation and Effect in Vegetables, Stones Mettals: &c: yet it is greater in the Stars, beyond wch from the governing intelligences, every thing receiveth & obtaines [illegible] many things, especially from ye supream Cause, with whom all things doe Exactly & mutually Correspond.

[illegible] [illegible], that there is no other Cause of the Necessity of Effects, than the Connexion of all things with the first Cause, and there Correspond= =ency with those Divine patternes, & Eternall Ideas, whence Every thing hath its determinate and particular place in the Exemplary world, from whence it lives & Receives its particular being Originally & likely [illegible] of Hearbs, Stones, Metals, Animals, words, & speeches, and all things that are of God are placed there.

[illegible] which is God, although he doth by Intelligences and ye Heavens, work upon these inferiour things, yet some times he works those things Immediately by him selfe, which are Miraculous.

[illegible] as Second Causes (called hand maids) doe by the Comand & appointment of the first Cause necessarily act, and are necessitated to produce there Effects, yet if God shall notwithstanding, according to his pleasure, so discharge & suspend ym, that they shall wholy desist from ye necessity of that Comand & appointment, then they are called ye Greatest Miracles of God, as is abundantly Manifested in holy Scripture but for brevity sake here Omitted, &c: (E)

Of Angels
& Spirits

[illegible] [illegible] of the names, natures, orders, offices, degrees, Hierarchyes, Mansions & other Distinctions of the Sacred Celestiall Angells, or Blessed intelligences, & other Angellicall powers Celestially Dignifyed, & other [illegible] & other Elements, together with a summary of the Elementall powers or spirits, both of Light & Darkness, Residing in the four Elements, fire, Ayr, Earth & water; And the foure Angels or kings of the Compass [illegible] the Bodyes of the Celestiall & Sublime Angels, are Nourished of the most pure, Ethriall, Element, & are not Rashly to be Seen of any (unless they be sent from God) being woven & joyned together (as it were) of such bright & splended threeds, & so small, that they transmit all the Rayes of our Sight by their fineness, & Reverberate by their splendor, & Deceive by their Subtilty; these wch angels, because their Bodyes have not so much fire as that they are Conspicuous, nor So much Earth that ye Solidity of them Resists the touch, their whole Composure being Madeup of the # Clearness & moysture of the Ayre, hath joyned together an Indis=solvable Superficies.

ambient Air & the diaphanity & humidity thereof.

Art [illegible] Conformation, those Bodyes [illegible] good Angels, but it was Changed in the Evill, by Reason of their fall, [illegible] which [illegible] =ered capable of torment

[illegible] Spirits, is not [illegible] but a Bodyly [illegible] good [illegible] Evill Spirits, is not the same &c

[illegible] as though they were subject to the Influence of the stars, but as they are a [illegible] [illegible] all things are Directed, & to [illegible] all things might be Conformable. And as the governing Angels are appointed for & set over divers stars, So

So Likewise Divers places & times; not that they are Limited by time or place, nor by those bodyes, over which they are appointed to govern, But the Divine Wisdome hath So ordered & Decreed, that they should patronize, & more favor those bodyes, Stars, times & places, over which they Regulate, & to Execute & fullfill the will & Commandement of God, According to their Severall & Respective Offices, as Divine Dispensation shall appoint &c.

[illegible] is no part of the world, destitute of the proper assistance, Care, keeping or attendance of the Celestiall Angels, & they send Down their Influences through the Celestiall Sphears, & planets, to ye place or persons Sublunary, & doe Especially operate, according to their Severall & Respective Regulations

[illegible] & incorporeall Substance, Alwayes moveable, & [illegible] Messengers of the will of God, [illegible] of grace [illegible] faculty

[illegible] of God [illegible] good, [illegible] subtill, [illegible] of God [illegible]

[illegible] Majesty of God [illegible]

[illegible] & every [illegible] God [illegible]

[illegible] Heralds of Heaven, & Guardians of our Bodyes & Souls. —

[illegible] Desire not, because they want not in beholding their Creator. —

[illegible] to Conduct men, wisdome to instruct men, & Grace to preserve men. —

[illegible] were [illegible] Creatures that ever God made, & do always behold the face of God, where soever they are sent.

[illegible] of Angels Suffereth neither Change nor End, for they are immutable & Divine, & are swift Messengers to Execute the Comands of the Highest at his Divine pleasure & appointment.

There are nine orders, or Hierarchies, of the Cœlestiall Angels or Blessed Intelligences, Residing in the nine Stations planatary Orbs or Spheares of the Heavens thus nominated; first the Order of Angels in the Spheare of the moon, who performe [illegible] Messengers; Secondly Archangels, in the Spheare of the planet Mercury, who [illegible] thirdly principalityes, in the Spheare of the planet Venus, who Rule over others; fourthly Vertues, in the Spheare of the Sun, [illegible] signes & [illegible] are wrought; fifthly potestates, in the Spheare of the planet Mars, who do Restrain [illegible]; Sixthly Dominations, in the Spheare of the planet Jupiter, who doe Excell orders; Seaventhly thrones, in the Spheare of the planet Saturn; — whereon God sitteth. — Eightly Cherubim, in the Orb or Sphear of Heaven, Called the Starry firmament; who being full of Knowledge, [illegible]. — Ninthly Seraphim in the Orb or Sphear Called the primum Mobile, or first Moveable Heaven; &c: —

As there are Nine Orders, or Hierarchyes of Sacred Cœlestiall Angels or Blessed Intelligences, So there are nine Orders of wicked or infernall Spirits, Called Devills or Spirits of Darkness; who are said to inhabit or have Residence in the infernall worlds, thus nominated: first Tempters & Ensnarers: Secondly, Sifters, Tryers or Accusers Inquisitors: thirdly furyes, the Seminaries of Evill: fourthly Ayeriall powers: fifthly Juglers or Deluders — Sixthly, Revengers of wickedness. Seaventhly Vessels of Iniquity: Eightly — Lying Spirits — Ninthly faulse Gods.

As touching the Appearances of those Glorious Seraphick Creatures, the Cœlestiall & Good Angels, & other Cœlestially Dignifyed powers of Light, severall are the opinions of Some Authors, & especially of Johannes Trithemius the [illegible] Abbot of Spanheim in his polygraph who saith that [illegible] good Angel was never [illegible] to have appeared in the forme of [illegible] which assertion is [illegible] Answered [illegible] Angelicall Society thus Rationally Constructed Distinguished & [illegible] as followeth —

[illegible] are incomprehensible to those that are [illegible], for the higher order is incomparable unto God [illegible] Degrees, [illegible] are also incomparable unto them [illegible] that in Respect of that Degree in Angels, things are incomprehensible: —

[illegible] neither are man nor woman, therefore they doe take forme (not according to any proportion in imagination but) according to the Discreet & appliable will both of him, & of the thing wherein they are Administrators; for they are all spirits Ministring the will of God, & unto whome unto every thing within the Compass of nature & the use of man, it followeth therefore, Considering that they Minister not of their selves, that they should minister in y^t Unsearchable form, within the wch their Executions are Limited ——

Now if Trithemius or any other Can Say, that ye woman also hath not the spirit of God, being formed & fashioned of the selfe same matter (notwithstanding in a Contrary proportion by a Degree) If Trithemius or any other, Can seperate the Dignity of ye Soul of woman from the Excellency of man, but according to ye forme of the matter, then might his argument be good ——

But [illegible] man & woman there is proportion, & preparation of Sanctification in eternity alike, therefore may those [illegible] the eternall Ministers of God in proportion to Sanctification, take unto them the bodys of [illegible] in Respect of ye form, for as in [illegible] so in both you find one & ye selfe same Dignity, in [illegible] matter allone

Now Trithemius [illegible] in Respect of the filthiness [illegible] filthiness [illegible] and [illegible], they [illegible] the naturall Philosophers, [illegible] of man [illegible] there of [illegible] who is the worke [illegible] supernaturall Matter, He (I say) Concluded by his naturall [illegible]

[illegible] as aforesaid & the Opinion of trithemius or any other naturall Conclusion is thus Answered, they are all beams of that wisdome, which is the Crowne of mans Excellency And if trithemius or any other naturall Philosopher, doth but seriously & well Observe, they shall find that true wisdome is always painted in a womans Garment, for then the purity of a Virgin, nothing is more Commendable

A Breife Summary of Severall orders & Hierarchyes of some particular Angells & Spirits

[illegible] in his admirable & great Work of the Creation, hath in his Infinite Wisdome Ordained the Heavens, as next under the Sacred throne of his Omnipotent Majesty, to Containe the mansions & Residing places of his holy ministring Angels, & Celestiall Intelligences, wherein are many Orbicular Spheares from his mighty seat, to the fiery Region in wch he hath (according to the Omnipotent [illegible] of the sacred Deity, in the unity of the Blessed trinity, [illegible] before the foundation of the world) [illegible] Hierarchyes of glorious Angels both of superiour & inferiour Orders, [illegible] in the [illegible] Orbs more superiour, & [illegible] Angels of the Heavens East west north & south, Certain Intelligences or Celestiall Angels, of [illegible] is good, & also Certain Spirits [illegible] evill, [illegible] of the [illegible] Darkness, of severall offices [illegible] of subservient Angels & spirits, who [illegible] the [illegible] will

Hyleg Hylick, which is the matter of four Elements, or of which the Elements was in his great Wisdome & marvelous Workmanship, onely Composed & made: Under whome are also many Subjects, And who hath Likewise Ordained Angelicall princes or Governours of the four Elements & ministers under them, And also hath Divided the Cœlestiall Girdle of the Zodiack, into Eight & twenty Anglis or parts, which are known to & Called by the Sons of men, the so many Mansions of ye moon, And Constituted so many presidentiall Angels therein &c: And who hath againe Divided the Heavens into Eight & forty Angles or parts, Eighteen whereof are Superiours & Cœlestiall, & the Other thirty more inferiour & Aireriall; whose Mansions are not alike, nor powers equal, for that he hath Miraculously placed Eighteen Divisions above the fiery Region in the Heavens, to be ye Mansions & Residences of these glorious Angels, who by Divine institution are primitively Ordained to be princes & Ministers of government, over all such superiour Earthly Matters, as in their several & Respective Offices they are Constituted & Appointed; the Other thirty Inferiour Ayeriall Angells [illegible] Divisions, remain Originally Designed, & amongst other Wonderfull works of the Creation Orderly placed, one above another, from the Earth to the fiery Region, in the Highest part part of the Air, where in are Located ninty one Angelicall princes or Spirituall governors, & many other Subservient Angels under them, who are spirits of the Air, not Rejected but Dignified; And who are governed by the twelve Angels of the twelve tribes: which twelve Angels are againe governed, by the seven Mighty Angels, which stand before the Most High and holy throne, & unspeakable presence, as Dispositors of the Heavenly Decrees, preordinately Determined, who transmits the Divine will & pleasure of the Highest, unto the twelve tributary Angels, & who againe Distributeth & passeth the same unto the ninty one Ayeriall princes, unto whome the Governments of the Earth is by Divine Determination Delivered, in its severall primitive Divisions & Limited proportions, & whose offices are by Superiour Appointments & Commands, sent forth or Emitted & given to ym, to bring in, & againe Dispose of Terrestiall governors & governments, & vary the natures of things, with the variation of every moment, so that the providence of the Eternal judgment of God is allready [illegible], & who hath also most Wisely & [illegible] Distributed the Earth, into four Angles or Quarters, East, West, North & South, & also placed (as it were) a watch tower, & Constituted a mighty & Royall Angell therein, as King, [illegible], governour & prince [illegible] in each particular watch tower, set over the four & respective Angles of the world, to protect & Defend all mankind from ye Usurping blasphemy, Stealth, Mischiefe, Malice & temptations, of the wicked & great Enemy of God's Glory, & the welfare of his Servants the sons of men, Children of the Creation Living on Earth; the Devill & Spirits of Darkness, to ye end that (they being put out into the Earth) their Envious will might be bridled, the Determinantions of God fullfilled, & his Creatures kept & preserved wth in the Compass & measure of Order; And who againe hath Ordained & Constituted under each Angelicall Monarch, Governing each severall watch tower (as over seers thereof) six great & benevolent Angells Called seniors or Senators, to judge the Government thereof, & to full fill his Determinate Comands, as it is written & Remembred by Saint John in his Apocalipse, and hath Likewise placed under every the Respective mighty prince, & six spirituall seniors, of each terrestiall Angle or watch tower, sixteen Goodly Angels of Light, to be Dispositors of the Comands of their superiours, under whome also are many subservient Angels, of severall natures & offices, whose names are Contained & to be found amongst many other admirable Collections &c in four tables, notes or Misticall figures, which are severally & Respectively Referred, to the four Angles or Quarters of this Terrestiall world, as they together wth there uses were delivered out of Oblivion, & brought to Light by the ministery of the Celestiall Angell, Ave & by him very freed to be the same, the same, that by the Ministry of the Celestiall Angels or Blessed Intelligences, was Revealed to Enoch: whereby he became wise [illegible] had ye spirit of wisdome & the Knowledge of the Earth, & the Creatures thereof; together with ye secret propertyes of all things therein Contained: whose mansions are Scituate in the Lowermost or inferiour part of the Ayre, next unto the Superficies of this Earthly fabrick; And thus hath the most High God in his unserchable wisdome, Ordained & Appointed, numberless of Glorious Celestiall, Ayerial & Terrestiall, Angels, of Light, & many other benevolent Angels, & Dignifyed Spirituall Creatures, of severall Names, Natures, Orders & offices, some known & many unknown unto the sons of men: Residing or Inhabiting in the severall Celestiall Orbs or Sphears, Mansions, Aires, Elements, & matter thereof, Angles & Divisions, Even from ye Imperiall Heaven unto this Inferiour Earth, many whereof, as the Superiour or Blessed Intelligences, & other Celestially winged of Light, he hath in his infinite & fatherly mercy predordained & Decreed, to be very friendly & frequently familiar, both in society & severall Conversations with his servants on Earth, & in every other Element all powers Dignified and inferiour ones not Dignified, to give obedience to the will of his servants the sons of men when they call them; by all which we may here wonderfully observe, that God hath adorned ye free Vacuum in his most admirable works of the Creation our that heaven & Earth is full of his glory, & unsearchable Majesty, for his Countenance and the glory of his Countenance, whereby he glorifyeth all things, wch exceeds the Capacity & understanding of men

Saviour

Saviour Christ saith of Judas, have I not Chosen twelve, & one of you is a Devill:

Hence it is [illegible], that a spirit having influened upon the Soul of man, he Scatters the seeds of his one notion, & such a Soul being sown with such seeds, brings forth therefrom, such things as are according to the severall & Respective offices of such spirits, Either to good or bad Effects ——

Now when a good Spirit hath influened upon a holy soul, it doth Exalt it to ye Light of Wisdome, & all things that Conduceth to an intellectuall Benignity:

But an evill spirit being transfused into a Wicked Soul, doth animate & Stir it up to all malignity &c: As theft, Manslaughter, lusts, Covetousness, Envy &c: according to what so ever the Offices of Evill spirits are. ——

Good spirits [illegible] the Soul; & also bestoweth many other good things upon us; for they give Health to ye body, & Vertue & Security to ye Soul; & what is mortall in us they take away, they Cherish, heat, & make it more Efficatious to [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] in [illegible] [illegible] intelligible [illegible]

[illegible] Good [illegible] the xx [illegible]

[illegible] according to his [illegible]

[illegible] that God is a spirit Essentiall, & in himselfe Essentiall, & working by him selfe; Essentiall in all works, & Signifying them by him selfe, so that the begining & Ending of all things that are allready (or are in him allready) & to Come, is placed in the fountaine & well spring of all Life, Comfort & increase; whereby, we see, that the Heavens & the mighty powers therein, from the Highest to ye Lowest, things yt shall have an End, & the Earth withall yt she bringeth fourth &c: yea the Lower parts (though after another manner, & by another Course) doe all hange & are Established In & upon the Unshakable power of his providence; How therefore Can the Heavens Runaway, or the Earth (for the Elect sake) want a Comforter, or the Lower places Look for Comfort. Now therefore if it be So, that ye

God Heavens Cannot Err, or if the powers, of be so mighty & full of pre-valency; if in the house of Light there be no Darkness, or from ye heavens Can proceed no wickednesse & wrong, because they are Signifyed in, [illegible] of God [illegible] is no yt [illegible] the word [illegible] a spirit in his Essentiall being, without [illegible] [illegible] measured [illegible] that the [illegible] of Gods [illegible] then a God, [illegible] which [illegible] yt with his owne [illegible] his [illegible] God [illegible] yet [illegible] Gods [illegible] rejoyceth in ye, in ye, & Loveth ye with yt Affection [illegible] wch is more then a Love: which is as much as to say, my Love is such toward you, as I am to my selfe: therefore hath God made the Earth, to be Glorifyed in the Creatures thereof: & what is he yt Glorifyeth God on Earth, but man: Can we think therefore, that the Lord of hosts, hath not a Care of us; or that there is a seat upon Earth, wherein he hath not hidden the might of his free power: Doth the Devill get a Soul yt he is not privy of, this is the power of God, & the Key of the whole world, which is the Key of mans Conscience, if he Lock not the Door but Depart & Leave it open, wo, be to yt Soul, for the prince of Darkness Entereth & is possessed, to yt Eternall woe of his Dwelling place.

[illegible] is the tree of Signification, so are the Ceremonies Appointed by God the Witnesses of Justification, for he yt Violated the Outward Law was Accursed: but the Very End of justice to Salvation, is the Obedience & [illegible] Soul [illegible] yt ye Earth & Elements shall bear witness against man in the day of judgment, [illegible] of ym Coming to God [illegible]

[illegible] for he yt [illegible] rejoyceth not for [illegible] God is [illegible] God [illegible] for he [illegible] not [illegible] in the Lord [illegible] Comforted.

[illegible] & just in all things, & Strive to make our Spirit one with God's Spirit, least he againe shoulde looke downe upon ye Earth & Say, Let us now goe downe amongst the Sons of men, for we See all things grow Contrary to their nature & Creation; Either Keeping their Dignityes & Secret Vertues Shut up in Obscurity, or else Rioteously perishing, through the imbecility & frowardness of Ignorance, therefore I Delight not in the world: the Elements are Defiled, the Sons of men wicked, their bodyes become Dunghills, & their Inward parts (the Secret Chambers of their hearts) the Dens & Dungeons of wickedness: therefore I will Draw my spirit from amongst them, & they shall become more Drunk, & their Ignorance Such as never was: no not Since ye fall of heavens, for I have tucked up my Garments & am fled away, & shee shall mourne on ye mountains, as a Widdow without Comfort &c:

[illegible] to make our [illegible] Cleane, [illegible] out of our thoughts [illegible] that [illegible] from [illegible] us & [illegible] to be forgiven for [illegible] [illegible], or that [illegible] holy, faithfull & [illegible]: And [illegible] wickedness [illegible] that the mercyes of God [illegible] [illegible] Deserve the [illegible] Grace [illegible] God that he justifieth him [illegible] that hath any thing whereon his Bo-

Bowells Can Rejoyce, wherein Can he Determine Happiness to him selfe; And if the Life of man be Sin, there is it hated full, but who is he yt hateth it: But Even the Highest which is above, & is farthest from iniquity: Great therefore is the Un happiness of man, when Naturally he is, & loves to be hated of God, whose Service is justice, & whose Delight is peace, Let us Consider therefore the Mercyes of God, through his loving Kindness toward our weakness, & humbly Ejaculate, to be fortified by his power, which maketh those strong, that have no power, of them selves, for of Dust we are become flesh, & of flesh the Servants of Sin, that at Length we might be made free, through the mercyes of him which hath Entred into our Weaknesses, & weighed out his blood for our Redemption, Even he wch hath paid the Uttermost penny for our Ransome; And why: not that the Intent we should brag of our selves, but that we should maintaine justice into the works of Righteousness, [illegible] those whome God Sanctifyeth (being holy) [illegible] [illegible] Uncleth [illegible] that [illegible] are Sanctifyed (viz) the people of God [illegible] Mystically [illegible] through the [illegible] of God; [illegible] the Sanctification [illegible] the thing Sanctifyed [illegible]

[illegible] influences of the stars or planets, are principally drawn from the Superiour Angelicall powers, & Celestiall intelligent Angels, as Afforesaid, disposing the Soul of man, which is the Seat of those Vertues ——————

The planets dispose the body onely giving it a tractable Complection, proportionated & tempered for every Good thing they being the instruments of the Intelligences, but God (as ye primary Cause) doth yeild both influence & increase to all. Wherefore, if the Soul work well in this body, it Returneth to that Divine power & mantion, from whence it descended. These are the degrees, or Ladders by which men doe easily ascend to all kinds of powers, by a certaine naturall Connexion, according to ye [illegible] dispositions of the body [illegible], by ye favour of the stars in disposing of the body, & the intelligences Ruling [illegible] the [illegible] of which, the soul in its [illegible], [illegible] on the Supreame power of the Creator favouring, without whose Divine grace & benevolence permitting, no good thing can be effected. ——————

We are nextly to show forth, how their benevolent Influences are depraved, in these inferiour things, & observe ye Causes of Evill

[illegible] & Vertue is from above, from God, the Intelligences, and Stars, who can neither Err, nor Do Evill; it followeth, that all Evill, & whatever is found Dissonant & Disagreeing in these inferiour things, proceedeth, not from any Malignity of the influence, but from ye Evill Disposition of the Receiver. ——————

[illegible] the perverse, or its debility Cannot Endure the Efficacy of ye Superiours, then by the Heavenly influences thus received, into a Matter full of Discords, Somewhat Dissonant Deformed & Evill proceed. —————— [illegible] Celestiall powers, alwayes remain Good, which while they Exist in themselves, & from ye Giver of Light, have their influence by ye holy intelligences & the Heavens.

[illegible] (as it were) in the first degree, but that it commeth [illegible] in a [illegible] subject, it is also vilified, then [illegible] the Recipient is Received after [illegible] ye Qualities Disagreeing in the same subject, amongst them [illegible] patiently suffering in the subject from [illegible] the [illegible], doth [illegible] the [illegible] full Qualities in these inferiours, is far Different from ye influx of the Heavens; for as [illegible] Impressions and and Condignityes, is not to be imputed to ye judge, butt to the Evill Disposed Malefactor; So neither is the faults of wickednes, to be Cast on the Calestiall Influences.

[illegible] that we being ill Disposed, the Calestiall Influences Co-operate all things, for Good; but we being Evill Disposed, & having ye Divine Good which was in us, through our Sins & wickednesse Departed from us, all things work for Evill: therefore the Cause of all our Evills is Sin, which is the Disorder & Distemper of the Soul.

We thus falling Down, & Declining from what the Calestiall Influences Require, all things Rebell, are Distempered & work together for our Distruction.

Then in Mans Body (being Otherwise most temperate & Composed with most sweet harmony) the Distemper of the Elements beginneth, Evill humours Ariseth, [illegible] Disordered & [illegible] from one another [illegible] Elements [illegible] to torment the body.

[illegible]

[illegible] Tediousnesse, Anguish, Melancholly, Madnesse, Sadnesse, Obstinacy, Rigidnesse, Blasphemy, Disperation, Lying, Apparitions, Affrightments, Walkings of the Dead, Stirrings of Devills, &c:

Jupiter Sends Down Covetousness, Tyrany & Evill Ocations to get Wealth, Mars Sends Down prophand Arrogancy, furious wrath, violent boldness, fierce Stubbornesse, &c:

Sol [illegible] Imperious pride, & in Satiable Ambition &c:

Venus [illegible] Lacivious Loves & filthy Lusts, &c

Mercury [illegible] Cozenages, Deceits, Lyes, Subtle desires of Evill propensity to Sin.

Luna, the inconstant progresse of all things, & whatsoever is Contrary to Mans Nature &c:

By this [illegible] Man receiveth hurt by Reason of his Unlikness with heavenly things, [illegible]

[illegible]

(he fore knowing their natures) by preventing, takeing heed, & Defending Least they should meet him, & least an ill Disposed subject should Receive hurt, whence it ought to Reap benefit,

T[illegible] Celesti[illegible] Hi[illegible]: Theologically Constructed, & Divided, together with a breif Discription of the Heavenly M[illegible]ia, & other Servient and Assisting Angels &c

T[illegible] Celesti[illegible] Hi[illegible], or Orders of Angels, (as we said before) are nine & they are those [illegible], Dominations, powers, virtues, principalities, Archangels, & Angels: & they are said to be of three kinds, & so are Divided into three parts; Superiour, Middle, & inferiour

The Superiour Hierarchies, are Seraphim, Cherubim, & thrones, these are Supercelestiall Angels, and are only about God: these Rule not the bodyes of ye World, [illegible] the government of [illegible] things, But [illegible] the inferiour Orders; [illegible] Correspondin[illegible] [illegible] the Orders of Divine providence, the first in the goodness of God, the second in the Essence of God (as the form) the third in the wisdom of God.

[illegible] are Dominations [illegible] & [illegible] they [illegible] to ye government of the world; the first of these [illegible] the third [illegible] the [illegible] ministers [illegible]

And sometimes Conspire to Miraculus Operations: the third Drives away those things, that seem to be able to Disturb the Divine Law ——

[illegible] Hierarch[illegible]s are principallityes, Arch-Angels, & Angels: these as Ministering Spirits, Desend to take Care of inferiour things, & are Called Certaine Invisible powers: for sometimes, they being Visible to none, Do Direct our jorneys, & all our buisinesses, & are oftn present att battles, & by secret helps Doe give the Desired Successes to their freinds, for at there pleasure they Can procure prosperity, or inflict adversity: the first of these take Care of publick things, as of princes Magistrates, provinces & Kingdoms, &c: As we read in Daniel, But the princes of the Kingdome of persia withstood me twenty one Days; But jesus the son of Syrach testifieth, that for every nation a Ruling Angel is Appointed; also Moses in the Song of Deutrenomy [illegible] the [illegible] Nations, [illegible] God; the second [illegible] [illegible] men, [illegible] God; the third Disposeth [illegible] also [illegible] Ministering [illegible] inferiours on earth are Committed to them to be Disposed of.

[illegible] who are next to God, & Magnifie him incessantly with Continuall hymns & praises, there are Other Orders which are Called the Militia of Heaven. ——

The [illegible] is Called the Doctrinall order, of which order was that Angell which spake to Daniel, Saying, Come that I may teach ye what shall Come to thy people in the Last dayes ——

The second is the Tutelar Order, of which mention is Made in Daniel Saying, behold Michael, one of the princes Cometh to my help, And Els where, in that time shall rise up Michael a great prince, who Standeth for the Sons of thy people, & of this Order was Raphael, who Conducted forth, attended & brought back Tobias. ——

The [illegible] is the [illegible] Order, of which mention is made in [illegible] [illegible]

[illegible] an Hundred & Eighty five thousands.

[illegible] is the [illegible] Order [illegible]

The [illegible] is the Order of Assistants, of which we Read in Zacharaiah, Saying, these are the two Sons of the Oyl of Splendor, who assist the Ruler of the whole Earth —— (G)

From hence may be Observed, how the most high God in his immense wisdome, hath Ordained & Constituted, the Orders & offices of the Celestiall Hierarchyes of Good Angells, & their government over the stars, & from thence over All sublunary things &c: [illegible] [illegible] Elementall, some Animall, [illegible] [illegible] Mineral, some Lunar[illegible]: [illegible] its [illegible] both Celestiall, Sensitive, [illegible] [illegible] Sublunary [illegible] [illegible] East, [illegible] West, [illegible] North, [illegible] South. [illegible] earthly, the spirits of these [illegible] are Compounded according to the four Celestiall powers (Sic?)

[illegible] Reason, Imagination, & the Vivifying & Moving Nature. The fiery followeth the [illegible], whence they Concur to the Contemplation of more sublime things &c ——

The Ayrian followeth the Reason: & favor the Rationall faculty, and after a Manner Separate it from the Sensitive & Vegetative facultyes, & so it Serveth for an Active Life, as the fiery Serveth for a Contemplative.

The Watry followes the imagination, & Serves for a Voluptuous Life.

The Earthly followes Nature, & favours Vegetable nature. (H)

Having briefly treated of the Celestiall Hierarchies of Good Angels, & of their severall & Respective Quaternions, Orders, offices, natures, & mutuall Concords, [illegible] both amongst themselves [illegible] [illegible] shall in the next place [illegible] of their [illegible] Celestiall, Terrestiall [illegible] [illegible] of their [illegible] offices [illegible] and [illegible].

[illegible] [illegible] from [illegible] & [illegible] from [illegible] [illegible] Mysteries should be [illegible] [illegible] good Angells [illegible] to [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] spirits [illegible]

In the Superior or Celestiall world: So many Unclean Spirits are there in the inferiour or Terrestiall World; And now we shall shew fourth Some Severall of the Hierarchies, Names, Natures, Orders, offices Qualityes Distinctions & ~~Dignations~~ Derivations of the Ayeriall, Terrestiall & infernall Spirits ——

Of the [illegible] Orders of Evil Spirits or ([illegible]) [illegible]

[illegible] Orders, or Hierarchies of Good Angels, So is there also nine Degrees of those that are Evill: & they are as followeth (viz).

[illegible] called ~~[illegible]~~ false gods, whose ~~[illegible]~~ Prince is Belzebub, that is an old god, who said I will ascend above the height of the clouds, I will be like to the most high; who usurping the name of gods, would be worshiped for gods, & Require adorations & Sacrifices, as that Devill who said to Christ, if thou wilt fall down & worship me, I will give thee [illegible]

The [illegible] Order is called the Spirits of Lyes, whose prince is the Serpent Pytho, these Spirits joyne them selves to the Oracles, & Deceive men by Divinations & predictions, to Deceive them, of this sort was that spirit who went forth, & was a lying spirit in the mouthes of the prophets of Ahab, [illegible] & to that woman of whome we read in the Gospel, who had a pytho in her Belly -

The third [illegible] Vessels of Iniquity, & Vessels of wrath: David Calls them Vessels of Death, Isaiah cals them Vessels of fury, Jeremiah calls them Vessels of Wrath, Ezekiel Calls them Vessels of Slaying & Destroying: whose prince is Belial: which is by interpretation, without a yoak, or Disobedient, a prevarication & an Apostate, of whome St paul to the Corinths, Saith, what agreement hath Christ with Belial, these are the inventors of wicked Arts, & of all Evill things, for all wickedness, Malice & Deformity, proceedeth from these:

The fourth order is called Revengers of Evill, whose prince is Asmodeus Causing Judgment. ——

The fifth order is called Deluders, whose prince is Sathan, of whome it is written in the Apocalips, that he Seduceth the whole world, Doing great Signes, Causing fire to Descend from heaven in the sight of men Seducing the inhabitants of the Earth, by means of the signes that are given him to Do, these [illegible] Miracles [illegible] &c [illegible] Seduce the people by their Miracles, as the Serpent Seduced Eve &c.

The sixth order is called Aeriall powers, whose prince is Meririm, raging in the South, a Boyling spirit, whome St paul to the Ephesians Calleth ye prince of the power of this Air, & the spirit yt now worketh in the children of Disobedience, these joyne themselves to thunders & lightnings, Corrupting the Air, Causing pestilences [illegible] evills, amongst which are ye four Angels four Angels mentioned in the Apocalips, to whome power is given to hurt the Earth & the Sea, holding the four winds, from ye four Corners of the Earth &c:

The seaventh Order is Called furies whose prince is Called in Greek / hebrew Apollyon / Abaddon that is Destroying & wasting, these are powers of Evill, Causing Discords, war & Devastations, &c:

The eight Order, is Called Accusers or Inquisitors, whose prince is Astaroth, that is a Searcher out, he is Called in Greek Diabolos, that is an accuser or Calumniator, who in the Revelations, is Called the accuser of the Brethren, Accusing them night & Day, before the face of our God.

The ninth Order is Called, tempters & Ensnarers, whose prince is Mammon, that is Covetousness: one of these spirits is present wth every man, which we therefore call, the Evill Genius.

[illegible] there are other particular spirits both good & Evill [illegible] & appointed of Severall Degrees, Natures & Offices, some whereof are According to the four parts, Angels or [illegible] of the Compass, East, West, North & South; called [illegible] Aeriall [illegible] spirits of the Ayre, of which are many Legions, some of nature & office, are said to be both good & evill, or particular [illegible] attending [illegible] In fulfilling the sacred will & Revenging the judgments of the Highest, When Commanded or Appointed.

[illegible] as principall Governors, set Over many other Legions of spirits of Different & Severall Degrees from Superiour to inferiour natures, orders & Qualityes, as Comparitively from great princes, & so gradually to the most inferiour & meanest Peasante, whose names are as followeth.

East Urieus or Oriens	West paymon	North Egin	South Amaymon

According to other Authentick Denominations they are Called by ye names

Oriens	Panym	Egim	Mayrary

But according to the tradition of the Hebrew Rabbins, they are thus nominated

Samuel	Azael	Mahazuel	Azazel

Under whom many other bear Rule as princes, &c: of Legions, & there are of this sort Innumerable spirits of private Offices, as before said. (I) [illegible] touching spirits.

The [illegible] bodyes of Good Angels [illegible] Quality [illegible] Materiall [illegible] shadows [illegible] & may be [illegible] body yet [illegible] visible [illegible] touched & suffers [illegible] in Sundry

In sunder, yet it Comes together againe, As Ayre & water, butt in ye meane time is much pained.

These Spirits are neither altogether Visible nor Invisible, & Sometimes being Conspicuous, are turned into Divers figures, & assume Similitudes & Shadows sic of Bloodless Images, Drawing the filthiness of a grosse body, And by reason of there Affinity with Earth & water, are also taken wth terrestiall pleasures & Lusts, of which Sorts are Hobgoblins, Incubus & Succubus &c: —

There [illegible] of them supposed to be male or female, seeing this Diff=erence of Sex belongs to Compounds, butt their Bodyes are Simple, neither Can any of them turn them selves in to all Shapes at their pleasure, Except those that are fiery & Ayery, & unto those Kinds it is Easie to Change them selves in to what shapes their Imagination Conceives.

sic, As for [illegible] terrean, the dark spirits, because their Nature is Concluded in the straights [illegible] thick [illegible], they [illegible] those [illegible] of shapes as others can.

B[illegible] the [illegible] [illegible] by [illegible] the [illegible] [illegible] of the [illegible] for [illegible] Like unto Women [illegible] Kind are the Fayries of the Rivers [illegible] Nymphs [illegible] the woods.

These Spirits which [illegible] Dry places &c:

These Spirits which [illegible] Dry places, being of Dryer Bodyes, show themselves In formes of men, Such are those wch are Called Onoscelli, or Satyrs, wth Asses Legs, or fauni & Incubi; of which there were very many (as is Certainely & by Experience Known) & that often-times, Some of ym Did Desire, & made Compacts wth Women to Lye wth them: &c: ——

There are also a Certaine Kind of Spirits, not So noxious, offencive, hurtfull, Noysome, or Displeasing, butt most near to Men, & are affected wth humane passions, Delighting much in Mans Society, & Doe Willingly Dwell wth him. Some also there are, which often meet poore men, Women & Children, but they are affraid of & fly from men of Constant, Credulus & undaunted minds and Resolutions; And to good & pure men they are no way offencive, but to men yt are wicked & impure they are Very noxious & hurtfull. Some Like wise, there are who Sett upon Women, Some upon Children, Some there are that are Delighted in the Company of [illegible] Domestick [illegible] Animals, Some in wilde Woods, & parks, Some Dwell about fountaines & Meddowes ([illegible]) but for Brevity Sake, [illegible] and [illegible] to the following, Discovering briefly the names of most of those Kindes of terrestiall Spirits, Fayryes, Elphs, Goblins, or what names else they may be Called: together with what [illegible] things they doe [illegible].

Fairies, Hobgoblins, Elves — in Champion fields — Naiades — — — — — Fountaines — Potamides — — — — — Rivers — — Nymphs — — — — — Marches & ponds — Oreades — — — — — Mountaines — — Humides — — — — — Meadows — — — Dryades & Hamadryades — — Woods Satyrs & Sylvani — — — Trees Brakes & Bushes — [illegible] & Agapae — — — Flowers — — — Dodonae — — — — — Acornes, fruits — — — Paleae & Feniliae — — — Fodder & the Country —

There are Likewise Certaine things Vulgarly Called Gnomi, or inhabitors of the mountaines, but of Some improperly Sylphes, or Pygmies, or halfe ~~men~~ Men, we say improperly by ye Reason that some Credible Testimonialls do make this Distinction, Calling the gnomi Spirits of the earth, Sylphes Spirits of the Ayre, Salamandry spirits of the fire, & the Nimphy spirits of the water. These (viz Gnomi) are not properly Said to be Spirits but Like spirits. And if we shall Call them spirits, then Ought they to be Called Earthly Spirits, because they have their Habitation in Mines & such Like places, & where treasures & other things are hid and and obscured or Lost under the Earth, or Rather in the Bowells thereof: and also under those Mountaines, where there is plenty of Goold & Silver, & other the Like places, Mineralls & things, Conducing to the same Course & purpose, wherefore they are said to be possessed with all temporall things, and are much Delighted therewith, & Do take the Care & Custody thereof, & will not willingly Depart therefrom.

Those who work in Mines & Dig Metals, have great knowledge of these spirits, for Some times they Do trouble, Molest, vex & much persecute the Labourious Diggers, with blows & stripes, And at other times they are benevolent & friendly to them, & will work for Wages, &c: And at other times admonishing them & warning them of Dangers & Death, as when they are heard once, twice, thrice, or oftener to Knock or strike, in the same place, Which foretells the Death of him ye Digg[illegible] or Labours there, if he heed not the [illegible] [illegible] [illegible], for [illegible] he [illegible] [illegible] by the fall of the Moor [illegible] or poisoned by some other the Like Accident, All which is said to be true, as hath been Certainly attested by ye Experience & Knowledge of those that doe Dig in Mines, & search in ye Bowells of the earth for [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] following

These [illegible] although they are Little by Nature, Yet they Can appear as big & great, or in what other Stature or Corporature they please unto Men, & Either fair, Deformed, Rich or poor to our Imagination. —————— [illegible] Knowing in all Arts that are or Can be found out, In all the Light of nature, & Containe the Knowledge & understanding of them all within themselves. Tis said that they, as well as ye Gnomi, have many Mines of all Sorts of Mettals, & great Store of treasures hid in the Earth &c: Under their power & Custody, And Many times they Doe afford Great benefit (in severall Respects) to Mankind &c: ———

The nature of these [illegible] or Elphs is, they are affected with Love [illegible] that Love them [illegible] Know [illegible] in a great measure, [illegible]
It Comes to pass, that [illegible] to [illegible]

Of this sort [illegible] are Likewise those, which [illegible] Commonly Called Fairies, of which they [illegible] thus [illegible]

Tis Credibly [illegible] that in antient times ~~that~~ many of these ~~Affi~~ aforesaid gnomes, Faires Elphs & other terrestiall & wandering spirits, have been seen & heard amongst Men, but now it is said & beleived that they are not so frequent; yet it is Certainely averred & Creditably Reported, that some of them have been Discovered & seen, but here we shall Acquiesce touching the Difference of there not appearing, or being not so Conversant with and amongst Men so frequently in Latter times, as they are said Usualy to Doe in ~~Aintient~~ Antient times; by Reason the Cause thereof may be very easily Conjectured, by the Meanest Capacity. —— (K) fourth to Visible appearance (in a Christall Stone or glass) as one usuall way or Customary forme is amongst the Learned Magicians, then the signe or token of there appearance most seemeth Like as a Vaile or Curtaine of some ~~Beauti~~ Beautifull Colour, hanging in or about the stone or glasse, as a bright Cloude or other pretty Kinds of Hieroglifficall shew, both strange & yet very delightfull to behold: it is therefore to be Remembered, that the Magicall Sophy Ought to have for this purpose a Christall Stone, of a round Globick forme, very Cleare & transparent, or other stone of the Like Diaphanity, or Ball of Clear & solid Glasse, or thick hollow Glasse, with a Little hole on the top of Like forme, of any Convenient bigness or Diamiter, According as Can Reasonably be obtained or made, & the stone to be set or fastened in a frame, & also the glasses to be made with a ~~Staulk~~ Stalk or shank fixed there to, & so to be put in a socket with a foot or pedestall to stand upright; the stone being called by ye name of a shew stone, & the glasses of ye same [illegible] or glasse Receptacles, in practice of Action upon invocation [illegible] for spirituall appearance, there must either be a wax Candle on each side thereof or a Lamp behind the same burning During the time of Action, set on a table ~~afront~~ a part fitted & furnished for this purpose, & if ye Appearance (as aforesaid) be moved for upon invocation, out of the shew stone or glasse Receptacles, or if yet notwithstanding Appearances happen to shew themselves out of them, yet the signes of there appearance will be very Delectable, & pleasant, though various and amusing the senses to behold, as a shining brightness or sudden flashes, or such like similitudes very splendid in shew, all about, or in the place where action is made or appearance is moved. When invocation is made to any of the Celestiall powers, or other Dignified Elementall Spirits of Light, & appearance accordingly is presented and visibly sheweth it selfe, either in the shew stone, or Glass Receptacle, or otherwise out of the same, then view the same very well, & also take notice of its Corporature, Physognomy, or features of the face, vestures or Garments, Deportment & behaviour, Language, & whatsoever Els may be worthy of note; by Reason of making a true Distinction between the appearances of Good Angels or Spirits, & others that are Evill, & of Knowing the same without being Deceived, for although Evill powers or spirits of Darkness, may be Invocated, moved or called fourth to Visible appearance & Constrained [illegible] in such Cases [illegible] such [illegible] by nature & office, they may be commanded to serve [illegible] such [illegible] according as there [illegible] Dependent, but the Necessity thereof shall be [illegible] & Requisite, but their Actions with them [illegible] different & [illegible] both in time, place & order, & also the manner of apparition, [illegible] by them are Diversifyed [illegible] where there [illegible] in its proper place, Therefore [illegible] Magick Philosophie [illegible] this Caution [illegible], Beware that one [illegible] action, operation, or secret in this Art be not be not mixed with another, &c: but let Cælestiall, Elementall & Infernall Actions, operations, & invocations, be used & kept apart or seperate, according to the Method & manner as are in particular ~~Ascribed~~, & properly referred unto each of them; now then Observe yᵗ the Appearance of Cælestiall & Benevolent Angels, & other Dignified Elementall Spirits, or powers of Light, are to be thus known or distinguished from those that are Infernall or evill powers or spirits of Darkness, the Good Angels or Dignified powers of Light as afore said, are in Countenance very fair, beautifull, Affable & Youthfull, smiling, Amiable, & usually of a flaxenish or Gold Coulored haire, & in behavior or gesture very Curteous & freindly, in speech very Gentle, Mild, Grave, & Eloquent, using no vaine, Idle or superfluous Language, or Discourse; in their Corporature very handsome, straite, Comely, well favored, & in every Limb most Exactly formall & well Composed, their motions sometimes Intersepi-rable, both in their appearance, Countenance & deporture, & their Garments & vestures, of what fashion, forme, or colour soever they be, are likewise very faire, beautifull or shining, & not of any [illegible] or strange fashion, yet they are also very splendid, rare & comely to behold; & in short, they are all Cælestially Glorious in all their Appearances, as they are in ~~Continuance~~ Countenance & Corporature most comely, beautifull, Amiable & well composed, without any of the Least Deformity, Either of hairyness in the face or body, or a swarthy Complexion, or any Crookedness, or either an Ill shaped member of the body, so also is their Garments or vestures, without spot or blemish, Either of being Ragged, or torne or stained, or by any wise to be seemingly Durty, or Daubed, with any filthy, Greasy or nasty soile, & always embrace the word Mercy. When the appearance of any Cælestiall Angels, or Angellical powers of Light, or Dignified Elementall spirits are visibly shewed forth, & by good testimony or Diligent Observation well known to be so; then with Dew Reverence given thereto, may be said as followeth Wellcome be the Light of the Highest, & wellcome be the messagers of Divine Grace & mercy unto us, the true servants & worshipers of the same yͤ God, whose name be Glorified both now & for Evermore.

And if the appearances be of God, then it will stay, but if not, it will Immediately vanish, or flee hastyly away at the Rehersing of yͤ word Mercy. But if any Evill power shall appear in the place or stead of that which is Good, & impudently withstand any especiall, then vanquish it as in this case Evill spirits are to be dealt withall, in manner & forme as here after is inserted in its place; by reason those powers or spirits who are by nature Evill, & so are Contrary to those by nature Good, may not be dealt withall in those actions or operations, nor those powers of Light, by nature good, to be moved in Reference to that otherwise properly appertaineth or Belongeth by nature & office to yͤ Evill powers or spirits of Darkness, more than as for their Assista-nce

Assistance, & so accordingly for Deliverance from any Violent Surprizall, assaults, or Illusions, or other infernall temptations or Envious attem̄pts &c:

Note then if by these Observations, the Expected appearance is understood & found to be Celestiall & of God, or to be Dignified Elementall spirits or powers of Light, & so likewise of God, as accordingly was invocated, moved & Called forth by name, order & office, to such appearances (Say thus)

Are ye the Same, whome we have moved & Called forth to Visible appearance here before us at this time, by the name of N: or who Else are ye & of what order, or what is Els ye name, that we may So note of yee; Either as yee may be Rankled in order, amongst the blessed Angels, or otherways Known or Called by of any Mortall man, if you be of Celestiall or Elementall Verity & so of Charity yee cannot Mislike of or deny these our sayings ——

Then if it [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] peradventure it may then Make Reply according as the Nature of the Discourse requireth, but if it Maketh no answer, then repeat the words afforesaid, [illegible] ye the [illegible] &c:

Then it will then forthe [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] the which when it is Known by hearing, then it will speake, or [illegible] Shew forth, say then as followeth if ye be N: as yee say, in the name of Jesus, say that all wicked angels are justly Condemned, & that by the mercy of God in the merits of Christ, mankind Elect are to be saved

Whereunto it will then returne, a Satisfactory answer or, Els it will Depart & be gon away; then if the appearance be of God, as may be Known by the answer & the Reasons thereof, that was made or given to the afforesaid proposition, — Say as followeth ——

Ye servants or Messagers, of Divine grace & mercy, & terrestiall Angels or angellicall powers of Light, or Dignified Elementall Spirits & mediums of Benevolence to mankind, Servants of God, yee both now at this time & allways, are & shall be unto us truly & Sincerly wellcome; humbly Desiring yee also to be freindly unto us, & Do for us, In what soever it shall please god to give by ye Order & office unto yee, for the better Knowledge & benefit of mankind Living on Earth, & to Make us partakers of true Science & Sapiense, in the Undefiled & Secret wisdome of ye Creation ——

[illegible] [illegible] [illegible] moved & be mild [illegible] [illegible] Discourse from hence should arise or proceed here upon, then both wisdome & Reason must be the principall Conduct in the Management thereof; But if there be Silence, & yt no Discourse Ariseth from hence, then begin to make humble request for answer, to such Desires & proposalls, as in a Certaine Writing is Contained or [illegible] out, to be in Readiness wth yee, whereby will be effected [illegible] things [illegible] [illegible] with good Success Determined &c:

The Signes or [illegible] of Evill Spirits, when action or Invocation is otherwise made, for moveing & Calling forth Celestiall Angels or Intelligences, or other Dignified powers or Elementall Spirits of Light, and not Apparent or Visible to be any wayes Discernable, more then their Shapes, formes Gestures, & other like principalls in Appearance, quite Contrary behaviour, Language, Clothing or Vestures, to those above Related, & to be Observed of the Good &c: neither are the Evill to be Otherwayes judged of them then as intruders, tempters & illuders, on purpose if possible to Deceive, & also to Destroy the preserverance & hopes of Obtaining any Benefit by Celestiall good & mediums; by Reason they are Degraded & Deprived of power, to Send or Shew forth any forgoing Signe of their appearance, in those or Such Superiour Actions, in Vocating or moveing onely Celestiall or Dignified Elementall powers &c to Visible Appearance; & therein to be noe otherwise taken for then notice of, then to be Vanquished & Sent away, as before have been Said. Observe then that the Corporeall formes & Shapes of Evill powers or Spirits of Darkness, in their appearance by forceable intrusion of this Kind, are Easy to be Discovered from the good powers or Spirits of Light, as Soon Shall be Declared as followeth —

Evill powers or Spirits of Darkness, are Ugly Illfavored, & Beastly in Shape & appearance, wherein Observe if they doe appear in upright

Or humane Stature, then Either body, face or Covering are quite Contrary to the other before Specified of the good, for although an Evill or infernall Spirit, may appeare in the Likeness of an Angel of Light, Especially in the time & place, when Good Angels or Spirits of Light are Invocated moved & Called forth, forming them selves Very nearly, So Even almost imperceptable to Sight & apprehention, Except Ingeniously Discovered by an accute & Curious observance, and Clearly may be Discerned Quickly, by there Raggedness & Uncleaness of their Garments, & the Difference of there Countenance in beauty & features, & other indecent Composures of the body, Language and behaviour, & the Corporall Deformityes of the Limbs, or beastiall Similitudes, who in Such times Do Suddainely make their Appearance, and as Readyly Shew forth strange motions Gestures, & Speaking Unusuall blasphemous, Rediculous or Different Language, Alltogether Dissonant & Contrary & very Unlike, both in Manner & matter, to that of the Celestiall Angels, & Elementall powers & other Dignified Spirits of Light, which also may be Soon Discovered by the Diligence of a Sober & Curious Speculator, in the notable Intrusions, they make on this account, properly to Destroy, if possibly, to overthrow the Reason, hope & judgement of ye Invocant, & by great Errours & other Ignorant Mistakes, not onely to Deceive & Confound the more Solid & Genuine

Genuine Knowledge & Capacity of man Laboring herein, but also to Distract the Sences, & thereby Leade the Understanding into a Meander, & therein to weary & tyre us with Varity of Doubts & Disparations, not Knowing how to unRavell this Gordion Knot, or to be Satisfied or Delivered from this hopeless pilgrimage, but by the hopes of Icarian Wings ——————

From hence it may be Understood, that Evill powers or spirits of Darkness, sooner appear as Impudent Intruders, in the time of Good action, & in place where invocation is made, for ye moving & Calling forth of any good Angels, or Dignified Elementall powers, or spirits of Light to Visible Appearance, then at any other time & place, when as unto themselves they shall be Indifferently by order, office & name, invocated, moved & Called forth to Visible appearance for such their assistance, as by nature & office wherein they are accordingly serviceable & suitable to the ocation wherein they are Commanded, therefore in such actions, Method, forme of observations, were to be onely Referred unto these Evill powers or spirits of Darkness, those ocations (we say) are Differently set apart, & to be Distinguished both in time, place, order & Method forme & Otherwise as afore said, & so they may be moved & Called forth Commanded & Constrained & accordingly so Dealt withall & used, as the present ocation shall Require &

And the Direction of the Invocant shall find agreeable to their Nature & office. So then, here it is Observable, that Evill Spirits may be invocated & Dealt withall, Differently or apart by y^m selves accordingly as aforesaid, but not in such place or at such time, as when Action or Motion is made for the appearance of any Cælestiall or other Dignified powers of Light. And here it is to be observed further, that Evill powers or Spirits of Darkness & Other Elementall powers or Deferent spirits, by nature Good as well as Evill & other Wandering Spirits, non Resident in order certaine of Like nature &c: may be Commanded & Constrained by invocation to servis & obedience Comparitively as Vile Slaves accordingly as Elsewhere in a particular treatis & invocations properly thereto Referred, with severall Other Appertinent Rules & Observations inserted therein, as amply & at Large showed forth, but Cælestiall Angels & other Dignified Elementall powers & spirits of Light, by nature & office wholly Benevolent & good may not be Commanded nor Constrained by any meanes; they are onely to be moved & Called forth by humble intreaties, thereby acquiring favor & freindship ——————

Now then if at any time & place, when Action or motion is made, & humbly intreated Earnestly besought, for the appearance of any Cælestiall Angel or Dignified Elementall power, or other Spirit

Spirit or Spirits of Light, & wicked Intruders should impudently Insinuate & thrust themselves in place, & would Enforce Credulity into the Speculator, &c:

And that it shall be plainly Discovered, then shall the master Sophy Dismiss, Discharge & send away & banish them from hence after this Manner &c:

The Vengance of God is a two Edged Sword, Cutting Rebellious & wicked spirits of Darkness, & all other Usurping powers in peeces the hand of God is like a strong Oake which when it falleth Breaketh in Sunder many Shrubs, the Light of his Eyes Expelleth from Darkness, & the Sweetness of his mouth Keepeth Corruption; Blessed are all those unto whome he showeth mercy & preser=

[illegible] or Blessed Intelligence, who by name is Called [illegible] & all other the sacred Celestiall Angels of the Order of Seraphin, Residing & Located by Mansion proper, in that Orb or sphaere of heaven Called the primum Mobile or the first Moveable heaven particularly Resited & Mentioned ~~[illegible]~~ Moved & Called forth to Visible appearance as in the foregoing Invocation is & hath been of us Lately & more at Large Rehearsed humbly Sollisited, Supplicated, & Earnestly requested by y by the Vertue power, force & Efficacy whereof, & of all the Royall words & Sentences therein Contained, & also by the great Mighty powerfull & Excellent name of the Most high God [illegible] and his numerall attribute Lether, or otherwise by the truest, & most Especiall name of ye God; we the servants also of the highest, reverently here present in his holy feare, Attending his Divine grace Mercy, & good pleasure paternally unto us herein, Do by the Strength, & power of our faith hope & Confidence in our God and our Confirmation in his holy Spirit, Dignifiing us with Superiour power & perfection, humbly Entreat, & Earnestly Request & powerfully move ye, O ye Great Angel, or blessed Intelligences from the Superiour to the Inferiour, in Generall & particular, Every & Each one for and by It selfe respectively, by Degrees nature & office, Residing & being in the mansion or ninth Orb, or the first Movable Heaven & serving the Commands of the Highest, in the Order or Hierarchy of Angels Called Seraphim, move therefore O ye Great & glorious Angel [illegible], or some one or more or Either of ye, O ye sacred Celestiall Angells of the order of Seraphim, by Degree nature & office & by the Vertue power & Efficacy of all aforesaid, Descend & appear Visibly unto us in this C:S: or G: R: or otherwise out of the same here before us, as it shall please God, & also ye his servants & Celestiall Messengers of Divine Grace & mercy, & to show forth plainely unto us [illegible] remarkable signe or token foregoing ye Cuming and Appearance, & be freindly unto us & Do f

& Do for us, as for the Servants of the highest, Whereunto in his name we Do Againe Earnestly Request & move ye, both in power & presence, whose friendship unto us herein & workes, shall be a song of honour, & the praise of ye God in ye Creation, &c:

Some further instructions,

When Invocation & Replycation, thereunto is amply Made according to time Method, & order, & the Celestiall Angel, or Intelligence thereby moved Doth appeare, or any other angel or Intelligence of the same Hierarchy, then marke & observe well the manner, shape, form; Corporature Gesture, Vestments, & foregoing signe thereof, & if in all Symbolicall Likelyhood, & probable Symtoms, the Apparition seemeth to be no lesse, or otherwise Conjectured, then what is from hence to be Expected, although that very Intelligence, which was moved & Called forth by name, doth not appeare, by Reason it is of the superior Order of the Hierarchy who are not allways sent, nor easily go forth, neither are allowed to visible appearance, but of Especiall grace & Divine pleasure more immediately, ... to Chosen & peculiar Vessels of honour, accordingly Appointed Immediately, by the holy Ghost to fullfill the Commands of the highest, but yet some one or other or more of the Celestiall powers of the same Order (as aforesaid) more Inferiour in Degree may be moved hereby to Descend & Appeare

And appear at the Earnest Request of the Sophick Invocant, and to performe whatsoever shall be Requested, according to its nature and office It cannot be unknowne to any Discreet Magician, but whensoever any Good Angel or Celestiall intelligence, is moved or Called forth to visible Appearance, but also that Evill spirits & infernall powers of Darkness, are Immediately ready to incroach, & appeare in the Roome or stead of ye Good Angels, wherefore, It behoveth to be very Carefull & greatly Observing thereof, both the Method, & manner, how to Know & Rightly to Distinguish, the appearance of Good Angels or spirits, from those that are evill, & how to Deale with Either of them (that is to say) how to Receive Good Angels in their Appearances, & how to Vanquish & banish Evill spirits when they Intrude, and Enter into place & presence to Deceive & overwhelme us, we have sufficiently & at Large inserted & shewed forth, in our Izagogicall preface, before Annexed hereunto, therefore we shall in this place onely shew forth a Method, of our greeting the Apparition of any Celestiall Angel, or Dignified powers of Light.

When by all the precepts ... given, that Apparition is truly Known to be Celestiall, & of God; then humbly receive it with Ample Submission & Congratulation, Saying as followeth:—

Welcome ... of the highest, & welcome be the Messengers of Divine grace & mercy unto us the true Servants & worshipers of the same ye God, whose name be glorified both now & for Evermore

& the Appearance is perfectly Known, and Understood, & by all Signes & tokens perfectly Known, to be Celestiall or Angelicall powers of Light; then with ~~Dew~~ due & reverent Observance Say as followeth. — Oh ye Servants or Messagers, of Divine grace & mercy, ye Celestiall Angels or Intelligences, powers of Light, or Dignified Elementall Spirits, & Mediums of Benevolence to Mankind, Servants of God, ye both now ~~and~~ at this time, & alwayes are & shall be unto us, truly & Sincere =rely welcome: humbly Desiring you also to be friendly to us, & Doe for us, in whatsoever It shall please God to give, by ye Order & office unto us, for the better Knowledge & benefit of mankind, living here upon Earth; & to make us partakers of true Science & Sapience, In the Undefiled & Sacred wisdome of ye Creation.
And if any Answer Should be made hereupon, or any Discourse from hence Should arise, proceed therein, then both wisdome & Reason, must be the principall Conduct, in the Management thereof, but if there be silence, that no Discourse ariseth from hence, then begin to make humble Request, for Answer to ye Desires & proposalls; then will the effects of all things, be Undoubtedly with good Success, Determined

But if there Should, any feare Doubt or Misprission, or just Cause of ~~jelousie~~ to be had or made of an Expected Apparition, of any Angel Or Intelligence of the Celestiall Orders, or other Elementall powers powers of Light, Celestially Dignified by reason of tedious Delay through non appearance, or Contrary Signes going before, or Deformed Shapes in appearance, or severall Such Like Ill Consequences ~~&c~~; or otherwise, if at any time there Should appear a spirit, which may be thought is not of God, nor of the Orders moved, that there be any mistrust of it, the wch may be Easily perceived by its forme, Gesture, Motion & Similitude, & allso by Its Answering, to any Discourse or Questions made, then may be said thus to it as followeth.

In the name of Jesus who art thou (then perhaps it will Say) I am the Servant of God) (then ye may Say) are ye Come from God, or art thou sent from him with good tydings or Message, &c: (then perhaps it will Say to ye, or Some Such Like words) (what I am he Knoweth, of whome I bear wittness) (then ye may ask its name; Either as it is notified amongst the Blessed Angels, or Called by any mortall man, if ye be of ye Deity, being Charity, ye cannot mislike my speeches) (then it will tell to ye its name, or Say nothing at all; but if it Doth tell ye its name) (then ye may Say to it) (if ye be of the name of Jesus Say that wicked Angels are Justly Condemned, & that by the mercyes of God, in the merits of Christ, Mankind that is to be saved) (then it will give a Suff icient or Satisfactory Answer, or Else It will Disappear or Vanish & be gone: But if It is understood, or proveth to be of God, & maketh maketh rationall Answers to such questions as are Demanded, then perhaps it will say)(thus much thou hast Required)(then you may say)(I did so, for so is his Judgment & justice against the Impenitent, & his Mercy to his Elect &c:) [illegible] then you may aske your Desires.

We thought Good to instance, this much for better information & instruction, although a full narrative hereof is amply & at Large Shewed forth, in the foregoing Izagogicall preface, both as to the Knowledge & Receiving, of Good Angels or Cælestiall Intelligences, or other Elementall Spirits or powers of Light, Angelically or Cælestially Dignified, And for the Knowledge Vanquishing & Driving away of all Evill spirits, & infernall powers of Darknesse, wch, whenever any such Appostates shall forcibly Intrude, or make entrance and Appearance instead of Cælestiall or good Angels, or other Dignified Elementall powers of Light, in the time & place of these Actions, purposely to Deceive, Confound & utterly (if possibly) to Destroy the hopes, Expectations & benefits of the Sophick Phylosophers, in their Elaborate Industry, & Care & Earnest addresses, unto the Cælestiall Angels, or blessed Intelligences, or Dignified Elementall powers, or other Spirituall Mediums or messengers of Divine light, for the true Knowledge & finding out the use of all Physicall & metaphysicall Arcanums, or secrets in Superiour

In Superior: & profound Misteryes: which Cannot otherwayes be Known or found out, but by the Divine Light & Conduct of Angelicall Ministery, or other Spirituall Revelation, & Instruction, by such Mediums of Benevolency to Mankind, as through the Divine Grace Mercy & goodness of ye highest, are by nature Order & office, thereunto, preordinately Decreed & appointed.

But as touching, the Insisting any further of this Matter, we think it needless, since it is fully treated, of in the foregoing preface, wch, we advise to be well understood, by a due & serious Consideration; before any progresse, or unadvised proceedings are made herein —

Observe also, that Whereas we have severally & particularly mentioned Cælestiall Angels, or Blessed Intelligencies & Elementall powers of Light, & other Dignified spirits, of Light, who are by nature & office good, & also freindly & benevolent unto Mankind, & have treated of them in a generall sence, without Materiall Distinction, yet let the grave & Sober Magician take notice, that Consideration be first had, of what Angel, or Intelligence, or what Spirit, & of what Order, & office, he would move or call forth; & so in particular to make mention thereof accordingly, & not otherwise, whereunto every thing ought by Order, nature, Degrees, & offices, properly to be Referred [illegible] to Visible Appearance the Cælestiall Hierarchy of Angels, of the order of [illegible] Whose principall Governing Angel or Blessed Intelligence bearing rule is, Raziel: residing in the Eight Orbe, Sphære, Mansion or Heaven Called, the Starry firmament.

A Select Treatis, as it was first Discovered to the Caldean Magii, And Accordingly by them practised in antient times, & so Traditionally Descending to the Knowledge of the Chaldeans, & Successively from Antient, to Modern Ages; & here Delivered out of Darkness, & brought to Light; more Intelligibly, Usefully, & beneficially, for the practis, & Experience, thereof, then ever there to fore since the Universall Deluge, hath been, Declared, or shewed forth,

We shall not here make an historicall prefase, parafraise, or Discourse of the Egiption Magii, nor of there great Learning & Knowledge, before the flud, for that hath been already Amply Defined of, both before the flud, in the time of Sahalock King of Egipt, who lived some time before the Deluge; whoe being foretold, by his Magicians, that the world would be Drowned, did build two great towers, or pyramides, wherein he put all the Egiptian Treasury & Books of Learning &c. to preserve them from the flud; the which although over flowen with the waters, yet were safely Defended, from the Rigor & Destruction thereof, through the grace & permission of Divine Goodness & so since the Restoration of the world, & all mankind, hath been found Dispersed, through the world, & in process of time, by Ignorance & Distruction of Countryes, by wars & Rapines & the Captivityes of peoples all the More noble & greater part of that science, with the [illegible]

Knowledge, & benefits thereof, hath been even utterly Destroyed, & even hardly or Impossibly, to be Conjectured, by all humane Reason, or Immagination that it Can be restored, or in any wise Regained, but by the incessent labours, Unwearied, Industry, powerfull perseverance, & strong indeavors, of an Indulgent, Sober, Discreet, Grave, & Studious proficient in the Metaphysicks

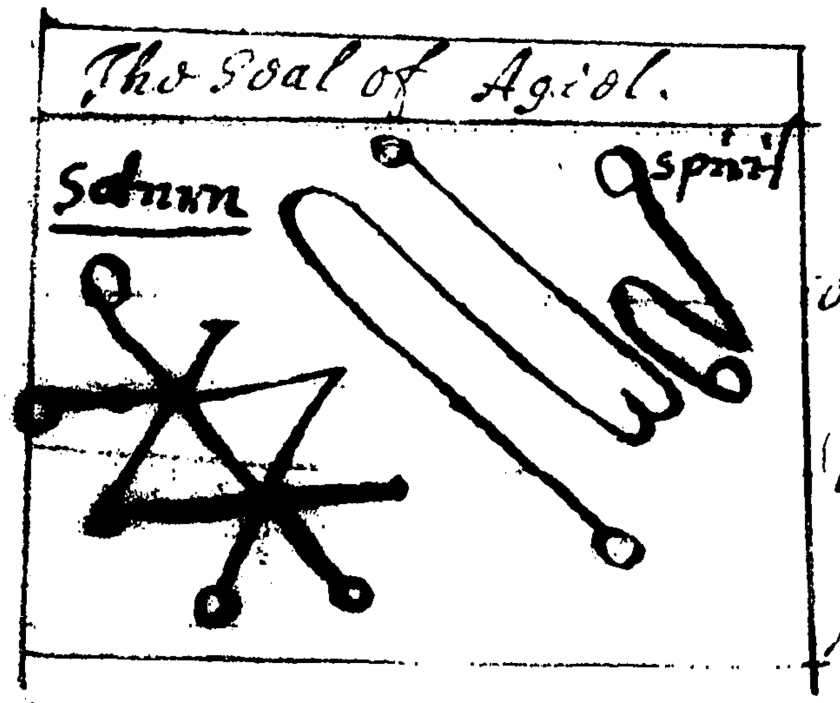
It is to be Understood, that the Egiptian Magii, or Inspirati, in the primitive times, before the flud, received there profound Knowledge, Mediately from ye Revelations of Angels, or other Spirituall Ministery, both of the Cælestiall Intelligences, or some one or other, of the Angelicall Messagers, of Divine Grace, Residing in Orders, in any of the Hierarchyes properly referred, to every, & each particular & respective, superiour Intelligence, Set over & Governing in every & each, both of planetary, & other Cælestiall Orbs; Whereunto they [illegible] properly ascribed [illegible] or otherwise, from the Elementall [illegible], or Spirits of Light, Celestially Dignified, & by Nature [illegible] pure natural tradition, being found Written, [illegible] some time After, the Deluge, Coming to the hands of posterity, [illegible] after [illegible], & began to florish, insomuch, that many of the [illegible] Chaldeans, then residing amongst, the Egiptians Learned those sciences, & became well skilled therein

Theoria, as themselves. And, allthough, the Chaldeans, & Severall, Others, hath writt much, of supernaturall, Arts, & Sciences, yet they have, written, So Hieroglyphically, Parabolically, & Enigmatically, that none Could, Understand the scripts, nor Misticall, figures, but those of their own Societyes, & Such as weare, Admitted, therinto, or Would Reveale, shew forth, & teach too; the Reason, whereof may probably, be for the abovoyding Allowing, Ignorant Censures; by wch meanes, there full Knowledge, in the Meta=physicall Sciences, was never yet Discovered, to the Understanding of modern Ages, Excepting to some fere Learned, in the Originall, or Easterne tongues, & obtained, Such fragments of the Metaphysicall Sciences, as hath given ym incouragement Incouragement, Studiously, to persist in, & Elaborally, to persue the Same; In the Beginning of time: or primitive Age, of the World, there weare Certaine particular tables revealed, shewed forth, & Discovered to the Wisdome of wise men of those times, Curiously inquisitive, & with great Diligence, Carefully, Searching into secret & transcendent Sciences, whereinwere. Inscribed Certaine letters of the Chaldean Character, with proper numbers, or numerall figures Attributed, or Appropriated Severally, to Each, & perticular of them; the which, is Distributed & Referred, to the Seaven planets & those notes, or Misticall

Misticall, figures, wch are Called the Sacred Tables, of the planets, & also are Endowed, with many & Very great Vertues, of the Heavens; in as much as they Represent, that Divine Order, of Cælestiall, numbers, Impressed upon Cælestialls, by the Ideas of the Divine Mind, by meanes of the Soule of the world, & by the sweet harmony, of those Cælestiall Rayes, Signifying according, to the proportion, of Effigies, Supercælestiall Intelligences, which Can no Other way be Expressed, then by the Marks of Numbers, & Characters; for Materiall, Numbers, & figures, Can Do Nothing in the Misteryes, of hid things, but Representatively, by formall Numbers & figures, as they are governed & informed by Intelligences & Divine numerations, which, Unite the Extreams of the Matter, & Spirit, to the will, of the Elevated Soule. receiving through great Affection, by the Cælestiall power, of the Judicious practicionar in sublime Arts, a power from god, applyed through the Soule of ye Universe, & observations of Cælestiall Constillations, & Matter fit, for a forme, the Mediums being Disposed, by the skill, & industery of the wiser, Ancient, prophycies,

There, are Seaven Intelligences or Spirits, of light, who are Celestially Dignified, & by nature, Angelicall & Benevolent, whose names are to be Collected, & Characters drawn from the forementioned tables; with the names of God, governing them, by the force, Influence, Vertue, & Misticall, & Secret. Efficacy, whereof, them good Demons are powerfully moved, & to be Called forth, to Visible, Appearance, whose Names are as followeth,

The good Angel, or Intelligence Ascribed, to the planet Saturn, Is named Agiel, & the great Names of God Governing it are; Ab, Hod, Jah, hud, jehovah, And whose Seal, or Character is as here is Denoted,



The Seal of Agiel.

This Intelligence, & Hierarchy thereunto Belonging, are of the nature of the planet Saturn; When by position it is both, Essentially, & Accidentally Very well Dignified, & fortified, & by office, are Assistant in helping, to bring forth, the Birth of Children, with great safety, & little Dolor, or Danger, either to Child or Mother; & also of all Animal Creatures, causing them to go out their full time of Conception, without fears, of Abortion, or Miscarriage; & to make women safe & powerfull, Causeth good

Lemegeton Clavicula Salomonis: Rex

The little Key of Salomon the King which containeth: all the names, orders and offices of all Spirits that ever he had any converse with, with the seales or Charecters belongeing to Each Spirit, and the manner of calling them forth to appearance; in 5 Parts called Books viz — — — — — — — — —

The first part, is a Book of evill spirits called Goetia shewing how he bound up those spirits and used them in severall things whereby he obtained great fame.

The second part, is a Booke of spirits, partly good and partly evill, wch is called Theurgia Goetia being all spirits of the ayre. — — — —

The third part is of spirits governing ye Planetary houres, and wt spirits belong to every degree of the signes and planets in ye signes, and is called Ars Paulina

The fourth part of this Booke is called Ars Almadel Solomonis contayning 20 chiefe spirits wch governe the four Altitudes or the 360 degrees of the world & signes &c.

These two last orders of spirits, is of good, and is called the true Theurgia, and is to be sought after by divine seeking &c — — — — — — —

The fifth part is a Booke of orations and prayers that wise Salomon used upon the alter in the temple which is called Artem Novam he wch was revealed to Salomon by the holy angel of God called Michael; and he also received many breefe Notes written by the finger of God wch was delivered to him by ye said Angel with thunder claps, without wch Notes Salomon had never obtained so high knowledge, for by them in short time he knew all arts and sciences both good and bad which from these notes is called Ars Notoria — —

In this Booke is contained the whole art of Salomon although there be many other Books [illegible] said to be his yet none is to be compared with this. for this containeth them all [illegible] they be filled with severall other names, as the Booke Helisoe wth is the very same as this last is, wch is called Artem Novam & Ars Notoria &c.

These Bookes were first found in the Chaldean & hebrew tongues at Hierusalem, by a Jewish Rabbi & by him put into ye greeke Language; & from thence into ye Latine, as it is said &c — — — — — — — —

Say this as often as you please [illegible]

Say as followeth.

I Invocate, conjure and command you spirit N. to appear [illegible] before this Circle, in fair and comely shape, without any deformity or tortuosity, by ye name and in ye name Y and V wch Adam heard & spake & by ye name Joth wch Jacob heard from ye angel wrestling with him, and was delivered from ye hands of Esau his Brother, and by ye name of God Agla, wch Lot heard and was saved with his family, and by ye name Anaphaxaton wth Aron heard and speak and became wise; and by ye name Scheme Amathia wch Joshua called upon and ye Sun stood still; and by ye name Emanuel wch the 3 Children Sedrach Mesech and Abednego sung in ye midst of ye fiery furnace and were delivered; and by the name Alpha & Omega which Daniel named & Destroyed the Bell & ye Dragon; & by the name Zebaoth which Moses named, & all the Rivers & waters in the land of Egypt were turned into blood & by the name Elcerchie Oriston wth Moses named, & all the Rivers brought forth froggs, they went into ye houses of ye Egyptians, Distroying all things; & by the name Elion wth Moses called upon, & there was great haile, such as never was since the Creation of the world to that Day, & by the name Adonay wth Moses named And there came up Locusts throwout all the land of Egypt and devoured all that the Haill at lost; and by the name Hagios. and by the seal of Adonay and by Otheos. — Icyros. Athenatos; Paracletus and by these holly and sacred names Agla On. Tetragrammaton and by the dreadfull Judgment of god, and by uncertain sea of glass: which is before the face of the divine Majesty; who is mighty and most powerfull And by the four beasts before the throne having Eyes before and behind, and by the fire round about the throne: and by the holly angels of heaven: and by the mighty wisdom of god, and by the seal of Baldachia, and by this name Primeumaton which Moses named and the Earth opened and swallowed up Chora, Dathan & Abiram, That you make true and faithfull answers, to all my demands and to performe all my desires, so farr as in office you are capable to performe therfore come ye peaceable visible and affable now without delay to manifest what I desire Speaking with a perfect and clear voyce, Intelligible unto my understanding &c

I conjure the spirit N. by all [illegible] and effectual [illegible] of the most great and In comprehensible Lord god of Host, that you come quickly without delay, from all parts and places of the world: to make rational answer to my demands and that visible and affably speaking with a voice Intelligible to my understanding as aforesaid, I conjure and con= strain you spirit N. by all aforesaid and by these seven names by wch wise Salomon bound thee and thy fellows in a vessel of Brass Adonay. Prerai Tetragrammaton; — Anephexeton, Inessenfatall, [illegible]thatumon, & Itemon. That you appear here before this Circle, to fullfill my will in all things, that shall seem good unto me and if you be disobedient and refuse to come, I will in the power and by the power of the name of ye supream and everliving god. Who created both you and me and all the whole world in six days and what is contained in it Eye-Saray. and by the power of of his name Primeumaton; which comandeth the whole Hoste of Heaven, Curse you and deprive you, from all your office, Joy & place and binde you in the depth of ye Bottomless pit there to remaine unto the day of the last Judgment, and I will bind you into Eternall fire & into the lake of fire and Brimstone unless you come forthwith and appear here before this Circle to doe my will in all things therfore come in and by these holly names Adonay. Zebeoth, Adonay, Amiorem; come you Adonay commandeth you:

If you come so farr and he yet doth not appear you may be sure he is sent to some other place by his King, and cannot come and if it be so, Invocate the King as followeth to send him. But if he doth not come still, then you may be sure he is bound in chaines in hell: and he is not in the custody of his King: So if you have a desire to call him from thence, you must rehearse the spirits chaine &c

For to Invocate the Kinge say as ffolloweth —

O you great mighty and powerfull Kinge Amaymon; who beareth rule by the power of thy supream god EL over all spirits both superior and inferiour of the Infernal order in the Dominion of the Earth; I invocate and command you by the especial and truest name of your god and by god that you worship and obey, and by the seal of ye Creation & by the most mighty & powerfull name of god Jehovah Tetragrammaton, who cast you ought of heaven, with all other of the Infernall [illegible] spirits and by all ye most powerfull and great names of god who created heaven Earth & hell and all things contained in them, and by their powers and vertues & by ye name Primeumaton who commandeth the whole host of heaven that you cause enforce and compell N. to come unto me here before this Circle in a fair and comely forme, without doeing any harme to me or any other Creature and to answere truely and faithfull to all my requests That I may accomplish my will and desires in knowing or obtaining any matter or thing wch by office you know is proper for him to performe or to accomplish. through the power of god EL who created and disposeth of all things both celestiall aireall, terrestiall and Infernall —

After you have Invocated the King in this manner twice or thrice then conjure ye spirit you would have called forth by the aforesaid conjurations, rehearsing them several times together, and he will come without doubt if not at ye first or second time rehearsing. But if he doth not come add the spirits chaine to the end of ye aforesaid conjuration and he will be forced to come if he be Bound in chaines, for the chaines will break of from him and he will be at liberty: &c

The Generall Curse called the Spirit's Chaine against all Spirits that Rebell

O thou wicked and disobedient Spirit because thou hast rebelled and not obeyed nor regarded my words which I have rehearsed, they being all most glorious and incomprehensible names of the true god maker and creator of you and me and all the world, by the power of those names which no creature is able to resist I doe curse you into the depth of the Bottomless Pitt. There to remaine untill ye day of doome in chaines of fire and Brimstone unquenchable unless you forthwith appeare before this circle in this Triangle ▽ to doe my will. Therefore come peaceably and quietly in & by these names — Adonai Zebaoth, Adonay Amioram, come come why stay you Adonay comandeth you

When you have read so farr and he doth not come. Then write his name and seal in virgin parchment and put it into a Black Box with Brimstone assafoetida and such things that have a stinking strong smell, and bind the Box round with a wire and hang it on the Swords point, and hold it over the fire of Charcoales and say to the fire first (it being placed toward that quarter the spirit is to come) — — — I conjure you fire by him that made thee and all other good creatures in the world that you Torment Burne and consume this Spirit N. everlastingly. I condemn thee thou spirit N. into fire everlasting because thou art disobedient and obeyed not the comand nor kept the precepts of the lord thy god: neither wilt thou appeare to me nor obey me nor my invocations, having thereby called you forth, I who am the Servant of ye most high and Imperiall Lord, god of hosts Jehovah and dignified and fortified by his Celestiall power and permission neither comest thou to answer to these my proposalls hear made unto you, for which your averseness and contempt you are guilty of grand disobedience and Rebellion, and therefore I shall excomunicate you and destroy thy name and seal which I have hear enclosed in this Black Box and shall burne thee in imortall fire and bury thee in immortall oblivion. unless thou immediatly comest & appearest visibly affably, friendly, & curteously hear unto me before this Circle in this Triangle, in a faire and comely forme and in no wise terrible hurtfull or frightfull to me or any other creature whatsoever upon the face of the Earth and make rationall answers to my requests and performe all my desires in all things that I shall make unto you &c

If he come not yet, say as followeth

Now O thou spirit N. since thou art still pertinacious and disobedient and wilt not appear unto me to answer to such things as I should have desired of you or would have been satisfied in &c. I doe in the name and by the power and dignity of the omnipotent Immortall Lord god of hosts Jehovah Tetragrammaton The only creator of heaven Earth and hell and all that is in them who is the marvellous disposer of all things both visible and invisible curse you and deprive you from all your office, joy and place and do bind thee in ye depth of ye Bottomless pitt There to remaine untill the day of Judgment, I say into the lake of fire & Brimstone which is prepared for all rebellious disobedient obstinate & pertinacious spirits, let all the Holy company of heaven curse thee, the ☉. ☽ and stars the light and all ye hosts of heaven curse thee, I curse thee into the fire unquenchable, & torments unspeakable, and as thy name and seal is contained in this box, chained and bound up and shall be choaked in sulphurous & stinking substance and burne in this materiall fire, so I in the name Jehovah and by the power and dignity of these three names Tetragrammaton, Anephexeton, & Primeumaton doe cast thee. O thou disobediant Spirit N into that lake of fire which is prepared for the damned and cursed spirits and there to remaine untill the day of doome and never more to be remembred of before the face of god which shall come to judge the quick and the dead and the world by fire —

Now the Exorcist must put the box into the fire and by and by he will come. But as soon as he is come quickly quench the fire that the Box is in and make a sweet perfume and give him a kind entertainment shewing him the pentacle that is at ye bottom of ye vesture covered with a linnen cloath saying. Behold your conclusion if you be disobedient. Behold the Pentacle of Salomon which I have brought heare before thy presence. Behold the person of ye Exorcist who is called Octinomos, in the midst of the Exorcisme who is armed by god and without fear who potently invocateth you and called you to appear Therefore make rationall answers to my demands and be obedient to me your master in the name of ye Lord Bathat rushing upon Abrac Abeor coming upon Aberer.

Then they or he will be obedient and bid you ask what you will for they are subjected by god to fulfill your desires and demands, and when they or he are appeared and shew themselves humble and meek then you are to say: welcom spirits or most noble king or kings I say you are welcome unto me because I called you through him who created both heaven and earth and hell and all that is contained in them and you have obeyed also by the same power that I called you forth I binde you that you remaine affably and visibly here before this circle (or before this Circle in this ▽) so constant and so long as I have occasion for you and not to depart without my licence untill you have faithfully and truely performed my will without any fallacie &c. . . . .

A Licence to Depart

O thou spirit N because thou hast very diligently answered my demands, and was ready and willing to come at my first call I doe hear licence thee to depart unto thy proper place without doeing any injury or danger to any man or beast depart I say and be ever ready to come at my call being duely exorcised and conjured by ye sacred rites of magick. I charge thee to withdraw peaceably and quietly and the peace of god be ever continued between me and thee Amen.

After you have given the spirit licence you are not to go out of ye circle till they be gone and you have made prayer to god for the great blessing he hath bestowed upon you in granting you your desires and delivering you from the malice of the enemy the divill

Nota you may comand these Spirits into the Brazen vessell as you doe into the Triangle saying That you forthwith appeare before this Circle in this vessell of Brasse in a faire and comely shape &c as is shewed before in the forgoeing Conjurations: &c

The End of the First Part which is called Goëtia

In this following Treatise you have 31 Names of ~~those~~ chiefe Spirits with severall of the ministring Spirits which are under them, with their Seals and Characters which are to be worne as a Lamin on your Breasts for without that the Spirit that is appeared will not obey you, to doe your will &c

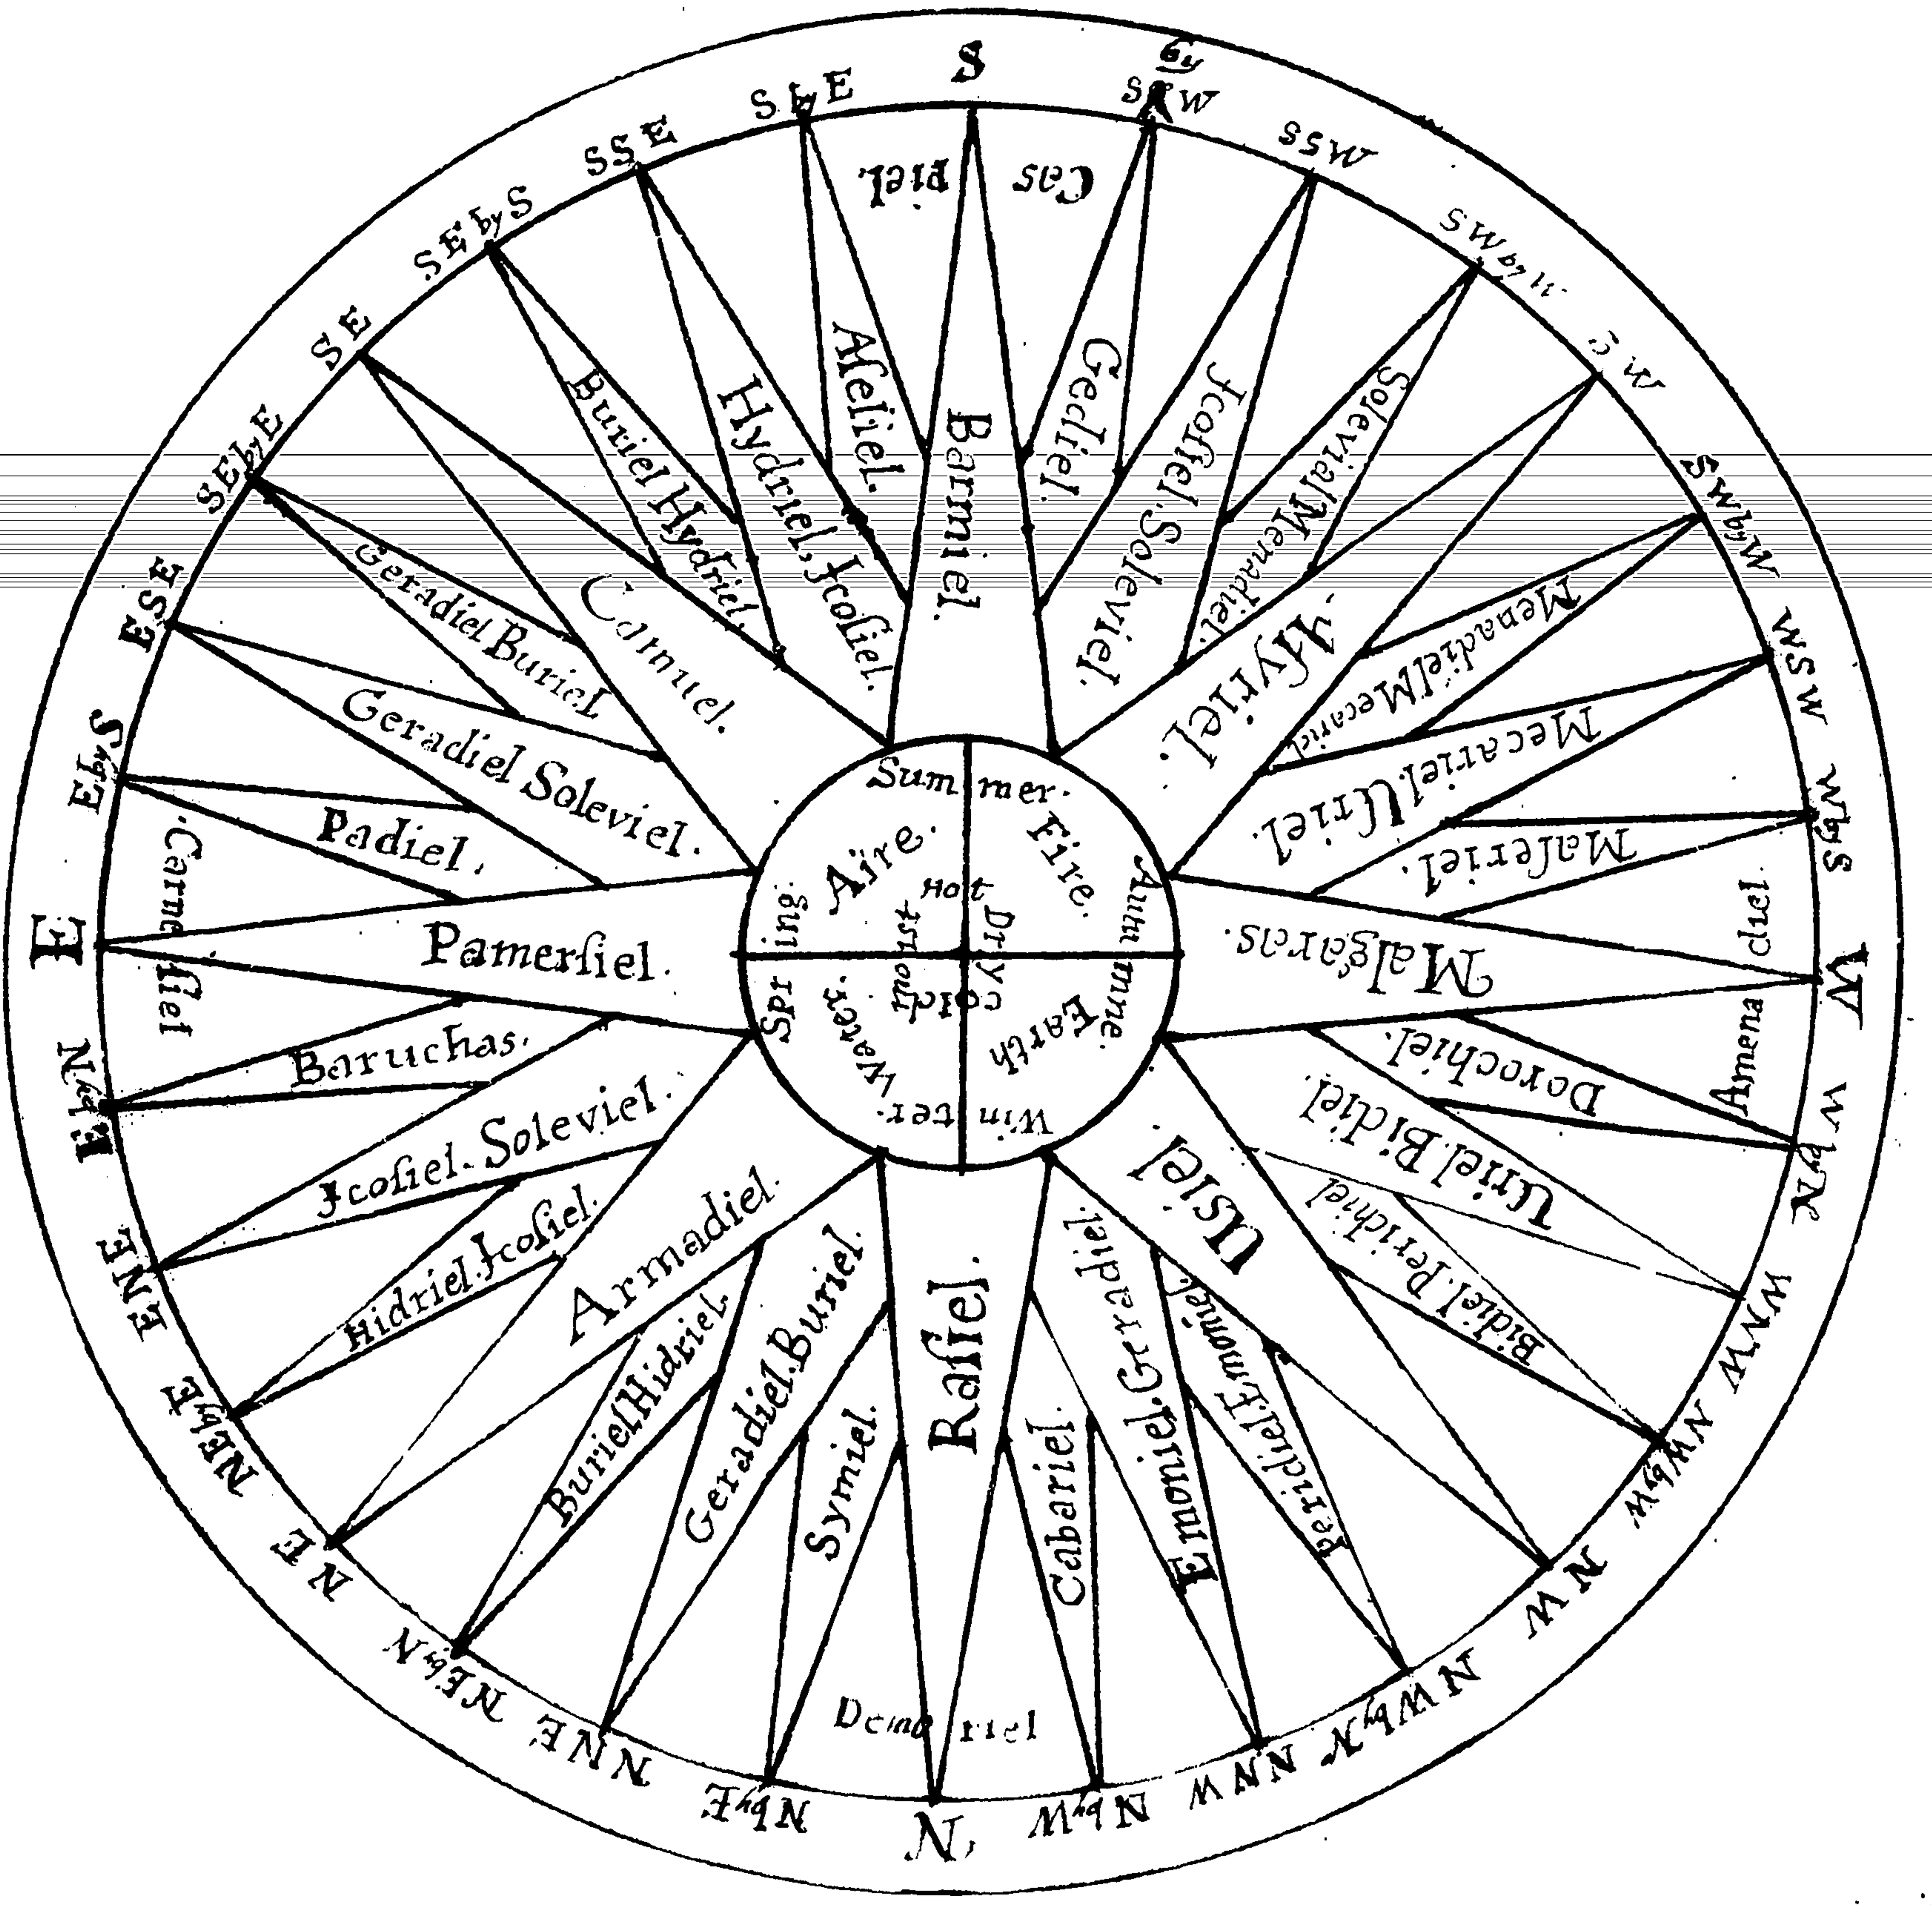
The offices of these Spirits is all one for what one can doe the other can doe the same, they can shew and discover all things that is hidd and done in the world: and can fetch and carry or doe any thinge that is to be done or is contained in any of the four Elements Fier, Ayre, Earth and water &c also the ~~Decrees~~ secrets of Kings or any other Person or persons let it be in what kinde it will.

These Spirits are by nature good and evill That is, one part is good, and the other part evill. They are governed by their princes, and each prince hath his place ~~and~~ of abode in the points of the compass as is showed in the following figure; Therefore when you have a desier to call any of the Kings or any of their Servants, you are to direct your selfe to that point of the compass the Kinge hath his mansion or place of abode, and you cannot well erre in ~~[illegible]~~ your operations

Now every prince is to observe his conjuration, yet all of one forme except the name and place of the Spirit, for in that they must change and differ. also the seale of the Spirits is to be changed accordingly:

as for the garments and other Materiall things they are spoken of in the Book Goëtia beforegoing Therefore it is needless to mention them here againe &c

The form of the figure which discovereth the order of the 31 Kings or princes wth their servants ministring for when the king is found his subjects are [illegible] found out &c



You may [illegible] by this figure that 20 of these Kings have their [illegible] and [illegible] in one place and that ye other 11 are moveable and are sometimes in one place sometimes in another and in some other times together more or less. therfore its no matter which way you stand with your face, when you have a desire to call any of them forth or their servants ~ ~ ~

The Conjuration ~~to the~~ wandring Princes

I conjure thee o thou mighty and potent prince Bidiel, who wandereth here and there in the aire with thy Dukes and other of thy servants Spirits I conjure thee Bidiel that thou forthwith come and appear with attendance in this first houre of ye day here before me in this Cristall Stone (or else before this Circle) in a fair and comly shape to do my will in all things that I shall desire of you &c.

The Conjuration to the Prince that Govern the points of the compass:

I conjure thee O thou mighty and potent prince N. who ruleth as a chief prince or king in the dominion of the East (or &c) I conjure thee N that thou forthwith appeareth with thy attendance in this first hour of ye day here before me in this cristall stone (or here before this Circle in a fair and comely shape to doe my will in all things that I shall desire of you &c ✗

To the Dukes that wander

I conjure thee O thou mighty and potent Duke N. who wandereth here and there with thy prince N. and others of his &c Thy servants in ye aire I conjure thee N. that thou forwith appeareth &c Δ. . . . .

To the Duke [illegible] governeth the Point of the Compass [illegible] their Prince.

I conjure thee O thou mighty and Potent Duke N. who ruleth under thy prince or king N in the dominion of the East (or &c) I con[illegible] N. that thou forthwith appearest Δ. allone or [illegible] in this first (or second [illegible]) of the day, here before me in this christal stone (or here [illegible] this Circle) in a fair a[illegible] shape to doe my will in all things that I shall desire or request you ✗ I conjure and [illegible] command you N. by him who said the word and it [illegible] and by all the holy a[illegible]full names of god and by the name of the only creator of heav[illegible] and hell and what [illegible] in them Adonay [illegible] Elohim Eloe, Elio[illegible] [illegible]hie Zebaoth Ja[illegible] Tetragrammaton [illegible] the only Lord god of the [illegible] you forthwith appea[illegible] to me here in this Crist[illegible] (or here before this Circle [illegible] a fair and comely human shape without doing any harme to me or any other creature that god Jehovah created or made. But come ye peaceably visibly and affably now without delay manifesting what I desire, being conjured by the name of ye Eternall living and true god Helioren Tetragrammaton Anephexeton and fulfill my commands and persist unto the end; I conjure command [illegible] constraine you Spirit N. by Alpha and Omega. By the name Primeumaton which commandeth the whole host of heaven and by all those names which Moses named when he by the power of those names brought great plagues upon Pharao and all the people of Ægypt Zebaoth Escerchie, Oriston Elion Adonay Primeumaton and by the name of Schemes Amathia with Joshua called upon and the sun stayed his course and by the name of Hasios and by the seal of Adonay

And by Agla, On. Tetragrammaton. To whome all creatures are obedient and by the dreadfull Judgement of the high god and by the holy angells of heaven and by the mighty wisdome of the great god of hosts that you come from all parts of ye world and make rational answers unto all things I shall aske of you and come ye peacable visible and affable speaking unto me with a voyce Intelligible and to my understanding therefore come come ye in the name of Adonay. Zebaoth. Adonay. Amioram. Come why stay you hasten Adonay. Saday the king of kings commandeth you.

When he is appeared shew him his seal, and the Pentacle of Salomon saying behold the Pentacle of Salomon which I have brought before your presence &c as is shewed in the first Booke Goetia. at the latter end of the conjurations. allso when you have had ye desire of the spirits licence them to depart as is shewed there &c . . . .

And so ends the second Book called Theurgia Goetia. ~ ~ ~ ~

Note The above written conjurations doe onely differ in the first part as is shewed there untill you come to the markes Δ and ✶ But from thence forward they are to be all one and ye same Nota, wheresoever in this Booke Theurgia Goetia in some part of the seales I have used these five strokes ////// That part of the seal is to be all black which I did not doe because this paper is so course and thine &c . . . .

Here Beginneth the 3d Part called the Art Paulina of King Salomon.

[illegible] is divided into two parts the first concerning the [illegible] of the houres of the day and night: The second part the Angells of ye Signes of the Zodiac as hereafter followeth &c . . . .

The [illegible] [illegible] Angells of the day and night [illegible] every day and their offices is to doe all things that are attributed to the 7 Planets But that changeth every day also [illegible] you may see in the following [illegible] that Samuel the Angell ruleth the first houre of the day beginning at Sunn Rising, Suppose it be on a munday in the first houre of ye day (that houre is attributed to the ☽) That you call Samuel or any of his dukes, their office is in that houre is to doe

Doe all things that are attributed to the ☽ But if you call him or any of his Servant Dukes on Tuesday Morning at Sunn Riseing being the first houre of the day: their office are to doe all things that are attributed to ♂ and so the like is to be observed in the first house of every day: and the like is to be observed of the Angells and their Servants that Rule any of the other houres: either in the day or night. allso againe there is an observation to be observed in making the Seales of these 24 Angells according to the time of the years Day and houre that you call the Angells or his Servants in to doe your your will. But you can not misse therein if you doe well observe the Examples that is laid downe in the following worke: They being all fitted for the 10th day of March Being one a Wednesday in the year 1641 according to the old Account &c and as for to know what is attributed to the planetts I doe referr you to the books of Astrology whereof large Volumes hand been written. &c

☉ Thou mighty great and potent ~~prince~~ Angell Samael who ruleth the first hour of ye day. I the servant of the most high god: doe conjure and entreat thee in the name of ye most omnipotent and Immortal Lord god of hosts Jehovah ✕ Tetragrammaton. and by the name and in the name of that god that you are obedient to and by ye head of ye hierarchy and by the seal ~~and mark~~ or mark that you are known in power by and by the 7 Angels that stand before the Throne of god and by the 7 planetts and their seals and characters and by the angel that ruleth the signe of ye 12 houses which now ascend in this first hour that you would be graciously pleased to gird up and gather your [illegible] together & by divine permission to move and come from the parts of the world wheresoever you are and shew your selfe visibly and plainly in this Cristall stone to the sight of my eyes speaking with a voice Intelligible and to my understanding and that you would be favourably pleased that I may have thy familiar friendship and constant society now and at all times when I shall call thee forth to visible appearance to informe and direct me in all things that I shall seem good and lawfull unto the Creator and thee: O thou great and powerfull angell Samael. I invocate adjure comand & most powerfully call you forth from your orders and place of Residence to visible apparition in and through these great and mighty incomprehensible signall & divine names of the great god who was and is and ever shal be Adonay. Zebaoth. Adonay Amioram. Hagios Agla On Tetragrammaton and by and in the name Primeumaton which commandeth the whole host of heaven whose power and vertue is most Effectual for the calling you forth: and commandeth you to transmitt your rayes visible and perfectly into my sight and your voice to my eares in and throw this Christall stone that I may plainly see you and perfectly hear you speak unto me Therefore move ye o thou mighty and blessed angell Samael: and in this potent name of the great god Jehovah: and by the Imperiall dignity thereof descend descend and shew your selves visible and perfectly in a pleasant and comely forme before me in this Christall stone: to the sight of my eyes speaking with a voyce Intelligible and to my apprehension: shewing declaring & accomplishing all my desires that I shall aske or request of you both herein and in whatsoever Truths or things else that is just and lawfull before the presence of Almighty god: the giver of all good gifts: unto whome I begg that he would be graciously pleased to bestow upon me: O thou servant of mercy Samael. be thou therefore unto me friendly: and doe for me as for the servant of the highest: so farr as god hath given you power in office to performe: whereunto I move you in power and presence to appear that I may sing with his holy angells O mappa-la-man. Hallelujah: Amen — — — — — — — — —

But before you call any of the princes or the Dukes: you are to Invocate the chiefe governing Angell that governeth the hour of the day or of the night, as followeth: — — — —

The Invocation as followeth: —

O Thou mighty and potent angell Samael. who is by the decree of the most high king of glory Ruler and governour of the first hour of the day: I the servant of the highest doe desire and intreat you by these 3 great and mighty names of god: Agla Tetragrammaton and by the power and vertue thereof to assist and help me in my affairs: and by your power and authority to send and cause to come and appear to me all or any of these angells that I shall call by name: that are residing under your government to informe, helpe aide and assist me, in all such matters and Things according to their office as I shall desire and request of them or him and that they may doe it in as far as the servant of ye highest ordaine —

Then Beginne to invocate them as followeth:

O thou mighty and potent angell Ameniel who is [illegible] first and [illegible] under the great and potent angell Samael who is the great and chief angel ruling this first hour of the day: I the servant of the most high god doe conjure and entreat thee in the name of the most omnipotent and Immortall Lord god of hosts Jehovah ✱ Now soon as signe ✱: continue the conclusion of ye above written conjuration &c and when any spirit is come bid him welcome. Then aske your desire, and when you have done, dismiss him according to your order of dismission — — — — —

Thus endeth the first part of the Art Paulina.

The second part of the Art Pauline.

Which containeth the mysticall names of the angells of ye signes in generall and allso the names of the angells of every degree and ye signes in generall who are called the angells of men: because in some one of those signes and degrees every man is born under, therefore he that knoweth the moment of his Birth he may know the angel that governeth him and thereby he may obtaine to all arts and sciences yea to all ye wisdome and knowledge that any mortall man can desire in this world: But note this: Those angells that are attributed to the fire have more know=ledge therein then any other: So those that belong to the aire have more knowledge therein then any other: and those of ye water have more knowledge therein then any other: and allso those of the earth have more knowledge therein then any other: and to know wch belong to the fire, ayre, Earth, or water: observe the nature of the signes and you cannot erre: for those that are attributed to ♈ are of the same nature, and so the like in spirits the rest. But if any planett is in that degree that ascends: Then that angell is of the nature of the signe and planett both &c observe this following method: and you cannot but obtain your desires.

These are the 12 Seales wch are attributed to the Signes & Angells aforegoeing:—

Make this seal of ♂ ʒß. ☉ ʒij ♀ ʒß. and melt them together when the ☉ entereth the first Degree of ♈ then on ♂ the ☽ being in 9 or 10 degrees of ♈. make it and finishe it &c. . . . .

Make this seal of ♀ ʒj ♃ ʒj, ♂ ʒß ☉ ʒij and melt them together in the [illegible] [illegible] the ☉ entereth ♉ and so finish itt &c. . . . .

Make this Seal of ☉ ʒj ☽ ʒj [illegible] melt them together when ☉ entreth ♊ and make a lamin thereof when ☽ is in ♌ or ♓ &c. . . . .

Make this Seal of ☽ when the Sun entereth ♎ in the hour of ☽ she one waxing and in a good aspect &c. . .

Make this seal of ☉ [illegible] ♃ is in ♓ engrave the first figure and the other side when the ☽ is in ♌ it must not come into the [illegible] more but [illegible] when it is [illegible] &c. . . . . .

Make this seal of ♀ ʒj. ☉ ʒß. ☿ [illegible] melt them on ☉ day when ☉ entreth ♍ [illegible] afterwards when ☿ is well aspected on his day engrave the words and Charracters as you see in the figure &c. . . . .

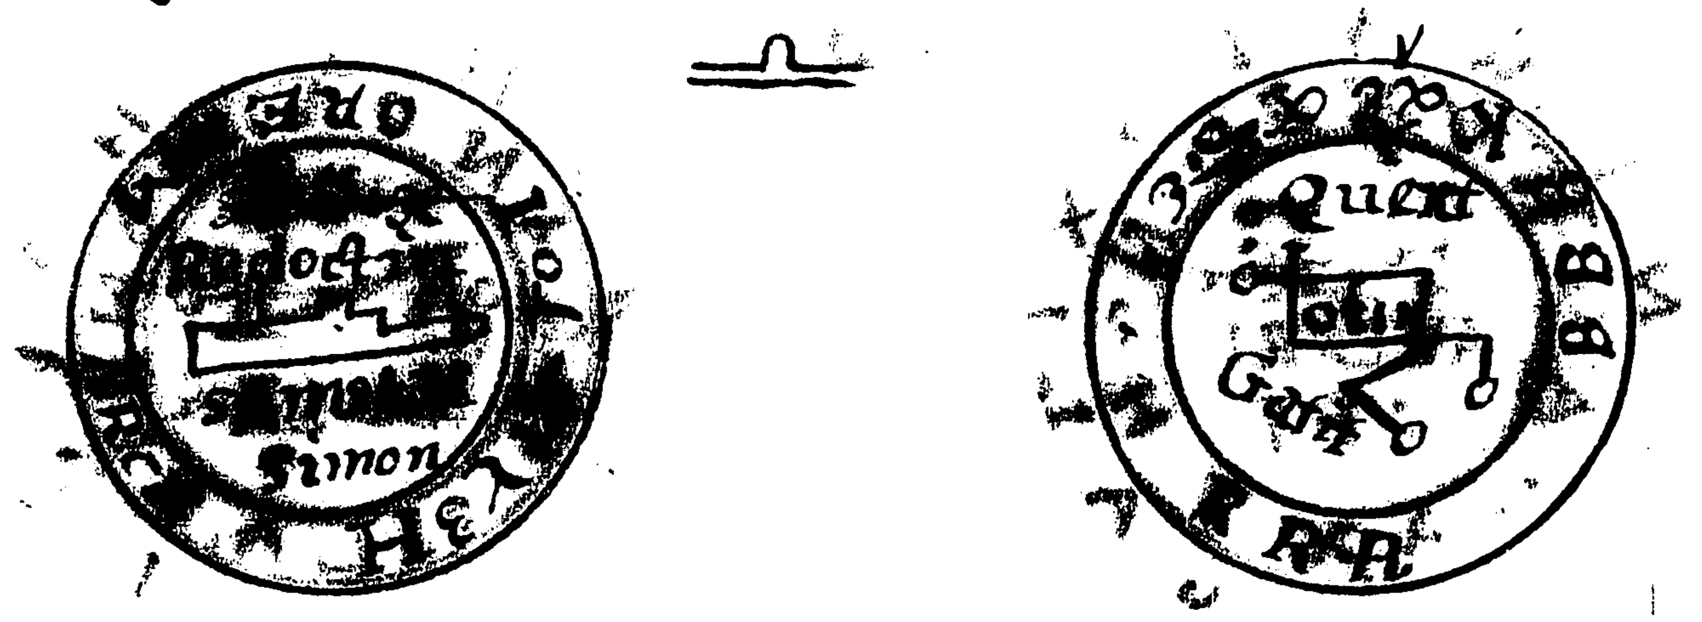
Sadix



[illegible] this seal of ♀ melted [illegible] & made when ☉ entreth ♎, &c.

[illegible] of [illegible] in [illegible] when ☉ entreth ♏ and [illegible] engrave the [illegible] of it, and afterwards when ☉ entreth ♈ engrave [illegible]

Make this seal of pure ♃ [illegible] ☉ entreth ♐, and engraven [illegible] ♃. This seal is to be hung in a Silver Ring.

and engrave it when ♄ is well aspected and in his day and houre.

Make this seal of ☉ ℥ß. ♄ ℥4. ♂ ℥j and melt them when ☉ entreth ♒ and engrave them as you see in the figure when ♄ is in y^e 9th house &c.

Make this seal when ☉ entreth ♓ of ☉. ♂. ♀. ☽. of each ℥ij. of ♃ ℥ß.
and set them to melt and engraven both in that houre of his course &c.

So when you know the Angell that governeth the sign, or degree of your Nativity, and having the seal redy prepared that is sutable to the sign and degree as is showed before: then you are next to understand what order he is of and under what prince as is showed hereafter in the following part —

First those genij that are attributed to ♈, ♌, & ♐, are of the Fiery region and are governed by Michael the great Angell who is one of the great messengers of god, which is towards the South therefore those genijs are to be observed in the first hour on a Sunday and at the eighth also at three and ten at night directing your selfe towards that quarter. they appear in Royal Robes holding scepters in their hands & riding on a Lion or a Cock their robes are of a red and saffron collor and most commonly they assume the shape of a crowned queen very beautyfull to behold — &c

Secondly those genijs that are attributed to ♉, ♍ & ♑, are of the Earthly region and are governed by Uriel who hath three princes to attend him viz Cassiel. Sachiel & Alsaiel. Therefore the genijs that are attributed to him and those signs are to be observed in the west they appear like Kings having green and silver Robes or like little children or women delighting in hunting &c [illegible] Saturday at the first and eight hour of the day and at night the third and tenth hours, you are with privacy to obtaine your desiers directing your selfe towards the west &c

Thirdly those genijs that are attributed to ♊, ♎ & ♒, are of the airy region whose Soveraign prince is called Raphael; which hath under him 2 princes, which are called Miel & Seraphiel. therefore those genii which are attributed to him and those signs are to be observed towards the East, on a wednesday. the first and eighth houres of the day and at night the third & tenth houre they appear like Kings or beautyfull young men clothed in Robes of divers colours but most commonly like women transcendently handsome, by reason of their admirable whitenes and Beauty &c —

Fourthly & lastly those genij that are attributed to ♋ ♏ & ♓ are of the watry region and are governed by Gabriel, who hath under him 3 mighty princes, viz: Samael, Madiel & Mael. Therefore those genii which are attributed to those signes are governed by Gabriel. and are to be observed on a Munday toward the north at the first & 8th houres of the day and at night at the 3 & 10th houres they appear like Kings having green and silver Robes or like little children or women delighting in hunting &c —

So in the next place wee are to consider the Season of the year according to the constellation of the celestial Bodies, otherwise wee shall lose all our labour, for if a genius be of fyrial Hierarchy it is in vaine to observe him in any other season but when the sun entereth those signs which are of his nature, that is ♈, ♌, & ♐.

So if it be a genius of the Earth he is to be observed when ☉ entereth ♉, ♍ and ♑, and so the like in the rest

Or otherwise thus: those genius that are of the order of the fire, are to be observed in ye sumer quarter & those of the earthy in Autumne, and those of the ayr in the Spring, and those of ye water in the winter quarter — &c

Their offices are to all things that are just and not against the laws of the great god Jehovah But what is for our good and what shall concerne the protection of our life, our being & well being & doing good to & obliging our neighbours &c —

Now he that desireth to see his genius ought to prepare himselfe accordingly. Now if his genius be of the fire his demands must be the conservation of his Body or person that he receive no hurt from or by any fire armes Guns or the like and having a seal sutable ready prepared to wear it when he hath a desire to see his genius. Then he may confirme it to him & for the time to come he may not faile of his assistance and protection at any time or occasion &c —

But if his genius be aqueall he reconcileth mens natures, increaseth love and affection between them causeth the deserved favour of Kings and princes & secretly promoteth marriages. & therefore he that hath such a genius before he observeth him should prepare a seal sutable to his order that he may have it confirmed by him in the day and houre of observation where of he shall see wonderfull & strange effects &c and so the like of ye other 2 hierarchies: . . — and when the time is come that you would see ye genius turne ye face towards that quarter the signe is and that with prayer to god: they being composed to your fancy. but sutable to ye matter in hand in which thou shalt find him. and having found him and sincerely acknowledged him [illegible] he being benigne & sociable illuminate your minde, taking away all that is obscure & darke in the memory and make thee knowing in all Sciences sacred & divine in an instant &c

Here followeth a prayer which ought to be said upon that [illegible] when the genius is several times called by an Invocation to call the genius into the christall stone. that is to stand upon the Table of practice before showed, it being covered with a white linnen cloth. Note this prayer may be altered to the mind of the worker. for it is here set for an Example &c

O thou great and blessed N. my angell guardian vouchsafe to descend from thy holy mansion which is celestial with thy holy Influence and presence, into this Cristall stone. that I may behold thy glory: and enjoy thy society, aide and assistance, both now and for ever hereafter. O thou who art higher then the fourth heaven and knowest the secrets of Elanel. Thou that rideth upon the wings of the winds and art mighty and potent in thy celestial and super lunary motion. do thou descend and be present I pray thee; and I humbly desire and intreat thee That if ever I have merited thy society or if any of my actions and intentions be real and pure & Sanctified before thee bring thy external presence hither, and converse with me one of thy submissive pupils. By and in the name of the great god Jehovah. whome unto the whole quire of heaven singeth continually O Mappa La man Hallelujah Amen —

when you have said this over several times you will at last see strange sights and passages in the stone and at last you will see your genius: Then give him a kind entertainement as you was before directed declaring to him your minde and what you would have him doe: &c

So Endeth the second Part of the Art Pauline

Here beginneth the fourth part of this Booke which is called Salomons Almadel Art.

By this Art Salomon obtained great wisdom from the cheife Angells that governe the 4 altitudes of the world for you must observe there be 4 Altitudes, representing the 4 corners of the world, East, West, North and South, the which are divided into 12 parts, that is every part or Altitude into 3, and the Angells of every of these altitudes have their particular vertues and power, as shall be shewed in this following matter &c.

Make this Almadel of pure white wax [illegible] coloured suitable to the altitudes; it is to be four square and six inches over every way; and in every corner a hole and write betwixt every hole with a new pen these words or names following, but this is to be done in the day and houre of Sol. Write upon the first part towards the East Adonai, Helomi, Pine, and upon the second towards the south, Helion, Heloi, Heli, and upon the west part Jod, Hod, Agla: and upon the fourth part which is the north write these names Tetragrammaton, Shadai, Jah. and betwixt the first and the other quarters make the Pentacle of Solomon thus ✡, and betwixt the first and other quarters write this word Anabona and in the midst of the Almadel make a sixangled figure and in the middle of it a Triangle wherein must be written these names of god Hel, Helion Adoni and this last name round in the 6 Angled figures as you may see in this figure here made it being for an example &c.

the [illegible] wax there must be made [illegible] candles, and they must be of the same colour as the Almadel is, you must divide the wax into three parts, one part to make the Almadel of, and the other 2 parts to make the candles of, and let there come forth from every one of them a foot [illegible] wax, for to support the Almadel [illegible] the next thing you [illegible] to make is a seal of pure gold or silver, [illegible] names [illegible] these names

Helion, Hellujon, Adonai; &c

Note the first Altitude is called Chora Orientis or the East Altitude, and to make any experiment in this Altitude, it is to be done in the [illegible] [illegible] to make all things [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] Anabona [illegible]

[illegible] names [illegible] Alimiel, Gabriel, Borachiel, Lebes & Hellison;

Note you must not pray for more than one [illegible] [illegible] to call forth [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] then [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] written [illegible] parchment [illegible] the candles and read the invocation as is set down at the latter end of this part. &c

[illegible] when he appeareth, he appeareth in the forme of an Angel [illegible] a fane or flagg [illegible] picture of a white [illegible] a faire cloud and [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] upon the [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] and what [illegible] that [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] Note [illegible] [illegible] Almadel [illegible] [illegible] the 3d Chora [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] Chora [illegible]

[illegible] Chora [illegible]

Note [illegible] goods

* a [illegible] as to [illegible] but not too much [illegible] it should [illegible] Almadel [illegible] 3 [illegible] supra [illegible] and [illegible] like a [illegible] hora with [illegible] and [illegible] with [illegible] and Barrennes &c.

[illegible] in any of the other 3 Choras or Altitudes then must [illegible] it [illegible]; But [illegible] not pray for anything that is contrary to the [illegible] of [illegible] against God and his Laws, but what God [illegible] [illegible] that you may [illegible] and [illegible] [illegible] the [illegible] of the [illegible] prince [illegible] Chora [illegible] named as followeth viz.t Alphariza. Genon. Geron Arnion. Gereinon. &c. [illegible] then you speake kneel before the [illegible] with [illegible] [illegible] colour in a [illegible] with the same colour also. for the holy [illegible] will [illegible] [illegible] and when he is [illegible] put the earthen Bason [illegible] [illegible] graines of Masticke in powder to fume as above written, and when the smoak [illegible] he turneth his face toward you [illegible] the Exorcist will [illegible] who hath called the prince of this Chora or Altitude, then you must answer [illegible] saying: I desire that my Request may be granted, and the contents thereof may be accomplished. for your office maketh appear and [illegible] that such is to be done by you if it please God &c. you must not be fearfull but speake humbly saying &c. I recommend myself unto your office, and I pray unto your prince of this Altitude that I may enjoy my wishes & desires &c. you may further express your mind in all particulars in your prayer &c. doe the like in the 2 other Choras that follow &c.

The Angell of this second Altitude appeareth in the form of a young Childe with clothes of sattin and of a Red Rose Colour, having a Crown of Red gillyflowers upon his head, his face looking upwards to heaven and is of a Red Colour and is compassed round about with a Bright Splendour, as the Beams of the Sunn, and before he departeth he speaks to the Exorcist, saying [illegible] your Friend and Brother [illegible] illuminates the [illegible] [illegible] with his splendor and pleasant smell [illegible] &c.

[illegible] Third Chora or Altitude

In [illegible] Chora [illegible] The Angells of this Altitude are named as followeth viz.t Eliphamalai, Gelomiros Gedobonai, Saranana, & Elomnia, they appeare in the forme of children or little women drest in green and silver colours, very delightfull to behold, and a Crown of Bay leaves, [illegible] with Flowers of white and green Colours upon their heads and they seeme to look a little downwards with their faces &c. They speak as the other doe to the Exorcist and leave a mighty sweet perfume behind them &c.

[illegible] the Fourth Chora or Altitude

In this Chora you must [illegible] in the [illegible] and the Angells [illegible] Barchiel, Gediel, Gabiel, Deliel, & Captiel. &c. These appeare in forme of little men or Boys with cloathes of a Black colour, mixt with a darke green and in their hand they hold a ~~Bird~~ Bird which is naked & their heads are Bare, only it is compassed round & beset beset with Ivy Berries. The are all very beautifull and comely, and are compassed round with a Bright shineing of every colour. they leave a sweet smell behind them also; but differeth from the other [illegible] &c.

Now There are 12 princes ruling [illegible] in the 4 Altitudes and they distribute their offices amongst themselves, every one rulling 30 dayes every yeare, Now it will be in vain to call any of those Angells unless it be those that then governeth, For every Chora or Altitude hath its limited time according to ye 12 signs of the Zodiack and in that signe the Sunn is in. That Angell or those Angells that belong to that signe have the government: as for Example, suppose I would call the 2 first of those 5 that belong to the first Chora, then chuse the first Sunday in March that is after the Sun is entred ♈, and then I make my experiment; and so doe the like if you will the next Sunday after againe; But if you will call the 2 second that belong to ye first Chora. Then you must take the Sundays that are in Aprill after the ☉ is entred ♉. But if you call the last of the 5th Then you must take those Sundays that are in May after the ☉ is entred ♊ to make your experiment in: [illegible] the other Altitudes, for they have all one way of working: But the Altitudes [illegible] the Angells [illegible] [illegible] therefore it is in vain to call any Angell or spirit unless you know what Names of [illegible] [illegible] the forme of the following conjuration or Invocation &c.

The Invocation

[illegible] mighty and [illegible] Angell of God N, who [illegible] Chora or Altitude in the East [illegible] Adonai Heloni Pine; who is [illegible] of all things, both in heaven and earth and hell; [illegible] servant of [illegible] God Adonai Heloni, Pine [illegible] N [illegible] [illegible] and [illegible] mighty and blessed Angell N [illegible] servant of God [illegible] [illegible] creatures of [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] thing that I shall [illegible] office [illegible] God permitteth the [illegible] Servant of [illegible] N, [illegible] [illegible] Adonai Heloni Pine, and [illegible] [illegible] Anabona, that you forthwith appeare [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] That [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] that I may praise the [illegible] and glorify [illegible] familiar, friendship, and constant society, communication and instruction [illegible] now and at all other times, to informe and rightly instruct me in my ignorant and depraved Intellect, Judgement and understanding; and [illegible] truth [illegible] Almighty Adonai the King of Kings, the giver of all good gifts, [illegible] in his Bountifull [illegible] [illegible] pleased to bestow upon me, Therefore O thou blessed angell N. [illegible] unto me, and [illegible] me so farr as God hath given you power in [illegible] to performe, whereunto I move you in power and presence to appeare [illegible] O Mappa-la-man. Hallelujah amen.

[illegible] appeared, make him or them a kinde entertainement [illegible] [illegible] lust and lawfull, [illegible] that which is proper and suitable to [illegible], and you shall obtaine it.

S[illegible] the Booke. Almadel of Solomon. &c

Here beginneth ye Fifth Part called by Salomon, Artem Novam; or Ars Notoria; being a booke of holy Orations & Prayers, wch Salomon used for to Obtaine his Wisdome & Knowledge by; for it was given to him by the Archangel Michael. &c

---

These following Orations may be said before all Arts generally; & before all notes specially; & they may be pronounced without any other Chapters. if thou wouldest Operate in any Art, Saying these Orations in due time & Order, thou maist haue great Efficacy in any Art, & in saying these Orations, Neither ye time, Day, nor Dare to be observed; but take heed y^t on these dayes you abstaine from all sinn; as drunkenness, gluttony, Especially Swearing, before you proceed thereunto that your knowledge therein may be the more perfect & Cleer.

Wherefore Solomon saith: when I was to pronounce these Orations I feared, Least I should Offend God; & I appointed to my selfe a time Wherein to beginne them; that living chastly I might appeare ye more Innocent.

Those are ye Proemiums of those Orations y^t I might Lay down in Order every thing, Whereof thou maist doubt, without any other definition, & before thou begin to try any of these Subtile works, it is good to fast twoo or three dayes, that it may be divinly revealed, whether thy desires be good or Evill

These are the precepts appointed before every Oration.

Oration

but if thou doubt of any beginning, either of the three (Chapters) first chapters, or of the four Subsequent arts, that thou maist have ye efforts of perfect Knowledge; if thou consider & pronounce ye Orations, as they are above described all though thou overpasseth some things Ignorantly. thou maist be Reconciled by ye Spirituall vertue of ye Subsequent Orations. The angel said of these Orations to Solomon. see ye holiness of these Orations; & if thou hast transgressed any therein presumptuously or Ignorantly. say reverently & wisely these Orations of which ye great angel saith; this is a great Sacrament of God. which ye Lord sendeth to ye by my hand, at ye veneration of which sacrament, when King Salomon offered with greate patience before the ~~altar~~ Lord upon the Altar, he saw the Booke covered with fine Linnen, [illegible] in this booke were written 10 Ortions, and upon every Oratione the signe ~~signe~~ of a golden seale; and he heard in his spirit; This are They which the Lord hath figured, and are far excluded from the Hearts of the unfaithfull; Therefore Salomon trembled lest he should offend the Lord, and keept them, saying it was wickednesse to reveale them to unbelievers; But he that would Learne any great or Spirituall Thing in any art or necessary science; if he cannot have a higher worke, he may say these Orations at what time soever he will, the Three first, for ye Three first Liberall arts; a severall Oration for every severall Art; or generally all ye Three for the Three arts are to be said; and in like manner the four subsequent Orations for four other Liberall arts; and if thou wouldest have the whole Body of art, without any definition of time; tho maist pronounce these Orations before the severall arts, and before the Orations and notes of these arts, as often as thou ~~mist~~ wilt, fully, manifestly and secretly, but beware that thou livest ~~[illegible]~~ chastly and soberly in the pronounciation thereof.

This is the first Oration of the 10 which may be pronounced by it selfe without any precedent Worke to acquire Memory, Elloquence, and understanding, and Stablenesse of these Three and Singularly to be rehearsed before the first figure of Theology.

Omnipotent, Incomprehensible, Invisible and Indissoluble Lord God; I adore This day thy holy Name; I am unworthy and miserable sinner doe lift up my prayer, understanding and reason towards thy holy and heavenly Temple, declaring thee Oh Lord to be my Creator and Saviour; and I a Rationall Creature doe this day invocate Thy most glorious clemency that thy holy spirit may vivifye my infirmity; and thou o my God, who didest conferre the Elements of letters, and efficatious doctrine of thy Tongue to thy servants Moses and Aaron; confer the same grace, thy sweetness upon me, which thou didst Investigate into thy servants and prophets; as thou hast given them Learning in a moment, confer the same Learning upon me, and cleanse my conscience from dead workes; direct my heart into the right way, and open the same to understand and drop the truth in to my understanding. and thou Oh Lord God who didst condescend to create me after thy owne Image; heare me in thy Justice, and teach me in thy truth, and fill up my soule with thy knowledge according to thy great mercy, that in the multitude of thy mercies thou maist love me the more and the greater in thy workes, and that I may delight in the administration of thy commandements, that I being helped and restored by the workes of thy grace, and purified in heart and conscience to trust in thee, I may boast in thy sight, ~~and being illuminated, strengthened, and exalted by the since~~ sight.

sight and exalt thy name; for it is good before thy Saints; Sanctifie me this day that I may live in faith, perfect in hope, and constant in charity, and may learne and obtaine the knowledge I desire; and being Illuminated, strengthened, and exalted by the science obtained, I may know thee, and love thee, and love the knowledge and wisdome of the Scriptures and that I may understand and firmly retaine that which thou hast permitted man to know: Oh Lord Jesus Christ, eternall onely begotten Son of God, into whose hands the father gave all things before all worlds, give unto me this day for thy holy and glorious Name, the unspeakeable nutriment of Soule and Body, a fit fluent free and perfect tongue; and that what soever I shall aske in thy mercy, will and truth I may obtaine; and confirme all my prayers and actions according to thy good pleasure. Oh Lord my God, the father of life, open the fountaine of Science, which I desire; open to me. Oh Lord, the fountaine which thou opened to Adam, and to thy Servants Abraham, and Isaac, and Jacob, to understand, learne, and Judge; receive Oh Lord my prayers through all thy heavenly virtues Amen

The next oration is the Second of Penn. and giveth Eloquence, which ought to be saide after the other, a Little Intervall between and before the first figure of Theology.

I adore thee thou King of Kings and Lords, eternall and unchangeable King hearken this day to cry and sighing of my heart and spirit that thou maist change my understanding; and give to me a heart of flesh, for my heart of stone, That I may breath before my Lord and Saviour; and wash O Lord with thy new Spirit the inward parts of my heart, and wash a way the evill of my flesh: Infuse into me a good understanding. that I may be come a new man, reforme me in thy love: and let let

let thy salvation give me Increase of knowledge; heare my prayers; O Lord, where with I cry unto the, and open the Eyes of my flesh, and understanding, to understand the wonderfull things of thy law, that being deified by thy Justification, I may prevaile against the Devill, the Advasary of the faithfull; heare me O my Lord God, and be mercifull unto me, and show me thy mercy, and reach to me the vessel of salvation, that I may drinck and be satisfied of the fountaine of thy grace; That I may obtaine the knowledge and understanding; and lett the grace of thy holy spirit come and rest upon me, Amen

For Eloquence and Stability of mind, ~~Amen~~.
This is the Third Oration of the Penn and is to bee saide before the The first figure of Astronomy.

I confess my selfe guielty this day before thee O God, Father of heaven and Earth. maker of all things, visible and Invisible, of all Creatures, dispenser and giver of all grace and vertue; who hidest wisdom and knowledge from the proud and wicked, and giveth it to the faithfull and Humble, Illuminate my heart and establish my conscience and understanding; sett the light of thy countenance upon me, that I may love the and be established in the knowledge of my understanding. that I being cleansed from evill workes, may attaine to the knowledge of those sciences which thou hast reserved for beleevers. O mercifull and Omnipotent God, cleanse my heart and Reins, strengthen my soule and senses, with the grace of thy holy spirit, and establish me with the fire of the same grace; Illuminate me, girde up my Loyns and give the staffe of thy consolation into my right hand, direct me in thy doctrine, root out of me all vices and sinn, and comfort me in thy love thy mercies; mercy; Breath into me O Lord, the breath of life and Increase my reason and understanding; send thy holy Spirit into me that I may be perfect in all knowledges Behold O Lord, and consider the dolour of my Mind, that my will may be comforted in thee; send into me from heaven thy holy Spirit that I may understand those things I desire, give unto me Invention O Lord, thou fountaine of perfect reason, and riches of knowledge; That I may obtaine wisdom by thy divine assistance; Amen

To Comfort the outward and inward Senses.

O Holy God, mercifull and omnipotent Father, giver of all things, Strengthen me by thy power and help me by thy presence, as thou wert mercifull to Adam, and suddainly gavest him the knowledge of all arts, through thy great mercie; grant unto me power to obtaine the same knowledge, by the same mercy, be present with me O Lord, and Instruct me; O most mercifull Lord Jesus Christ, son of God, breath thy holy Spirit into me proceeding from thee and the Father, Strengthen my work this day, and teach me that I may walke in thy knowledge, and glorifie the abundance of thy grace; let the flames of thy holy spirit rejoyce the City of my heart, by breathing into me thy divine scripture replenish my heart with all Eloquence; and visited me with thy holy visitation; blot out of me the spots of vices, I beseech thee O Lord Incomprehensible let thy grace alwaies rest upon me and be Increased in me; heale my soule by thy Inestimable goodness, and comfort my heart all my life, that what I heare, I may understand, and what I understand I may keep and retaine in my memorie; give me a teachable heart and tongue, through thy inexhaustible grace and goodness; and the grace of the Father, son & holy Ghost Amen

This following is for the Memory

O holy Father, mercifull son and holy Ghost, Inestimable King I adore beseech and beseech thy holy name That of thy overflowing goodness thou wilt forgett all my sines, Bee mercifull to me, a sinner; presuming to goe a bout this office of knowledge, and occult Learning, and grant O Lord, it may be efficatious in mee, Open O Lord my ~~heart~~ eares that I may heare and take a way the scales from my Eyes that I may see; strengthen my hands that may work; open face that I may understand thy will; ~~to the~~ glorie of thy name which is blessed for ever. Amen

This following strengtheneths the Interiour and Exteriour Sences

Lifft up the sences of heart and soule unto thee, O Lord my God, and elevate my heart this day unto thee, That my wordes and workes may please thee, in the sight of all people; lett thy mercy and omnipotency shine in my Bowels; let my understanding be enlarged, and lett thy holy Eloquence be sweet in my Mouth, that what I read or heard, I may understand and repeat; as Adam understood, and as Abraham kept, so lett me keep understanding and as Jacob was Founded and rooted in thy wisdom, so lett me be; lett the foundation of thy mercy be confirmed in me, That I may delight in the workes of thy handes, and persevere in Justice, and peace of soule and body, The grace of thy holy spirit working in me, That I may rejoice in the overthrow of all my adversaries. Amen

This following giveth Eloquence, Memory and Stability.

Disposer of all Kingdoms, and of visible and invisible gifts: O God the ordainer and Ruler of all wills, by the Councell of thy Spirit, dispose and visite the weakness of my understanding That I may burne in the access of thy holy will to good; doe good to me in thy good pleasure not looking upon my sinns; grant me my desire though unworthy; confirm my memory and reason to know, understand and retaine, and give good Effect to my sences through thy grace; and Justified me with the Justification of thy holy spirit, that what spots soever of sinn are contracted in my flesh, thy divine power may blot out; Thou who hast been pleased in the beginning, to creat the heaven and Earth, of thy mercy restore the same, who art pleased to restore lost man to thy most holy Kingdom, O Lord of wisdom restore Eloquence into all my sences, that I, though an unworthy sinner, may bee confirmed in thy knowledge; and in all thy works by the grace of the Father, son and Holy Ghost, who liveth and reigneth three in one; Amen

An Oration to recover lost Wisdom

O God ~~the~~ of the living, Lord of all Creatures visible and invisible Administrator and disposer of all things, Enlighten my heart this day by the grace of thy holy Spirit; Strengthen my Inward man and pour into me the dew of thy grace; whereby thou Instructest thy Angels, Informe me with the

the plenty of thy knowledge, wherewith from the begining thou hast ~~taught~~ taught thy faithfull; let thy grace worke in me, and ~~the floods~~ of thy grace and spirit cleanse and correct the flesh of my ~~spirit~~ conscience thou who comest from heaven, upon the waters of thy majesty, conforme thy wonderfull sacrament in me.

To obtaine the grace of the Holy Spirit

O Lord my God Father of all things, who revealeth thy Celestiall and Terrestriall secrets to thy servants, I humbly beseech, and implore thy majesty as thou art ye King and prince of all knowledge; heare my prayers and direct my works, and let my actions prevaile in heavenly vertues, by thy holy spirit, I cry unto thee O God, hear, my clamour I sigh to thee, hear the sighings of my heart, and alwaies preserve my spirit, soule and Body, under the safeguard of thy holy spirit; O God thou holy spirit, ~~perpetuall~~ and heavenly Charity, whereof the heaven and Earth is full, breath upon my devout Oration, and what I require to thy honour and praise; grant unto me; lett thy holy Spirit ~~spirit~~ come upon me, rule and reigne in me Amen

To Recover Intellectuall Wisdome

O Lord I thy servant confesse my selfe unto thee, before the Majesty of thy glory, in whose Spirit is all magnificence, and sanctimony I beseech thee according to thy unspeakable name, extend thy mercifull Eares and Eyes to the Office of my operation, by opening thy hand I may be filled with the grace I desire, and satisfied with Charity and goodness; whereby thou hast founded Heaven and Earth, who liveth and reigneth world without End, Amen

Say these Orations from the first day of the Month to the fourth day

In the fourth day of the Month say as followeth.

Alpha and Omega! O almighty God the beginning of all things, without beginning and without end; Graciously this day hear my prayers, neither doe thou render unto me according to my sinns; nor after mine Iniquities, O Lord my God, but according to thy mercy, which is greater than all all things visible and invisible have mercy upon me O Christ the wisdom of the Father; the Light of Angels the glory of Saincts, the hope, refuge and support of Sinners, the Creator of all things, and redeemer of all humane frailties, who holdeth the heaven Earth and sea, and all the whole world in the palm of thy hand: I humbly Implore and beseech, that thou wilt mercifully with the Father, Illustrate my minde with the Beames of thy holy spirit, that I may be able to come and attaine to the perfection of this most holy art, and that I may be able to gaine the knowledge of every science, art and wisdom; and of every Faculty of Memory, Intelligences, and understanding and Intellect, by the vertue and power of thy most holy Spirit; and in thy name; and thou O God my God, who in the beginning hast created the heaven and the Earth, and all things out of nothing; who reformeth and maketh all things by thy ~~owne~~ own Spirit. Compleat, fullfill, restore Implant a sound understanding in me, that I may glorifie thee and all thy workes, in all my thoughts wordes and deeds. O God the Father, confirme and grant this my prayer, and increase my understanding and memory, and strengthen the same and revive the science, memory, Eloquence and perseverance in all manner of Learning, who liveth and reigneth world without end. Amen.

The exposition of this Oration

O God, the light of the world, Father of Immense Eternity, giver of all wisdome and knowledge and of all Spirituall grace; most holy and Inestimable disposer, knowing all things before they are made; who maketh light and darkness, stretch forth thy hand, and touch my mouth, and make my tongue as a sharpe sword to shew forth these wordes with Eloquence; make my tongue as an arrow elected to declare thy wonders, and to pronounce them memorably. Send forth thy holy Spirit, O Lord into my heart and soule to understand and retaine them, and to meditate on them in my Conscience. By the Oth of thy heart, that is, by the Right hand of thy holy knowledge, and mercifully Inspire thy grace into me; Teach and Instruct me; Establish the comming in and going out of my sences, and lett thy precepts teach and correct me untill the end. and lett the Councell of the most high assist me; Through thy Infinite wisdom and mercy. Amen

Hereby is encreased so much Eloquence that nothing is bove it.

The End of the first Part of Ars Notoria

The Second Part

Of the liberall Sciences and other things which may be had by this Art.

The Liberall arts are seven, and seven exceptives, and seven Mechanicks. The seven exceptives are comprehended under the seven liberall: it is manifest what the seven liberall arts are, of which we shall first treat. The Mechanicks are these, which are adulterally called Hydromancy, Pyromancy, Nygromancy, Chiromancy Geomancy, Geonegia, which is comprehended under Astronomia and Neogia.

Hydromancy, is a science of diving by the flowing of the fire water, whereby the Masters thereof Judged by the standing or running of water.

Pyromancy, is a Experiment of diving by the flaming of the fire, which the ancient Philosophers esteemed of great efficacy.

Nigromancy is a sacrafice of dead Animals, whereby the antients supposed to have many great experiments whithout sin, and to attaine to great knowledge; from whence Salomon commandeth that they might read seven Books of that art whithout sin, and that twoo he accounted sacraledge which twoo Books they they could not read without sin, But having spoken enough hereof we proceed to the rest.

There are seven Liberall arts which every one may learne and read without sin, for Philosophy is great containing profound mysteries in it self; these arts are wonderfully Known.

What Notes the Three first liberall Arts have Grammer hath three notes only; Dialets two and Retorick fowr that we know King Salomon himselfe testifieth and affirmeth for he saith:

And as I was admiring, and revolving in my heart and mind, which way, from whence, and from whence was this Science; an Angel brought one Booke; wherein was written the figures and Orations, and delivered unto me the notes and Orations of all arts plainly and openly, and, told me of them all, as much as was necessary; and he explained unto me, as to a Child taught by certaine Elements, some tedious arts in a great space of time, how that I should have these arts in a short space of time: saying unto me; So shalt Thou be promoted to every Science by the Increase of these vertues. and when I asked him Lord, whence and how commeth this. The Angel answered This is a great Sacrament of the Lord, and of his will, this writting is by the power of the holy Ghost, which inspireth fructifieth, and increaseth all Knowledge; and againe the Angel saide looke upon these notes and Orations at the appointed and determinate Times and observe the Times as appointed of God, and no otherwise, when he had thus said he shewed to king Salom: a booke wherein was written at what times all these things were to be pronounced, and published, and plainely demonstrated it according to the vision of God; which things I having heard and seen, did operate in them all, according to the word of the Lord by the Angel; and so Salomon declareth it came to pass unto him: But we that came after him ought to Imitate his authority, and as much as we can [illegible] things he hath left unto us.

Here Salomon

Here Salomon sheweth how the Angel told him distinctly, wherefore the Grammar hath three Figures.

Behold wherefore the grammaticall art hath only three notes in ye Booke of Salomon, Gemeliath, that is in the Booke of the art of God, wch were read is the art of all other vertues, and of all other arts; for Salomon saith: when I did enquire every thing singularly of the Angel of God, with fear, saying, Lord from whence shall this come to pass to me, that I may fully and perfectly know this art; why doe so many Notes appertaine to such an art, and so many to such an art, and are described to severall determinate Orations, to have the Efficacy thereof: The Angel is thus saide to answare: The grammaticall art is called a liberall, and hath three things necessary thereunto: Ordination of wordes and times; and in them, of adjuncts or figures, simple compound and various and a various declination of the parts to the parts, or a relation from the parts, and a congruent and ordinate division, this is the Reason, why there is three notes in the art of grammer: and so it pleased the divine wisdome, That as there should be a full knowledge declining beyond; by another there should be had a convenient ordination of all the parts; by the third there should be had a continuall and convenient division of all the parts, simple and compound.

The Reason why the Dialectiall Art hath two figures only

Dialect, is ye called the form of arts, and a doctrinall speech hath two things necessary thereunto to wit Eloquence of arguing, and prudence to answare, therefore the greatness of the divine providence, and piety hath appointed two Notes to it, that by the first we may have Eloquence to argue and dispute; and by the second Industry to answare without ambiguity wherefore there are ascribed to grammar three Notes, and two Dialects Two Notes

The Reason why Retorick hath four figures.

Lett us see wherefore Retorick hath four Notes. for there are are four things necessary therein, as the angel of the Lord saide unto Salomon; to wit: a continuall and flourishing adornment of Locution, an ordinate competent and discreet Judgment, a testimony of causes or offices of chances & losses, a composed disposition of Buying and selling; an Eloquence of the matters of the art, wit a demonstrative understanding; Therefore the greatness of God hath appointed to the art of Retorick four Notes with their holy and glorious orations; as they were reverently sent by the hand of God; That every note in the art aforesaide, might have a severall faculty That the first note in that art might give a con- continuall Locution, a competent and flourishing adornment thereof. The second to discerne Judgements, Just and unjust, ordinate and inordinate, true and false; The third competently to discover offices and causes, and the fourth to give understanding and Eloquence in all the operations of this arts without prolixity, See therefore how in grammer, Logick and Rhetorick the severall Notes are disposed in the severall arts.

But of the other arts and their Notes, we shall speake in their due place and time as we find them disposed in the Booke of Sallomon.

At what Times and Howres the Notes of these three Liberall Arts are to be looked into.

Now wee proceed to show at what times and how the notes of these arts are to be looked into, and the orations to be saide; to attaine to those arts; If thou art all together Ignorant of the grammaticall art, and wouldest have the knowledge thereof: if it be appointed thee of God to doe this work of works, and have a firme understanding in this art of arts; Then know that thou maist not presume to doe otherwise then this Book commandeth thee; for this Book of his shall be thy master and this art of his thy Mistriss.

How the grammaticall Notes are to be looked into in the first of the Moon you in thy

For in this Manner the grammaticall Notes are to be looked into, & the orations to be saide; In the dayes when the Moon is in her prime, the first Note is to be looked into 12 Times and the Orations thereof repeated 24 times with holy reverence; making a little space between, lest the Orations be twice repeated at the Inspection of every Note; and chiefly abstaine from sinne; doe this from the first day of the Moon to the 14, and from the 14 to the 17. The first and second Notes are to be looked into 20 Times, and the orations to be repeated 30 times, on the 15 and 17 dayes using some Intervall between them; all these Notes are then every day to be looked into 12 Times, and the orations to be repeated 20 Times, and thus of the Notes of the grammer. But if Thou hast read any Books of this art, and desirest perfection therein doe as is commanded using the generall Orations to encrease Memory, Eloquence, understanding and perseverance therein, repeating those above in the due time and howers appointed, least that going beyond Thy precept, Thou commitest sinn; But when thou doest This, see that it be secret to thy selfe, and that thou have no looker on but God. Now we come to the Notes

Here followeth the Knowledge of the notes.

In the begining of the Inspection of all Notes fast the first day till the evening if you can; if thou canst not, then take another hour. This is the grammaticall precept.

Of the Logicall Notes

The dialecticall Notes may be used every day, except onely in those dayes before noted; The Rhetorick every day, except onely these dayes of the Moon to wit the 11, 17 & 19. and they are forbidden on these dayes as Salomon testifieth, The Notes of all arts, except the notes of this art are offered those precepts are generally to be observed.

How the Logicall Notes are to be inspected and the orations thereof saide.

[illegible] dialecticall Notes are four times to be looked into, and the orations in that day are 20 times to be repeated, making some respits; and having the Book of that art before your Eyes, and so likewise the Booke of Rhetorick [illegible] [illegible] are Inspected, as it is appointed. This sufficeth for the knowledge of these arts

How wee must beware of offences.

Before wee proceed to beginne the first note of the art of grammer somthing is to be sayed before. That we may have the knowledge of the 1. 2. and 3 Notes; and you ought first to know in what the Notes of the grammaticall, Logicall or Rhetoricall art are to be Inspected, it being necessary that your greatest Intentions be to keept from all offenses.

How the Notes ought to be inspected at certaine elected Times.

This is a speciall and manifest knowledge, wherewith the notes of the grammaticall art are knowne, how they are to be published, at what times, and with what distinction, is duely and manifest, it is spoken already of ye publishing and Inspections of the Notes and Orations. Now wee shall degresse a little to speake somthing of the times, it being in part done allready.

How divers Monthes are to be sought out in the Inspection of the Notes.

Wee have spoken allready of the tearms of this art, wherein the Orations are to be read and the notes to be looked into, it remaineth to declare; how the Lunations of these orations are to be Inspected and found out; But see that thou mistake not: yet I have allready noted the Lunations, wherein the Notes ought to be looked into, and the Orations rehearsed, But there are some Monthes, wherein the Lunation is more profitable then others. if thou wouldest operate in Theology or Astronomie, doe it in a fiery signe; if grammar or logick in ♊ or if musick or Physick in ♉ or if Rhetorick Philosophy Arithmetick or geometry in ♊ or ♋: for Mathematicks in ♉ or ♊ if they are well placed, and free from evill: for all the heavenly Potestates and Chorus of angels, doe rejoyce in their Lunations, and determinate dayes.

Here is made mention of the notes of fallurts.

As it is spoken of the three notes of grammer so you must observe the times as they are to be observed; But the Orations thereof are not not written, but are more fully demonstrated in the following worke: for what is written of these three notes are not Orations, But difinitions of those notes, written by the greek Hebrue and Chaldean; and other things which are apprehended by us; for those writtings wch are not understood in Latin, ought not to be pronounced but on those dayes which are appointed by King Salomon, and in those dayes wherein the Notes are Inspected, but on those dayes those holy writtings are allwayes to be repeated: and the Latine on those dayes wherein the notes are not Inspected. The Notes of the Logicall art are twoo, and at what times they are to be published, is already shown in part: more shall hereafter be saide of them; Now we come to the rest. The Latine writtings may be published, according to the antiquity of the Hebrews, except on those dayes we have spoken of: for Salomon saith see that thou performe all those precepts as they are given: But of the rest wch follow, it is to be done otherwise: for when thou seest the first note in Logick, repeat in thy heart the signe in the first note, and so in the notes of all arts, except those whereof a diffinition shall be given.

Definitions of severall Arts and the notes thereof

Wee will give also definitions of severall arts, as it is in the Book of Salomon; Geometry hath one note; Arithmetick a note and a halfe; Phylosophy with the arts and sciences therein contained, hath 4 species; Theologi and Astronomy, with the sciences in them contained hath 3 notes, But they are great and dangerous; not great in the pronounciation, but have great Efficacy: Musick hath one note, and Phisikone note, But they are all to be published, and rehearsed in their appointed dayes; But know that in every day wherein you beholdest the notes of Theology, Phylosophy or any arts contained in them, That thou neither laugh, nor play, nor play, nor sport, because King Salomon when he say the formes of those notes, having over drunk himselfe; God was angry with him, and speak unto him by his angel saying, Because thou hast despised my sacrament, and polluted and derided my holy things; I will take away part of they Kingdom, and I will shorten the dayes of thy children and the angel added: The Lord hath forbidden thee to enter into th[illegible] Temple 80 dayes, That thou mayst ~~repent~~ of thy sinn.

thy sinn. and when Salomon wept and besought mercy of the Lord. the angel answered... Thy dayes shall be prolonged, nevertheless many evills and Iniquities shall come upon thy Children and they shall be destroyed of the Iniquities that shall come upon them. at the beginning of a note: having seen the generalls, let the specialls be looked into. the word of Salomon is to seek unto God for his promises, before the Notes of ye three arts.

The first Oration at the begining of the Note
The Light Truth, life way Judge mercy. fortitude & patience, preserve, helpe me: and have mercy upon me. Amen.

This Oration with the preceding ought to be said in the begining of the first note of Grammer.

O Lord holy Father, Almighty, Eternall God in whose sight are all the foundations of all Creatures, and Invisible beings; whose Eyes behold my Imperfections of the sweetness of whose love the Earth and Heavens are filled, who sawest all things before they were made: in whose Book everyday is found, and all mankind are written therein, behold me thy servant thy day prostrate before thee: with my whole heart and soule; by thy holy spirit confirm me, Blesse me perfect all my actions in thee Inspection or aspiration, and Illuminate me with the constancy of thy visitation.

The third Oration; this Oration ought to be said before the second note of the Gramer.

Behold O Lord, mercifull father of all things: Eternall disposer of all vertues, and consider my operations this day. thou art the beholder and discerner of all the actions of men and angels: let the wounderfull grace of thy promise condescend to fullfill this sudden vertue in me, and infuse such Efficacy into me, operating in thy holy and great name; thou who ~~[illegible]~~ thy paradise unto ~~the~~ Mouthes of them them them that love thee. Amen.

The Fourth Oration, Let this Oration be rehearsed before the third Grammaticall note.

O Adonay, Creator of all visible Creatures: O most holy Father, who dwelleth Incompassed about with eternall Light, disposing and by thy power governing all things before all beginnings; I most humbly beseech thy Eternity, and thy Incomprehensible goodness may come to perfection into me, by the operation of thy most holy Angels; and be confirmed in my Memory, and establish those thy holy works in me. Amen

A little space after this preceding Oration say the following, the first Oration ought to be said before the first note of Logick.

O holy God great and good, and the Eternall maker of all things, thy attributes not to be expressed, who hast created the heaven and the Earth; the sea and all things in them, and the Bottomless pit, according to thy pleasure; in whose sight are the wordes, and actions of all men: grant unto me, by these sacramentall mysteries of thy holy Angels, the precious knowledge of this art, which I desire by the ministry of thy holy Angels; it being without any Malignant or Malicious Intent. Amen.

rehearse this Oration in the beginning of the first figure of the Logick note; and after this Oration ~~in the beginning~~ rehearse Intentively with some Intervalls; the Orations written between the first figures.

The fix Oration ought to be said before the first note of the Liberal Artes.

Most mercyfull Creator, Inspirer, Reformer, and approver of all good wills, ordainer of all things, mercyfully give Eare unto my prayers. prayer

Prayer, gloriously Infused into the desires of my heart, that what I humbly desire according to thy promises, Thou wilt mercyfully grant. Amen.

This Oration following, ought to be pronunced before the first Note of the Rhetorical Art.

Omnipotent and wonderfull Father, Ordainer and Creator of all Creatures: O most holy Judge, Eternall King of Kings and Lord of Lords, who wounderfully condescendest to give wisdome and understanding to thy saints, who Judgest and descernest all Things: I beseech thee to Illuminate my heart this day with the splendor of thy Beauty, that I may understand and know what I desire; and what things are considerable to be known in thy art. Amen.

This Oration with the following Hanazay ought to be pronunced before the first figure of Rhetorick.

And although these Orations be devided into parts, yet it is one and the same: and they are devided only for this cause, that their might be some meane intervals used in the pronunsing of them, and they ought to be pronunsed before the other Orations written in the figure.

Hanazay, Sarhasn, Hubi, Sene, Hay, Ginbar; Bonail Selmora, Hyramay, lohal Yzazamael, Amathomatis Yabba geyors, Sozomcrat, Ampho, Delmeos, Geroth, Agalos Meihalaziel, Secamay, Saheleton Mechogrises lerirenonon.

The Eight Oration, let it be pronounced before the second Note of the Rhetoricall art.

O Great Eternall and wounderfull Lord God, who of thy Eternall councill hast disposed of all vertues, and art ordainer of all goodness; adorne & Beautifie my understanding, and give unto me reason to know and learn the mysteries of thy holy angels: and grant unto me all knowledge and learning Thou hast promised thy servants by the vertue of thy holy Angels. Amen

4 Beholding with thy eternall Conspiratio all powers kingdoms & Judges; administring all manner of Languages to all; and of whose power there is noe end; Restore I beseech the & Increase my memory my harte & understanding to know understand & Judge all things which the devine authoryty Commendeth necessary in this arte, perfectly fulfill them in me amen

Let this Oration following with the precedent be rehearsed before the second note of Retorick ♂

This Precedent Oration with the other two following ought to be pronounced (viz. Vision &c) Azelechias, &c in the begining of the Second Figure of Rhetorick, and before the other Orations, and there ought to be some intervall betwen them

Let this Oration following be said before the second not of Rhetoricall Vision. 4 ♂ Azelechias, Velozeos, Inoanzama, Samelo, Hoteus, Sagnath, Adonay, Soma, Jezochos, Hicon, Jeromethon, Sadaot. and thou O God propitiously confirm thy promisses in me; as thou hast confirmed them by the same words to King Salomon; send unto me, O Lord thy vertue from heaven, that may Illuminate my mind and understanding: strengthen, oh God, my understanding, renew my soule within me, and wash me with the waters which are above the heavens, pour out thy spirit upon my flesh, and fill my Bowells with thy Judgments, with humility and Charity, thou who hast Created the heaven and the Earth, and made man according to thy own Image; pour out the light of thy love into my understanding, that being radicated and established in thy love, and thy mercy, I may love thy name, and know and worship thee; and understand all thy scriptures, and all the mysteries which thou hast declared by thy holy Angels, I may receive and understand in my heart, and use this art to thy honour and glory through thy mighty councell. Amen

The seventh Oration ought to be said before the pronuntiation of the third Note of Rhetorick [illegible] that I love thy praise, and my delight is in thy [illegible] works and that thou wilt give unto me wisdome according to thy goodness and thy power which is incomprehensible: Theon, Haltanagon, Haramalon, Zamoyma, Chamasal, Jeconamril, Harionatar, Jechomagol, gela Magos Kemolihot, Kamanatar, Harionatar Hanaos, [illegible]

Velonioathar, Aroroy, Jezabali, By those most holy and glorious profound Misteries, precious offices, vertue and knowledge of God, compleat and perfect my beginnings, and reform my beginnings. Zembar, Henoranat grenatajl, Samzatam Jecornazay: Oh thou great fountaine of all goodness, knowledge, and vertue, give unto thy servant power to eschew all Evill, and cleave unto goodness and knowledge; and to follow the same, with an holy Intention, that with my whole heart I may understand & learn thy Laws and decrees; especially those holy Mysteries, wherein that I may profit, I beseech thee. Amen.

12 Twelve, This Oration ought to be said before the 9th Rhetoricall note.

O most reverend allmighty Lord ruling all Creatures, angels & archangels, & all Celestiall Terrestiall and Infernall Creatures, of whose greatness cometh all plenty, who hast made Man after thy own Image; grant unto me the knowledge of this art, and strengthen all sciences in me. Amen.

13 Thirtinth Pronounce this before the first figure of Arithmetick

O God who Numberest, weighest, and measurest all things, given the day his Order and called the sun by his name grant the knowledge of this art unto my understanding, that I may love thee and acknowledge the gifft of thy goodness. Amen.

14 ~~Fifteen~~ Fourteenth Say this ~~before~~ the semi Note of Arithmetick,

O God the operator of all things, from whom proceeds every good and perfect gifft sow the seeds of thy word in my heart that I may understand the excellent wisdome mysteries of this art, Amen

Fifteen Say this before the second figure of Arithmetick

O God the perfect Judge of all good works, who maketh knowne thy saving goodness amongst all Nations, open my Eyes and my heart with the Beams of thy mercy, that I may understand and perceive in this thy heavenly Mysteries. Amen

Sixteen Say this Oration before the second Note of Geometry

O God the giver of all wisdome and knowledge to them that are without sin, Instructor & master of all Spirituall Learning by thy Angels and Archangels, by Thrones, Potestas, Principates and powers, by Cherubim and Seraphim, and by the 24 Elders, By the 4 animals, and all the host of heaven, I adore, Invocate, worship, and glorifie thy Name, and exalt thee most terrible and most mercifull, I humbly beseech thee this day to Illuminate and fill my heart with the grace of thy holy spirit, thou who art three in one Amen.

Seventeen Say this Oration before the 2d note of Theology.

I adore thee O King of kings, my light, my substance, my life, my king, and my God, my Memory and my strength, who in a moment gavest sundry tongues, and threwest down a mighty Tower, and gavest by thy holy spirit the knowledge of Tongues to thy Apostles, infusing thy knowledg into them in a Moment, giving them the understanding of all Languages; Inspire my heart, and pour the dew of thy grace and holy spirit into me, that I may understand the exposition of Tongues and Languages. Amen

Three Chapters to be ~~said~~ ~~published~~ published before any of the Notes.

What wee have spoken of the three first Chapters, are generally and especially to be pronounced, so that you say them, and the Orations on the days appointed, and work by the notes as it is demonstrated to you, these Orations ought to be said allwaies before Noon, every day of the Month; and before the Notes say the proper Orations: and in all reading, observe the precepts commanded.

How the proper Notes are to be inspected

If you would Learne anything of any one art, look into the proper Notes the ~~second~~ time, enough is said already of the three Liberall arts.

What dawes are to be observed in the inspection of the Notes of the ~~four~~ four Arts

In the four other arts, only the four first dayes are to be observed; The Philosophicall Notes, with all signes contained therein, the 7 and 17 dayes of the Moon are to be Inspected, 7 times a day, with there severall Orations, the Notes is to be looked into with fear, silence and trembling. Of the Notes of the Liberall arts is spoken already; but only know this, that when you would use them, Live chast and soberly, for the Notes hath in it selfe 24 Angles, is fully and perfectly to be pronounced, as you have heard: But when you look into them, repeat all the Theologicall Orations and the rest in their due time.

Of the inspection of generall Notes

Say the generall Notes 10 times a day, when you have Occasion to use any common arts, having the Books of those arts before you, using some intervall or space of time between them, as you have been taught already.

How the three first Chapters are to be pronounced before Orations

To have perfection herein, know that in generall pronunciation of Orations, the Notes of the three heads are to be considered, whether the Orations be pronounced or not.

How the [illegible] inspection [illegible] Orations

There is also something else to be said of the four generall Notes, if you would have the perfect knowledge of them, make the first Oration of Theology, before you say the Oration of the other Notes, these are sufficiently declared, that you may understand and know them, and let the particular Orations be pronounced before the severall Notes of every art, and kept, as is determined &c.

These are the [illegible] Orations which belong to all arts Liberall and exceptive, except Mechanick, and are especially ascribed to the Notes of Theology, and they are thus to be pronounced, that whensoever you would look into any one Note of any art, and would profit therein, say these Orations following.

Gromamas

1 Gromamos, Hazalat, Grilyne, Hezemechel, Gremomechel Zamay, Zaton Ziamy Navzaton, Hayzemegon, Jecomantha, Jarapha Phalezeton, Sacramphoe, Sagamazaim, Secranale, Sacramathan; Jezennalaton Hacheriatos Jcelemathon, Zamagay, Zamachay, Jeguthero Jeurlagon, Jarneos, Megalon Hera Cruhic, Crarihuc, Amen.

Let this Oration with the following be pronounced before the first Note of Philosophy.

O Lord God, holy Father, almighty and Incomprehensible hear my prayers, thou that art Invisible, Immortall and Intelligible, whose face the angels and archangels, and all the powers of heaven, doe so much desire to see whose Majesty I desire Eternally to adore, and honour the only and God for ever and ever Amen.

2 Say this before the second Note of Philosophy:

O Lord God, holy and Almighty Father, hear my prayers this day, and Incline thy Ears to my Orations, Gezomelion Samach, Semath Gemon, Gezagam Gezathrhin, Zheamoth, Zezeltator Sezeator Samay, Sannanday Gezyel, Jesel, Gaziell, Hel, Gazzyelchyhel, Amen.

Say this following with the former

O God Eternall, the way, the truth, and the life, put thy light and the flower of thy holy spirit into my mind and understanding, and grant that the gift of thy grace may shine forth in my heart, and into my soul, now and for ever. Amen.

Pronounce the Orations following before the third Note of Philosophy; Lemogethon, Hegemothom Huzachay, [illegible] [illegible], [illegible] [illegible]ruthay, Geomothay, Logomothay, Zathana, Lachanma, Ligornezen, Ligornozan, Lembdemachon, Zegomaday, Hathanayos Hatamam, Helesymam Vagedaren.

Vadeyabar Lamnanath, Lamadai, Symongchar, Gemechor, Ellmay Geromal Gecrohahi, Colemanos, Colomaythos. Amen

Say this following with the precedent Oration.

O God the life of all visible Creatures, eternall Brightness, and vertue of all things; who art the Originall of all piety, who knowest all things before they were; who Judgest all things, and discernest all things by thy unspeakable knowledge: glorifie thy holy and unspeakable Name this day in my heart; and strengthen my Intellectuall understanding, Increase my Memory, and confirm my Eloquence make my tongue ready, quick and perfect in thy sciences and scriptures, that by thy power given unto me, and thy wisdome taught in my heart, I may praise thee, and know and understand thy holy name for ever, world without End Amen.

Say this Oration following before the fourth note of Phylosophy

O King of kings, the giver and dispenser of Infinite Majesty and of Infinit Mercy; the founder of all foundations, Lay the foundation of all thy vertues in me remove all foolishness from my heart, that my senses may be established in the love of thy Charity, & my spirit Informed by thee, according to the recreation and Inspiration of thy will, who livest and reignest God throughout all worlds of worlds, Amen.

How these Orations are to be said every day before the Generall Notes and the Notes of the Liberall Arts.

These Orations are necessary for Liberall arts, but chiefly doe appertaine to Theology, which are to be said every day before the generall Notes or the Notes of the Liberall arts; But of dictating, versifying, singing or Musick or any of these sciences, first teach him these orations, that thou wouldest teach, how he should read them, but if it be a Child of meane understanding read them before him, and lett him say after thee word for word, but if he be of a good understanding lett him read them 7 times a day for 7 days: or if it be a generall note, pronounce these Orations, and the vertue thereof shall profit you very much, and you shall find therein great vertue.

Salomon, saith of these Orations, let no man presume to

to make use of them unless for the proper Offices they are intended for.

O Father Incomprehensible; from whom proceeds every thing that is good, whose greatness is Incomprehensible; hear this day my prayers, wch I make in thy sight, and grant to me the Joy of thy saving health, that I may teach unto the wicked the wayes and paths of thy sciences; and convert the Rebellious and Incredulous unto thee, that whatsoever I commemorate and repeate in my heart and Mouth, may take root and foundation in me, that I may be made powerfull and efficatious in thy works, Amen.

Say this Oration before the 6 Note of Phylosophy.

Gezemothon, Oromathion, Hayatha, Ayzyay, Lethahiel, Lechozliel. Gehohay, Gerhonay, Samasatel, Samasathel, Gessiamo, Hatil, Segomasay, Azomathon Helomathon, Gerochor, Hejazay, Samin Heliel, Sanihelyel, Siloth, Silerech, Gavamathal, Gesemathal, Georomay, Georenay, Samyel, Samihael, Hesemyhel, Sedolamax, Secothamay, Samya, Halabiathos, Avinosch, Annas. Amen.

Then say this following:

O Eternall King, O God, the Judge and discerner of all things knower of all good sciences, Instruct me this day for thy holy Name sake, and by these holy sacraments and purifying understanding, that thy knowledge May enter into my inward parts, as water flowing from heaven, and as oyl into my bones; by thee O God, saviour of all things, who art the fountaine of goodness, and originall of piety, Instruct me this day in those sciences which I desire; thou who art one God for ever Amen.

O God Father Incomprehensible from whom proceedeth all good, the greatness of whose mercy is fathomless, hear my prayers, which I make this day before thee, and render unto me the Joy of thy salvation, that I may teach the unjust the knowledge of thy wayes, and convert the unbeleiving & Rebellious unto thee and may have power to perform thy works Amen.

The Oration which is the End of the Orations belonging to the ineffable Notes the last of theology having 24 Angles.

O God of all piety, author and foundation of all things, the Eternall health and Redemption

Redemption of thy people; Inspirer and great giver of all grace, sciences and arts, from whose gift it cometh: Inspire into me thy servant and Increase of those sciences who hath granted life to me miserable sinner, defend my soule, and deliver my heart from the wicked cogitations of this world; extinguish and quench in me the flames of all lust & fornication, that I may the more attentively delight in thy sciences & arts, & give unto me the desire of my heart, that I being confirmed and exalted in thy glorie may love thee: & Increase in me the power of thy holy spirit, by thy salvation and reward of the faithfull, to the salvation of my soule and Body Amen

Then say this following:

O God most mighty father, from whome proceedeth all good, the greatness of whose mercy is incomprehensible, hear my prayers, which I make in thy sight.

Special precepts of the Notes of Theology chiefly of the 1. 2 and 3

These 4 Orations are an augmentation of the rest and ought to be said before all the Notes of Theology, but especially before the inestimable note; these are the precepts to make thee sufficient with we command thee to observe by the authority of Salomon: diligently Inquire them out, and doe as we have proposed, and perfectly pronounce the Orations, and looke into the Notes of the other arts.

How Salomon received that ineffable Note from the Angel

Because thou desirest to know the mysteries of the Notes, take this of the ineffable: Now, the operation whereof is given in the angels by the figures of swordes, Birds, trees, flowers, Candles and serpents; for Salomon received this from the Lord in the night of pacification. Ingraven in a Book of Gold; and heard this from the Lord: doubt not, neither be affraid, for this Sacrament is greater then all the rest. and the Lord rejoyced it unto him.

when thou lookest into this note, and readest the Orations thereof, observe the precepts before, and dilligently look into them, and beware that thou prudently conceal and keep whatsoever thou readest in this note of God, and whatsoever shall be revealed to thee in the vision, and when the Angel of the Lord appeareth to thee keep and conceale the words and writtings he revealeth to thee, and

and observe them to practise and operate in them, observing all things with great reverance, and pronounce them at the appointed dayes and houres as before is directed, and afterwards say, Sapienter hic illo; Age & caste vivas.

But if thou doest anything uncertaine, there is danger; as thou wilt have experience from the other notes and the Orations of them; but consider wch is most wonderfull in these Orations; for these words are ineffable names, and are spiritually to be pronounced before the ineffable Note, Hosel Jesel, Anchiator [redacted] Aratol, Hasiatol, gemor, gesamcor, these are the Orations which ought to be pronounced after the inspection of all arts, and after the Note of Theology.

This is the fullfilling of the whole work: but what is necessary for an experiment of the work, wee have more plainly declared before, for in the beginning of the knowledge of all arts, there is given allmost the perfect doctrine of Operation, I say allmost, because some flourishing Institutions hereof remaine, wherefore this is the first beginning.

How the precepts are to be Observed in the operation of all Arts.

Observe the 4 D in every operation of Theology. Exhibit that operation with Efficacy every 4 D. quartam Lunam, & dilligently look into the Books & writtings of those arts, if thou doubt of any of the Chapters, they are to be pronounced, as it taught of the superior Chapters; But know this that these holy words of Orations, we appoint to be said, before ye Bedd of the sick, for an experiment of life or death; & this thou maist doe often, if thou wilt operate nothing else in the whole Body of art: and know this, that if thou hast not the Books in thy hands, or the faculty of looking into them is not given to thee: the Effect of this work will not be the lesse therefore: but the Orations are twice to be pronounced, where they were to be but once: and as to the knowledge of a vision, and the other vertues which these holy orations have, thou maist prove and try them, when and how thou wilt.

These precepts are Especially to be observed.

But when thou wouldest operate in Theology observe only those dayes which are appointed. But all times are convenient for those Notes and operations, for which there is a competent time given, But in the pronunciation of the three Liberall arts, or in the Inspection of their notes, perhaps thou maist pretermit some day appointed, if thou observe the rest; or if thou transgresse two dayes, leave not of the work, for it looseth not its effect for this. For the moon is more to be observed in the greater numbers, then the dayes or houres for.

for Salomon saith if thou miss a day or two, fear not, but operate on the Generall Chapters.

This is enough to say of them; but by no meanes forgett any of the words wth are to be said in ye beginning of ye reading to attaine to arts; for there is great vertue in them. & Thou maist frequently use the holy words of the visions; But if thou wouldst operate in the whole Body of Physicall art, The first Chapters are first to be repeated, as before are defined. and in Theology, Thou must operate only by thy selfe & often repeate the Orations & looke into ye notes of Theology: this produceth great effects. it is necessary that you have the note of the 24 angles always in memory, and faithfully keep those things which the angel revealeth to thee in the Vision.

Here endeth the Notary arte; as alsoe the Clavicula Salomonis according to the written exemplar, which once came to my hand but examining the Ars notoria which is printed I found in that printed exempalar some Additions or Augmentations; compleated by magister Apolonius a succcessor of Salomon in that sublime & secret studdy; as he stileth himselfe parte of them being placed before & parte be hinde; the above written notory arte; which said Additions I thought fitt to sett downe here allsoe (out by themselves) & soe to conclude all in one Booke as followeth — —

Here followeth the Additionall Parte of the as it stands in the beginning of the printed Exemplar: viz.

O Apollonius, Master of arts, duely called, to whome the nature of Liberall arts hath been granted, am Intended to treate of the knowledge of Liberall arts, & of the knowledge of Astronomy and with what experiments & documents, a compendious & competent knowledge of arts may be attained unto; & how the highest & lowest mysteries of Nature may be competently divided, & fitted, & applied to ye Natures of times, & what proper dayes & houres are to be elected, for the deeds & actions of Men, to be begunn & ended, what qualifications a man ought to have, for to attaine the Efficacy of this art & how he ought to dispose of ye actions of his life: & to behold & study ye Course of ye Moon. In ye first place therefore, we shall declare certaine precepts of ye spirituall sciences; That all Things wth wee Intend to speake of, may be attained to in order. wounder not therefore, at what you shall hear and see in this subsequent treatise, and that you shall an Example of such Inestimable Learning. Som things which follow which wee will deliver to thee as Essayes of wounderfull Effects, & have extracted them out of the most antient Books of ye Hebrews; wth which thou seest them (although they are forgotten & worn out of any human Language) neverthelesse esteem them as Miracles: for I doe truly admire the great power and Efficacy of words in the works of Nature.

There is a great vertue, power & Efficacy in certaine Names and words of God, that when you read those very words, it shall immediatly encrease and help your Eloquence, so that ye shall be made Eloquent of speech by them, & at length attaine to ye Effects of ye powerfull sacred names of God but from whence ye power thereof doth proceed, shall be fully demonstrated to you, in the following Chapters of prayers: and those which follow next to our hand, wee shall lay open.

An Explanation of the Notory Art

This art is divided into two parts, the first containing generall Rules, ye second speciall Rules; wee come first to ye speciall Rules; That is first to a threefold, & then to a fourefold division; then in ye third place, wee come to speake of Theology; wth sciences Thou shalt attaine to by the operation of operation of operation of these Orations, if thou pronounce them as they are written. Therefore there are certaine notes of the Notory art, wth are manifest to us, the vertue whereof humane reason cannot comprehend; The first note hath its signification taken from the Hebrewe wch though the expression thereof be comprehended in a very few words, neverthelesse in ye expression of ye mysterie, they do not loose their vertue: that may be called their vertue; wch doe happen & proceed from their pronunciation, wch ought to be generally admired at.

The First Precept

Hely Semath, Amazar, Hemel; Sathuston, hhel Tamazam, &c. which Salomon entituled, His first Revelation; & that to be without any interpretation; it being a science of so transcendent a purity, that it hath its originall out of ye depth & profundity of ye Hebrew Chaldean and Grecian Languages, & therefore it cannot possible by any meanes be explicated fully, in the poor threed bear scene of our Language; & of what nature ye Efficacy of ye afforesaid words are, Salomon him selfe doth describe in his Eleventh Book Helisoe, of ye mighty glorie of the Creator, But Apollonious the friend and successour of Salomon, wch some few others, to whome that science hath been manifested, have explained the same and defined it to be most holy, devine deep, and profound mysteries, and not to be disclosed, nor pronounced, without great faith and reverence.

Before anyone beginneth to endeavour pronounce any Orations of this art, to bring them to Effect, lett him alwayes first reverently, and devoutly rehearse this prayer in ye beginning ~~ning~~. If anyone will search ye Scripture, or would understand or Eloquently pronounce any part of the Scripture, lett him pronounce ye words of ye before written figure, to wit, Hely Scemath &c. in the morning betimes of that day, wherein thou wilt beginne any work. And in the name of the Lord our God lett him dilligently pronounce ~~the figure~~ proposed, With thy prayer Theos Megale, wch is mystically described and miraculously and properly framed out of the Hebrew greek and Chaldean tongues, & it extendeth it selfe briefly into every Language in wch beginning whole they are declared. The second part of ye Oration of ye second Chapter is taken out of ye Hebrew, greek & Chaldee, & ye exposition thereof ought to be pronounced first wch is an Oration in Latine or in our Language. The third Oratation of ye three Chapters, allwayes in ye beginning of every faculty, is first to be rehearsed. The oration is: Theos Megale, in tu ymas ymas ymas Eurel, &c. The exposition is: O God the light of the world &c. as before in the Notory art of Salomon is sett down

Of the Triumphall figures how sparingly they are to be pronounced, and honestly and devoutly spoken.

There are also certaine figures or Orations wch Salomon in Caldea calleth Helys that is: Triumphall Orations of the Liberall arts, & sudden excellent Efficacies of vertues, & they are ye Introduction to ye Notory art wherefore Salomon made a speciall beginning of them, that they are to be pronounced at certaine determinate times of the Moon, & not to be undertaken without consideration of ye End. whosoever will pronounce these wordes, lett him do it in a determinate appointed time, & sett aside all other occasions, & he shall profit in all sciences in one Month; and attaine to them, in an extraordinary wounderfull manner.

The expositions of the lunations of the Notory Art.

These are ye expositions of ye Lunations of ye Introduction of ye Notory art to wit in ye 4th & ye 8th day of ye D, & in the, 12, 16, 2[illegible] 28 & 30th they ought to be put in operation; from whence Salomon saith, that to these times we give ye expositions times of ye Moon; of ye fourth day of the Moon, wch are written by ye four angels, & in ye fourth day of ye moon is manifested to us, & are four times repeated & explained by ye Angel, the Messenger of these Orations, and are also revealed and delivered to us that require them from the angel, four times of ye year, to shew ye Eloquent fullness of ye four Languages, greek Hebrew Chaldea and Latine, and God hath determined the power of the faculties of humane understanding, to the four parts of the Earth, and also the four vertues of humanities understanding, Memory, Eloquence, and the faculty of Ruling those Three, and these things are to be used as we have before spoken.

How the precedent Oration is the beginning & foundation of the whole Art

That is ye first figure of ye Notory art wch is manifested [illegible] notes and this is angellicall wisdome, understood of few in astronomy, But in ye glasse of AstrologY it is called the Ring of Phylosophy, & in ye Notory art it is written, to be ye foundation of ye whole science. But it is to be rehearsed four times a day, beginning in ye morning once morning once

Morning one about the Third hour one, one in ye ninth hour, and one in the evening.

The precedent Oration ought to be spoken secretly, and lett him that speak it be alone & pronounce it with a low voice, so that he scarcely heareth himselfe. & this the foundation thereof, That if necessity urge one to doe any great works, he shall say it twice in ye morning, & about ye ninth hour twice; & lett him fast the first day wherein he rehearseth it, and lett him live chastly & devoutly, & this is ye Oration which he shall say:

This is the Oration of the four tongues, Chaldee Greek, Hebrew and Latine evidently expounded, which is called, The Splendour or Speculum of wisdom.

In all holy Lunations, these Orations ought to be read one in ye morning one about the third hour, one about the ninth hour, and one in ye evening.

The Oration.

Assay lemath, Assay, lemeth Azzabue.

The second part of the precedent Oration which is to be said onely once Azzaylemath, lemath, Azacgessenio.

The third part of the precedent Oration, which is to be spoken together with the other Lemath, Sebanche, Elithy, Aygezo.

This Oration hath no exposition in the Latine

This is a holy prayer, without danger of any sin, which Salomon saith is inexplicable by humane sence, & he addeth & saith That the explication thereof is more prolixious then can be considered of, or apprehended by man; excepting all those secrets, which is not lawfull neither is it given to man to utter: therefore he leaveth this Oration without any exposition because no man could attaine to the perfection thereof: and it was left so spirituall, because the angel that declared it to Salomon laid an inexpressible prohibition upon it saying, see that thou doe not presume to give to any other, nor to expound any thing out of this Oration, neither thou thy selfe nor any one by thee, nor any one after thee: for it is a holy & sacramentall mysterie that by the professing ye words thereof God heareth thy prayer, & increaseth thy memory, understanding, Eloquence, & establish them all them all them all in thee. — Lett it be read in appointed times of the Lunations to wit the fourth day of the Moon, the Eight and Twelfth, as it is written & commanded, say that oration very dilligently four times in those dayes, verily beleeving, that thereby thy study shall suddenly be encreased and made clear, without any ambiguity, beyond the apprehension of humane Reason.

Of the Efficacy of that Oration which is inexplicable to humane sence.

This is that only which Salomon calleth The happines of wit; and Appollonius termeth it, The sight of the soule, and The speculum of wisdom. The vertue & efficacy whereof is so great that it is understood or apprehended by very few or none, Therefore having essayed some petitions, signs & precepts, wee give them as an Entrance to ye things whereof wee Intend to speak of which they are part, that wee have spoken of before, neverthelesse before wee come to speak of them, some things are necessary to be declared, whereby wee may more clearly & plainly sett forth our Intended description, for as we have said before, there are certaine exceptions of the Notory art, some whereof are dark and obscure; and others plaine and Manifest. For the Notory art hath a Booke in Astronomy whereof it is the beginning and Mistress, and the vertue of it is such that all arts are taught and derived from her, and wee are further to know that the Notory art doth in a wounderfull manner containe & comprehend within it selfe all arts and the knowledge of all Learning therefore it is called the Notory art because in certaine briefe Notes it teacheth and comprehendeth the knowledge of all arts, for so Salomon also saith in this Treatise Lemegeton, that is in his Treatise of spirituall & secret Experiments.

Here he sheweth, in what manner those notes differ in Art, & the reason thereof, for a Note is a certaine knowledge by the Oration and figure before set down.

But now the Orations which signifie the same are declared in their due place, and how ye Notes are called in the notory art Now we make mention of that Oration which is called The Queene of Tongues; for amongst these Orations there is one more Excellent then ye rest which Salomon would therefore have called The Queen of Tongues because it taketh away away, as it were with certaine secret covering the Impediments of ye tongue, & giveth it a marveilous faculty of Eloquence: wherefore before we proceed further take a little stay of that Oration: for this is an Oration wch in the scriptures we are taught to have always in our Mouthes; But it is taken out of ye Chaldean Language wch although it be short, is of a wounderfull vertue, that when thou read that scripture with the Oration before mentioned, you cannot keep silent those things, which the tongue and understanding suggest, & administer to thee.

The Oration wch followeth, Is a certaine Invocation of the angels of God and it provoketh Eloquence, and ought to be said in the beginning of the scriptures, and in the beginning of the Month.

The Oration

Lameth, Lignach, Simach, Belmay, Azzailement, Gisigon, Lothamasim, Ozetogomaglial, Zeziphier, Josanum, Solatae, Bozefama, Defarciamar, Zemait Lemaio, Pheralon, Anuc, Philosophi, Gregoon, Letos, Anum, Anum, Anum.

How this oration is to be said in the beginning of every Month chastly and with a pure Minde.

In the beginning of the scriptures wch we taught in the precedent Oration ought to be spoken most secretly, and nothing ought to be retained, which thy Minde and understanding suggests and prompts to thee in the reading thereof; then also follow certaine words, which are prayers thereof, which ought alwayes to be begun in the beginning of the Month, and also in the other days; I would also note this, that it is also to be pronounced wisely and with the greatest reverence, and that fasting, before you have taken either Meat or drink.

Here followeth the Prayer wee speake of before, to obtaine good Memory.

O most mighty

O most mighty God, Invisible God, Theos Patir Heminas, by thy archangels, Eliphamasaj gelonucoa, gebeche Banai gerabcai Elomnit, and by thy glorious angels, whose names are so consecrated, that they cannot be uttered by us, wch are these Do Hel. X. P A. li. O. F: &c which cannot be comprehended by humane sense.

Here following is the Prologue of the precedent Oration, which provoketh & procureth Memory, & is continued with the precedent note.

This oration ought to be said next to ye precedent oration, to wit Lameth & with this I beseech thee today, O Theos, to be said alwayes as one continued Oration. If it be for ye Memory lett it be said in the Morning; if for any other effect in ye Evening, and thus lett it be said in ye hour of ye Evening & in ye Morning, & being thus pronounced with ye precedent Oration, it encreaseth the Memory, & helpeth ye Imperfection of ye tongue.

Here beginneth the Prologue of this Oration.

O beseech thee O my Lord to Illuminate ye light of my Conscience wth ye splendour of thy light, Illustriate and confirme my understanding wth ye sweet odour of thy spiri, adorn my soule, that hearing I may hear, & wt I hear I may retaine in my Memory, O Lord reforme my heart, restore my senses, and strengthen them qualifie my Memory with thy giffts, mercyfully open the dullness of my soule: O most mercifull God, temper the frame of my tongue, by thy most glorious & unspeakable name, Thou who art the fountaine of all goodness, the originall & spring of piety have patience with me give a good Memory unto me, and bestow upon me what I pray of thee in this holy oration. O thou who dost not forthwith Judge a sinner, but mercifully waitest expecting his repentance, (I though unworthy) beseech thee to take away the guilt of my sinns, & wash away my wickedness & offences, & grant me these my petitions by the vertue of thy holy Angels thou who art one God in trinity Amen.

Here He sheweth some other vertue of the precedent Oration.

If thou desirest any great vision, what it may portend, or if thou wouldst see any great vision of any danger present or to come; or if thou wouldst be certified of any one that is absent, say this say this oration three times in the Evening with great reverence and devotion, and thou shall have and see that which thou desirest.

Here followeth an Oration of great vertue, to attaine the knowledge of the Phisicall Art, having also many other vertues & Efficacy.

If you would have the perfect knowledge of any disease; whether the same tend to death or life: if the sick party live languishing, stand before him and say this Oration three times with great reverence

The oration of the Phisicall art

Ihezus fili Dominus Incomprehensibilis, Ancor, Anacor, Anylos, Zohorna, Theodonos helyotes Phagor, horizane, Corichito, Anasac, Helse, Tonope, Phagora.

An other part of the same oration

Eliminator, Sandones heiose Sephagain, Secedum, Thaones Behelas Belhoros, Hocho Phagan, Sophandones Humana natus & vos Eloytus Phugora, Be present ye holy angels advertise and teach me, whether such a one shall recover or dye of this Infirmity.

This being done thou aske the sick person: friend how dost thou feel thy selfe, if he answereth thee, I feel my selfe at good ease, I begin to mend, or the like: then Judge without doubt the sick person shall recover. But if he answereth, I am very grievous ill, or worse and worse, then doubtless tomorrow he will dye on the Morrow. But if he answereth I know not how my state and condition is, whether better or worse; then you may know likewise, that he either dye, or his disease will change and alter for the worse. if it be a Child, that is not of years capable to make an answeare, or that the sick Languisheth so grievously, that he knoweth not who, or will not answeare, say this oration three times; and what you find first revealed in your mind, that Judge to come to pass upon him.

~~If thou~~ furthermore if any one dissemble, and would cover his Infirmity, say the same Oration, and the angelicall vertues shall suggest the truth to thee.

If the deseased person be far of, when you hear his name: say likewise this oration

Oration for him, and your minde shall reveale to you, whether he shall live or die.

If you touch the pulse of any one that is sick, saying this Oration, the effect of his Infirmity shall be revealed to you.

Or if you touch the pulse of any woman with Child, saying the same Oration, it shall be revealed, whether shee shall bring forth a ~~Male~~ or Femal.

But know that this miracle proceedeth not from your own Nature, But from ye Nature and vertue of the holy angels, it being a part of their office, wonderfully to reveale these things to you. If you dout of the virginity of any one say this Oration in your Minde and it shall be revealed to you whether she be a virgin corrupt.

Here followeth the efficacious Preface of an Oration, shewing what vertue & efficacy you may thereby prove every day.

Of this oration Salomon saith: that by it a new knowledge of Phisick is to be received from God, upon which he hath laid this command, and calleth it the miraculous & edification foundation of the Phisicall ~~art or science wherein there is incontainedvable~~ science; and that it containeth in it the quantity and quality of the whole Phisicall art and science; wherein there is contained, rather a Miraculous and spetious, then fearfull or terrable miracle, which as often soever as you read the same regard not the paucity of words, but praise the vertue of so great a mystery

It is to be noted and observed that every note of the art [illegible] to be [illegible] in one office, and that the notes of one art profit not to the knowledge of another art and ~~we~~ are to know that all figures have their proper Orations.

This is necessary for us, and well expedient [illegible] that [illegible] wonder & compre ye great proixious volumes of writings in diffused congatidious treatises, with that it may be diligently ~~[illegible]~~ we are diligently to enquire out the way of attaining to it out of ye three most antient Books, which were composed by Solomon. The first and chiefest thing to be understood therein is. That ye Oration before ye second Chapter is to be used Long before before every speech, the beginning whereof is Assay: and the words of the Oration are to be said in a competent space of time; but the subsequent part of ye Oration is then shortly to be said, when you desire the knowledge of ye volumes of writings, and looking into ye notes thereof. The same Oration is also to be said when you would clearly and plainly understand and expound any ~~[illegible]~~ science or great mistery that you a sudden proposed to you wch you never heard of before; say also the same Oration at such time when any thing of great consequence is Importuned of you, which at present you have not the faculty of expounding. This is a wounderfull Oration of which we have spoken. The first part whereof is expounded in the volume of the Magnitude of the quality of art.

The oration

Lamed, Rogum, Ragia, Ragium, Ragiomal, Agaled, Eradioch, Anchovionos, Lochen, Saza, ya, Manichel, Mamacuo, Lephoa, Bozaco, Cogemal, Salayel, Ytsunanu, Azaroch, Beyestar, Amak.

To the operation of the Magnitude of art. this oration containeth in ye second place a generall treatise of the first note of all Scripture: part of ye Exposition whereof wee have fully explained in ye Magnitude of ye quality of ye same art. But ye reader hath hardly heard of ye admirable mysteries of ye sacramentall [illegible] of ye same; lett him know this for a certain [illegible] of the greek [illegible] of ye Oration aforesaid, but that ye beginning of them is expounded in Latine or English.

The beginning of the oration

O Eternall and [illegible] [illegible] memory [illegible] wisdom [illegible] power! lett thy right hand encompass my heart, and ye holy angels of thy Eternall councill compleat & fill up my conscience wth thy memory, and ye odour of thy oyntments, & lett ye sweetness of thy grace strengthen and fortifie my understanding, through ye pure splendour & brightness of thy face and all thy holy & heavenly vertues, wisdom wherewith thou hast made all things, ~~[illegible]~~ understanding by which thou hast [illegible] all things [illegible] blessedness whereby thou hast restored lost mankind, and raised him after his fall to heaven Learning, whereby thou wert pleased to teach Adam teach Adam ye knowledge of every science Inform, replenish, Instruct, restore, correct & refine me, that I may be made new in the understanding thy precepts, and in receiving the ~~[illegible]~~ sciences which are profitable for my soul and body, and for all faithfull believers in thy name, which is blessed for ever world without End.

here is also a particular Exposition of ye foregoing Oration, wch hath left unexpounded to be read by every one that is Learned in this art, and know that no humane power nor faculty in Man is sufficient to find out ye exposition thereof.

This Oration is also called by Salomon, the gemme, & Crown of ye Lord for he saith it helpeth against danger of fire or of wild Beasts of ye Earth being said wth a believing faith for it is affirmed to have been reported from one of ye four Angels, to whome was given power to hurt the Earth, the sea and the trees. There is an example of this Oration in the Book called The flower of Heavenly Learning. for herein Salomon glorifieth God, because by this he Inspired into him ye knowledge of Theology and dignified him with the divine Mysteries of his omnipotent power & greatness, which Salomon beholding in his night sacrafice, bestowed upon him by the Lord his God, he conveniently gathered the greater Mysteries to gather in this Notory art wch were holy & worthy & reverend Mysteries. these things and mysteries of Theology the erring gentills have not all lost. which ~~called~~ Salomon calleth the signes of ye holy Mysteries of God, revealed by his angels before and that which is contained in them is ye fulness of our dignity and humane salvation.

The first of these Orations which we call spirituall, the Vertue whereof teacheth Divinity, & preserveth the memory thereof.

The [illegible] art [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] the first wonder of spirituall and teacheth divinity, [illegible] in ye ~~memory~~ thereof, therefore Salomon commandeth it to be called ye signe of ye grace of God ~~[illegible]~~ for as Ecclesiastes saith: This is the spirituall grace of God, that hath given me the knowledge to treat of all Plants from the Cedar of Libanon

Libanon to the Hyssop that groweth on the wall

The Election of Tyme in what Lunation these Orations ought to be said.

The first Oration ought to be said once in the first Lunation, in ye the third three times. in ye sixth six times, in ye ninth nine times in the twelfth twelf times in ye seventeenth seaventeen times, and in ye Eighteenth as many times; in the twenty six as many in ye twenty Ninth as many, and so many in the Thirty Ninth; for this oration is of great vertue and Efficacy, that in ye very day, Thou shall say ye same, as if it it were determined by ye father, it shall increase thy knowledge in ye science of divinity.

But if otherwise that thou art Ignorant, and hath been seen by thy companions thy Superiours or Inferiours, though unto others thou shalt seeme to have knowledge entred into the study of divinity, and the Lectures by the space of some Months, casting of doubt from thee, of them who shall see thee, to know such things, in that day wherein ~~thou~~ thou wouldest say it, live chastly, and say it in ye Morning.

Salomon testifieth, that an angel delivered ye following Oration, in Thunder who standeth always in ye presence of ye Lord, to whome he is not dreadfull. The Mysterie hereof is holy and of great Efficacy, neither ought this oration to be said above once, because it moveth ye heavenly spirits to perform any great work.

Of this Oration he saith, that so great is ye Mystery thereof that it moveth the Celestial spirits to perform any great work wch the divine power permitteth it also giveth ye vertue of its mysteries, that it healeth ye tongue and Body of him that speaketh it, with so great inspiration as if some new and great mystery were suddenly revealed to his understanding.

Here followeth the beginning of this Oration Wherein is so great vertue and Effecacy as wee have said it being said with great devotion Achacham. yhel Chelychem Agzyraztor, yegor, &c.

This is the beginning of the Oration the parts whereof are four, But there is some thing to be said of the beginning by it selfe; and of the four parts severally; and then between the beginning and those Orations which are four wee shall make this competent division.

For this is that which is to be spoken of the beginning severally, and this Oration is to be divided into four parts; and the first part thereof is to be said, that is ye beginning, before any other part of the Oration is to be compleated. These greek names following are to be pronounced. This is the division of these Orations, Hel(i)ma, Helma Hemna, &c. Oh God the Father God the Son God the holy ~~Ghost~~ spirit, confirm this Oration, and my understanding and Memory, to receive, understand, and retaine ye knowledge of all good scriptures, and give me perseverance of Mind therein.

This is the beginning of that Oration which as wee have said before ought to be said according to ye prolations and constitutions thereof; and ought to be repeated because of the forgetfullness of our Memory, and according to ye exercise of our wit & according to the sanctity of our Life; there being contained in it so great a Mystery and such Efficacious vertue.

There followeth another subtile Oration, wherein is contained a sacramentall Mystery and wherein every perfect science is wounderfully compleated: for hereby God would have us to know, what things are Celestiall, and what are terrestriall: and what heavenly things the Celestialls affect, and what Earthly things the terrestriall because the Lord hath said Mine Eyes have seen thy Imperfection, and in thy Book every day shall be formed and written, and noman in them &c. So it is in the greatness of God, for we are not able to rehearse all things, how the sun hath the same course as at first, that our order may be confirmed: for all writing whatsoever, which is not from God, is not to be read, for God himselfe would have all things be divided: and this is how these are to be used before the second part, which containeth so glorious and excellent consecrations of Orations and defineth the consecrated part to have power in the heavens, and in nowise can be defined by humane tongues.

This is the beginning of ye second part of that Oration spoken of before which is of so great vertue:

Ageiass. Shei ~~[illegible]~~ miros Cho...bos &c. [illegible]

This is ye second part of ye precedent Oration, of which some singular thing is to be spoken whereof if thou sayest this Oration, commemorating ye first part thereof, say ye oration following, and thou shalt perceive the precepts which are therein

O God of all things, who art my God who in the beginning hast created all things out of Nothing, and hast reformed things by the holy Spirit, compleat and restore my conscience, and heal my understanding, that I may glorifie thee in all my works thoughts & words, and after thou hast said this Oration, Make a little respight the space of half an hour, and then say the third part of the Oration wch followeth:

Megal, legal, Chariotos &c having said this third part of the Oration then Meditate with thy selfe about ye Scriptures thou desirest to know, and then say this oration, Oh Thou that art the true light, and way of all Creatures, oh Just God, vivifie me, and confirm my understanding, and restore my knowledge, and conscience unto me; as thou didst unto King Salomon, Amen.

Commemorating ye parts according to that wch is laid down, add ye Oration following, ye other Orations being said, say the fourth part of the Oration which is this.

Amasiel Danyi, hayr. &c

Then the parts being commemorated as is directed add also the following Oration.

I speak these things in thy presence o Lord, before whose face all things are naked and open, That I being washed from ye Errour of Infidelity, Thy allquickning Spirit may assist me, and take away all Incredulity from me

How the Latine Orations are not Expounded by the words of the Orations

We come now to speak & know that ye whole Oration cannot be expounded, seeing the words thereof are of so great subtilty, adorned with ye Hebrew & Chaldean tongue, with the subtile & wonderfull Elocution of God, that ye office of the free exposition thereof cannot possibly be transferred upon me, The Latine words which are subjoyned to the parts of the Oration aforesaid, are such words, as have been translated out of the Chaldean tongue for they for they for they are not the whole Oration; But as certaine heads of every Oration pertaining thereunto.

Here he speaketh of the Efficacy of all these.

For this Oration is of such a Mystery, as King Salomon himselfe witnesseth that a servant of his house having found this Book by chance, and being to much overcome wth wine, in ye company of a woman, he presumptuously read it; but before he had finished a part thereof, he was striken dumb, blind, and deaf, and his Memory taken from him: & he continued to the day of his death: and in ye hour of his death, he spoke and said that ye four angels wch he had offended in presumptuous reading so sacred a Mystery, were ye dayly keepers & afflicters of his Memory, another of his speech a third of his sight and the fourth of his hearing.

By wch testimony this Oration is so much commended by the same King Salomon and great is ye Mystery thereof: wee do greatly require and charge every one that he doth it not presumptuously wherefore lett this Oration be said according as is directed.

In this Chapter he sheweth the Efficacy of the subsequent Oration, it being special for to obtaine Eloquence

This holy Oration wch followeth, is a certaine speciall oration, to obtaine Eloquence whereas all others have vertue and Efficacy in other things, this containeth this certaine speciall Mystery in it selfe: and whereas one of the generalls is shewing in it selfe, certaine generall precepts, common to all arts, for so God instituted ye soules in ye Bodys saying, This I give unto you, that ye may keep and observe the Law of the Lord and these are they that stand in ye presence of ye Lord always, and see their saviour face to face night and day. So of this Oration I say, This is ye most precious, Mysticall and Intelligible Oration, containing such mysteryes in it wth ye mind, conscience and tongue needeth. This is such a Mystery, that a man shall keep it according to his will who foreseeth all things in his sight, that are made, for ye Mystery of this Oration is glorious and sacramentall. Let no man presume to say any of this Oration after too much drinking or Luxury, nor fasting without great reverence and discretion, whence Salomon saith, Let no man presume to read any thing of this Oration but in certaine & determinate appointed times, unless he make mention of this Oration before some great accident for some weighty businesses, for wch this Oration is of wonderfull excellent vertue. ye goodness of this Oration, and ye attaining to ye Effects thereof, is showed in that Chapter wherein it is said follow me & I will make you fishers of men, wch he saideth as he said and did we know that it is not of our power, that this Oration is of so great a vertue & such a Mystery as some times also ye Lord said to his disciples, this wee are not able to know for this Oration is such a Mystery that it containeth in it the great Name of God, wth many have lyed, in saying they knew it, Jesus himself performed many Miracles in ye temple by it; But many have lyed about what he did, and have hidd and absconded ye truth thereof, so that now have declared ye same before it came to pass: but wee suppose have spoken something about or concerning it.

In this Chapter he setteth down the Time and manner how this Oration is to be pronounced.

For this Oration is one of ye generalls & ye first of particulars containing both in it self, having a speciall vertue and facculty, to gaine Eloquence in it self: therefore it is necessary to be understood what time, ordination, & w^t dayes it is to be said and ~~published~~ published. — it may always be rehearsed in every of Lunary above said but ye ordination of ye time for every day, wherein it is to be said is especially in ye Morning betimes, before a man is defiled, & then all Orations are the fittest to be said and this Oration must be then pronounced totally together without any division; and although there are divisions therein, the Oration is not divided in it self, but only the divine and glorious Names are written severally, and are divided in to parts, according to ye terminations of every great and glorious Name: and it is to be said together as a most Excellent Name; But not as one word, because of ye fragility of our nature. Neither is it needfull to know ye Elements of sillables posited in this Oration, they are not to be known, neither lett any one presumtiously speak them, nor the lett him doe any thing by way of temptation concerning this Oration, wth ought not to be done: Elmot Serek Hemeth Iaba &c^a.

No man that is impedited or corrupted with any Crime, ought to presume to say this Oration.

This is a thing agreed on amongst ye wise men of this world, that these things wch wee have said before, be pronounced wth great reverence and Industory. It may be said every day wherein thou art not hindred by some criminall sinn. & in that day wherein thou art Impedited by some criminall sin, thou mayst remember it in thy heart, and if thou doest desire to be made Eloquent, repeat it three times, and if any evill thing troubleth thee, or thou art emerged and Involved into any great Buisness great Buisness, repeat this Oration once, & Eloquence shall be added to thee as much as is needfull; and if thou repeat it over thrice, great Eloquence shall be given to thee, so great a Sacrament is this Oration.

The third thing to be considered in this oration is, This Oration ought to be pronounced, that confession of ye heart and Mouth ought to precede it; lett it be pronounced in ye Morning early, and after that Oration say ye Latine oration following.

This is a Prologue or Exposition of the precedent Oration, Which ought to be said together

Oh omnipotent and Eternall God, and mercifull Father, blessed before all worlds, who art a God Eternall, Incomprehensible, & unchangable, & hath granted this blessed gift of salvation unto us; according to ye Omnipotency of thy Majesty hast granted unto us the Faculty of speaking, and learning wth thou hast denyed all other animals; and hast disposed of all things, by thy Infalible providence: thou art God, whose Nature is Eternall, and consubstatiall, exalted above ye heavens; in whom ye whole deity corperally dwelleth: I implore thy Majesty, and glorify thy omnipotency, with an Intencive Imploration, adoring the Majesty vertue, power and Magnificence of thy Eternity, I beseeth thee O my God, to grant me the Inestemable wisdom of ye life of thy holy angels. Oh God ye holy spirit Incomprehensible, in whose presence stand ye holy quire of angels; I pray and beseech thee, by thy holy and glorious Name, and by the light of thy angels, and the heavenly principalities, to give thy grace unto me, to be present with me, and give unto me power to persevere in the Memory of thy wisdom, who livest and reignest Eternally one Eternall God, through all worlds of worlds in whose sight are all Celestiall vertues, Now and allways, and every where; Amen.

This Oration being thus finished there must of necessity some mystery be added, so that you are to be silent a while after the Lattine Orations is ended, and after a little taciturnity, that is a little space of silence, begin to say this Oration following. Semet, Lamen &c^a.

This saith Salomon, is the Oration of Oracions and a special Experiment whereby all things; whether generalls or particulars, are known fully, Efficaciously & perfectly and are kept in ye Memory, But when thou hast by this Oration attained the Eloquence thou desirest, be sparing thereof, and doe not rashly declare those things, wth thy Conscience suggesteth & administreth to thee; for this is the end of all generall precepts, which are given to given to obtaine Memory, Eloquence, and understanding, all those things were before delivered, of generall precepts, and given as signe how the faculty of attaining to the understanding of the generall precepts may be had, which also Salomon calleth spiritualls. and those singular arts, have singular vertues & powers,

The Benediction of the Place

Blesse O Lord this place, that there may be in it holy sanctity, chastity, meeknesse, victory, holiness, humility, goodness, plenty, obedience of ye law, to ye Father son & holy Ghost, hear O Lord, holy Father, almighty Eternall God; and send thy holy angel Michael, who may protect, keep, preserve, and visit me, dwelling in this tabernacle, by him who liveth &c.

Therefore ~~have no~~ lett the Operator be constant in his faith, & confidently ~~believe~~, that hee shall obtaine such knowledge and wisdome, in ye pronouncing ~~these~~ Orations, for with God nothing is impossible. Therefore lett the operator ... proceed in his work, with faith, hope and constant desire, firmly believing, because ... can obtaine nothing but by faith; Therefore have no doubt in this operation, whereof there ~~is~~ three species whereby the art may be obtained

The first species is oration, and reason of a Godly mind Not by attempting attempting a ... of desperation, but by reading and repeating the same in ye inward spirit

The second species is fasting and praying, for the praying man, God heareth.
The third species is Chastity he that would operate in that art, lett him be clean and chast by the space of Nine dayes at least, and before you begin it is necessary that you know the time of the ☽ for in the prime of the ... it is proper to operate in this art. and when you begin so sacred an art, have a care to abstaine from all mortall sins, at least while you are proceeding in this work untill it be finished & compleated. and when you begin to operate say this verse following;

Lift up the light of thy countenance upon me, O Lord my God, and forsake Not me thy servant N, that trusteth in thee.

Then say three times Pater Noster &c. and assert that thou wilt never commit willfull perjury But allwayes persevere in faith and hope. this being done with bended knees in the place wherein thou wilt operate say.

✠ Our help is in the name of ye Lord, who hath made heaven and Earth. and I will enter into the Invocation of the most high, unto him who enlighteneth & purifieth my soule and conscience wch dwelleth under the help of the most high, and continueth under ye protection of ye God of heaven: O Lord open and unfold ye doubts of my heart, and change me into a new man, by thy love: Be thou O Lord unto me true faith, ye hope of my life; and perfect charity, to declare thy wonders. Lett us pray: then say the Oration following.

O God my God, who from ye beginning hast created all things out of nothing, and reformest all things by thy spirit, restore my conscience, and heal my understanding, that I may glorifie Thee in all my thoughts, words and ~~...~~ deeds, through him who liveth and reigneth with thee for ever Amen.

Now in ye Name of Christ, on ye first day of ye Month ... thou wouldst acquire Memory, Eloquence, and understanding, and stability thereof with a perfect good and contrite heart. and sorrow for thy sins committed Thou maist begin to pronounce these orations following, which appertaine to ye obtaining of Memory and all sciences and which were composed, and delivered by the angel to Salomon from ye hands of God.

The first and last oration of this art is Alpha & Omega, O God omnipotent &c.

To perform ...

This is to follow ye third oration of ye Adm in ye beginning of ye Notory art:

I confess, O Theos hazamagiel gezuzan, Sazaman, Sathaman. getormantas, Salathiel, nesomiel, migal, vuighama, Jazamir, Zeyhaman, hamamal, amna, nisza, deleth, hazamaloth, may pamazathoran, hanasuelnea, sacromomem, gegenoman, Zaramacham, Cades, bachet girtassoman, gysceton palaphatos kalathiel, Osachynam machay. Amen

This is a true and approved Experiment, to understand all arts and secrets of ye world, to find out and digg up minneralls and treasure. this was revealed by ye heavenly angel in this notory art. for this art doth also declare things to come and rendereth the sence capable of all arts in a short time, by the divine use thereof.

Wee are to speake also of ye time and space. first therefore all these precepts are to be observed and kept, and ye Operation ought to be clean, chast, to repent of his sins, and earnestly desire to cease from sinning as much as may be, and so lett him proceed and every work shall be Investigated into him by the divine Ministerij.

when thou wilt operate in the New Moon, kneeling say this verse. Lift up the light of thy countenance upon us oh God, and forsake us not, oh Lord our God.

Then say three times the Pater Noster and afterwards lett him vow unto God that he will never committ wilfull perjury, but always perfect in faith. this being done; at night say with bended knees before thy Bed, and the psalm who so dwelleth under ye shadow of ye [illegible] wings of ye most high, to ye End, and the Lords prayer and the prayer following:

Our help is in the name of the Lord &c.

Theos Pater vehemens, God of angels, I pray and Invocate thee by thy most holy angels Eliphamasay gelomiras, Gedo bonay saranana, Elomnia, and by all thy holy Names, by us not to be pronounced, which are these: de. el. x pn khtli g y y not to be spoken or comprehended by humane sense; I beseech thee cleanse my conscience with ye splendour of thy Name, Illustrate & confirme my understanding with ye sweet saviour of thy holy spirit. O Lord adorne my soule &c.

♀ The Processe followeth.

When thou wilt operate concerning any difficult precept or question with bended knees before thy Bed, make confession unto god the Father: and having made thy confession say this Oration.

Send O lord thy wisdome to assist me, that it may be with me and labour with me and that I may allways know what is acceptable before thee and that unto me N. may be manifested the truth of this question or Art.

This being done. Thrice in a day following, when thou risest give thanks to god Allmighty: Saying glory and honour, and Benediction be unto him, that sitteth on Throne, and that liveth for ever and ever Amen:

with bended knees and stretched out Armes and hands:

But if thou desirest to understand any Book, aske of some that hath knowledge there in what that Book treateth of. This being done. open the Booke and read in it and operate as at first three times. and allwayes when thou goest to sleep write Alpha, and Omega, and afterwards sleep on thy right side, putting the palme of thy hand under thy Ear, and thou shalt see in a dream, all things thou desirest and thou shalt hear the voice of one Informing, and Instructing, thee in that Booke and read therein. and thou shalt presently understand the same as if thou hadst studied in it a long time, and allways Remember to give thanks to god, as aforesaid:

afterwards on the first day say this oration:

Oh Father maker of all creatures [illegible] thy unspeakable power which hast made all things, [illegible] and [illegible] and [illegible] me from all [illegible] of Soul and Body. Amen.

[illegible] say.

having fullfilled these things upon the wall: descend unto thy Bedd writting in thy Right hand, Alpha and Omega: then goe to Bedd and sleep on thy Right side hold=ing thy hand under thy right Ear. and thou shalt see the greatness of god as thou hast desired. and in the morning on thy knees before thy Bedd give thanks unto god for those things he hath revealed to thee: I give Thanks unto thee O great and wonderfull god who hast given salvation and knowledge of Arts unto me thy unworthy servant N. confirm this O god which thou hast wrought in me in preserving me. I give thanks unto thee O powerfull Lord god who createst me miserable sinner out of nothing when I was not, and when I was utterly lost. not redeemed, but by the precious blood of thy son our lord Jesus Christ: and when I was Ignorant thou hast given unto me learning and knowledge: grant unto me thy unworthy servant N. O lord Jezus Christ. that through thy knowledge I may be allways constant in thy holy service Amen ~ ~

These operations being devoutly compleated: give thanks dayly with these last orations But when thou wouldest read Study, or dispute, say, Remember thy word unto thy servant O lord. in which thou hast given me hope. This is my comfort in humility: Then add these orations. Remember me O lord of lords put good words and speech into my mouth that I may be heard efficaciously and powerfully to the praise glory and honour of thy glorious name which is Alpha and Omega, blessed for ever world without end Amen.

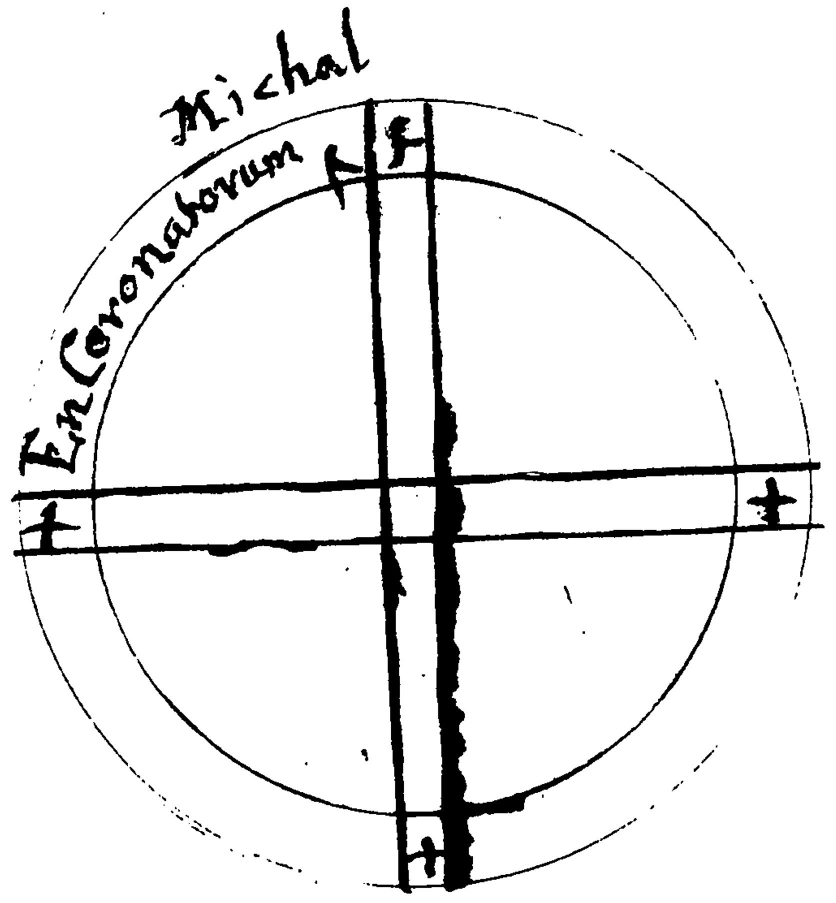
The Precepts ♀



The oration following ought to be said as you stand up:—

O great god holy Father, most holy Sanctifier of all Saints. Three and one most high kinge of kings. most powerfull god allmighty. most gracious and most wise despenser, moderator and governour of all Creatures, visible and Invisible: O mighty god whose terrible, and most mighty majesty is to be feared, whose omnipotency the heaven, the Earth the Sea hell and all things that therein doe admire, reverence, tremble at, and obey:— O most powerfull, most mighty, and most invincible Lord god of Sabbeth: O god incom prehensible, the wonderfull maker of all things, The teacher of all learning, arts and sciences. who wonderfully [illegible] the [illegible] and [illegible] god, that wisdome and knowledge [illegible] all the [illegible] of wisdome and science, who art [illegible] frequently to [illegible] wisdome, knowledge and learning into my [illegible] whose Eyes beholdeth all things [illegible] [illegible] through whom [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] who [illegible] [illegible] and rulest the Bottomless pitt, whose word [illegible] throughout the universall world: I confess my selfe this day, before thy holy and glorious majesty and before the company of all heavenly vertues and potentates praising thy glorious majesty [illegible] thy great name which is a name wonderfull and above every name Blessing thee O Lord my god, I allso beseech thee most high most [illegible] Lord who [illegible] [illegible]. O thou great and [illegible] god Adonay, wonderfull dispensator of all Benefitts, of all dignities and of all goodness: giver of all things to whomsoever thou wilt: mercifully, abundantly, and [illegible]: Send down upon me me this day the gift of the grace of thy holy Spirit and now O most mercifull god who hast created Adam the first man, according to thy Image and likeness; sanctify the Temple of my Body and let thy holy Spirit descend, and dwell in my heart that I may shine forth the wonderfull Beams of thy glory as thou hast been pleased wonderfully to operate in thy faithfull Servants So O god most wonderfull king, and Eternall glory, send forth from thy seat of thy glorious majesty; a seavenfold Blessing of thy grace. The Spirit of wisdome and understanding. The Spirit of Fortitude and counsell; The Spirit of knowledge and godliness. The Spirit of Fear, and love of thee: to understand thy wonderfull holy and secret mysteries; which thou art pleased to reveal, and which are fitting for thine to know. that I may comprehend the depth goodness and inestimable sweetness of thy most immense mercy. Piety and divinity: and now O most mercyfull Lord: who didst breath in the first man the breath of life, be pleased this day to infuse into my heart a true perfect piercing powerfull and right understanding in all things; a quick and piercing grace of thy holy Spirit. and of the multitude of thy blessings, which thou bountifully bestowedst on me grant that I may despise all other things and glorify thee alone The god of all things the onely true and perfect god: That I may for ever glorify, praise, adore, bless and magnifie thee: The King of kings, and Lord of Lords; and allways set forth thy praise mercy and Omnipotency: That thy praise may be allways in my mouth, and my soul may be inflamed with glory for ever before thee. O thou who art god omnipotent: King of all Kings. The everlasting peace and perfect wisdome: [illegible] sweetness and delight, the unexpressible Joy of all good the desire of all the blessed. Their life comfort and glorious End: who wast from Eternity and is and ever shall be vertue invincible. without pains or passions. Splendor and glory unquenchable Benediction, honour, praise and venerable glory before all worlds. since and for ever my Sins with me Amen . . . .

The following Oration hath power to expell all Lust

O Lord, holy Father omnipotent eternall god of [illegible] most mercy and immense goodness; O most mercifull Jesus Christ. repairer and restorer of mankinde O holy Ghost comforter, and love of the Faithfull who holdest all the Earth in thy in thy fingers: and weighest all the mountaines and hills in the world: who doest wonders past searching out. whose power there is nothing can resist. whose ways are past finding out. defend my soul and deliver my heart from the wicked cogitations of this World. Extinguish and repress in me by thy power, all the sparks of lust and fornication That I may more intirely love thee and thy works and that the vertue of thy holy Spirit may be increased in me among the saving gifts of thy faithfull, to the comfort and salvation of my heart, soul and Body. O thou most great and most holy god maker Redeemer and restorer of mankind: I am thy servant The son of thy handmaid and the work of thy hands: O thou most mercifull god and Redeemer I cry & sigh before the sight of thy great majesty. beseeching thee with my whole heart to respect me a miserable sinner, and receive me to thy great mercy: give me eloquence Learning and knowledge, that those that shall hear my words: they may be melting in their hearts: That seeing and hearing thy wisdome: The proud may be made humble and hear and understand my words with great humility and consider the greatness and goodness of thy Blessings. who livest and reignest now and ever Amen: . . . .

Note that if you desire to know any thing that you are ignorant of especialy of any Science, read this Oration: I confess my self to thee this day: O god the father of heaven and Earth. Three times, and in the end express for what you desired to be [illegible] afterwards in the evening when you go to bed say the [illegible] Theos [illegible] and ye Psalm Qui habitat with the [illegible] Emitte spiritum and go to sleep and take the figure for this [illegible] and put it under the right Ear. and [illegible] the figure and [illegible] that night thou shalt see thy desires. and know without doubt that which thou desirest to find out and [illegible] in thy right hand Alpha and Omega with the sign of the Crosse. and put that hand under thy right Ear. and [illegible] the day before, only once eating such meat as is used on fasting days. . . . .

[illegible] of visible and invisible things who revealeth misteries out of his treasuries and his secrets to those that call uppon him, And fatherly and out of his clemencie doth inlarge them unto us withought measure Lett him graunt unto us by his only begotten Sonne our lord Jesus Christ the spirits his ministers the revealers of secrets that we may wright the booke of Arbatel of the cheifest secrets which is lawfull for man to knowe and to use without offence to God. Amen.

[illegible] would know secrets let him know how to keepe secrets secretly, and to reveale revealed things. To seale sealed things And not to give holy things to Dogs. Nor to cast Pearles before Swine. Observe this law and the eyes of thy minde shalbe opened to understand secrets And thou shalt heare devinely revealed what soever thy minde hath desired. Thou shalt have also the Angells of God to promp thee. And the spirits following misteries in nature as much as any humain minde can desire.

[illegible]

[illegible] call uppon the name of the lord for without caling uppon God by his only begotten Sonne thou canst receive nothing either to thinke of or to doe. use the spirits given to thee as ministers and servants without rashnes and presumption with due reverence towars the lord of Spirits as the imbassadors of God. And that thou passe the remainder of thy life peacefully unto the honour of God And the proffit of thy Neighbour.

Aphorism 5:

[illegible] se and thy learning. Avoid the frendship of a multitude. Be coveteous of time. Be benificent to all. use thy gifts. watch in thy vocation. Lett the word of God never depart from thy mouth.

[illegible]

[illegible] that admonish thee well. Flee all procrastination. Accustome thy selfe unto constancie and gravitie in thy words and deeds. Resist the temptacions of the Tempter by the word of God. Fly worldly things. Seeke heavenly. Respect not thine owne wisdome. but in all things have an eye unto God according to the Scriptures. when we know not what we should doe. O God we lift up our eyes unto thee and expect thy helpe. for where humaine safegard is wanting to us, there the helpe of God is present according as Philo saith.

[illegible]

Love the Lord thy God with all thy harte with all thy forces and thy neighbour as thy selfe And the lord shall kepe thee as the apple of his eye and shall deliver thee from all euell and replenish thee with his good and thy soule shall desire nothing which shall not in time be given to it aswell for the health of body as minde.

[illegible]

[illegible]soever thou shalt learne repeate often and print it in thie minde And thou mayest learne much. not many things. Because the humaine minde cannot containe all things unles it be hee who is devinely regenerat To him nothing is so harde or so many double which he cannot unfolde.

Call upon me in the day of tribulation and I will heare thee and thoushalt honour me saith the Lord. But now all ignorance is a trouble of the minde. Call therfore uppon the Lord against thy ignorance and he will heare thee. And remember that thou givest the honour to God. And say with the Psalmist. Not unto us O Lord not unto us but to thy name give the glory.

The Second [illegible]

[illegible] That God giveth names to things or persons And also distributeth with thos names the same forces and certaine offices to them out of his treasuries. So the Characters and names of the constellations have no force by reason of figure or pronountiation but by reason of vertue or office which God or nature hath ordained to such a name or character For there is no vertue or force either in Heaven or in Earth or in Hell which decendeth not from God to give who not favoring and permitting nothing which he hath can be turned in to act.

Aphorism [illegible]

[illegible] saith the Spirit to Peeter after the vision: Goe downe and doubt not for I have sent them After this manner all Disciplines have bene delivered Even by the holy Angels of God. As it appeareth by the monuments of the Egiptians. And these after were depraved by mens opinions And the impulse of evell Spirits who sow Tares in the Children of distrust. It is manifest out of S Paul and Hermes Trismagist. And ther is no other reason of restoring arts then of the doctrine of the holy Spirits of God. for true faith commeth by hearing. But because thou maiest be certaine of the truth and maiest not doubt whether the Spirit that speaketh with thee pronounce true or false. Lett it depend on thy faith in God that thou maiest say with Paul. I know whom I beleeve. If that a litle Sparrow may not light on the ground without the will of the Father which is in Heaven. How much more O thou of litle faith will God not suffer thee to be deceived If thou dependest on God and sticktest to him only.

[illegible]

[illegible] and all things that live live in him and it is true [illegible] who is given to all that they be what they be And only with his vocall word by his Sonne hath brought forth all things that are out of nothing as they are He caleth all the Starres And all the Host of Heaven by their names. Therfor to whom God shall reveall the names of his Creatures he shall know their true forces. And the natures of things. The order and possesie of the whole Creature visible and invisible. It remaineth also that he receive power from God to bring forth forces in nature And the universall creature same hid from the ablenes into the act from darknes into light. Therfore thy whole scope ought to be this. That thou keepe the names of the Spirits That is their offices and powers And that they may be subiected and addicted to thee in office and ministrie Even as Raphiel was given to Tobias that he might heale his Father deliver the Sonne from dangers And bring forth his wife unto him.

So Michael—

So Michael the fortitude of God governed the people of God. Gabriel the messenger of God was sent to Daniell. Marie. Zachary John Baptists father. And he is also given to thee if thou desire it who may teach thee what things thy minde hath longed after in the nature of things. Use thou his ministri with feare and trembling of thy Creator of thy redemer and sanctifier To wit of the father The Sonne. And the Holy Ghost. And doe not overslipp any occasion of learning And of watching in thy vocation. And thou shalt desire nothing of nessesary things

Aphorism [illegible]

[illegible] for ever by him which Created thee. Call thou uppon thy lord God And serve him only. This shalt thou doe if thou considder with thy selfe unto what end thou wast Created And what thou owest to God. what to thy Neighbour. God requireth this of thee That thou honour his Sonne And that thou keepe the word of the Sonne in thy hart. And if thou shalt honour him Thou hast done the will of thy Father which is in Heaven Thou owest also duty of humanity toward thy neighbour And that thou maist bring all that come to thee to the honoring of the Sonne. This is the law and the prophets In temporall things thou oughtest to call uppon God as thy father That he would give the all things nessesary for this life But thou oughtest to helpe thy Neighbour with Gods gifts whether they are spirituall goods or Corporall /

[illegible] with a true desire the Arts of this life And to know perfectly our necessaries which are overwhelmed with such darknes and blurred with such infinite opinions of men. That I may see. I cannot follow mine owne strength nor theirs If thou teach me not: Give me one—one of thy Spirits which may teach me these things which thou wouldest have us learne and know unto thy praise and honour and profit of our neighbour. Give me also A docible and Capable hart That what thou shalt teach me I may perceive easily and lay them up in my minde that they may be brought forth as out of thy deepe Treasures unto all necessarie uses and give me grace that I may use such thy gifts humblie with feare and trembling Through our lord Jesus Christ with thy holy Spirit · Amen · /

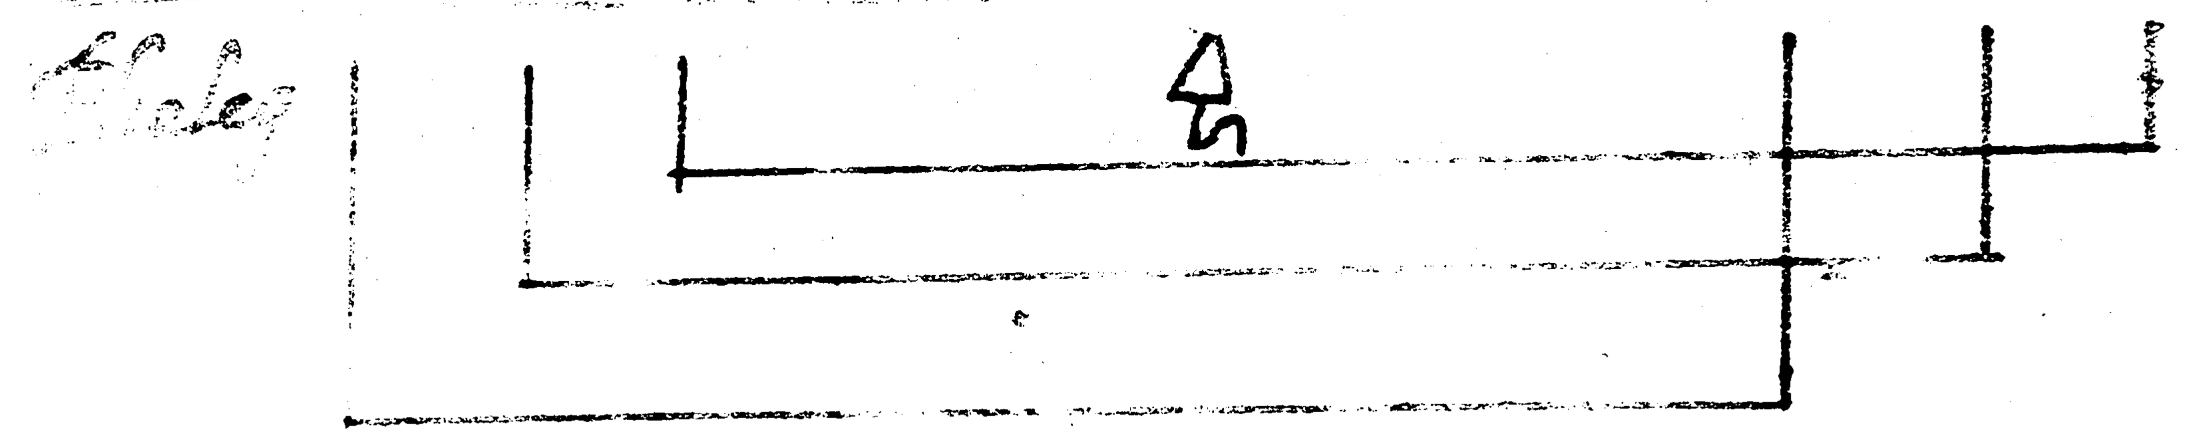
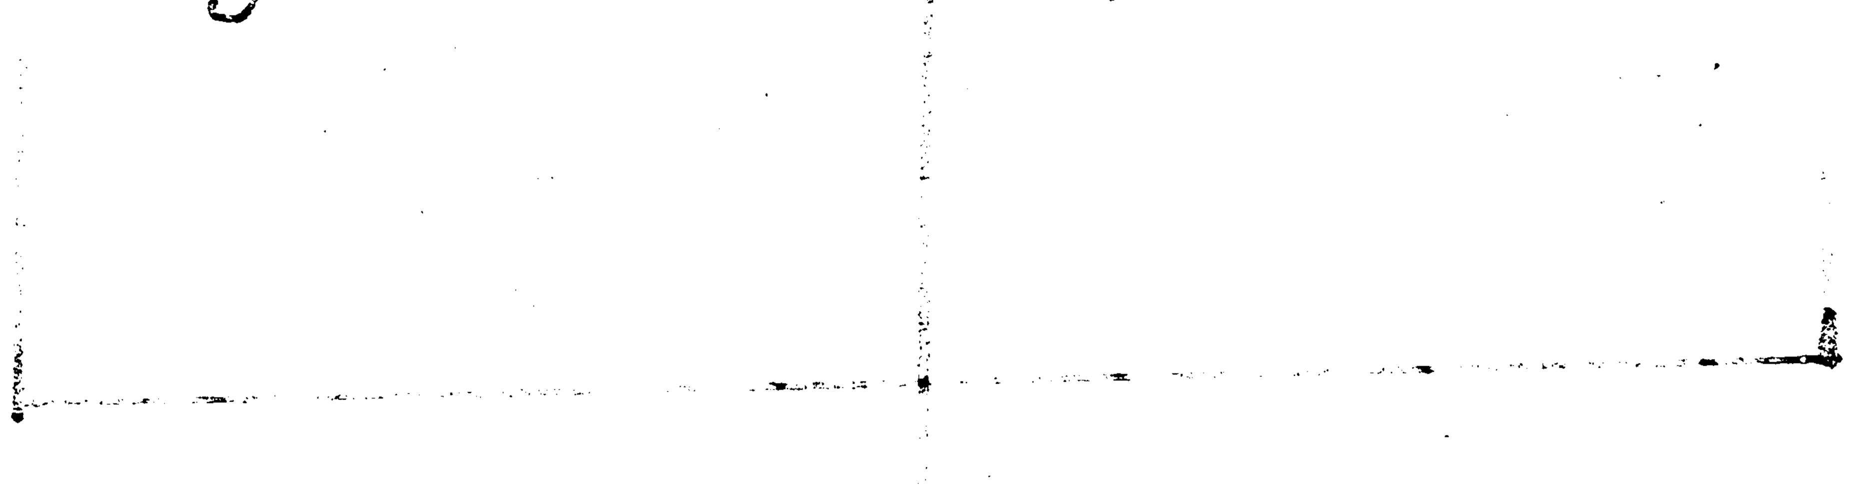
[illegible] governeth those things which are ascribed unto Jupiter. He cometh quickly being caled. who is dignified with his Character he is carried to great Honour. He obiects treasurs. He maketh the Aery Spirits to agree who give trew answers. He transporteth from one place to another many things. He giveth precious stones and wonderfull medicines in their effects. Also He giveth familiars in the firmament. He is able to prolong life. 700. yeares if God will. He hath under him. 42. Kings. 35. Princes. 28. Dukes. 21. Counsellers. 14. servants. 7. Messengers. 29000. legions of Spirits.

The Character of Phaleg:



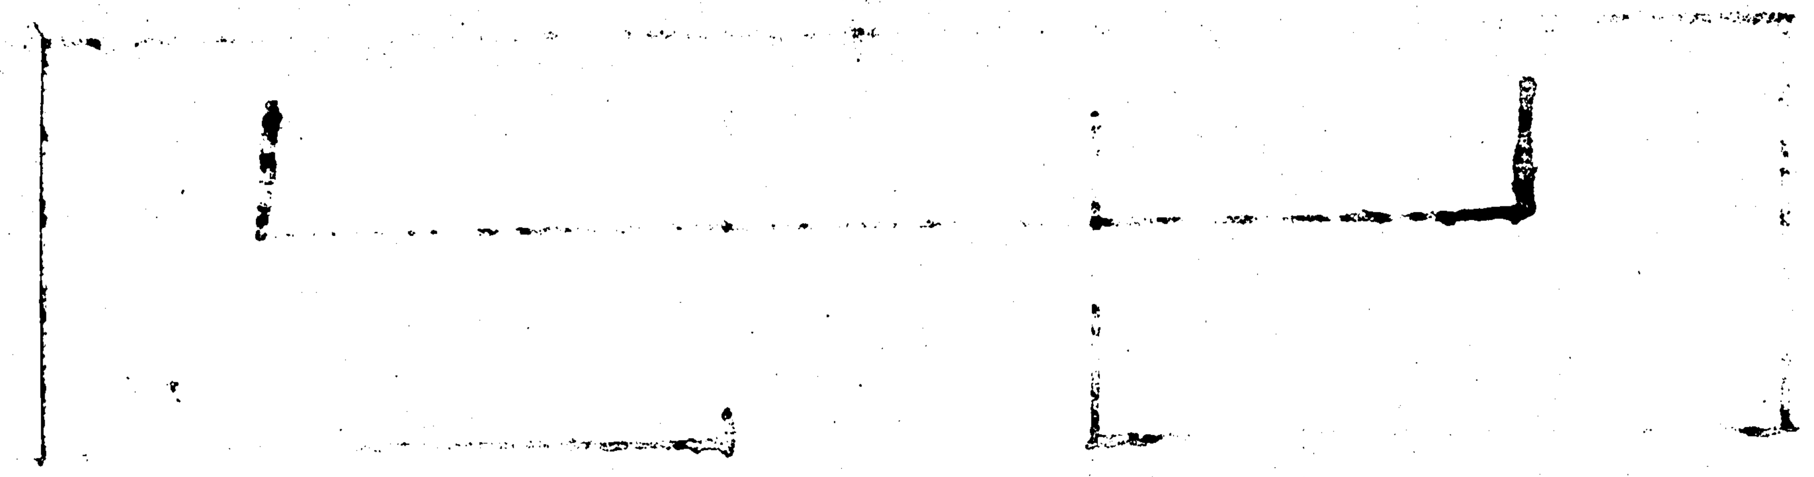
[illegible] is attributed to Mars He is the prince of peace To whome whose Character is given he exalteth to high dignities in the warrs

The Character of Och:



[illegible] governeth the Sunn. He giveth. 600. yeares with firme health he inlargeth greate wisdome. He giveth most excellent Spirits. He teacheth perfect Phisick. He turneth all things into most pure Golde and pretious stones. He giveth Gold and a purse flowing with Gold. To whome he giveth his character he maketh him to be worshiped of the Kings of the worlde. He hath under him. 36536. legion of Spirits only he administereth to all things. All his Spirits serve him by hundereds

The Character of [illegible]:



[illegible] governeth venus whome he will he maketh most faire dignifying him with his Character and adorning him with all cumlynes. He turnes Copper in a moment into Golde And contrarily Gold into Copper He giveth Spirits who faithfully serve those they are addicted unto. He hath 4000 legions of Spirits is governour of the mercurialls. His Spirits amount unto 100000 of legions. He giveth familiar Spirits easily. He teacheth all arts. And whom he honoureth with his character he maketh to be able to turne quicksilver in a moment into the Philosophers Stone.

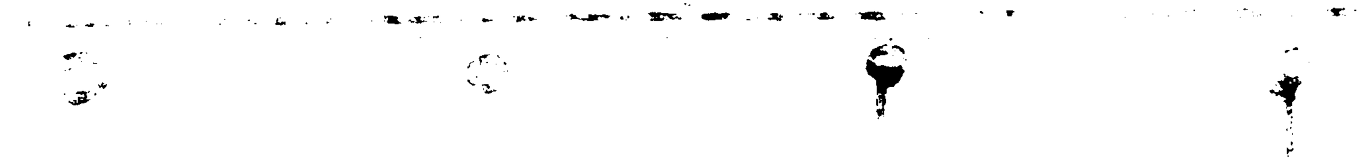
The Character of Phul:



Phul governeth the Moone He changeth all mettalls into Silver in a moment. He healeth the Dropsey. He giveth waterie Spirits and them which serue man in corporall and visible forme. He maketh one to live 300 yeares. 41 17

Most generall precepts of this Secret:

Every Governour worketh with his Spirits one way naturaly to wit in the same manner. Otherwise of his free will. If he be not hindered of God. 1

[illegible] he is able to doe allthings which he doth naturally in long time in a fore disposed matter. Also he is able to doe all things suddainly in a matter not before disposed of. So Och the prince of the Sunne in long time prepareth Gold in the mountains. In less time by Chimicall art. Magically in a moment. 2

The true and divine Magitian may use all the creatures of God. And the office of the Governours of the world was a beck. Therfor the Governours of the world obay them and being called they come and follow their commaunds. Notwithstanding God is the author. As the Sun stood still for Josuah They send indeed their Spirits to meane Magitians who obay them only some determinat busines But they heare not false magitions but object them being deluded by devills and they cast them into divers perrills God permitting As Jeremie testifies of the Jewes in his eight chapter. 3

In all the Elements there are 7 Governours with their hosts who are moved by equall motion with the firmament And allwaies the inferiors depend of the superiors As it is taught in Philosophie. 4

Man is ordained a Magitian from the woombe of his mother that would be a true Magition. Others that have taken uppon them this office are unhappie. To this agreeth that which John Baptist saieth No man can receive any thing to him selfe unlesse it be given him from above. 5

Every character is given from his Spirit for every reason he hath his effecacie in this busines in which it is given in a prefixed time but 6

But we must use him the hower and day of the planet in which it is given.

7 God liveth and thy soule liveth Keepe thy covenaunt with him which thou hast with the Spirit the revealer in God That all things may be done which the Spirit promiseth thee. /

Aphorism: 18:

[illegible] of the Olimpicall Spirits are delivered by some men but such only in efecacie which are made knowne to every one by the revealer the visible or invisible Spirit And these names are delivered to every one as they are predestinated thereunto. Therfore they are said to be Constellated and seldome they have power beyond ·40· yeares. Therfore it is the safest way for yong Arts men that without names they worke by the only office of the Spirits And if they be foreordained unto this Magike the rest of the Arts required offer themselves of their owne accorde. Only pray for constant faith and God will appoynt all things in fitt time. /

Aphorism: 19:

[illegible] offer them selues to men of their owne accord in forme of Spirits And their offices to them that are invited By how much the more thou dost desire them they wilbe present. But why wicked Spirits doe comes from the envie of the Divell and how they have abused those men unto themselves as being sinners unto due punishment. Therfore whosoever desireth to be familiarly conversant with the Spirits let him keepe him selfe from all enormous sinns and pray dilligently for the custodie of the highest and lett him breake through the snares of the Divel and his impediments and hinderances. For he himselfe shalbe Appoynted and commaunded of God to serve a true Magician. /

Aphorism: 20:

A[illegible] to him that beleaveth and is willinge All things are impossibe to the unbeleever and unwilling There is nothing hindereth hindereth more then the wavering minde lightnes unconstancie fatillety Drunkennes Lusts Disobedience to Gods word. It behoveth a Magitian therfore to be a man Godly honest Constant in words and deedes with a firme faith toward God Prudent And Coveteous of nothing but wisdome and those things which concerne devinitie.

[Aphorism: 21:]

[illegible] call the Olympicall Spirits Observe the rising of the Sun on Sunday of whose nature thou desierest the Spirit And say this prayer following And by thy faith thou shalt obtaine thy desire.

[illegible] who hast Created Heaven and Earth the Sea and all things therin To thy praise and honour And to the service of Man I beseech thee that thou wouldest send thy Spirit A[illegible] of the Suns order unto me that he may informe me and teach me what I shall demaund of him: Or that he may bring me medicine against the Dropsey &c. But not my will but thine bo done through Jesus Christ thy only begotten sonne our lord. Amen.

[illegible] thou shalt not weary the Spirit above a whole howre unles he be familiarly adicted unto thee.

[illegible] pleasingly and quietly unto me and hast answered me to my demaunds I give God thankes in whose name thou camest And now goe in peace to thine orders And retorne unto me when I shall call thee by thy name or by thine order or office which is given thee of the Creator. Amen.

Ecclesiastes. 5. 1. Be not rash with thy mouth nor lett thy harte be hasty to utter a thing before God for God is in the Heavens and thou on the earth Therfor let thy words be few for a dreame commeth by reason of much busines.

what a secret is How many kinds of them there are How many subdevisions of those kinds Ye remaines now that we tell you how we may follow the things which we knowe.

1 There is but one only true way to all secrets. That is. That thou have thy recourse to God the author of all good. As Christ tea= cheth. First seeke the kingdome of God and the righteousnes therof And the rest shalbe administred unto you.
2 [illegible] take heede that your harts be not made heavie through Gluttony and Drunkennes and with the cares of this life.
3 [illegible] Comend thy cares unto the lord And he shall doe it.
4 [illegible] I am the lord thy God teaching thee proffitable things governe thee in the way wherin thou walkest to the Spirt or Act Thou canst not erre but obtaine the desired marke Thou shalt not wander from the scope And God himselfe by his holy Spirit shall teach thee proffitable and true things. Also he will give thee his ministers the Angells that they may be thy companions thy Doctors and helpers in every secret of the world And he shall com= maund every creature that it obay thee That thou mayest say with the Apostles ioyfully That the Spirits are obedient unto thee Lastly that which is the cheefest thing of all thou shalt be shure that thy name is written in (the booke of life) or in Heaven.

Hercules begotten by the Gods. Also Cirus. Great Alexander Julius Cesar. Lucull. Sylla. and Marius.

[illegible] Abhor your Cacomagicians who by unlawfull superstiti= ons make themselves fellowes with the Divells And some= things God suffereth them to doe. That they should be carried into the place of punishment by the Divells. Even as some evels are done by the Divell the Author As the holy scrip= ture testifies of Judas. Heither we may refer all your Idole worshippers wherin evell spirits in Ancient time used. yea and in our age also. And the abuse of lotts which manner of thing the Jues dealt much with all. To this also belongeth the Cha= ranticall caling out of dead mens spirits as Saul with the wich of Endor And one Lucan a dead knight that was thus rai= sed. And the witch that tolde the event of the Pharsallicall battaile and the like.

Aphorisme: 27:

[illegible] Place. A. in the center B. C. in the East. G. D. in the North. D. E. in the west And. E. B. in the south. De= vide eche quarter into. 7. parts. which maketh. 28. parts Then devide againe every part by. 4. being. 112. parts in all
And so many true secrets there are to be revealed.

[illegible] being thus devided is the seale of the secrets of all the world which from one. Al: in the center. that is from the one indivi= sible God is spread abroade into the whole universall Creation.
The Prince of the Easterne secrets sits in the midle and hath one= very side. 3. Peares or nobles the which peares have under ech of them. 4. And the Prince himselfe retaines. 4.
After this manner the rest of the quadrangle of Secrets have their princes and peares which have their. 4. Secret apeece.
But the Study of all wisdome is in the East.
The west is for force and strength.
The South for Culture and Husbandry.
The North for a Rigged and hard life.
Therfore the cheife secrets are to be cummended to the East. The meane for the South. The lesser Secrets to the west and North.
The use of the Seale of Secrets is this. That thou mayest know from whence Spirits or Angells are brought who teacheth their Secrets delivered them of God. And they have their names derived fro their offices and virtues even as God hath distributed to every of them his gift. One hath the power of the Sword delivered him Another of the Pestilence. Another hath power gi= ven him to afflict people with famin and scarcitie As he is ordai= ned of God. Others are overthrowers of Citties. As those. 2. who were sent to distroy. Sodame and Gomorah and the neighbo= ring places about As holy Scripturs testify. Some as watchers over kingdomes. Others keepers of privat mens persons. So that every man may easily forme to him selfe their names in his owne mother tonge Therfore he that will. Lett him desire an Angel of Phisick. Or a Philosophicall Angell. Or a Mathematticall Angell. Or an Angell of Civell Law. Or an Angell of naturall or supernaturall wisdome. Or whatsoever elce he bee.

And—

[illegible] let him ask seriously with great fervency with faith and constancy And without doubt what he desireth He shall receive of God the Father of all Spirits.
This [illegible] goeth beyond all Seales and subjects them to the will of Man.
To this faith belongeth the Characteristicall caling out of Angells which depends also only of the devine reve= lation. But without faith beforespoken all things lye in obscurety and darknes.
But if any one will aske them in faith and memory and simply as from God the Creator. to the Creature to whom such virtue or Spirituall essence is given. He may use them without offence to God.
But lett him take heede that he falle not into Idollatry and snares of the Divell who holdeth forth his poysonous baits and doth easily deceive the unwary. And he himselfe is not taken but only by the finger of God And brought to serve man. But not without temptacions and tribulati= ons as he hath commanndement that he should bruse the heele of Christ or of the womans seede. Therfor we ought with feare and trembling to be conversant in divine misteries and with great reverence towards God. And to be conversant with the spirituall essences with gravity and iustice. And take heede to thy selfe of all lightnes. Pride. Coveteousnes vanity. Envy. and ungodlynes. For such a one must he be that handleth such divine misteries. unlesse he will mi= serablie perish.

Aphorisme: 28:

Because all good is from God alone good of whome those things we would desire. It behoues vs in Spirit and truth and with a sin= gle hart to pray for them. The Conclusion of the Secret of se= crets is this. That euey one would be stirred upp to pray for that he desireth And he shall not have a demall. Lett no man despise his owne prayers. For of whome God is desired he can= give and inlarge And he will inlarge. we must acknoledg the author of whome we aske humbly our desiers. The clement and good father loues the Sonns of desire as Daniell And quickly heareth them when ~~wee~~ shalbe able to overcome the hard= nes of our harts by prayer. But he will not have vs to cast Holy things unto Dogs. He will not have his trea= surs to be contemned or despised. of vs. Therfore doe thou most dilligently reade and reade againe the first Septen of Secretts And institute and direct thy life and all thy thoughts unto those precepts And all things shalbe given thee in the Lord whom thou trustest.

The fift Septene: Aphorisme: 29:

That we may in order proceede in our studdy of Magick to generall precepts. we come now unto the perticular explicati= on of the premisses.

Spirits are the ministers of Gods word And of the Church and her members. And they are either serving the creature in corporall things. Partly to the health of the body and minde partly unto distruction. And ther is no good nor euell done without a sure and determinate order and Gouerment. He that desireth a good ende lett him follow it. He that desireth an ill end= let him also follow it: And that very quickly of the divine punishment and of the turning away from the devine will.

Aphorisme: 28:

Euen as euery one conferrs his owne scopes with the word of God And as he were at the touchstone to judg betweene good and bad. And lett him know what is to be auoyded. what to be desired. Euen as he hath appointed and defined with him selfe Lett him follow it earnestly not with procrastination and posting of from day to day If thou meanest to hitt the ordayned marke. /

Aphorisme: 30:

Who so desireth riches the glory of this life. Magistracie Honours Dignities Kingdomes. and that Magically: lett them follow the Euery one for his fate and industry and Magicall Science. As the Melesine history testifies. And of that Magician who appoynted that no Italion by no meanes should obtaine the euerlasting Kingdome of Naples. And he effected that he that did reigne in his age should be troubled from his seate. Such is the power of the watchfull and vigilent Angells of the Kingdoms of the world. /

Aphorisme: 31:

Call out the Prince of the Kingdome and desire the right of him And aske what thou wilt and it shalbe, as long as that Prince againe Shall nott be absolute from obedience by the succeeding Magician Then the Kingdome of Neaples may be restored againe to the Italions. If any Magician would call him out who hath instituted this order and appoynted him unto the recanting his deede. Also he may restore the lost Cleinodie by Magicall treasure The Booke the Gemm and the Magicall Horne the which being had One may easely if he will institute himselfe Monarch of the world. But that Jew chose to liue among the Gods untill the latter judgment day before he would chuse the transitory goods of this worlde. But that mans harte is blinded that understandeth nothing concerning the God of Heauen and Earth or thinketh more But injoyeth the delights of immortall things unto his eternall distruction. And he shall be caled out more easily then the Genius of Plotine in the Temple of Iside. /

Aphorisme: 32:

Likewise the learned Romans out of the bookes of the Sibbills after the same manner instituted themselues Lords of the worlde. as historie testifies. But lesser Magicians are giuen to the Peere of the Prince of the Kingdome. Therfore whoso desireth a less office or dignitie lett him call out the Princes Peere And it shalbe done to his desire. /

Aphorisme: 33:

Who so desireth onely such dignities as riches. Lett him call out the Prince of Riches or one of his nobles And it shalbe done to his desire. In that kinde wherin he would wax rich. Either with Terrestiall goods. Or with Merchandies. Or with the gifts of Princes. Or with the Mettallicall studie. Or with the Chimicall. So that he may after this manner be made rich and obtaine his desires. /

Aphorisme: 34:

Euery calling out of a spirit is of one kinde and forme and this hath bin lately a common reason with the Sibbills. and cheife Preists. At this time it is lost thorow ignorance and ungodlynes in the whole worlde. That which remaineth is depraued with Superstitious and infinite lyes. /

Aphorisme: 35:

The humain mind is the only effectres of wonderfull workes so that she will ioyne herselfe to what Spirit she will. Being conioynd she produceth what shee will. Therfore we must proceede in Magick warily least Mearmaids and other Monsters deceaue vs. who likewise desire the Society of the humane minde. Therfore allwaies lie thou hid vnder the wings of the Highest least thou offer thy selfe to be deuowred by the roring lyon. For whosoeuer desireth wordly things doth escape very hardly the snares of Sathan

The Sixt Septene: Aphorisme: 36:

Take care that you mingle not together Experiments with Experiments. But lett it be single and onely one experiment. For God and nature hath ordained all things vnto a sure and destinated end. As for example. They who cure with Simple Herbs and roots of all men they cure most happily. After this manner the cheifest Influences or virtues actually lie hidd in the constellacions names and Characters, in Stone and the like which are in place of a miracle. [illegible] the very words themselues being pronounced presently they make both visible and invisible creatures to obay as well those of this our world As those in the waters. Aire. vnder the Earth. and Olimpicall. the Supercelestiall. infernall. And lastly Those in the diuine world also.

we ought to studie especially Simplenes and the knowledg of such simples as are deliuered vs of God. Other wise by no other reason or experience can things be laid hold on.

Aphorisme: 37:

Every thing hath his place allotted it decently. Order. Reason. manner. which easily rendreth all learning of the Creatures as well visible as invisible.

That some are Creatures of light. Others are of darknes. Those that are of darknes are subiect to vanity because they haue throwne them selues downe headlong into darknes. By reason of rebellion. Their Kingdome partly is very faire In caducall and transitory things. Becaus it cannot consist without some virtue. And without sum cheife gifts of God. Partly their kingdome is very fowle and horrible to be spoken. That it aboundeth with all vice and sinns. with Idollatry. Contempt of God. Blasphemies of the true God and his works. with the worshipping of Divells. Disobedience towars Magistrats. with Sedicions. It is full of Murthers. Thefts. Tiranies. Adulteries. vnlawfull lusts. rapins. Lies. periuries. And with desire of Reigning in this mixture the Kingdome of darknes Consists But the Creatures of light. Commaund as the members of Christ with eternall truth and grace of God. And they are lords of this world. Also they govern the Lords of darknes. Betweene these and those there is an everlasting warr According as God hath ordained this strife vnto the last Judgment day.

In the first deuision therof. The one sort is of God which he giueth to the creatures of light. The other is like vnto it But it is the gift of the creaturs of darknes. And this magick is two fold. The one tending to a good end. As when the prince of darknes endevours to doe well to the creature. God helping forward The other to a bad end. As when God permitteth such to be deceived Magically vnto the punishing the bad and vnto their hurt. Or elce commaundeth such to be thrust into perdicion.

deuision of Magick is that one sort perfiteth his works by visible instrewments through visible things. The other sort is.

which perfecteth his worke in Invisible Instruments through In= visible things. Another Magick worketh with commixt things as well manners as Instruments and effects./

is. Some Magicke is performed by invocation of God alone. And this is partly prophetticall and Philosophicall. Partly like that Theophrastus used. Another is that which worketh tho= row ignorance of the true God with the princes of the Spirits. Such is the worke of the Mercurialls.

That some exerciseth his Magick from the high= est God by good Angells decending in the place of God. Such was Balams magick. Other Magicians exorciseth with the Peeres of the evell Spirits. And such were they who wrought with the les= ser Gods of the nations./

That somme men work openly with the spirits face to face which is given but to very few. Others worke by dreames or other signes. As they of owld tim wrought by Au= guries and Hosts./

That some worke by immortall Creatures.
Others by mortall as the Nimphs. Satirs. Pigmeyes. And the like of other ellements.

That the Spirits serve some of their owne accord without Art. And some they will scarce serve being ca= led out by art./

of Magick That is the most excellent which which dependeth only of God. The next to that. That which the spirits serve in of their owne accord. The third that which is proper to Christians which dependeth of the power of Christ which he hath in Heaven and in Earth./

Aphorism :39:

That we may learne the Art of Magick./

That we may day and night meditate how one should ascend to the true knowledg of God. As well by the revealed word from

from the beginninge As by the scale of Creation and Creatures and by the wonderfull effects which visible and invisible Creatures of God 25 doe shew./

it is required that a man decend into himselfe and that 2. he studdy especially to know himselfe. what mortall thing he hath in him selfe and what immortall And what is the property of every part. what the diversity.

that he learne by his imortall part to worship love and 3. feare the Eternall God And to adore him in spirit and truth.
And to doe thos things with his mortall part which he know= eth to be gratfull to god and proffitable to his neighbour./

3 and first precept of Magik to which who soever shall prepare himselfe, unto true Magick or divine wis= dome to the coveting and following of the same that he may bee counted worthy the knowledg therof. whome the Angellicall creatures shall obay not only obscurely but also manifestly and and so great gift are not given but to the poore in spirit & humble, he must note whether he can perceive the Spirits assisting him manifestly in the greatest businesses that are to be under= taken. Because if he shall find them to be such assistants. It is ma= nifest he is made a Magician by the ordinance of God, that is, such a person which useth the ministry of the spirits unto the effecting of excellent things. But heare he may sinne. either by negligence or by ignorance. or by contempt. or also by to much superstition Also he may sinne by unthankfullnes towards God wherby many excellent men have drawne uppon themselves destruction. and he

And he may sinne by rashnes and stubbornes. And lastly he may sinne when the gifts of God are not had in that honour and esteeme as is required and as they ought to be. ×

Sixthly. A Magician hath neede of faith and silence that no secret especially may be made manifest which the spirit revealeth to him as Daniel was commaunded to keepe secret secrets. For some things are sealed that is not brought forth into publick. So neither was it lawfull for Paul to utter those things he saw in revelacion. No man would beleeve how much is placed in this one only precept.

Seventhly. very great rightiousnes is required in a Magician to come, that is, that he shoulde not undertake any thing that is either ungodly. iniquous or uniust. yea that he admit not any such thing into his minde. And by the help of God he shalbe defended from all evell. /

Aphorisme: 40:

[illegible] shall perceive some incorporall agent about himselfe either by some outward sence or inward Then lett him governe himselfe according to these :7: rules following that he may persue after his magicall end. /

[illegible] That he know that such a spirit is ordained him of God. And that he think himselfe to have him to be a vewer of all his actions and thoughts Therfore lett him direct all his whole life unto the prescribed order sett forth in the word of God. /

[illegible] lett him allwaies pray with David. Take not thy holy spirit from me, And confirme me with a principall spirit. And leade us not into temptacion but deliver us from all evell. I beseech thee o heavenly father give not power to the lying spirit. As thou gavest to Ahab that he shoulde perish. But keepe me in thy truth. Amen. /

[illegible] lett him accustome him selfe unto the proving and trying of the Spirits. As the Scripture exorteth. For of thorns men gather not Grapes. Lett us try all things and holde fast that which is good and laudable. And lett us avoid that which is repugnant to Gods will. / 4

Fourthly lett us be very farr from superstitions. That is ment to be Superstition in this place. To attribute the divine to things in which ther is no divine thing. Also it is a chusing of the will to worship God otherwise then he hath commaunded. Such are all your Ceremonies of Satanicall Magick. who Impudently would be worshipped as God. / 4

Fifthly. the worshipping of Idoles is to be avoided which with their owne proper mocion bindeth the divine power to Idols or other things where they are not placed of the Creator. In the order of nature. Many such things the evell magicians effect. / 5

Sixthly. the crafty deceipts of the divell is to be avoided whereby he will immitate the power of the creation and Creator that he might bring forth things with a word. Thinges which are not as though they were. which is only incommunicable of the omnipotent God and the creature. /

Seventhly. we must stick to the gifts of God and his holy Spirit That we may know these things and worship God with all our hart and with all our forces. /

Aphorisme: 41:

[illegible] to the :9: last Aphorismes of this Tome wherin wee will conclude the whole Isagogicall Magick Gods mercie helping us forward. /

Therfore it is to be observed before all things what we understand by a magician in this worke. /

[illegible] to be a magician to whome by the grace of God the manifest spirituall essence serve unto the knowledg of the whole universall. And in these contents contents of natures whether they be visible or invisible This discription of a magitian is evident and is universall. /

The evill or cacomagician is he whom by Gods permission the evill Spirits serve unto temporall and eternall hurt bewitching men and turning them from God. Such a one was Simon Magus mention of whome there is made in the acts of the Apostles and in Clement whom S. Peter commaunded to be put into the Earth seing he would commaund himselfe to be lifted upp into the Aire as a God by wicked Spirits.

All those are to be referred into this order who are noted in the Lawes of the 12. tables. And their evell deeds are also noted But we will marke the subdevisions and kinds of either Magick in this Tome following. It shalbe sufficient in this place that we have made distinction and difference of Good Science and badd. Seeing that the first man desired possession of them both to his hurt. As Moses and Hermes shew /

Aphorisme: 42:

We must know in the second place that a Magitian is a person predestinated unto this kind of worke from the wombe of his mother. Neither hath any one assumed any thing to himselfe of such things unless he hath bin caled to this worke devinely unto a good end from Grace. unto an ill end that the Scripture might be fulfilled. Offences must come but woe to that man by whom they come. Furthermore as we have warned before lett us live in this world with feare and trembling. /

Notwithstanding we denie not some kinds of both Magicks to be followed by some with Study and dilligence if he be admitted But unto those cheife kinds he shall never aspier unto. yea if he desire those things he wilbe violated in body and soule without doubt Such are they who are tansferred by Cacomagicall

Cacomagicall works unto the mountaine of Horeb. Or are swallowed upp with some Solitudes to whome many evells happen even to boddies and minds. Or at length are deprived of their mind. As such things happen to many by use. when as they are left of God. And delivered to Sathan. /

The Seventh Septene: Aphorism: 43:

[illegible]. and his works remaine in that state wherin he would have them for he would we should use them with his liberty unto the obedience of his commaundements. He hath proposed. to them that obay his rewards. But to them that disobay his deserved punishments. /

[illegible] they have knowne the Spirits by free will through prid and contempt of the Sonne of God. And they are reserved to the day of wrath. There is a very greate power left to them in the creation. But notwithstanding it is limmited And allwaies they are compeld by the bridle of God to keepe their bounds But a magician of God which sounds the wisdome of God or the informed of God by the hand of God is brought forth to all eternall good, and meane things, or also cheife corporals. /

Greate is the power of Sathan by reason of mans great sins. And therefore great things have bin done by Satanicall magick. yea greater things then any one will beleeve. /

Although they subsist in their limits notwithstanding they are beyond all humane capassety. for as much as they aime at the corporall and transitory things of this life as many histories of the Ancients testify. And we have dayly examples. For conclusion both kinds of magike differ among them selves. This passeth over into eternall goods and useth temporall things with thanksgiving. That is Solicitous about eternall things but applieth himselfe wholy to corporall that he may injoy freely all his lusts and delights unto the contempt of God And of his wrath. /

Aphorisme: 44:

The passing out of the commune life of men unto the Magicall life is nothing elce but sleeping from the same life unto the same life watching for what things happen in common life to ignorant and unskilfull men. They happn much more to the learned and willing. /
A Magician understandeth when his minde thinketh of himselfe when it deliberateth, reasoneth, constitutes, and defines some thing to be done. He obserues when his thoughts wander from the assisting seperated essence. And proveth by what order that assistant essence is seperated. /
But a man unskilfull in Magick is carried as a beast is with affections upp and downe. And knoweth not by the word of God to overthrow the councells of his enimies And to fore keepe him selfe from the snares of the Tempter. /

Aphorisme: 45:

The cheife precept of Magick is to know what every one ought to receive unto his use from the assisting Spirit. And what to refuse. For the Psalmist saith. wherwithall shall a yong man clense his way By ruling himselfe according to thy word. To keepe therfore the word of God least the evill one should catch it from thy heart is the cheife precept of wisdome. It is lawfull to receive and admit those suggestions which are not against the glory of God and love toward the neighbour. without demaunding from what spiritt such a suggestion came. yet we must take heede that we busie not our selues to much about unnessesary things according to Christs admonition. Martha Martha thou art sollisitous about many things but Mary hath chosen the better part which shall not be taken from hir. Be we ruled alwaies by the saying of Christ. First seeke the kingdome of God and the righteousnes therof and the rest shall shall be cast unto you. The rest. That is all things fitting for this litle world of ours. Foode and Raiment and nessesary arts for our life. /

Aphorisme: 46:

Nothing so becommeth a Man as constancy in words and deeds And when the like reioyceth with the like. No men are more happy then such Because the holy Angells are conversant about such men. And have them in their custody. But on the other side men are turned away to nothing even as Chaffe is turned with the wind. And for them we have chosen this. 46. Aphorisme. For as every one hath carried himselfe even so he hath alured to himselfe the Spirits of his nature and condition But one exhorteth very truly that no man would goe beyond his caling herein. least he should allure some maligne Spirit unto himselfe from the uttermost parts of the world by whome he might be deceived and drawne unto his finall hurt. This precept is very manifest. For Midas when he would convert all things into Gold. Drew unto himselfe such a Spirit that he might be excellent in his doing but he was deceived by him and he died by famishment and hunger. Had not God in mercie corrected his foolishnes. The like happened in our time to a yong woman about Frankfurt at Odera. So that she snatched mony from every thing and devoured it. O then would to God men would way with them selves this precept and not take Midas his history and the like for fables. Then surely they would be more diligent in moderating their affections and thoughtes and not bee vexed continually with the Spirits of the Goulden mountains of utopie. Lastly lett us obserue dilligently that we cast out such presumptions out of our minds by the word of God even while we are fresh and have not made a custome of the word divine to please our idle empty minde. /

Aphorisme: 47:

Whosoever is faithfully conversant in his vocation he shall have the Spirits his constant ~~[illegible]~~ fellowes of his Study who will supply — supply all succes to him. For if he haue also any knowledg in magick they count it not greiuous to shew them selues to him and to talke familiarly with him, and in diuers of the same ministeries wherto they are addicted in good things to the good unto saluation. In bad things to the bad unto all euill and hurt. Examples of Historis are not wanting in the whole world that such things hau happened therin. Theodolius is an example among good men before the victory of Arbogast. Among the bad Brute before he was slaine when as he was followed be Ceasars genius or Spirit and was punished that he might be so serued as he had done to the father of that cuntry and his owne father. /

Aphorisme: 48:

[illegible] is the reuelation of that kind of Spirits of what sort the magick is. so the nine Muses of Hesiod calls for. 9. kinds of Magick as he manifestly testifies of him selfe in his Theogonia Ulisses his genius caled Homer in Pligiogagia the spirits Hermet concerning the hier things of the minde. God himselfe caled Moses out of the Bush. Thus the three Magicians who came seeking Christ at Hierusalem were doubtles caled unto this vocation, the Angell of the lord being their guide And Daniell was caled by the Angell of the lord. It is not thus that any one should glory. For it is not of him that willeth nor of him that runneth. But either of God that sheweth mercy. Or of some other spirituall fate. from hence all Magick springeth whether it be good or badd after this manner Tages the first teacher of the Romans magick sprang out of the Earth. Diana of the Ephesians sheweth as it were from Heauen hir worship. And so Apollo and the uniuersall religion of the Gentiles was receiued from the same Spirits nether are they Mans inuentions as the Saduces hold. /

Aphorisme: 49: and [illegible] of this Isagoge be the same that is spoken of — of aboue by us. for as much as there is one God from whome is derined all good: And againe seeing ther is but one sinne to wit Disobediens to Gods will and commaundements from whence proceeds all euill. So the feare of the Lord is the beginning of wisdome and is all the profite of Magick. For obedience to the will of God followes the feare of God the presence of God and his holy Spirit And the Ministeries of the Holy Angells follow this his will and all good things out of the neuer drawne dry tresuries of God. / the unprofitable and damned Magick springeth from Sathā when we lee[illegible] the feare of God from our harts and suffer him to reigne among us. There presently the prince of this world the God of this age hath appointed such a one of his kingdome that hee might find such a one proffitable for his kingdome. Thus he taketh the Godles Magician euen as a silly fly is taken in the Cobwebb of A Spider. And so Sathan deceiueth them hunting them into his netts of desires untill he bring them into the matter of eternall fire he eleuats and carrieth them upp on high that they might haue the greater falle. Bring about gentle reader thy eyes and minde unto the holy historys and also to the profane and gather all things of the Magitians acording to the double Science or knowledg of good and euill. which things that they maybe the better discerned we haue hereafter placed the diuision and subdeuision of Magick or Science in which whosoeuer will He may contemplate. what is to be followed. what to be auoyded. And according as euery one shall labour in that competencie and forme life that is giuen him. / /

Of good. 1.

The wisdome of God. 1.
- The knowledge of Gods word and a life directed according to his word. 1.
- The knowledge of the Goverment of God by Angells which the Scripture calleth watchmen and to understand the misteries of Angells. 2.

The wisdome given to man. 2.
- The knowledg of naturall things.
- The prudence of humain things.

Of evill. 2.

Bad wisdome.
- The contempt of the word of God and to live after the will of the Divell.
- Ignorance of the goverment of God by Angells.
- To despise the custody of Angells or to be fellowes with the divills.
- [illegible]
- [illegible]

Evil Spirits. 2.
- The Science of venifices in nature and to use them.
- Prudence in all evill arts unto the hurt of mankind. And to use them in [illegible] of God and to the losse and distruction of men.

Finis:

Morning and Evening read the prayers appoin=ted for the day together with the Psalmes for the day and the Lettany.

Call the common invocation in Agrippa for each day of the weeke and the Angel appropriated to that day commanding the Angell to doe his office on that day. &c: not forgetting the Att tyed to the Christall naming them in theire proper invocation. and say that 3 times and though you see at some time noe appearance yet wellcome them particularly each one by himselfe; then the generall wellcome.

After 7 dayes performing the abovesaid alsoe fuming the with proper fumes before you begin ye worke and in the middle alsoe: and faint not.

3 dayes before the change call 3 times a Day. and looke toward that part of the world that that planet that governes the proper planet delighteth in, when you invocate the Att.

12 houres before the change or full pray for yr desire and at the moment of ye aspect.

was sent from God unto a Cittie in Galile named Nazaret
To a virgin affienced to a man whose name was Joseph of the house of David. And the virgins name was Marie.
8. And the Angell went in unto hir and said Haile thou that art freely beloved the lord is with thee Blessed art thou amongst women And when shee saw him she was troubled at his saying and thought what manner of salutation that should bee.
0. Then the Angell said unto hir feare not Mary for thou hast found favour with God.
For loe thou shalt conceive in thy wombe and beare a Sonne.
And shalt call his name. Jesus.
He shalbe great And shalbe caled the Sonne of the most high And the lord God shall give unto him the throne of his father David And he shall reigne over the house of Jacob for ever and of his kingdome shalbe none end Then said Mary unto the Angell how shall this be seeing I know not man.
And the Angell answered and said unto hir. The Holy Ghost shall come uppon the and the power of the most high shall over shaddow thee Therfore allso that holy thinge which shalbe borne of the shalbe caled the Sonne of God.
Then Mary saide Behold the handmaid of the lord Be it unto me according to thy word.
My soule doth magnifie the lord and my spirit hath rejoyced in God my saviour.
For he hath regarded the lowlines of his Handmaiden.
For behold from henceforth all Generations shall call me blessed For he that is mighty hath magnified me And holy is his name.

The lord executeth righteousnes and Judgment for all them that are opressed with wrong.
He shewed his waies unto Moses his works unt the Children of Israell.
The lord is full of compassion and mercy long suffering and of great goodnes
He will not allwais be chiding Neither keepeth he his anger for ever.
He hath not dealt with us after our sinns Nor rewarded us accor= ding to our wickednes.
For looke how high the Heaven is in comparrison of the Earth. So great is his mercy allso toward them that feare him. looke how wide allso the East is from the west. So farre hath he sett our sinns from us. yea looke as a father pittieth his owne Children Even so is the lord merciful

mercifull to them that feare him.
14 For he knoweth wherof we be made He remembreth that we are but dust The dayes of man are but as Grasse for he flourisheth as a flower of the filde
For as soone as the winde goeth over it It is gone The place ther= of shall know it no more.
But the mercifull goodnes of the lord endureth for ever and ever up= pon them that feare him And his righteousnes uppon childrens Children Even uppon such as keepe his covenant And thinke uppon his commaundements to doe them.
The lord hath prepared his seate in Heaven And his Kingdome ruleth over all.
O praise the lord ye Angells of his ye that excell in strength ye that fulfill his commaundements And harken unto the voice of his word.
O praise the lord all ye his Hosts ye servants of his that doe his pleasure O speake good of the lord all ye works of his in all places of his do= minion Praise thou the lord O my soule.

Glory be to the Father and to the Sonne And to the Holy Ghost As it was in the begining is now and ever shalbe world without end. Amen

Te Deum Laudamus: &c:

We praise thee O God we knowledg thee to be the lord.
All the Earth doth worship thee the father everlasting.
To thee all Angells cry aloude The heavens and all the pow= ers therin.
To thee Cherubim and Seraphim continually doe crye.
Holy Holy Holy Lord God of Sabaoth.
Heaven and Earth are full of the maiesty of thy glory.
The Glorious company of the Apostles praise thee.
The goodly fellowship of the Prophets praise thee.
The noble Armie of Martyres Praise thee.
The holy Church throughout all the world doth knowledg thee.
The father of an infinite Maiesty.
The Honorable true and only Sonne.
Also the Holy Ghost the Comfortor.
Thou art the King of Glory O Christ Thou art the everlasting Sonne of the father. when thou tookest uppon thee to deliver man Thou didest not abhor the virgins wombe. when thou haddest overcome the sharpnes of death Thou didest, open the Kingdome of Heaven to all beleevers.
Thou sittest on the right hand of God In the Glory of the father. we beleeve that thou shalt come to be our Judg. we therfore pray thee helpe thy servants whom thou hast redeemed with thy pretious blood. make them to be numbered with thy saints in glory everlasting O lord save thy People And blesse thine Heritage.
Governe them and lift them up for ever.
Day by day we magnify thee And we worship thy name ever world without end. vouchsafe O lord to keepe us this day without Sinne O lord have mercy uppon us Have mercy uppon us.
O lord lett thy mercy light uppon us as our trust is in thee.
O lord in thee have we trusted lett us never be confounded/

Glory be to the Father And to the Sonne And to the Holy Ghost As it was in the beginning Is now and ever shalbe world without end. / Amen

To call the Angells to your selfe by this Experiment Only altering the Plurall number to the Singular As you may perceive by the lattame prayers Both which Prayers — only differ in that

But Prayer and a good beleefe prevaileth much For faith is the Cay to this and all other works And without it nothinge canbe effected: Should not be above 12 yeares of Age when you enter him or hit For you may worke as well with a Mayd Child as with a boy. either Angell or Spirit Except you presently send them about som speedy busines you must licence them to depart As your Spirit of Propesie and such like when you call for them to have long conferrence with them.

There is a frend of mine Caled A. B. of C. in the County of D. that I have not seene nor heard of a long time Tell vs ye Angells of God how he doth whether he be in health or not Or whether hee be dead or alive Then they will tell you Then you may say you Angells of God shew vs the said A. B. and what he is doing whether he be in House or feild or in what place he is and what he is now doing Shew vs the truth in the name of Jesus. Then they will shew you But they will name no place Except you name it first Therfore make your de= maunds thus you Angells of God tell vs truly In the name of the holy and blessed Trinitie how farr of is the place wher this A. B is Is it 5. 6. 7. 8. 10. 20. &c miles of Tell vs in the name of God Then they will tell you Then say is it East west North or South from this place Then they will tell you then say is it such a place They will answer it Is or it is not If they say it is not name som other place &c till you have named it and they have tolde you it is the place. They will shew the Child the Towne House Signe if it have any the very roome and what furniture Pickters &c is in the roome And what else you will demaund.

Shew unto vs the truth of this question In the name of the Holy Blessed and Glorious Trinity. A. B. of C. In the coun= ty of D. Had his Horse broken up and lost such and such things Or lost such and such things from such a place uppon such a day &c. You Angells of God shew vs the Theafe or Theeves that stole these Goods.
Then they will shew the Theafe or Theeves That the Child shall tell you of what Complection what Stature what apparell And what blemmish any of them have &c. If you will know their dwelling you must examine as before whether East w. N. or South &c Likewise you may demaund what where and how they have bestoed the Goods &c

A Turfe or a peece of the Earth wher you mistrust Trea= sure to be hidden. Having the Turfe or peece of earth in your Hand.
Tell vs truly in the name of the Holy Blessed and Glo= rious Trinitie whether In the Ground or Roome from whence this Turfe or peece of earth was taken There be any treasure hidden or not Tell vs truly in the name of Jesus. If they say ther is Then say Tell vs truly what it is whether it be Coyne Plate Juells Bookes Householde-stuffe or what it is They having tolde you say you Angells of God tell vs truly wether it lye iust under where this Turfe was taken up or how far from that place a foote 2. 3. 4. 5. 10. 20. foote or how farr They having towld you say Is it East w. N. or S. from the place from whence the peece of Earth was taken They having tolde you say you Angells of God Shew vs the place And open the Ground and shew vs in what fashion it lyeth and what it is All which they will shew. Also how deepe it lyeth &c you must worke for Coles Lead Tinn Iron Copper Mines &c they will tell you how deepe and how the colours of Earth will alter in every foote 2. or 3. &c. For these and such like this will suffise.

The: 51: Psalme:

1 Have mercy uppon me O God after thy great goodnes According unto the multitude of thy mercies do away mine offences.
2 wash me throughly from my wickednes and clense me from my sinne.
3 For I knowledg my faults and my sinn is ever before me.
4 Against thee only have I sinned and done this evill in thy sight That thou mightest be iustified in thy saying And cleare when thou art iudged 5 Behold I was shapen in wickednes and in sinne hath my mother conceived me.
6 But loe thou requirest truth in the inward parts And shalt make me to understand wisdome secretly.
7 Thou shalt purge me with Hysope and I shalbe cleane Thou shalt wash me and I shalbe whiter then Snow.
8 Thou shalt make me heare of ioy and gladnes That the bones which thou hast broken may reioyce.
9 Turne thy face from my Sinns and put out all my misdeeds 10 Make me a cleane heart O God and reneue a right Spirit within me.
11 Cast me not away from thy presence And take not thy holy Spirit from me 12 O give me the comfort of thy helpe again and stablish me with thy free Spirit 13 Then shall I teach thy waies unto the wicked And sinners shalbe con: verted unto thee.
14 Deliver me from bloud guiltines O God thou that art the God of my health And my tonge shall sing of thy righteousnes.

Deliver-

Thou shalt open my lipps O lord and my mouth shall shew thy praise.
For thou desierest no sacrifice elce would I give it thee but thou deligh: test not in burnt offerings.
The sacrifice of God is a troubled Spirit a broken and a contrite heart O God shalt thou not refuse O be favorable and gratious unto Sion Build thou the wales of Jerusalem.
Then shalt thou be pleased with the sacrifice of righteousnes with the burnt offerings and oblations Then shall they offer yong Bullockes up: on thine alter. Glory be to the Father &c

The: 46: Psalme:

God is our hope and strength a very present helpe in trouble.
Therfore will not we feare though the Earth be moved And though the hills be carried into the mids of the Sea.
Though the waters therof Rage and swell and though the mountains shake at the tempest of the same.
The rivers of the flood therof shall make glad the cittie of God The holy place of the tabernackle of the most highest.
God is in the middest of her Therfore shall he not be removed God shall helpe hir and that right early.
The heathen make much adoe and the kingdomes are moved But God hath shewed his voice and the Earth shall melte away.
The lord of Hostes is with us The God of Jacob is our refuge.
O come heither and behold the works of the Lord what destruction he hath brought uppon the Earth.
He maketh warres to cease in all the worlde he breaketh the bow and knappeth the speare in sunder and burneth the Charreots in the fire.
Be still then and know that I am God I wilbe exalted among the heathen and I will be exalted in the Earth.
The lord of of Hosts is with us The God of Jacob is our refuge. Glory be &c first of blessing of [illegible]:

[illegible] that the Circle is rightly perfected. Sprinkle it with holy water and say. [illegible] me o lord with Hysope and I shalbe cleane Thou shalt wash me and I shalbe whiter then snowe.

[illegible] ters:

[illegible] of Abraham God of Isack God of Jacob bless these Creaturs that they may hold in the force and vertue of their Odors. That the enemie nor Phantismes may not enter into them. Through our Lord Jesus Christ. Afterwards sprinkle them with Holy water.

[illegible]

[illegible] which we use in fumigations lett it be put in a new ear= then vessell and exorcise it as followeth.

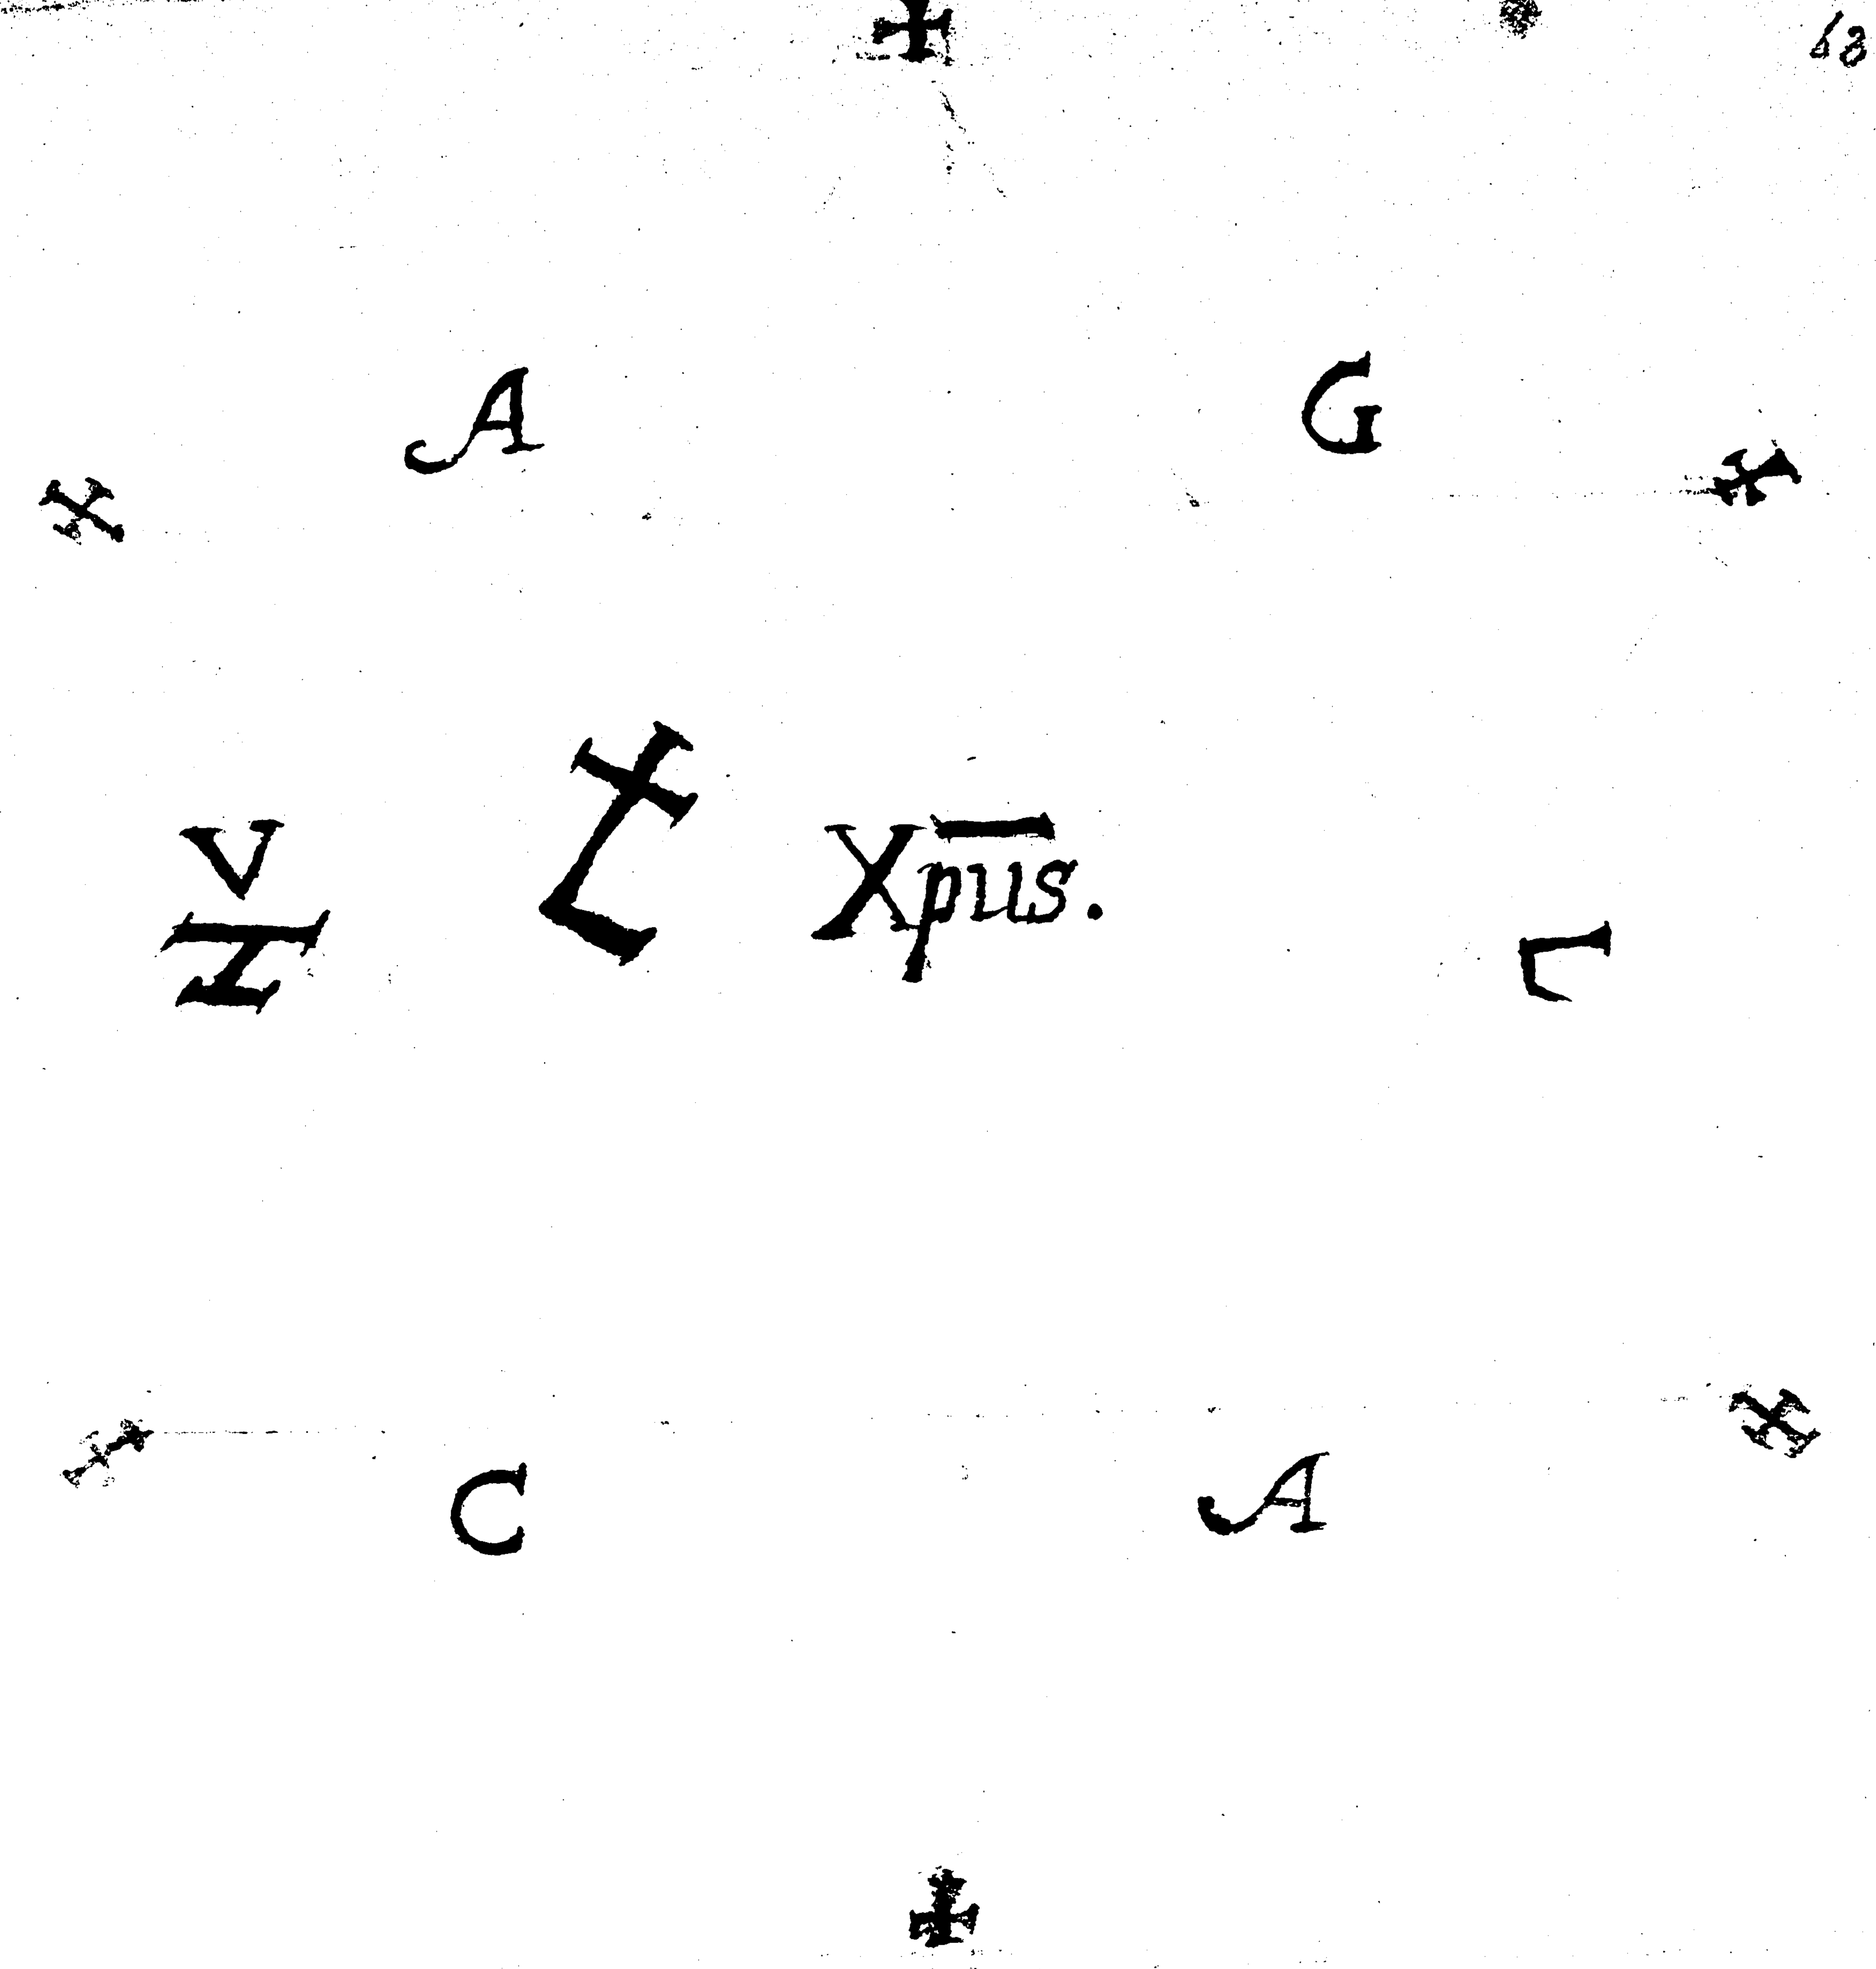
[illegible] Creature of fier by him by whome all things were made that presently thou cast of from thee (or out of thee) every Phantisme that may hurt in any kinde.

[illegible] lord this Creature of fier and sanctify it That it may be blessed to the praise of thy holy name That it may not hurt the lokers on. — Through our lord Jesus Christ.

[illegible]:

[illegible] be a Preists Garment If it may be had If not lett it be clean linnen. Afterwards Take this Pentacle following being made the day and hower of Mercury the Moone increasing In Parch= ment of a Kidds skinne. But first say a Masse of the Holy Ghost and sprinkle it with Baptisme water.

The Pentacle [illegible]:



[illegible]:

[illegible], Amacor, Amides, Theodonias, Anitor, by the merits of thy holy Angells I will put on the vest= ments of health. That this which I desire I may bring to effect. Thorough thee O most holy Adonay whose Kingdome en= dureth thorough all ages for ever:

Of the manner of working:

[illegible] be in the increace Or at full if it may be And let it be Let the workman be cleane and pure for 9 daies before the beginning of the worke lett him be Confessed And take the Sacrament lett him have his fumigations asigned to that day in which he worketh Also lett him have the Holy water from the Preist. The earthen new vessell full of fier. The vestment and Pentacle. And lett all these things be duly and rightly consecrated and prepared. Lett one of the Scollers bare the Earthen vessell full of fier and fumigations An other carry the booke Another the vestment and pentacle And let the Mr bare a Sword uppon which lett him say a Masse of the Holie Ghost And in the midle of the sword lett this name [illegible] + be written And on the other side this name + On + Let him goe un: to his consecrated place And say allwaies Lettanies And lett the Scollers answer him. And when he commeth to the place where he would make the circle lett him draw out the lines of the Circle as as is before taught. And after he hath so done lett him sprinkle the Circle with Holy water saying Thou shalt purge me with Isop and I shalbe cleane Thou shalt wash me And I shalbe whiter then snow [illegible] having purified him selfe with fasting chastity and abstinancie from all luxurie 3 whole dayes before the day of wor: king being clothed in the day of his worke with cleane aparrell his vestment Penticle fumigations And all other nessesary things lett him enter the circle And Call the Angells from the 4 parts of the world which Governe the 7 Planets the 7 dayes of the weak the colours and mettalls whose names in their places thou shalt see And with bended knees Caling uppon and nominating the saide Angells lett him say. /

O Angells above spoken of be you helpers in my peticion and as: sist me in my matters and prayers.

[illegible] thou shalt call uppon the Angells that rule the Aire in that day in which thou makest thy worke and experiment from the 4 parts of the world and implore all the Spirits and names written about in the Circle Saying / [illegible] you I adiure you and contest you by the seate of Adonay by Hagios, Ho, Theos, Iscyros, Athanatos, Paracletus, Alpha, and Omega. And by these 3 secret names, Agla On Tetragrammaton That this day you doe faithfully what I desier [illegible]. Reade a coniuracion assined to the day in which thou makest thy experement As hear after followeth.

But if they be stubborne and refractory and will not obay the Con iuracion for the day appoynted neither the prayers before made Then use these following Coniurations and Exorcismes. /

An Exorcisme of the Aeriall Spirits:

Wee that are made after the Image of God. Graunted the power of God and made by his will. wee by the power and strong name of God El. strong and admirable doe Exorcise you. (Naming the spirit and his order and commaund you by him which said the word and it was done And by all the names of God. And by the name of Adonay El. Elo= him, Elohe, Zebaoth, Elion, Escerihie, Jah, Te= tragrammaton, Saday. The Lord God high we exorcise you and powerfully commaund you that you appeare presently to us here nigh the circle In faire forme to wit humane and without any deformity or tortuosity. Come all yee such because we commaund you by the name y. and V. which Adam heard and spake. And by the name of God. Agla. which Lot heard and was made safe with his family. And by the name Joth. which Jacob heard from the Angell with him and was delivered from the hands of his brother Esau And by the name Anephexeton. which Aaron heard and spake and was made wise. And by the name Zebaoth. which Moses named and all the Rivers and Moores of the land of Egipt were turned into bloud. And by the name Eciriehe Oriston. which Moses named and all the rivers brought forth froggs which ascended into the Howses of the Egiptians destroying all things. And by the name Elion. which Moses named and ther was such haile such as was not from the beginning of the world. And by the name—

name Adonay which Moses named and there appeared locusts uppon the land of Egipt which eate up that which the haile left And by the name Chemes amathia which Josuah caled and the Sum stayed his cource And by the name of Alpha and Omega which Daniell named And he destroyed Bell and slew the Draggon And in the name of Emanuel which the 3 Children Sidrach Misach and Abednigo in the hot fierie furnace sung and were delivered And by Hagios and the seate of Adonay And by O Theos Iscytos, Athanatos, Paracletus, And by these 3 secret names Agla, On Tetragrammaton I adiure and contest: And by these names And by all other names of our Lord God almighty the living and true God who for your fault cast you from Heaven into the Infernall place of Hell we exorcise and strongly commaund by him who spake the word and it was done And whom all creaturs obay And by that fearfull Judgment of God And by the sea of Glasse which is in the sight of Gods maiesty sliding and powerfull And by the 4 devine Creatures thos beasts T: going before the seate of Gods maiesty having eyes before and behinde And by the fier standing about his throne And by the holy Angells of the heavens T: And by the Church of God: And we exorcise you by that cheife wisdome of the Almighty God that you appeare here to us before this circle unto the doing of our will in all things as it shall please us: By the seate of Baldachia And by this name Primeumaton which Moses named And Dathan Corath and Abiram were swallowed upp in the dems of the Earth And in the virtue of this name Primeumaton compelling the whole host of Heaven we curse you and deprive you from all office and place and your ioy even to the pitt of Hell And putt and bind you againe unto the last day of Judgment into eternall fier even the lake of fier and brimstone unlesse you presently appeare here before us before the circle unto the doing of our will In all things Come by these names Adonay Zebaoth Adonay Amioram come

Come Come Adonay Saday The most powerfull and dreadfull King of Kings commaunds you whose power no creature is able to resist And unles ye obay and appeare before the circle affably and that suddainly Lett your ruin be weeping and miserablenes and remaine ye for ever in the unquenchable fier Come therfore in the name of Adonay Zebaoth Adonay Amioram come come why tarry ye make hast Adonay commaunds you The King of Kings El Ary Titeip Azia Hin Len Minosel Achadan vay vaa Ei Haa Eye Eye A El El El a Hy Hau Hau Hau va va va va va

[illegible]

[illegible]e, Janeha, Latisten, R bur, Janeha, latisten, Escha, Aladia, Alpha and Omega, Leyste, Oriston Adonay. my Heavenly and most Clement father have mercy on me, Make bright in mee this day the Arme of thy power that I sinner may have licence thine unworthy Child against these most stubborne spirits That I thou willing may bee made a beholder of thy devine works And may be made shining with all wisdome and alwaies Glorifie and doe worship to thy holy name humbly I beseech thee and call uppon thee that these spirits by thy iudgment whome I call uppon being convicted and bound may come being caled and give true answers concerning those things I shall aske them And that they may give us and deferr not those things which shalbe commaunded them by me or us not hurting any creature not raging nor hurting neither me nor my fellowes not any creature nor friting no man but graunt they may be obedient to my peticions in all things which I shall commaund them. / Then let him stand in the midle of the circle holding his hand neere the Pentaculum. let him say [illegible] that are caled by the Pentacle of Salomon give me true answers. / Afterward Afterwards say. By the seats of Beralanense By the seats of Paumachia and Apologia, By the Kings and Magnanimius powers and Prepowerfull Princes. By the Genius of Liachida. the minister of the seate of Hell: Primac, this prince in the ninth bond of the Apologian seate. I call upon you And by caling I coniure you And being aided with the virtu of the high Maiesty I powerfully comaunnd you by him which saide and it was done And whome all creaturs obay And by this ineffable name Tetragrammaton ... Iehovah in whome is all ages of all works at whose voice the Elements faile the Aire is shaken The Sea goeth back The fier goeth out The Earth trembleth And all the companyes of Heaven. Earth and Hell quake and are troubled and falle downe That presently and without delay all occasions being laide aside ye come from all parts of the world and answer us reasonably concerning all things I shall aske you and that you come peasably visibly and talkably, which we desire and manifest your selues without delay. yee are coniured by the name of the ~~living~~ eternall living and true God Helioren. And you perfecting our comanndements persist allwaies and unto the end and intention I have be ye visible to us and affable and speake with a cleare and understanding voice unto us without equivocation or doubtfull ambiguity.

Visions and Apparitions:

The aforsaid things being rightly performed there will appeare infinit visions and phantasmes playing on Organs and all kinds of musicall Instruments And it is made of the Spirits that they might compell the maisters fellowes by feare out of the Circle because they can doe nothing against the Maister. After these things thou shalt see infinite bowmen with an infinit number of Horrible beasts which seeme as if they would devower thy fellowe but notwithstanding feare nothing. Then the Preist or the Maister holding his hand on the Pentacle lett him say.

[illegible] depart hence by the virtue of the power of God and then the Spirits are constrained to obay the Maister And his fellow shall see them no more.

After this the Exorcist holding his hand neere the Pentacle shall say.
Behold Solomons Pentacle which I have brought before your presence. Behold the person of the Exorcist in the midle of his Exorcisme who is wear poned very well from God without feare circumspect who hath invocated and called powerfully by force of Exorcising you. Come therfore with speede In the virtue of these names. Aye. Saraye. Aye. Saraye. Aye Saraye. Doe not defer your comming by the eternall names of the living and true God. Eloy. Archiman. Rabar: And by this present Pentacle which powerfully commaundeth upon you And by the virtue of the Heavenly Spirits your maisters and the person of the exorcist you are coniured to come quickly And obay your Maister who is caled. Octimonos.

[illegible] being finished ther wilbe a hissing in the. 4. corners of the world and thou shalt see immediatly great motions and when thou seest it say.

[illegible] why delay you what doe yee. prepare your selues and obay your maister In the name of the lord Bathat or Vachat overthrowing above. Abac. comming above Abeor. above Aberer.

[illegible] they will come in theire proper formes and when thou shalt see them nigh the Circle Shew thou the Pentacle covered over with holy fine linnen and uncover it. And say.

[illegible] your conclusion be not made disobedient. And suddainly thou shalt see them in a peaceable forme And they will say to thee Aske what thou wilt for we are prepared to fulfill all thy Commaundements because the lord hath yoked us under unto these things.

when the Spirits are appeared then say.

[illegible] Spirits and most noble Kings for we have caled you by him to whome every knee boweth of things in Heaven earth and Hell. In whose hands In whose hands the Kingdomes of all Kings are neither is there any thing which he is not able to doe. Also for as much as we binde you that yeeyee remaine affable and visible here before the circle as long as my plesure is And so constant And not without my licence to departe. untill you perfect my will by true speech without any deceipt by the virtue of that power who hath given the Sea hir bounds that she cannot passe. to witt God the highest the King and lord who created all things Amen. Then Commaund what thou wilt And it shalbe done. After these things licence them to depart. Thus. In the name of the Father of the Sonne and of the Holy Ghost. Goe unto your places: And peace be betweene us and you. Be ye prepared to come againe being caled. /

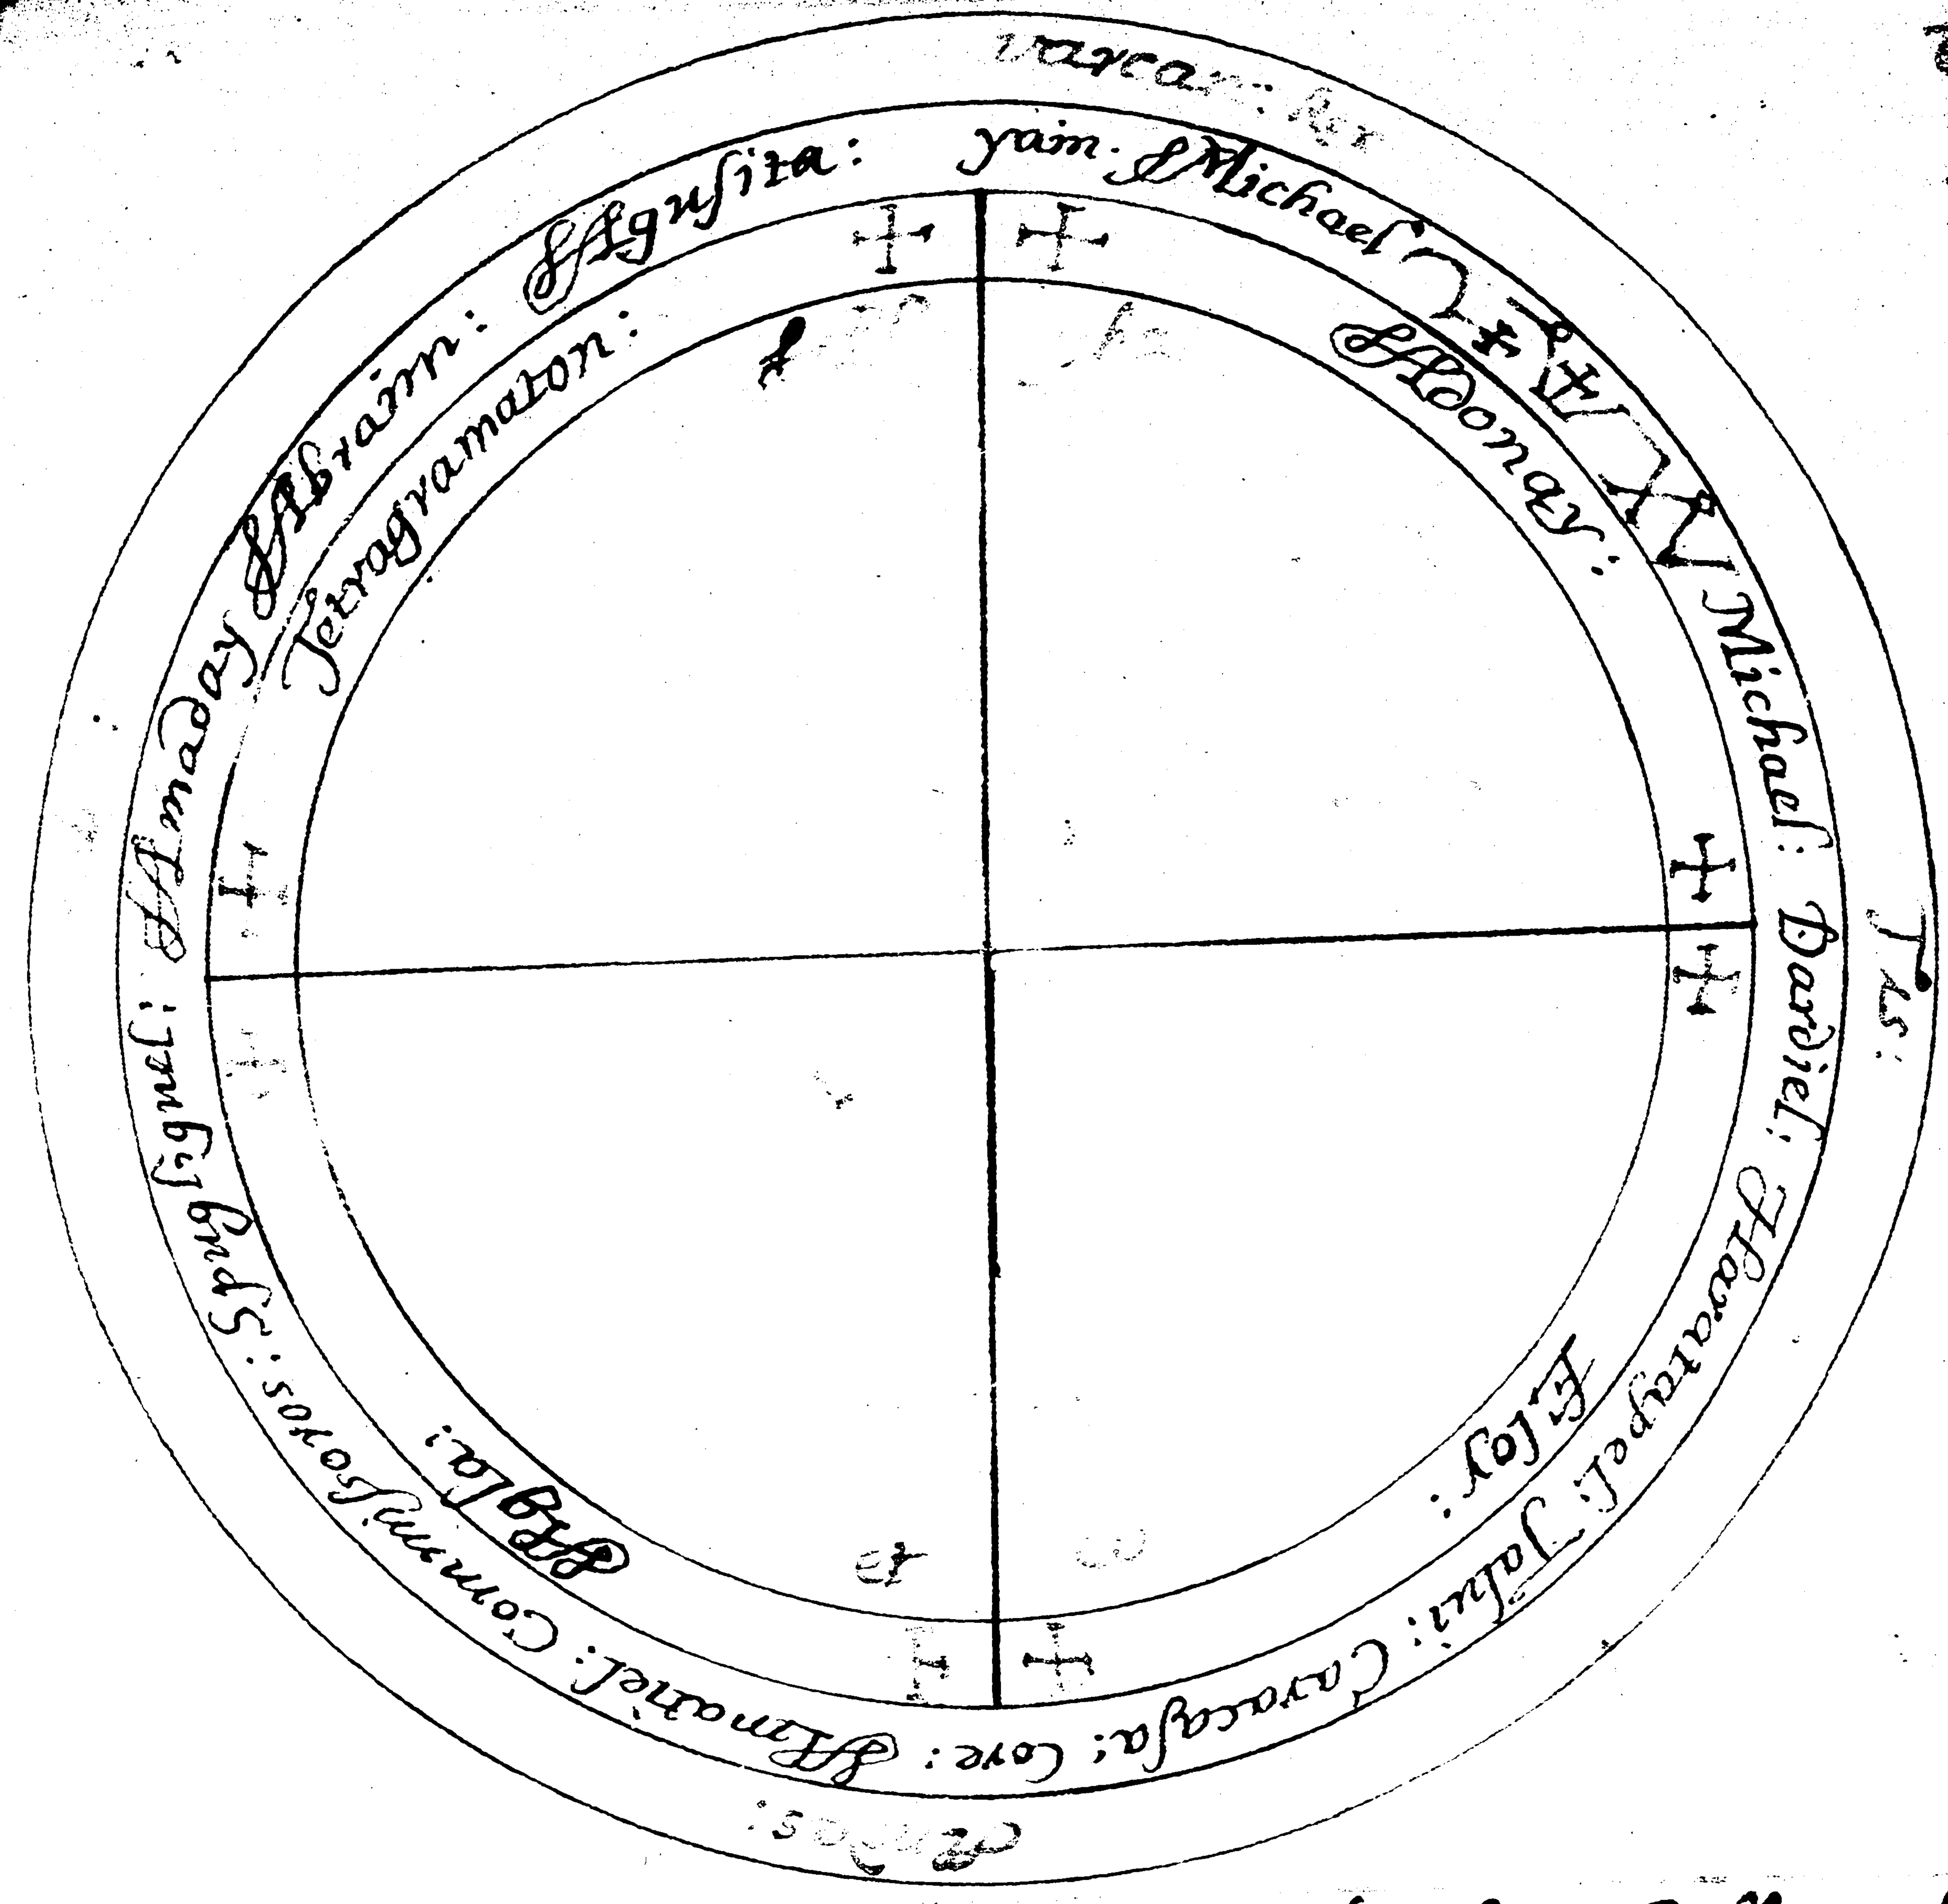
These are the things which Peter of Abano said concerning the Ellements or Grounds of Magick. /

That thou mayest the more easily know how to make the Circle. Lett it be thus As suppose we should make it in the spring time The first hower of the Sunday Then shall it be As in the figure following you may behold. /



It now remaines that wee should serch out dilligently the weeke wherein we worke with every day perticularly And the Spirits which Governe them which now shall follow in Order And first of the lords day. /

The fo[illegible] Booke of the [illegible] Philosophy or of the Magicall Ceremonies: written by Cornelius Agrippa [illegible] booke of the hidden philosophie we have not declared so compendiously as copiously the beginning of Magicke it selfe and the reasonablenes. And how experiments are sifted out and composed That they might bring forth all wonderfull effects. The truth is because they are delinered there more by contemplation then by practice. Also some are not so compleate. Som are spoken figuratively (as it were in a riddle) that somtimes those things which with great study dilligence and curious serching out we have obtained are expounded to all ignorant vulgers: Therfore in this booke we have finished the hidden philosophy which is as the complement and key of the bookes of all Magicall workes: And we will give thee the precepts and most ioyfull experements of the undefiled truth and unvanquished magicall disipline of the holy Gods: That when thou readest these bookes of the hidden Philosophie thou mayest desire to know these things greedely Therfore reade this booke and thou shalt triumph of the truth wherfore touch it within the secrets of thy religious brest and it will pearce with silence. But conceale it with a constant tacitarnity.

that the names of the intelligencers governing every one of the Planets are ordayned after this manner For the letters being gathered from the figure of the world from the rising of the body of the Planett according to the succession of the Signes by single degrees. And by those single degrees aspected by the Planett it selfe made by the degree of the ascendent. After the same manner the names of the princes of the evill Spiritts are received by a retrograde or back degree order. Governing under all the Planets by making extension against the succession of the Signes from the beginning of the Seaventh howse But the name of the supreme intelligence whome many iudg to be the soule of the world is gathered from the fowre bounds of the figure of the world according as I have delivered the reason And by the opposit manner is gathered the name of the great Divill about the

foure cadent corners. Likewise thou shalt gather the names of the great Spiritts governing the powers of the aire above the foure corners of the succeeding houses So that a casting out is made that the name of the good Spiritts may be picked out according to the Succession of the Signes beginning from the degree of the ascendent: But to find out the name of the evill Spirit doe the contrary.

[illegible] That the names of the evill Spiritts are drawne out by these tables. The names of the good as well as of the badd spiritts. So that notwithstanding if we enter into the table with the name of the good Spirit of the second order we shall find out the name of the evill Spirit of the order of the Princes and governours. But if we enter the table with the name of a good Spirit of the third order Or with the name of an evill Spirit the governour what way so ever they are picked out. either by this table or by the Heavenly figure the names which proceede from these wilbe the names of the evill Spiritts the minister of the inferior order.

[illegible] That as often as we enter into this table with the good Spirits of the second order The names themselves are drawne out of the second order. And if under them we draw out the name of the evill Spirit It is that of the superior order of the Governours. And it is the same if we enter with the name of the evill Spirit of the superior order. But if we enter this table with the names of the spirits of the third order Or of the Spiritts the ministers as well good as bad. The names of the Spirits the ministers of the inferior order wilbe picked out.

men not of little authority after this manner would enlarge their tables in lattaine letters So that by the same tables as also by the name of the office or of any effect the name of the Spirit as well good as bad was found out. Likewise as above it is delivered by taking the name of the office or effect in the collume of the letters in his line under his Starr. And the grave author of this is Trismegist. who when he delivered his calculation in the Egiptian letters he could not referr them foolishly to other letters of other tonges by reason of the assigned to the Signes. But of all men who who have handled to find out the names of the Spirits he was the first that was extant the force and secret and dignity of a maister consisteth in disposing of the vowells how rightly and truly the holy names of the—

the Spirits are found out which may bring to passe the name of the Spirit and to whom the right name is appoynted. And this artificie is thus performed. First in placing the vowells of these letters which by calculation of the heavenly figure are found out, unto the names of the Spirits of the second order good and bad Governing and Governours shalbe picked out And this is thus performed in the good: The Starrs being considered which ordaine letters and place them in order First the degree of the eleventh house is substracted from the degree of the Starr which is the former in order And that which then remaineth is cast away from the degree of the ascendent And wheare that number ceaseth ther is part of the vowell of the first letter. Begin therfore to cast away the vowells of those letters according to his number and order. And that which shall happen in the place of the starr which is the former in order That vowell is attributed to the first letter. From henceforth thou mayest find part of the second letter By subtracting the degree of the Starr w is the second in order from the former Starr and what remayneth cast away from the Ascendent And this is part from which thou mayest begin to cast away vowels and what shall happen above after the Starr that is the vow-ell of the Second letter. And so consequently thou shalt fetch out the vowells of the following letters Alwais substracting the degree of the Starr following from the degree of the Starr next going before. And all castings away and numerations must be made according to the Succession of the Signes in the names of the good Spiritts But in the names of the evill Spirits wher in the good the degree of the eleventh house is taken In them the degree of the twelfe house is taken But the numerations and projections or castings away are all done with the Succession of Signes taken their beginning from the degree of the tenth house. But in all these things extracted by the tables the vowells are placed after an other manner. For first the how-many number of letters is taken appoynting the name it selfe And so it is numbered from the beginning of the collume of the first letter or under which the name is extracted And the letter into which this number happeneth is referred unto the first letter of the name extracted by taking a distance

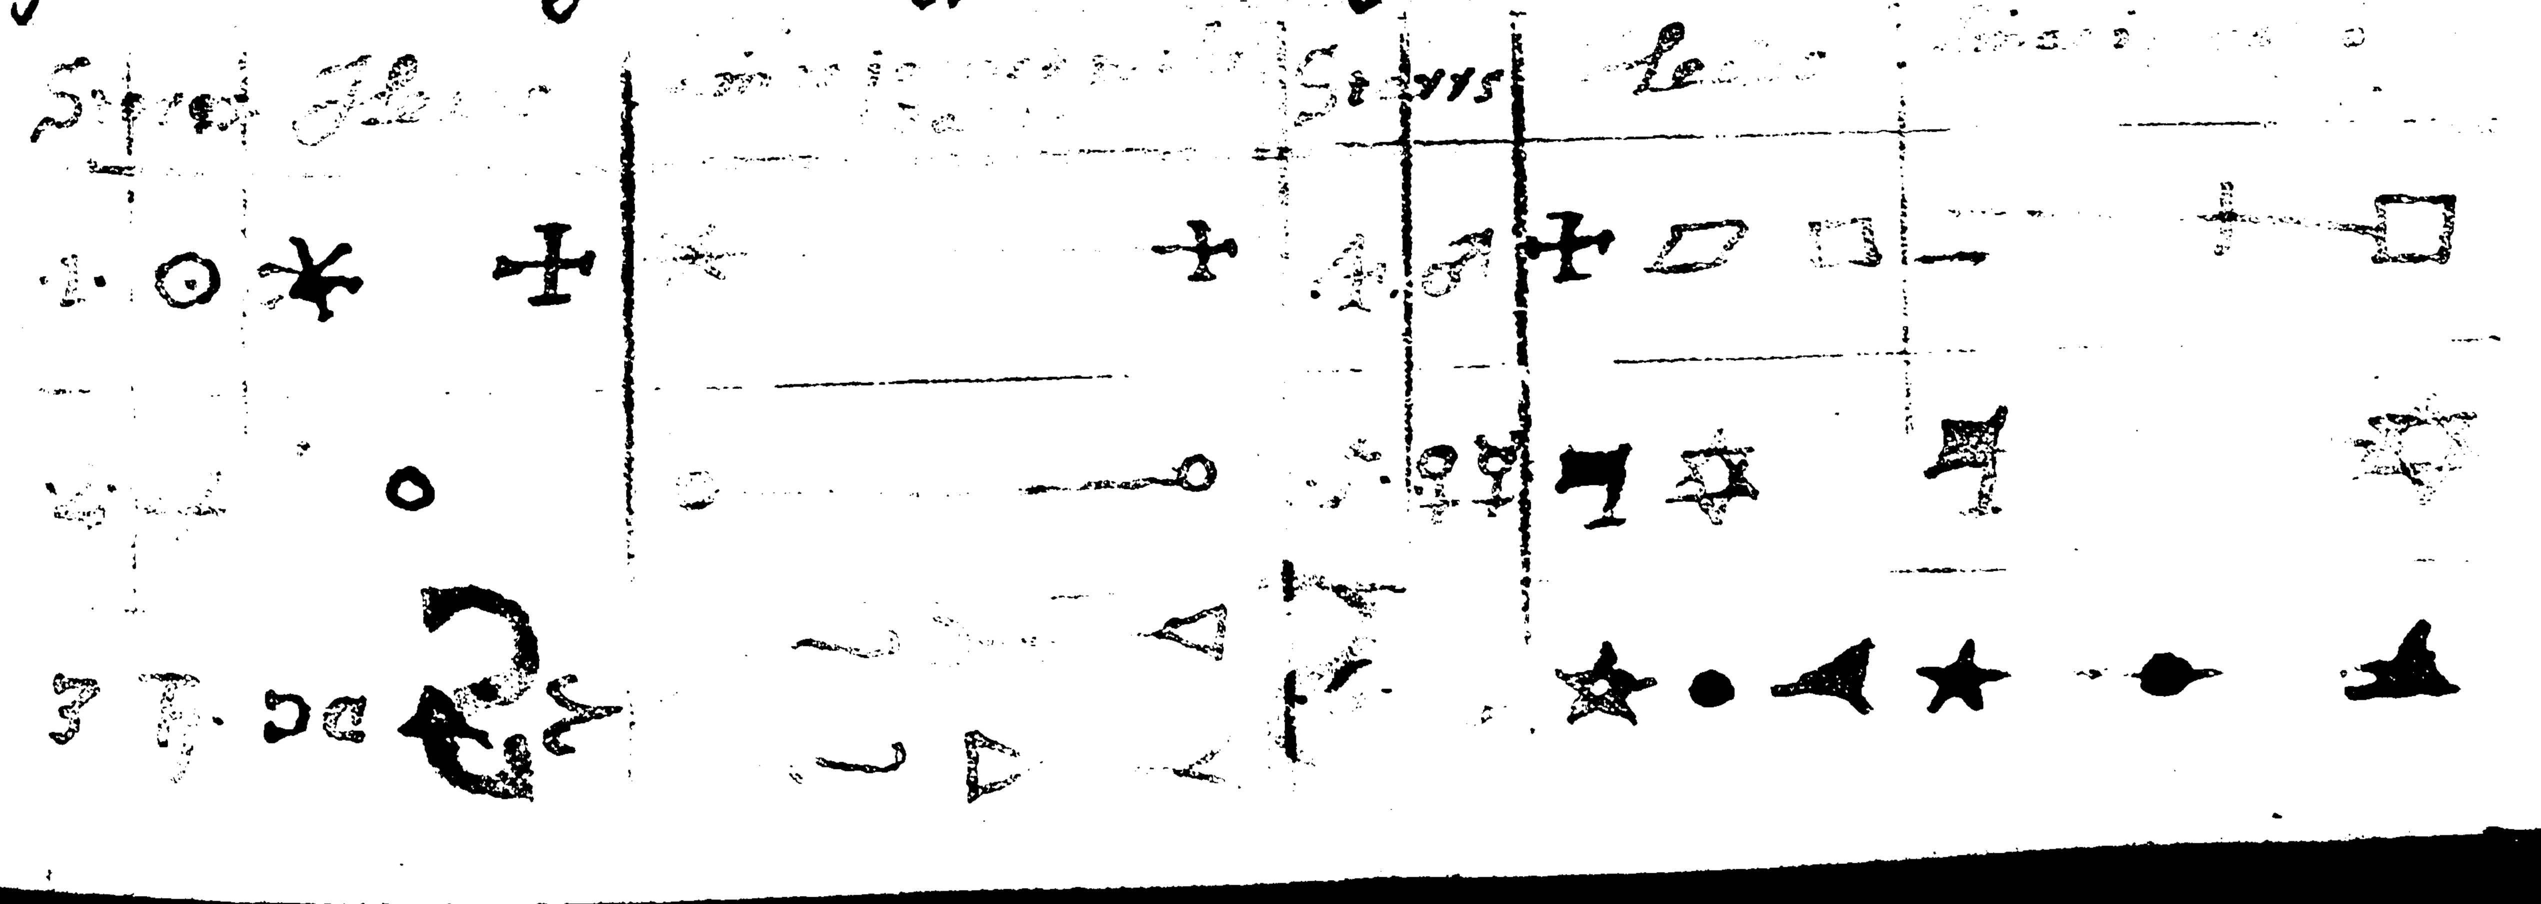
distance of the one from the other according to the order of the Alphabet. But the number of that distance is cast away from the beginning of his Collume and wher it ceaseth there is the part of the firmer vowell Therfore cast away the vowels themselues from it in his number and order and in the same collume: And what shall happen aboue the first letter of the name that shalbe attributed to it selfe But thou shalt find the following vowells by taking distance from the foregoing letter unto that that followeth And so consequently accor= ding to the Succession of the Alphabet. And the number of the distance is numbered from the beginning of his colume; And wher it happeneth there is part of the vowell sought for. Therfore cast away the vowels fro it as it is spoken of aboue) and those which shall happen aboue his letters are attributed to the same But if some vowell should happen aboue a vowell. Lett the former giue place to the latter: But understand this only of the good Spiritts: And in the bad thou mayest proceede the same way: unles thou makest numberings by a contrary and re= turned order, And against the succession of the Alphabet And against the order of the columes to wit of the Ascendent.

The name of the good Spirit of every man caled his Genius which wee haue taught to find out in the third booke of the hidden Philosophy according to that reason not of litle authority, neither is it of a small foundation. But now we will shew thee some other way assayed not with vaine reasons Of these one is by taking fiue places of the Hylegions in the figure of natiuity which being noted the characters of the letters in their order and number from the beginning of Aries are cast away And thos letters which fall into the degrees of the said places according to the or= der and dignity of them being disposed and combined doe make plaine the name of the Genius: Ther is also an other way. Almutel are taken That is domi= neering Starrs aboue the fiue said places. And lett a projection or casting out be made from the degree of the Ascendent by gathering the letters faling a= boue Almutel which being placed according to their dignitie in order ordeine the name of the Genius or Spirit of such a man: There is yet another way in much custome with the Egiptians by making an extent from the degree of the ascendent by gathering the letters. The second Almutell of the eleuenth house which house they call the good Diuell which being placed according to their dignity doe ordaine the names of mens Spiritts. But after the same manner we find out the euill Genius or Spirit of man But that projections are made against order And

and succession of the signes And wherin the good we cast forth from the begining of Aries. In the bad we number from the begining of Libra: wher in the good we number from the degrees of the Ascendent. In the bad we cast away from the degree of the Seaventh house. But according to the Egiptians the name of the Genius is gathered after Almutel of the twelfe hous whom they call the euill Diuell. And all these rites which we haue deliuered from us to others being wright in the Third booke of the hidden Philosophy may be done by the cha= racters of any Language: Seeing in all these as aboue it is said, Ther is a mistical and diuine number, order, and figure. From whence it com= meth to passe that the same Genius or Spirit of man may be caled by diuers names. But others from the name of the same Spirit good or bad are extracted by tables formed unto this.

Therfore the heauenly characters consist of lines and heads. There are six heads according to the six magnitudes or greatnes of the Starrs unto which also the Planets are reduced. The first magnitude keepeth a Starr or cross with the Sun. The second with Jupiter holds a circular point The third with Saturne, A halfe circle traiangle round or shape The fourth keepes with Mars one line passing through another or a Sqared right or crooked. The fifth with venus and Mercury a Circle or a tayled poynt ascending or descending. The sixt with the Moone black poynts all which thou mayest behold in the table following. Therfore placing the heads according to the situation of the Starrs in the fi= gure of Heauen, Then the lines are prolonged according to the conue= nience of their natures, And this thou must understand of the fix= ed Starrs. But in the erections of the Planetts the heads being placed according to their aspect among them selues the lines are prolonged.



But when a Character is to be formed of any heavenly Image ascending in any degree or face of the Signes which consist of the Starrs of the same Magnitude and nature Then placing the number of those Starrs according to their situation and order their lines are drawne out like the signified image that it may be done copiously.

But the Characters which are drawne out according to the name of the Spirit are compounded by this table following by giving to every letter of the name that which agreeth to it selfe in the table: Like as it is easily manifest. But in this ther is not a litle difficulty when as to wit the letter of the name into the line of figures or letters that we might know what figure or what letter is to be taken. But this may be thus knowne: For if a Letter should happen in the line of letters, Consider how many this letter is in the order of the name as the second or third: Then how many letters the name it selfe containes, as five, or seven: And multiply thes numbers together among them selues, and triple the product. Afterward the whole being gathered together, cast away from the beginning of the letters according to the succession of the Alphabett: And into which of the letters that number happeneth that is it that ought to be put in the Character of that Spirit. But if some letter of a name happen into the line of figures: Thus shalt thou doe. Take the number how many this letter is in the order of the name, and multiply it by the number how many this letter is in the Order of the Alphabet, and being gathered together devide it by nine The residue sheweth the figure or number to be placed in the Character. For it may be placed either with a Geometricall figure, or with an Arethmeticall figure of number which notwithstanding ought not to be nou many or to exceede the nine corners. The Characters follow.

The Characters of the Evill Spirits:

The Characters which are taken by the revelation of the Spirits have afterward their vertues: Because they are certaine litle signes lying open ordayning the harmony of the same divinity: Or they are signes of making a covenant and promice of faith or obedience: And those Characters cannot bee sought out by any other way. And farthermore ther are Characters which are some certaine familiar figures and images of the evill Spiritts under whose forme they are wont to appeare and meete with those that call for them And these Images are found out by the Table following, according to the reason of the letters which ordaine the name of the Spiritt himselfe. So that if any letter be accounted or reconed manyfolde in the same Spirit the Image of him possesseth the soveraignty or Lordship, the rest after their manner by mixture, So that those that are the former orders the superior part the head of the body is attributed to them according to their figure: But the last occupy the feete and leggs; So the middle letters shew somthing to be like the midle part of the body. But if any contrariety shall happen, that letter which is the better in number lett it prevaile: But if things be equall they shalbe mingled together: Moreover if the same name shall obtaine some notable token or Instrument from the table of Characters the same also shall obtaine it in the Image. But we shalbe able to know the dignities of the evill spiritts by those tables of the Characters and Images. For to what Spirit soever shall happen some notable token or instrument from the table of characters The same possesseth the dignity. If it shalbe a Crowne it sheweth a kingly dignity. If a Crest it shews a Captaines honour. If hornes it shews fellowship. If without them the Scepter or Sword shews rule and authority. Likewise thou shalt find by the table of Images who carrieth before him a kingly dignity. Judg from the Crowne comes dignity. From instruments Authority. Lastly they who are very good in humane figure they are more worthy then they who agree in the images of beasts. Further more the Horsmen excell footemen. And thou shalt judg the excellency of the spirits according to all their mingled dignities. Notwithstanding know this that the Spirits of the inferior order of what dignity soever they bee alwaies are subiect to the Spirits of the superior order And so it is not inconvenient that kings and Captaines should be under and minister to them that are before them of a hier order.

The familiar formes of [illegible] spirits of Saturne: ♄:

[illegible] appeare as with a very long and slender body with a wrathfull countinance, having foure faces, one in the hinder part of the head, another in the forepart of the head and both of them beaked like a birds bill: In either of their knees appeareth also faces: They are of a black colour shining that one may see through them: Their Motion or moving is the stirring of winds with the shape of an Earthquake. A King being a Bowman riding on a Buck A Litle Boy A woman hunter with hir bow and arrow A Cow A Litle Deere A Goose A Greene or silver garment A Arrow ~~Heare~~./

So next now lett us speake of the Holy Pentacles and Seales. Now the Pentacles them selues are as some certaine holy Signes to preserue us from evill events and helping us to bind and exterminate the evill Spiritts and aluring the good Spiritts reconciling them to us. The Pentacles consist of the Characters and names of the good Spiritts of the Superior order. Or of the Sacred pictures of the holy letters or revelations: with verses found out either of the Geometricall figures and holy names of God composed according to the purpose of many. Or of all these together. Or of many of them compounded and mixt. But those characters which are profitable for us for the ordayning of the pentacles are those characters of the good Spiritts. Especially of the good of the first and second order somtime also of the third And of this kind of Characters which most cheifly is caled holy Then those characters which above we haue caled holy. Therfore whatsoever character of this sort appointed lett us compose it about with a double circle In which lett us wright about the name of his Angell And if we would add some divine name to that Spirit agreeable to his office It shalbe of greater power and efficacie And if we would lead about som corner figure to him according to the reason of the numbers That allso may bee done—done. But the holy pictures which forme the Pentacle are those which here and there in the holy Scriptures and Prophets as well of the oulde as new testament are delivered to us. As the figure of the Serpent on the Crosse and the like of the which ther is great plenty found out in the vision of the Prophets as of Isay. Daniell. Esdras. and others As also out of the Revelation. And we have spoken of them in the third booke of the hidden Philosophi where we have made mention of these holy things. Therfore place some such picture of the holy Images and compass it about with a double Circle to whome to whome lett some divine name be written apt and conformable in effect to the figure it selfe: Or lett some like verce be written about to him taken from parte of the body of the holy Scripture which promiseth or prayeth for a desired effect. As if a pentacle should be made for victory and revenge against enimies as well visible as invisible. A figure may be taken out of the second book of the Machabes: To wit: A hand holding in it a Goulden Sword brandished to which was written about a verse contayning the same. To wit. Take the holy Sword, the gift from God with which thou shalt cutt in peeces the adversaries of my people Israel. Or also lett this verse of the first Psal be written about it. In this is the strength of thine arme, there is death before thy face. Or any other like verse. But if it like thee to wright about a divine name Take some name Signifying a Sword. Anger. The vengeance of God, or the like name agreeable to the desired effect. And if it like thee to write a corner figure. Take according to the reason of the number as we have taught in the second booke of our hidden Philosophy where we have spoken of numbers. And so of the like workes. And of this kind there are two pentackles of high vertue and greate power very profitable and nessessary to the consecration of Experements and Spirits. Of them one is which we have in the first chapter of the revelation to wit. The figure of the Maiesty of God sitting in the throne having in his mouth a two edged Sword as there it is saide. To which lett it be written about I am Alpha and Omega the beginning and the end, who is, who was, and who is to come Almighty. I am the first and the last living and have bin dead, and beholde I am alive for evermore, and I have the —

the Keyes of death and of Hell ✠ Then lett these three verses be written about Commit it o God to thy vertue, Confirme this o God that workest in us ✠ 91 lett them be made as the dust before the winde and the Angell of the lord 82 scattering them. Let their wayes bee darke and slippery And the Angell of the lord persecuting them ✠ Frother more lett these ten generall names be written about it which are ✠ El ✠ Elohim ✠ Elohe ✠ Zebaoth ✠ Elion ✠ Escerchie ✠ Adonay ✠ Jah ✠ Tetragrammaton ✠ Saday ✠ [illegible] whose figure is like a Lambe killed whose Horns and eyes are Heaven And under his feete a Booke Sealed with seven seales as it is said in the fiveth Chapter of the Revelation To whome lett this versicle be written ✠ Behold the Lion of the tribe of Juda overcame, The roote of David. I will open the booke and loose the seven seales thereof ✠ And another versicle ✠ I saw Satan like lightning fall from Heaven. Behold I give you power to tread uppon Serpents and Scorpions And uppon all the power of the enemie and nothing shall hurt you ✠ And lett the forsaid ten generall names be written about it.

[illegible] those Pe[illegible] which are ordayned of figures and names keepe this order. For place some figure conformable to some number unto some sure effect or virtue. lett ther be written in all the corners some devine name obteining the force of the desired thing Notwithstanding it it must be so that such a name be of so many letters as the figure appoynteth the number Or how many letters of the name conferred together among them selves doe appoynt the number of the figure or doth constitute some number which by the number of the figure without any superfluitie or demminishment may be parted. For such a name found out one or more or or divers must be written in the figure in all the corners. But in the midle of the figure the whole or at least the principall revolution of turning back of the same name shall be placed.

ordaine also pentacles by making a certaine revolution of some name in the foure square table with a single Circle going about or with a double wrighting therin Some holy versicle aggreable to this name or fro which — which the name is derived. And this is the forme of the pentacles acco= ding to their distinct mamers which we may multiply and mingle toge= ther into a greater efficacie and to the intention and extencion of virtue among themselves with others. As if prayer should be made for the de= struction of enimies. we must remember how god destroyed the face of the Earth in the deluge of waters. Sodome and Gomorrah by raine of fier and bimstone. The Host of Pharaoh in the red Sea And the like.

If there be any other curse found in the holy Scriptures. So by praying against the danger of waters. Lett us remember the safguard of Noah in the deluge. The Children of Iseraels safe passage over the read Sea And also Christ walking with dry feete uppon the waters And preserving the shipp being in dainger to be drowned and the like. Lastly when with these wee call uppo some holy names of God. To wit those which are significant to our desire And these which are proffitable to the purposed desire. As for the destruction of E= nimies wee call uppon the names of the wrath. vengeance. feare. Justice. and the strength of God. But for the avoiding of some perrill or evill. we call uppon the names of Gods mercie. defence. salvation. fortitude Goodnes and the like names of God. Also when we pray God to graunt us that which wee desire. That name wee may sett betweene some good Spirit: one or more. whose office is of that wee desire. Also oftentimes we humbly beseech God to send some evill Spirit to constraine men. whose name also we insert or place betweene: And this is rightly done, if the worke tendeth to evill as unto revenge. punishment. or distruction. Furthermore if any versicle in the Psalmes or other part of Scripture be found agreable to our desire wee place that betweene in our prayers: But make a prayer unto God: Som= times it wilbe convenient to make a prayer after that To the executor whos ministerie we desire in our former prayer whether he be one or more. whe= ther he be an Angell or Starr whether a Soule or one of the heroicall men And such ought the prayer to bee compounded according to the delivered rules by us in the second booke of our hidden Philosophie. where wee have spoken of the compounding of Inchantements.

[illegible] so that there are three sorts of bonds. For the first bond is when we Conjure by naturall things. The Second is composed of the mis= 83 teries of religion As by Sacraments Miracles and the like. The third is ordained by devine names and holy Seales. And by these bonds not only the Spirits. But also whatsoever Creatures else are bound: As the living creatures. Tempests. Fiers. Plauges. And the force of armes. &c.
Oftentimes we use the aforsaid bonds not only after the manner of con= juration but also by way of Prayer and thanksgiving. Furthermore it a= vaileth to conjure much of the like sort If so be they are found agreable to holy Scriptures: As in the conjuration of Serpents. we remember the curse of the Serpent In the Terrestiall Parradice. The lifting up of the Serpent in the desert. And also that versicle. Thou shalt walke uppo the Aspe and Basiliske &c. Superstition is of very much force in these by the translation of some Sacramentall rite to that which we intend to binde or hinder. As the rite of Excommunication, of bu= rialls, funeralls, and the like.

[illegible] that we shoulde speake of consecration which is made by a man, And instruments nessessary for this Art in all things And this virtue is perfited espetially in two things: To wit. By the vertue of the person himselfe consecrating, And by the virtue of the prayer it selfe. by which consecration is made. For in the person there is required holy= nes of life. and power of hallowing which both are attained by Dig= nification or by being made worthy and by instruction in the begin= nings or principalls of religion: Afterward this is also required that the person himselfe know undoubtedly and of a firme beleefe that this virtu and power is in himselfe. But of part of the prayer it selfe by which con= secration is made ther is required the same holynes which is either in the prayer it selfe: As many holy prayers which are found in holy Scripture or such as are appoynted by the ordination of the church from virtu of the Holy Ghost: Or ther is holynes in a Prayer not by it selfe But by commemoration or remembering againe of holy things. Or the comme= moration of the holy Scriptures, histories, workes, miracles, effects graces

Graces, Promises, Sacraments and Sacramentall things and the like: it will be seene to attaine to the consecrated things Some similitude properly or improperly. Add hereto the invocation of the holy and divine names with the signing of the holy Seales and the like, which tend unto Sanctification and Satisfaction to God: As are the holy waters, Sprinklings about, the Anoyntings of the holy oyle, Sweete Suffumigations, these added to a religious life. Know this also that in every consecration the blessings and consecrations of water, oyle, fier, and fumigations, with the wax or Lamps, those blessed lights goe before. For without light no Sacrament is rightly performed. This also is to be knowne and firmly to be observed that if a thing be consecrated in prophane things into which some pollution may happen, then the exorcisme and satisffaction of these things ought to goe before the consecration: which things as they are effected by virgins are more apt to receive the influence of divine virtues. It is also to be observed that in the end of every consecration after the prayer duely pronounced, the consecrator himselfe ought by words in the presentence to blesse by drawing in his breath the thing to be consecrated in the divine virtue and power And he must remember his owne virtue and authority So may it be done more rightly and with a firme minde. Now therfore I will place and give thee some example of these things by which the way shall easily lay open unto thee to the considering the whole matter. So in the consecration of water are remembered how God placed the firmament in the middest of the waters How hee in the terrestiall parradice placed a fountaine of waters from whence by the foure holy rivers the universall orbe of the world is watered. Also how he made the waters of his Justice an instreument to destroy the Giants by the generall floud uppon all the Earth And in the destruction of Pharaohs host in the redd Sea Also how he brought forth his owne People with dry feete through the middest of the Sea and through the middest of Jordane And how miraculously he brought forth water out of the rock in the wildernes And brought forth a fountaine of living water out of the Tooth of the Jawbone of an asse at the prayer of Sampson Also how he placed the waters Instruments of his mercy and salvation in the doing away of originall sinne. Also how Christ was Baptised in Jordane who by this clensed and sanctified the waters, Moreover the divine names that are conformable to this are to be caled on. As for example example That God is a living fountaine He is the water of life The floud of mercy and the like. So in the consecration of fire we remember how God created the fier an instrument of his justice for punishment revenge and satisffaction of Sinnes. Also how he shall come to iudge the world by fier Also how God appeared to Moses in a bush of fier burning Also how he went before the Children of Israell in a piller of fier And how nothing might be offered Sacrifised or Sanctified according to the law without fier, Also how he appoynted the fier that should not goe out to be kept in the tabernacle of the covenant: And the same being put out he kindled wonderfull againe And from another place hath conserved it to lay hidd not put out under the water. And the like of this sort. Therfore the names of God which are conformable unto this must be caled on As we reade in the Law and the Prophets for God is a Consuming fier And if there be any names among the devine names which soundeth fier Or names like it As the Glory of God The like of God. The brightnes of God &c. So in the consecration of Oyle and fumigations we remember holie things pertaining to this which we reade out of Exodus Of the oyle of anoynting And the holy names of God conformable to these Such is the name Christ which signifieth anoynted And if there be any the like in holy misteries Such as that of the Apocalips or revelation concerning the two Olive trees distilling holy oyle into the lamps burning before the face of God and the like. But the blessing of light and wax and the lamps is taken from fier And from that alter which mingleth the fuell of the flame together And the like As that of the Seven candlesticks and Lamps burning before the face of God. These are the consecrations which are nessesary first of all in all Sanctimonie and ought to goe before without which nothing can be duely performed.

[illegible] wee will shew [illegible] the consecrations of places Instruments and the like. Therfore thou shalt take out that Prayer of Salomon in the dedication of the Temple as thou art about to consecrate any place or circle, Furthermore thou shalt blesse the place with blessed water and fumigation remembering in blessing the misteries what they are. The sanctification of the throne of God. The mountaine of Sinay The Arke of the Covenant the

The Holy of Holies the Temple of Jerusalem Also the sanctifing of the Hill Golgotha by Christ Crucifing The Sanctifing of the Sepulchre of Christ Also the mountaine of Tabor by the transfiguration and ascension of Christ and the like. Call uppon diuine names agreeable to these places. As the place of God The throne of God The seate of God. Gods tabernacle Gods Altar Gods habitation and the like names of God wch are meete to be written In the Circle or Consecrated place.

[illegible] In Consecrating Instruments whatsoeuer things seruing to this art Thou mayest goe on the same way Sprinkling them with holy water Also perfuming them with hallowed fumigations according with holy Oyle By assigning some holy Seale by blessing with prayer By remembring holy things out of the Scriptures and religion and diuine names which seeme conformable to the thing considered As for Example In Consecrating the Sword, we remember that of the Gospell He which hath two cotes &c And that of the Machabees in the second booke How ther was wonderfully and diuinely sent a Sword to Judas Machabeas And if ther be any the like in the prophetts: As that Take to you the two edged swords.

[illegible] the same manner thou shalt consecrat the experement and books And whatsoeuer the like is in holy Scripture Pictures and the like by Sprinkling perfuming anoynting, Sealing and blessing the commemoratione, by remembring Sanctifications from the misteries. As the Sanctification of the Tables of the Tenn Commaundements which were deliuered to Moses from God in the Mountaine of Sinay Also the Sanctification of the new and ould Testament The Sanctification of the law of the Prophets and Scriptures which were published by the Holy Ghost Moreouer wee must remember the holy names of God conformable to those As Gods Testament, Gods Booke, the booke of Life The booke of the knowledg of God of the wisdome of God and the life. After the same manner the consecration of the person is performed. /

[illegible] is a[illegible] another rite of consecration of greate wonder and much efficasie And this is from the kinds of Superstitions wheras to wit the rite of consecration or conferring together some Sacrament is transferred to that thing which we would consecrate. /

[illegible] it is to be knowne that a vow, oblation and Sacrifice haue the force of consecration as well reall as personall And they are as certaine couenaunts and agreements betweene those names for whome they are made, And as who make them, Sticking strongly for our desire and wished effect. As for example, when our things, As fumigations, anoyntings, rings, images, looking Glasses, and those things which lesse partake of the matter, as powers Seales, Pantacles, inchauntments, prayers, pictures, Scriptures, we vow offer and Sacrifice them to certaine names As more at large you may see in the Second booke of Hidden Philosophy. /

[illegible] with those Magitians who use very much the ministerie of the diuills a certaine rite of caling Spirits by a booke consecrated before wch is rightly caled the booke of Spirits: Of that now there are a few things to be spoken. This booke is consecrated, being the booke of the euill Spiritts after its name and manner rightly composed. To which booke the Spirits within written haue vowed obedience at hand by their holy Oath Therfore this booke is made of most pure paper, which not as yet is put to any use, Many call it virgin paper, And the booke is written within after this manner, The image of the Spirit is placed on the left hand, but on the right hand is his character with his oath written aboue containing the name of the Spirit and his dignity and place with his office and power But many haue composed this booke otherwise or they haue omitted the characters or image, Notwithstanding it is more powerfull to neglet none of those things that are deliuered. Furthermore the circomstances of places times, houres are to be obserued according as to those Starres to which those Spirits are under might seeme to agree in their seating rite and order, The booke which this is written well bound lett be adorned and conserued distributiuely with his registers and Seales least any time it should come in perrill of working to be opened without purpose in any place after the consecration. Furthermore it shalbe kept as reuerently as it may. For the reuerence of the minde would loose his vertue by polution and profanation. /

[illegible] composed according to the manner now deliuered thou maiest goe on to consecrate it two manner of waies, The one is that all and singular the Spiritts which are written in the booke be called unto the Circle according to, the

to the right and manner which we have taught above, And lett the booke to be consecrated be placed without the circle in a Triangle. And first lett al the Oathes written in the litle booke be read in the presence of the Spirits: Then lett the booke to be consecrated be laide without the circle in the Traiangle, the same writt downe and all and singular the Spirits wilbe gathered together where their images and characters are pictured to sett their hands and to confirme and consecrat it with a speciall and common Oath which being done let the booke be receiued and kept shutt as is saide aboue and lett the Spirits be licenced according to the due rite.

[illegible] another way [illegible] of concecrating the booke of the Spirits and it is of much force unto every effect: unles it be in the opening of this booke the Spirits doe not alwais come in sight. And this way is such as followeth.
Make a booke of the Spirits as aboue is described but at the end of the booke lett the invocations or prayers and bonds and most strong Coniurations be written wherwith every Spirit whatsoever may be bound. Then lett this booke be brought together in 2 tables or plates of mettall wherin lett there be written in the inside the holy pentacles of Gods majesty which we haue described aboue out of the Revelation. Of which lett the first be put in the beginning of the booke. The second at the end of it. After this manner the booke being perfected in a cleare and faire time before midnight lett the litle booke be carried unto the circle where waies doe meete according to the art we haue allready taught: And there first open the booke and consecrate it according to the rite and manner we haue alreddy spoken conserning consecration it being done let every of the Spirits be called which are written in the booke after his manner and placing by coniuring them thrice by the bonds described in the booke that they may come unto that place within three dayes space to performe their obedience and to confirme it in the said consecrated booke. Then that litle booke being roled up in white and cleane linnen burie it in the midst of the circle and there shutt it up fast. And then destroying the circle because the Spirits shalbe licensed doe then depart before the Sonne rising. But on the third day about midnight returne and reforme or make new the circle. And with bended knees make thy prayer and give thanks to God And

And precios fumigation being made open the hole and take forth the booke and keepe it not opening it. Then the Spirits being licensed after their manner and the circle destroyed depart before the Sunne rising. And this is the last rite of concecrating, It is profitable for all writings and Experiments which are directed to the Spirits, by placing this booke betweene two holy plates of mettall of the Pentacles as aboue is already shewed./

[illegible] is about to work by the consecrated booke let him doe it in a cleare time and faire skie litle troubling the Spirits And lett him place himselfe towards the region of the Spirit. Then let it be opened under a right register. And let the Spirit be called on by his oath. The same written downe and confirmed, And by the name of the character and Image, for that which thou desirest, and if neede be, Coniure him by the bonds which are placed at the end of the booke: And obtaining thy desiered effect Thou shalt licene the Spirit to depart./

[illegible] concerning [illegible] Good Spirits are called uppon by as divers waies, and divers wayes they meete with us. For the wachefull they speake openly or offer themselves to our sight Or they informe us in dreames and sleepes of our desired things by an oracle. whosoever therfore would call uppon a good Spirit that he might haue sight and conferrence with him must observe two thing especially. Of the which the one is about the disposition of the caller. The other conserning those things which are putt to the prayer outwardly for the conformity of calling the Spirit. Therfore it behoveth the caller himselfe now to be religiously disposed throughout many dayes unto such a mistery. First he ought to be contrite and confessed inwardly and outwardly and rightly to satisfy God, every day washing him selfe in holy water. Furthermore that the caller doth keepe him selfe through out these whole dayes, Chast, abstinent, with a mind altogether untroubled and that he seperat him selfe himselfe from all externall and secular busines whatsoever as much as he canne. Allso he must observe fastings these dayes according as it shall seeme to him to be able to performe. And dayly also lett him make his prayer from the East Sonne, even to the west to God and the Angells Angells to be called on, in the place of his inuocation being clothed with a holy and linnen vestment. Seven times lett him doe it without inter= ruption or being lett in his busines. But the number of the dayes of preparation is comonly a whole Moneth of the Moone: But another number obserued with the Cabalists is fourty dayes.

which concerne this rite of Calling. The first is, That a cleane place be chosen, Chast, fast shutt, quiet, and remote from all noise, Subiect to no other sights. Here first he must exorcise and con= secrate, And in this place lett ther be sett a table or alter couered with white linnen cleane, placed towards the East, And upponit from ei= ther part. Lett there be two consecrated waxen Candles sett burning whos flame in all these dayes must not be wanting. In the midle of the Alter lett the plates of mettall or holy paper be placed as is abouesaid couered with fine linnen which unto the end of those dayes is not to be uncouered Also thou shalt haue the pretious fumigation provided and reddy pre= parde, And the pure oyle of anoynting, both being consecrated lay them upp. Also the sensar being placed at the head of the Alter which be= ing kindled and the fier blessed thou shalt perfume every day as often as thou prayest. Thou shalt also haue a long Garment of white linnen shut before and behind which may couer the whole body and feete which thou shalt bind with the like Girdle. Thou shalt also haue a headpeece like a mitre made of fine linnen In which former part let the plate of mettall be fastned being Gold or Gilded with the inscription of the name Tetragrammaton all which things after their manner we blessed and consecrated. But goe not into the holy place unless first thou art washed and clothed with holy vestments And thou must goe in barefooted. when thou art entered in sprinkle it with holy water, then thou shalt perfume uppon the Alter, Afterward with ben= ded knees thou shalt worshipp before thee Alter as we haue said. But at the end of these dayes Thou shalt fast more strictly the last day and thou shalt be fasting the day following, At the Sonne rising thou may est enter - enter into the holy place after the rite alreddy spoken of. First sprinkle thy selfe, then perfuming, thou shalt signe thy selfe in the forehead with with holy oyle, and anoynt thy eyes, doing all these consecrated things with some prayer. Then thou shalt uncouer the holy plate and with bended knees worship before the Alter as aboue: And make an Angellike In= uocation, they will appeare to thee whom thou desierest whom be= ing received thou shalt licence with a benigne and chast conferrance.

for the caling of Some Spirit after this manner ei= ther in mettall like in fasheon or in new wax with shapes and colours conformable mixed: Or lett it be made in faire paper with agreeable Colours: But lett the outward figure of it be foure square, Circular, or Triangular, or of the like sort according to the   of the number In which lett the divine names as well generall as speciall be written But in the Center of the plate an exagone or Starre like Six blazers thus shalbe discribed In the midle of which shalbe written the name and character of the Starr or Spirit his gouernour to whome the good Spirit to be caled is subiect About this Starrlike figure shalbe placed so many penta= gons or five streamed Starres as the Spirits be whome we call toge= ther. And if we haue caled uppon one alone notwithstanding lett there be four pentagons depictured In which lett the name of the Spirit or Spirits with his or their characters be written But this table ought to be made the moone increasing in those dayes and howers which which then agree to the Spirit. And if we take a fortunate starre with this it wilbe the better. which Table made after this manner lett it be consecrated according to the rule aboue deliuered. And this is the table after his manner generall for the calling of all whatsoe= uer good Spirits. yett we may make speciall tables agreeable to every Spi= rit that manner which we haue said concerning the holy Pentacles.

and more easiat for this thing to wit Lett a man who is about to receiue some Oracle from the good Spirits bee Chast -

Chast, cleane, and Confessed. then having a cleane and neate place coue= red all over with white linnen, On the lords day In a new moone let him enter into that place clothed with white and Cleane vestments and let him exorcise the place and blesse it and make a circle in it with a blessed cole And lett him wright in the outmost Circle The names of the Angells but in the inward let him wright the high names of God And let him put within the circle at the foure corners of the world Censors for the fumigations. Then let him enter the place fasting and washed and let him begin to pray towars the East This whole Psalme. Blessed are the immaculate or pure in the way &c. performing and in the end praying to the Angells by the saide divine names That they may be worthy to enlighten and reveale that which thou desirest And doe this for six dayes continually being washed and fasting every day And on the Seventh day which is the Sabaoth likewise be wash= ed and fasting and then enter the circle and perfume and anoynt thy selfe with holy oyle of anoynting, anoynting thy forehead and both thy eyes and in the palmes of thy hands and uppon the feete Then with bended knees Say the psalme aforesaid with the divine And Angellicall names The which being said arise And begin from the East to the west within the said Circle to walke it round about untill thou art giddy in the braine and fall downe in the circle where rest And presently he wilbe taken up in an extassie And he will appeare unto him who will informe him of all things. Also it is to be knowne that in the Circle there ought to be foure Holy Candles burning at the foure parts of the world. which never through the whole weke must want light. Also the fast must be such that he absteine from all things having a sensible life And those things which come from them And let him drinke pure flowing water only Neither let him take meate untill the Sonn setteth. Let his washing be such that early in the morning be= fore the Sonn rising he wash himselfe being naked all over in a flowing flowing water or river. let the fumigation and oyle of anoynting be as we read in Exodus and in other places of Scripture. He must have on his forehead a Golden plate with this name Tetragrammaton written theron as is above said. Alwais as often as he entereth into the Circle. / which are taken from every Spirit by a dreame they also conduct naturall things to it and their commixions: As are fumigations and anoyntings and meates or drinkes which thou must take out of the first booke of the hidden Philosophie. But that he may thou mayest be allwais willing and reddy to receive an Oracle of Dreames let him Make him a Ring of the Sunne or Saturne unto his fashion. and And lett him also make an Image of excellent efficacie unto his effect which ring and image being laid under his head while hee sleepeth It will warrand true dreames virtually concerning whatsoever things the mind had before delib= erated. The tables of numbers likewise confer to the Oracle being rightly formed un= der their constellations And these things thou mayest know out of the second book of the hidden philosophy. Also the holy tables and papers add to the oracle be= ing made and consecrated especially to this effect. Such is the table of Amadel of Salomon and the table of the revolution or turning back of the name Tetra= grammaton and those of the like sort, of divers figures numbers pictures wch are written to these with the inscriptions of the holy names of God and Angells whose composition is taken from divers places of holy Scripture. from the Psalmes and versicles and other places of foretelling Revelation and Prophesie. Holy prayers and imprecations as well to God as to the holy Angels and nobles doe conduct the matter to the same effect: of which prayers the imprecations are composed as above is shewn according to the some religious likenes of miracles, Graces, and the like which we in= tende to doe making mention of them as out of the ould Testament concernings Jacobs. Josephs. Pharaohs. Daniels. and Nabucadnezars dreames. If out of the New testament concerning Josephs dreame and the dreame of the three Magitians of John the Evangelist sleeping uppon the lords breast. and wtso soever the like is found in religion, miracles and revelations As the revelations of the crosse to Helene, the revelation of Constantine and Charles the great. the revelation of Bridgett, Cyrill. Methodius. Mechtildis. Joachim. Mer= lin. and the like being compounded according to the which deprecations if that one went to sleepe with firme intencion having these things in reddines un= doubtedly

undoubtedly they are wont to bring to passe a powerfull effect. But he wch knoweth how to conioyne those thing which we now have spoken of he will receive most true Oracles of Dreames. But let him doe this observing those things wch are spoken for this purpose in the booke of our secret or hidden Philosophie. Therefore is he willing to receive an Oracle, let him abstaine from eating any supper or drinking drinke, otherwise being well disposed his Braines being free from troubling vapours. Also let him have a cleane and neate chamber exorcised and hallowed if he will. Then lett him begin to perfume in it with convenient perfumegation. And let him anoynt with oyntment And the King being put on his finger Taking with him some Image or holy table. or holy paper lett him put it under his head. Then after he hath prayed lett him enter into his bedd and thinking uppon the thing that he desireth to know. So lett him sleepe. for so undoubtedly he shall receive most true Oracles by dreames. Let it be done when the moone runneth by that signe which was in the ninth house of nativity. Also when shee runneth through the Signe of the ixth house of the revolution of nativity. And when she is in the ninth Signe from the signe of perfection. And this is the manner by which we may observe wht soever Sciences and arts suddainly and Completely with the true enlightning of our understanding although the inferior familiar spirits whatsoever helpe us to this effect. yea oftentimes the evill Spirits informing us and our sences inwardly and outwardly.

[illegible] e would call some evill Spirit to the [illegible]. First it behoveth to considder and know his nature to which of the Planets he soundeth like and what offices are distributed to him from that Planet. These things being knowne let him looke out a place fitt for invocation according to the nature of the Planet and quality of the offices of the said Spirit. That if their Power be over Seaes. fountains and rivers Then lett a place be chosen on the Seashore and so of the rest. Then let him seeke out and finde a fitt time aswell for the quallity of the Ayre. That it be faire. cleare. quiett. and fitt for the Spirits to take to them bodies: as for the quallity and nature of the Planett and Spirit. that he be fortunat or infortunate on his day or time wherin he governeth. Somtimes in the night Sometimes in the day as the Starrs or Spirits requier. These things considdered let a circle be made in the chosen place aswell for the defence of the caller as for the confirming of the Spirit. And in this circle the generall divine names of God are to be written and those which stand for our defence. And with them the divine names also which governe that Planet and office of that Spirit. Also there shall be written within the circle the names of the good Spirits which rule over and can constraine that Spirit whom we intend to call. And if wee would more amply fortify our circle. lett us add Characters and Pentacles agreeable to the worke. And then if we will wee may make a figure cornered within or without the circle having written therin the numbers convenient as they agree among themselves to our worke. which truly are to be knowne for the numbers and figures sake of which in our Second booke of the hidden Philosophy we have suffitiently declared. Afterward let him provide, lights, fumigations, oyntments medicines for the Eyes. made according to the nature of the Planet and Spirit. which things partly agree to the Spirit because of the naturall and heavenly vertue, partly also they are sett abroad to the Spirits vew for a religions lifes sake or a Superstitions. Then lett him provide the holy and consecrated things as well for the deffence of the caller and his fellowes, as also being nessessary for the binding of the Spirits and constriction: Such are the holy papers, plates, pictures, pentacles, Swords, Scepters, vestments, of matter and colour agreeable and the like. Then all these things prepared the maister standing within the Circle with his fellowes. First lett him consecrate the circle and all things which he useth which being done with gesture and countenance convenient let him begin to pray with a lowde voice after this manner. First lett him make his prayer to God. Then lett him pray to the good Spirits And if he would reade any prayers or Psalmes or Ghostpells for his defence they ought to goe before. Then his prayers being ended call uppon the Spirit whom he desireth from all parts of the world with a meeke and faire inchauntment with the commemoration of his authority and virtue. And then lett him rest a litle while looking round about to see if any Spirit appeare. And if the Spirit tarry, Let him reiterate his invocation as is above said -nt three times. And if he be Stubborne that he will not appeare, Let him begin to coniure him with a divine power So that the coniuration be agreeable to the nature and and office of that Spirit, Saying it three times over making it stronger and stronger by rebukes, reproches, curses, and punishments, And by suspending him from his office and power, and such like but after every time time of coniuring let him rest awhile. And if any Spirit appeare let him turn himselfe calling the Spirit and receiving him gently. First let him inquire his name, demaunding whether he be called by any other name. Then let him proceade farther to aske of him what he would. And if in any thing he be stubborne or lye bind him by coniurations convenient. And if thou doubtest him that he is in a lye, Then make the figure of a Traiangle with out the circle with the holy Sword or the figure of Pentagons and compell the Spirit to enter therin. And if thou shalt take any promise which thou wouldest fortifie with an oath The holy Sword being streched out of the circle let the Spirit sware putting his hand uppon the Sword. Then obtaining by request what thou desierest of the spirit thou shalt licence him with milde words by commaunding him that he hurt nobody. And if he will not depart, compell him by stronger coniurations, And if neede be by exorcismes driving him out and making contrary fumigations. And when he is gonne goe not out of the circle but stay awhile making thy prayers and thanksgivinge to God and the good Angels for their defence and conservation: Then every thing in perticular being done in order thou mayest depart. But if thou art frusterated of thy hope and no spirits appeare dispaire not for this thing: but leaving the circle thou mayest retorne by other courses doeing as at first. And if thou iudgest thy selfe to erre in any thing, then thou mayest by adding or deminishing correct thine error. For oftentimes the constancie of reiteration doth increace authority and vertue and brings terror to the Spirits, and maketh them humble unto obedience. And therfore some are wonte to make a doore in the circle wherby they may goe in and out, which they shut and open at their pleasure, And fortifide with holy names and pentacles Also this is to be knowne when no Spirits appeare, and when the maister being reiected shall deliberat to give over, because he cannot depart without the licence of the Spirit, for many neglecting this are in perill unlesse they are fortified with some higher deffence for very often the Spirits come although they appeare not by reason of the terror in the caller or in things which he useth or in the worke it selfe. But such a licence is not given simply but by reason of dispensation with

Suspending

Suspending them untill they are reddy to obay in those things. But in our circle they are caled into sight by that way which is delivered in the consecration of the booke.

But when we intend to follow and practise some effect by the evill spirits where there is no neede of their appearance then that fabrication being being made which existeth to us as the instrument or subiect of an experiment. As is an image, or a king, or a writting, or some Character, or candell, or Sacrifice, or any the like Then lett him write the name of that Spirit with his character according as the experiment shall requier, Or by writing with some blood, or otherwise with a conformable fumigation for the Spirit: Also oftentimes making our prayers unto God and the good Angells we doe call that evill spirit by coniuring him with the divine power.

There is an other kind of Spirits as we have said in the third booke of the hidden Philosophie not so hurtfull. Neighbour to men. So that they are affected with the same passion of men And reioyce in humane conversation, and dwell willingly with them. But others inhabit groves and woods: Other are ioyfull with the company of divers living creaturs at home and abroade: Others dwell about fountaines and greene meddowes: Therfore whosoever would call these spirits it is nessessary to be done in the place where they tarry, with odoriferus perfumes with sweete soundes, with the instruments of musike made espetially for this purpose Adding Songs and Inchanntments and pleasing verses with promises and promisses. The obstinate are compelled to this by thretnings and Comminations by blesphemies, mocks, reproches, and cheifly by thretning to torne them out of these places where they are conversant. Afterward if neede be thou mayest exorcise. For the cheifest thing that it behoveth to observe in the invocation of these Spirits, Is to have a constant minde and boldnes without any feare. Lastly when thou art about to call these spirits thou oughtest to prepare a table in the place of invocation, covered with cleane linnen, on which thou shalt put new loves of bread, And aquavite or milke in new earthen vessells, and new knives: And make a fier in which thou shalt perfume, But goe and call at the head of the Table, and let ther be seates round about for the Spirits as shall please thee. And those Spirits thou shalt invite by calling unto the drink and meate. And if per chaunce

thou fearest some ill Spirit, wright about the Circle and lett part of the ta= ble within the Circle wherin thou shalt sitt calling. Lett the rest be with= out the Circle.

...he third booke of our hidden Philosophy we have taught how and by what meanes the Soule is ioyned to the body, and what happens to the Soule after death: Know therfore that beyond these things which are spoken. These Soules love their forsaken bodies after death, even as some kindred allying the Even as they are the Soules of hurtfull men which violently have forsaken their bodies: and Soules wanting their due buriall which as yet wander in the troubled and moyst Spirit about their carcasses. Now these Soules the meanes being knowne by which somtimes they were ioyned to their bodyes, the meanes being knowne they are easily allured by the like vapors, liquors, and Savors. From hence it is that the Soules of the dead are not called forth, without blood. Or the putting to of some part of the forsaken body: wee perfume with fresh blood in the calling forth of Shaddowes, with the bones of the dead, and flesh, with Eggs, milke hony, Oyle and the like which attribute a fitt meanes for the Soules to asume their bodyes. we must know that if we would call forth the soules of the dead It ought to be done in those places in which such Soules especially are knowne to be conversant: Or for some kindred sake allu= ring them into the forsaken body: Or for some affections sake in lifetime, Somtime impressed, drawing the said Soule into certain places or things or persons: Or for the hellish natures sake of some place fit for the purging or punishing of Soules: which places are cheifly knowne by experience of visions, nightly invasions, and the like pro= digies and sights. Therfore the most aptest places for these things are Churchyards and these places are better then those where in the exicution of Criminall iudgment is made. And these are better then those wherin ther is a publick slaughter of men in late yeares. And better is that place then these wher some carcasses not as yet satisfied for sinns, neither duely buried is violently cast under ground in latter yeares. For the satisfaction it selfe of the places A holy rite also is duely added to the buriall of the bodyes oftentimes it forbiddeth

the soles themselves to come there and repelleth them to the places of iudg= ment. And from hence it is that the Soules of the dead are not called forth easily. unles it be the soules of them whome we know to be evill and have perrished by som violent death whose bodyes want due buriall.
Although unto such places as we have spoken of it would be less safguard or profitt to goe to, it suffiseth us to take some principall part of the forsaken body for whatsoever other place to be chosen and with it to perfume and perfume the rest of the rites. It is also to be knowne that because cer= taine lights of the Soule are Spirituall; therfore the Artificiall lights if cheifly they are made of certaine things agreeable composed according to a certaine rule with inscriptions of names and signes agreeable, it doth much helpe for the calling forth of the Soules. Furthermore these things which are spoken doe not allwais suffice for the calling forth of the Soules by reason of the naturall portion of the minde and reason: which is a= bove heaven and the fates. and knowne to the only region. Therfore it behoveth us to allure the said Soules by beyond naturall and celestiall vertues duely administred as by those things which move the har= mony it selfe of the soule as well imaginative as reasonable and intel= lectuall: as are voyces, songs, Sounds, Inchantments, and those things which are of religion. as prayers, coniurations, exorcismes, and the

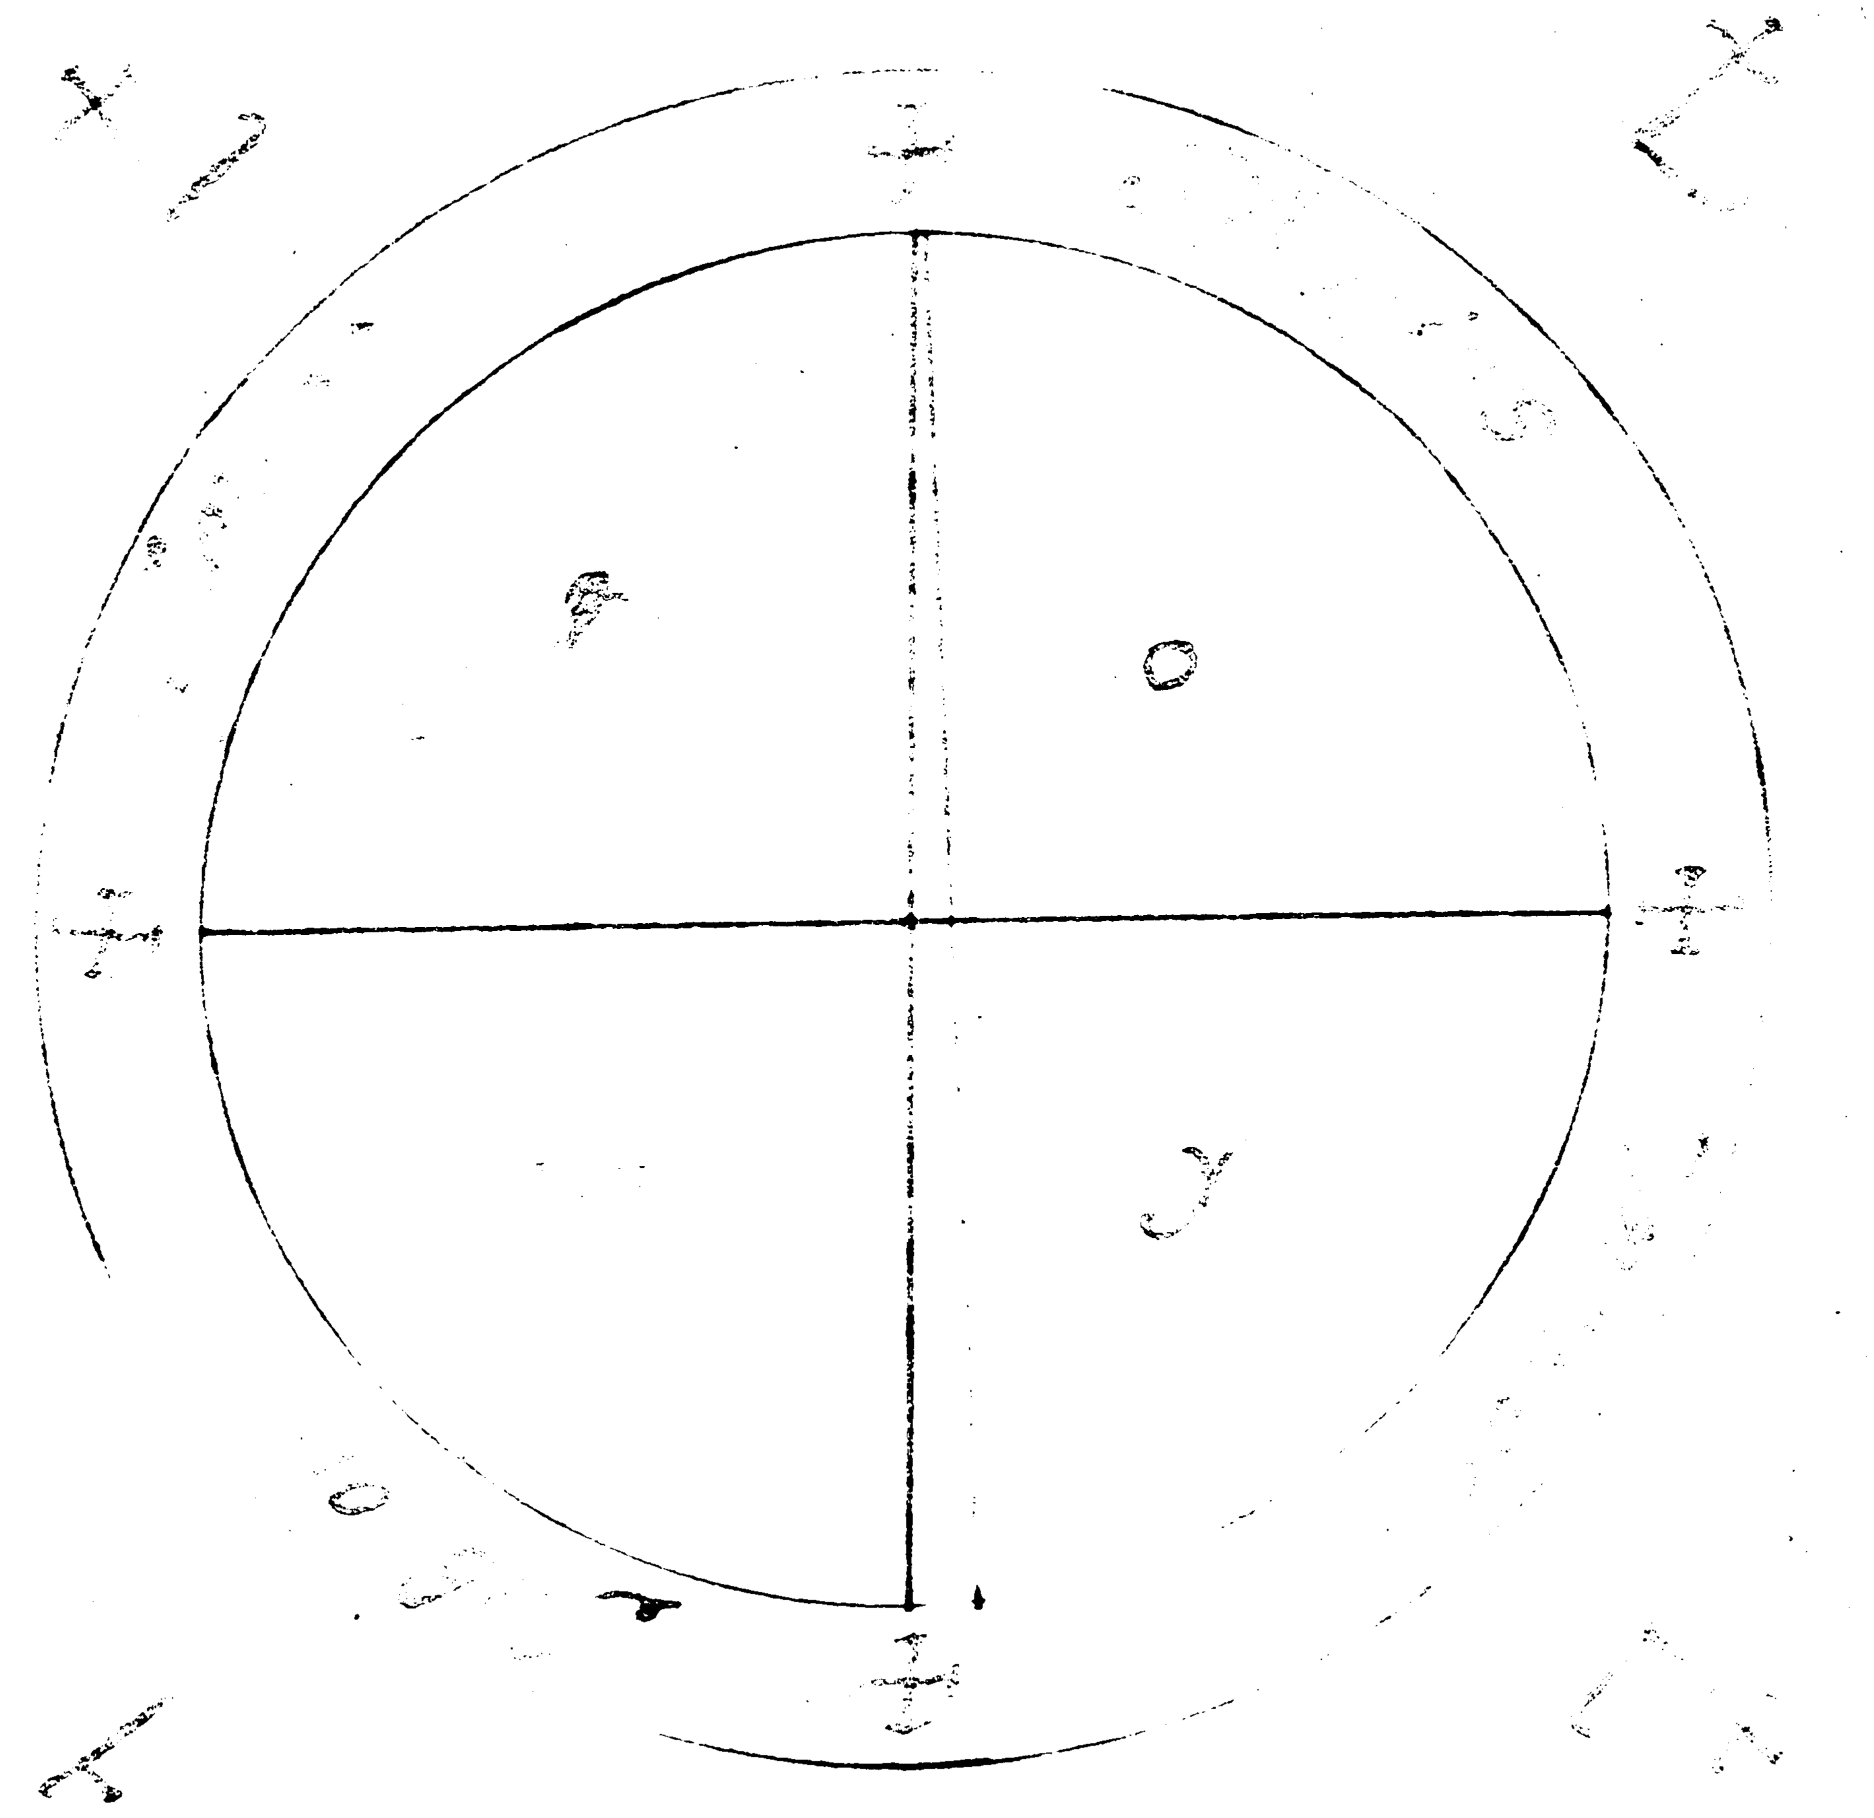
The Circle [illegible] this Experiment:



How to inclose a Spirit in a Cristall Stone [illegible] [illegible] or into any other like [illegible]

First [illegible] of [illegible] being clothed withall new fresh and cleane aray and Shauen And that day to fast with bread and water And being cleane confessed Say the seuen Psalmes and the lettanie for the space of two days with the prayer following.

[illegible] O [illegible] God my mercyfull and loving father the giuer of all graces the giuer of all Sciences Graunt that I thy welbeloued servant [illegible] Although vnworthy may know thy grace and power good lord against all the deceipts and craftines of the Diuells And graunt me power good lord to constraine them by this art for thou art the true and liuely and eternall God which liuest and reignest euer one God through all worlds. [illegible]

[illegible] and the sixt day haue in a reddynes fiue bright Swords And in some secret place make one circle with one Sword And then wright this name Sitrael. which done Standing in the circle thrust in the sword into ÿ name Then with another Sword doe the like and wright Malanthon then with another and wright Thamaor. with another Falaux and with another Sitrami and doe as you did with the first All this done turne thee to Sitrael and kneeling say this hauing the Cristall stone in thine handes.

O [illegible] the [illegible] written in theis circles appoynted to this worke I doe coniure you And I doe exorcise you by the father by the Sonne And by the Holy Ghost By him which did cast you out of Paradise And by him which spake the word and it was done And by him which shall come to Judg the quick and the dead and the world by fier That all you fiue infernall maisters doe come vnto me to accomplish and to fulfill all my desires and requests which I shall command you Also I coniure you you Diuells and command you I bind you and appoynt you By the lord Jesus Christ the Sonne of the most high God And by the blessed and Glorious virgin Mary And by all the Saints both of men and women of God And by all the Angells Archangells Patriarkes and Prophets Apostles Euangelists Martirs and Confessors virgins and widdowes and all the elect of God Also I coniure you and euery one of you you Infernall kings By Heauen By the Starres By the Sonne and by the moone And by all the Planets By the Earth Fier Ayre and water and by the Terrestiall Paradice and by all things in them contayned And by your Hell And by all the Diuells in it And dwelling about it And by your vir- tues virtues and power And by all whatsoeuer And with whatsoeuer it be which may constraine and bind you Therfore by all theis forsaid vertues and powers I doe bind you and constraine you vnto my will and power That you being thus bound may come vnto me in greate humillitie And to appeare in your Circles before me visible in faire forme and shape of Mankind Kings and to obay vnto me in all things whatsoeuer I shall desire And that you may not depart from me without my licence And If you doe against my precepts I will promise vnto you that you shall decende into the profound deepenes of the Sea Except that you doe obay vnto me In the parte of the liuing Sonne of God which liueth and reigneth In the vnity of the Holy Ghost by all world of worlde [illegible] Amen.

Say [illegible] fiue course. Then shalt thou see come out of the North part Fiue Kings with a Maruailous company which when they are come to the circle They will alight downe of their Horses And will kneele downe before thee saying Maister Command vs what thou wilt and we will out of hand be obedient vnto thee. vnto whome thou shalt Say. See ÿ yee depart not from me without my licence And that which I will command you to doe lett it be done truly surely and faithfully and essentially And then they all will sweare vnto thee to doe thy will And after they haue sworne Say the coniuration Immediatly following.

[illegible] and euery of you. Sitrael Malanthan Thamaor Falaux and Sitrami you infernall Kings to put into this Cristall Stone One Spirit learned and expert in all arts and Sciences by the vertue of this name of God + Tetragrammaton + And by the Crosse of our lord and Sauiour Jesus Christ And by the bloud of the Innocent lambe which redeemed all the worlde and by all their vertues and powers I charge you you noble Kings that the saide Spirit may teach shew and declare vnto me And to my frend at all howers and minutes both night and day the truth of all things both bodily and Ghostly in this worlde whatsoeuer I shall requier or desire declaring also to me my very name And this I command in your part to doe and to obay thereunto as vnto your owne lord and Maister.

That done they [illegible] whome they will command to enter into the Center of the circle or round Cristall. Then put the Cristall betweene the two Circles And thou shalt see the Cristall made black. Then

Then Commaund them to commaund the Spirit in the Cristall not to depart out of the Stone till thou give him licence And to fulfill thy will for ever.

[illegible] done thou shalt sea them goe uppon the Cristall both to answer your requests and to tarry your licence. That done the Spirits will crave licence. Then say [illegible] of Almighty God ✠ In the name of the Father ✠ And of the Sonne ✠ And of the Holy Ghost ✠ Amen ✠ [illegible] and looke therin Asking what thou wilt and it will shew it unto thee.

[illegible] looke uppon me why hast thou forsaken me: and art so far from my health And from the words of my complaint O my God I cry in the day time but thou hearest not And in the night season also I take no rest And thou continuest holy O thou worship of Israell.
Our fathers hoped in thee They trusted in thee And thou didest deliver them.
They called uppon thee and were holpen They put their trust in thee And were not confounded.
But as for me I am a worme and no man A very scorne of men And the outcast of the people.
All they that see me laugh me to scorne They shoote out their lips And shake their head saying.
He trusted in God that he would deliver him Lett him deliver him if he will have him.
But thou art hee that tooke me out of my mothers wombe Thou wast my hope when I hanged yet uppon my mothers breasts.
I have beene left unto thee ever since I was borne Thou art my God even from my mothers wombe.
O goe not from me for trouble is hard at hand And there is none to helpe me.
Many Oxen are come about me For Bulls of Basan close me in on every side.
They gape uppon me with their mouthes as it were a ramping and roring lyon.
I am powred out like water and all my bones are out of Joynt My Hart also in the midst of my body is even like melting wax.
My strength is dryed up like a potshard And my tonge cleaveth to my gummes And thou shalt bring me in to the dust of death.
For many Doggs are come about me And the counsaile of the wicked laide seedge against me.
They pearced my hands and my feete I may tell all my bones They stand staring and looking uppon me.
They part my Garments among them And cast lotts uppon my vesture.
But be not thou farre from me O lord Thou art my succor Hast thee to helpe me.
Deliver my soule from the Sword My darling from the power of the Doggs. 20 Save me from the lyons mouth Thou hast heard me also from among the Hornes of the ~~[illegible]~~ unicornes.

I will declare thy name unto my brethren In the middest of the Congregation will I praise thee.

O praise the lord yee that feare him Magnifie him all yee of the seede of Jacob And feare him all ye seede of Israell.

For he hath not despised nor abhorred the lowe estate of the poore hee hath not hid his face from him But when he caled unto him hee heard him.

My praise is of thee in the greate congregation My vowes will I performe in the sight of them that feare him.

6. The poore shall eate and be satisfied They that seeke after the lord shall praise him. your heart shall live for ever.

All the ends of the world shall remember them selves and be torned unto the lord and all the kindreds of the nations shall worshipp before him.

8. For the Kingdome is the lords And he is the Governour among the people.

All such as be fatt uppon Earth Have eaten and worshipped.

30. All they that goe downe into the dust shall kneele before him And no man hath quickned his owne Soule.

My seede shall seeke him They shalbe counted unto the lord for a Generation.

They shall come And the Heavens shall declare his righteousnes: unto a people that shalbe borne whom the lord hath made.

The Roman [illegible] touching the Spirit called Sathan by which the Romans [illegible] understand of things present past and to come: By W: Bacon.

The Spirit of this invocation doth appeare in a Bason and to be wrought every day except the Lords day and the duble feast dayes. First beware that thou be not defiled with Luxury nor wrapped in any deadly sin but stedfast in faith beleefe and trusting in the Lord. And be thou fasting And have a faire Chamber and take with thee a faire and bright well burnished Bason And have thou iiij wax Candles And make them fast on the brime of the Bason uppon every candle wright these names + Moses + Aaron + Jacob + vsion + Tetragrammaton + Moriaton + Then take the Sword and wright uppon it theis words + Jesus Nazarenus rex iudeorum + Jesus of Nazareth King of the Jues the Sonne of the Living God have mercy uppon me And make the Circle with the Sword And sitting in the midst of the Circle turning thee first towards the South putting the bason out of the Circle over against thee And perfuming the Bason with Mastik and Lignum Alloes Say the Gospell. In the beginning was the word &c which done Signe thy selfe with the Crosse Saying By the Signe of the Crosse lett every thing that is evill be driven from hence. Then say this Coniuration.

[illegible] Sathan by the Father + the Sonne + and the holy Ghost + By holy Mary mother of our Lord Jesus Christ And by all the Martiers And Confessors And all the holy virgins and widdowes by the Crowne of Christ by his head and by his teeth and eares and by his face and nose by his mouth and eyes by his tonge by his armes by his nailes by his thumbs by his fingers Sinewes and vaines by his leggs feete and the Sowles of his feete by all his members in which he hath vouchsafed to suffer torments for the redemption of mankind by the wounds of Christ by all the torments of his passion and by all the torments of martiers and Saints of God by the nativitie of our Lord Jesus Christ and by the circumsision of Christ and by the baptisme of Christ by the passion of Christ by the death of Christ by the resurrection of Christ by the asention of Christ by the coming of Christ in the day of Judgment by the dreadfull day of Judgment in which every humane and Christean Creature shall appeare in the 30th yeare of his age by the 20 beasts sitting before the throne of God having eyes before and behinde And by the wisdome of Salomon I Coniure thee Sathan by the virtue of all these and by the merritts of hee Saintes and shee Saints of God that thou appeare in this bason in the likenes of a white Monke that thou tell and shew me the whole truth and virtue of that thing whereof I shall examine the without deceipt or fraude faithfully. + fiat + fiat + fiat + Amen +

Then put out the Candle that stands towards the South and turne thy selfe towards the west setting the Bason towards thee putting and perfuming the bason as aforsaid. Then say.

I Coniure thee Sathan by all these names of God + Focnertu + forden + feon + Hugrifedus + [illegible] + fumel Mebon Nagon + Mesias + Alraroray + Adonay + Sabaoth + Sother Sabu + Sporlus + And all the names of them that be ded and their bodies And by the Seale of God By these names I Coniure thee Sathan that thou enter into this vessell in the likenes of a white monke and tell and shew me the whole truth of what I shall demaund of the without deceipt or falcitie + fiat + fiat + fiat +

[illegible] the Candle And turne thy selfe towards the North having the Bason right before thee And Suffumigate the bason as before. Then say as followeth

[illegible] by the Rodd of Moses And by the tables of Moses and by the nine Celestiall Candles and by the similitude or picture figure likenes of the 3 Spirits by Daniell the prophet by holy Peeter holy Pawle and by these names of God + Agla + Aglay + Atay + Mara + Mandra Mory + Motion + Morcory + Matary + Matulia + Nata + Nazary + By the East and west by the South and by the North by the 4 [illegible] and the 4 Elements and by the 12 Signes of the firmament that thou Sathan without any deceipt tell me the truth without faining counterfeiting or lying touching all my things matters that I shall require of thee fiat fiat + fiat

Then put out the Candle that stands towards the north And then turne thy selfe towards the East with the Bason and suffumigate it as before and say.
I Coniure thee Sathan by the bonds of Salomon and by the person of Salomon And by the Seale (Signet) of W Bacon and by the Seale of Reymond which is caled Chath Malentes by holy Michaell And by that holy salutation wherwith Holy Gabriell saluted the blissed virgin Mary Saying Haile Mary full of Grace the lord is with thee blessed art thou amongst women and blessed is Jesus the fruite of thy wombe + Amen + And by every good thing which may (can) be in heaven and in Earth And by all the Heavens and by the vertues in them and by the booke of life and by that holy Spirit which God Jesus Christ sent uppon the Earth And by thes holy words which he spoke hanging uppon the Crosse + Consummatum est + It is finished + And by all the words which I can not utter speake or which I may (or is not lawfull) not utter And by all these names and by their virtues efficacie I Coniure thee Sathan that thou apeare to me In the forme or figure of a Monke in white without any hurt or without any feare or astonishment to me or us and that thou tell me the whole truth of things that I shall demand of thee omitting all [illegible] (filthy) deceipt and falcity + Amen
And if thou wilt not doe my comaundement and precept and obey my Streats I loose thee from all thy office discharge. seeing that it is so into the depth of waters untill the day of Judgment by the authority of him which shall come to iudg the quick and the dead And the world by fire + fiat + fiat + fiat [illegible] [illegible] north Candle and suffumigate the Bason as aforesaid which done say.
By the [illegible] of all these And by the virtue of all the names of God + fiat + fiat + fiat + Amen +
Then the Spirit will appeare to thee in manner as aforesaide And lett him declare the truth of every thing that thou shalt inquier of him when thow wilt have him depart. Say.
Departe Sathan to the place predestinated where the lord thy God hath apoynted thee untill I shall call uppon thee another time elce where under paine of everlasting damnacion and Curse of God the father almighty almighty + The father + the Sonne + and the Holy Ghost + except thou depart and retier thee soone to the place apoynted for thee by the lord and ordayned thee without doing any hurt to me or my fellowes And except thou come quickly when I call thee If by any meanes thou canst And make hast without delay and that thou appeare without harme either without the House or in the fields when I calle uppon thee iniovning the benediction of this prince + Amen + fiat + fiat + fiat + 111

To burne or Curse A Spiritt [illegible]

If a Spirit will not appeare wright his name in virgin parchment and kindle a new fire and put therin Brimstone and other filthy things Saying I Coniure thee fire by him of whome the world is sustained that thou burne this Spirit after that sort that they may feele it perpetually And then holding the Parchment with the name over the Smoke thou shalt say. N. because thou hast not obayed the comanndements of the lord neither wouldest appeare unto me which am his eternall servant Answer me why I shall not excomunicat thee and curse thy name heare written to the [illegible] wherfore in the name of God And in the name of our lord Jesus Christ and of all the Saints be thou Cursed and excomunicated and like as this name written is burnt with materiall fire and is perfumed with filthy things ever so by the virtue of God I throwe N into the deepest pitt of Hell and brimston where thou shalt remaine unto the day of Judgment and never shall ther be remembrance of thee before the face of the living God which shall come to iudg the quick and the dead and the world by fier Amen [illegible] to the fire saying Cursed and blasphemed be thou for ever Let there be no rest to thee any day or any night not any hower because now thou hast not bin obedient unto the words that are spoken of the mighty maker of all things by whose power every creature is compelled to obey with trembling by that same vertue and power Thunder and lightning is ordained to destroy the + Ameneton + Joahot + Sother + Semem phoras + Alma + Alephe + Bethe + Gimel + Dalathe + Stec + Soyn + Cheeth + Teeth + [illegible] + Chaphe + Ros + Shin + Sin + Tau + we curse thee and deprive thee of all thy power and Strength by the virtue of these names. Sending thee to everlasting punishment to burne in fire and brimstone world without end + Amen + fiat + fiat + fiat + Amen.

Of the Bonds of Spirits:

The bonds of Spirits are · 3 · folde either in the ellementary world · where we adiure the Spirit by inferior and naturall things knowne to them or oposit to them As by the Flowers · Hearbs By things that have life · Snow Haile yce fire and the like.

The second bond is In the Celestiall world whome we adiure by the Heavens by the Starrs And by the motions and beames of these and the like And this Bond doth worke against the Spirits after a mannor of a certaine admonition & example.

The third Bond is in the tellectuall and divine world which is acomplished by Religion As when we adiure by the Sacraments by miracles by the divine names by the holy Seales and other misteries of religion And this bond is the greatest and most strongest of all other workings with comannd & power against the Spirit.

Carmen expertissimum contra Spasmum.

Istud carmen sequens contra Spasmum expertissimum est a multis ... tam in partibus transmarinis quam in istis. Nam apud Mediolanum ... in Lumbardia tempore quo dominus Leonellus filius regis Anglie nupsit filiam domini Mediolan. Anglici ibidem spasmo vexabantur propter potaciones vinorum fortium & calorem patrie & nimiam replecionem. Unde quidam miles & filius domini Reginaldi de Gray de Schirlond iuxta Chestrefeld qui fuit apud Mediolanum cum domino Leonello & habuit secum carmen sequens & quendam armigerum a spasmo vexatum ita quod caput suum retro trahebatur fere usque ad collum suum ad modum baliste qui pre dolore & angustia fere expiravit. Quo viso dictus miles accepit carmen in pergameno scriptum in bursa positum & collo pacientis apposuit dicentibus circumstantibus oracionem dominicam cum ave maria & ut michi iuravit fideliter infra 4or horas vel quinque sanitati restitutus est. Et postea multos alios a spasmo ibidem liberavit cum magna fama de isto carmine in illa Civitate ... Item in Civitate Lincoln fuit quidam homo qui multis annis vexatus fuit a spasmo in tibiis suis in noctibus quod retorquebat pedes suos ad collum suum & tibie ... incipiebant ita quod fere non potuit ire quin istud carmen super se portavit de cetero ut dixit a spasmo non est vexatus. Item apud London quedam mulier pregnans ita vexabatur a spasmo quod fere periclitabatur que habuit lapidem qui pelletot dicitur & nichil ei valuit tandem cum istud super se portavit amplius ei non nocebat spasmus pro certo. Item apud villam de Huntingdon fuit homo quidam quod eundo vel stando spasmus ipsum ... pedes ambos ... retro ... a terra elevare noluit una vice ita quod oportuit de necessitate cadere ad terram cum impetu super faciem suam. Qui ubi cum istud carmen super se portavit a modo a spasmo liberatus est.

Fiat Carmen de quo fit mencio hoc modo.

Accipe unam cedulam pergameni & scribe hec signa ⊞ Thebal ⊞ Guthe ⊞ Guthanay ⊞ In nomine patris ⊞ & filii ⊞ & spiritus sancti amen. ⊞ Jhesus nazarenus ⊞ Maria ⊞ Johes ⊞ Michael ⊞ Gabriel ⊞ Raphael ⊞ Verbum caro factum est ⊞ Postea claudatur ista cedula ad modum ... ita ut non leviter possit aperiri. Qui istud carmen super se portaverit ... omnipotentem ... & crediderit sine dubio a spasmo non erit agravatus. Istud habeatur in reverencia pro deo qui virtutes dedit verbis petris & herbis & secrete servetur ne omnes noscant carmen ne forte virtutem a deo datam amittat. Quia ... mulierem spasmum pacientem ... & dabatur ei annulus aureus habens lapidem pelletot pulcherrimum & ... tria verba carminis s. Thebal ... sculpta in circulo anuli & nichil ei proficiebat. Et statim cum haberet istud carmen super se clausum liberata est absque mora. Et sic ... quod non ... scribere carmen predictum cum literis grecis vel a laycis ...

Ego dictus Magister Johannes Arderne Cirurgicus aliquando manens in Newerk iuxta Lincoln: & postea apud London ista prescripta vera & innumerabilia alia de isto carmine vidi & audivi. Et si forte aliqui alii istud idem carmen habuerunt non tamen tantam laudem ... eius operacione sunt adepti & hoc reputo quia irreverenter illud occupabant.

Sanamunda i. avence, herba ... cum oracione dominica ... vicibus incantatas & collo pacientis suspende dicendo eandem oracionem & succum ... potui detur per 30 dies continuos & sanabitur. Jo: Arderne.

Verruca portata non sunt erigere ... viribus donec deponatur vel si sub cervicali pacientis positus ... non potest erigi ... super iacente. Item ungatur corigia vel ... laudi de succo ... & super carnem nudam cingo & ... J: Arderne
